

Down Hawley Way

Considerable Talk in Town on Various Subjects—A Chapter About Hawley's "Mine" Fire—Cows in a Buckwheat Field—Squire Ammerman's Busy Day—Railroad Notes, Etc.

THE writer did not find one person in Hawley on Tuesday who would admit that he was the possessor of a particle of news.

Talking about that old "pig's tail" aphorism (I guess that's the right word to use), reminds me that one of the curiosities that years ago was exhibited in Barnum's museum in New York city was a sure enough whistle that would whistle like Josh Billings, the phony, phonic philosopher made out of a pig's tail which he had carefully dried after removing the bone from the skin.

People are talking, talking, talking all over Hawley. They are talking about the Chautauqua, the "mine" fire, the concrete walk that Frank Dennison can't build because the School Board says "nay," the latest base ball gossip, and about the fresh air kids and the slang they slung while on their recent visit.

Talking about slang reminds me of something that was recently published in The Inland Printer, the best printers' journal in the world. It was written by H. F. Lockhart. Now I don't know who Mr. Lockhart is, but he has the slang business right down to date, and what he wrote and the Inland Printer published is passed along to you in this department. Mr. Lockhart called it SOLILOQUIES OF THE DEVIL. This measly print shop ain't no place for me; Good manners in this joint don't make no hit. The slang them printers uses—Hully chee!

Would make a Yale professor throw a fit, You bet yer life I wouldn't talk the stuff; I never could stand for that kind of guff!

Me mudder, too; if ever she got wise That I was usin' slang, she'd bust me slats. So many times she tells me "Bat yer eyes, Or ye'll be talking like them Casey brats."

Them kids talk slang, but say! I got a hunch They ain't got nothin' on this printer bunch! This mornin' when I first come down to work The foreman says: "Here, Henry, hit the pike, An' git yer skates on—don't you dast to shirk; Be back in fifteen minutes. Skip, now, hike!"

At first I didn't tumble, then I went; For "Chase yerself" was all the geezer meant. He talks a lot about the "galley," too; I s'pose he means his girl. I rather guess That she'd be pretty mad if she just knew How much he talks 'bout puttin' forms to press.

Say! If he wants to hug her, that's his game. I wouldn't talk about it, just the same. I guess I'll have to quit; I'm gettin' bad, Sometimes I hate to go to Sunday school; I'll sure lose all the bringin'-up I've had

If I do everythin' by printer's rule, But if I stay and all the rest goes hang, Say what you will—I'm darned if I'll talk slang! There, now, if you are not too shocked to proceed any further, you are at perfect liberty to wade through such items of more or less interest that were jotted down on the "Down Hawley Way" pad.

Particulars, Peculiarities, Queries About Hawley's "Mine" Fire. Not to be outdone by towns and cities "over the mountain," and Carbondale in particular, Hawley now has a full grown mine fire all of its own. It isn't a dinky little affair that Hawley is ashamed of and you have to walk to some out-of-the-way place to see, for it is right in the heart of the town, and you can see it from the depot while waiting for your train, and the Company doesn't charge anything extra for all the looking you want to do.

The fire was discovered a few days ago, and strenuous efforts have been made for its extinguishment. The fire is located right across the Erie tracks from the depot. It extends from a point near the eastern end of the freight station down towards where the railroad bridge crosses the Middle Creek. The heat waves ascend for a length of more than 200 feet.

At first it was supposed that the fire was started about the Fourth of July by the burning of papers and other trash on the cinder bank overlooking the creek. In support of this theory is the fact that a line of trees and bushes growing along the edge, all clad in their summer garments of green, have been destroyed by the heat, and stand with leaves blackened and shriveled.

Others claim that the fire has been smoldering for years and has just made itself manifest. They point to the fact that the fire has burned for so great a length in one direction, and had it been of recent origin and burning so rapidly it would have spread in all directions, extending north under the tracks. Their theory is that the section is composed of cinders that were dumped from engines, some of it being red hot when it was dumped. This hot mass was covered over with other cinders and the hot ones lay there smothered, the same as charcoal is made by fires that have been smothered by being covered over with earth. These subterranean fires finally burned through to the surface, when the air made the combustion more rapid.

smoldering for years and has just made itself manifest. They point to the fact that the fire has burned for so great a length in one direction, and had it been of recent origin and burning so rapidly it would have spread in all directions, extending north under the tracks. Their theory is that the section is composed of cinders that were dumped from engines, some of it being red hot when it was dumped. This hot mass was covered over with other cinders and the hot ones lay there smothered, the same as charcoal is made by fires that have been smothered by being covered over with earth. These subterranean fires finally burned through to the surface, when the air made the combustion more rapid.

Mrs. M. J. McAndrew took some of the unburned material home and tried to burn it. She tried every trick she could think of, but could not coax the stuff to burn. If the mass had been lighted by a little bonfire, what is the secret back of the combustion? It is claimed that among the cinders in the pile was much coal that had been but partially burned, and that it is now on fire. This is undoubtedly true. That a gas has been generated which is now on fire is a certainty. The secret of how the trick is done has not yet manifested itself so that common folks may understand it. This may be the shoe-maker's secret who two or three years ago claimed he could burn cinders.

In order to confine the fire to the burning section on from the more distant in which it is now burning, a deep ditch has been dug cutting the extensive portion of cinders on which are located many Erie tracks. Into this ditch a stream of water is poured through a fire hose that has been connected with the Company's water tank.

In case of sudden flood much damage might result from the flowing of the waters of Middle Creek through this ditch. The flood would put out the fire by washing away the cinders, and it might undermine many of the railroad tracks, also.

Farmer Reineke's Cows Take a Turn in the Buckwheat. There was trouble over in Paupack township on August 1st, and it had its ending in the office of W. B. Ammerman, a Justice of the Peace in this borough, on Monday morning, August 11th.

Peter Daniels lives over near one of the fish-filled lakes of that township. Sometimes he catches foxes; at other times he catches fish, and on the morning in question he caught some cattle in his buckwheat field. He identified the cattle as belonging to his neighbor, Mr. Reineke, and the latter admitted before Mr. Ammerman that the cattle were his.

Mr. Daniels went to his neighbor and asked him what he was going to do about it, and the reply received was "Sue me!" So Mr. Daniels brought suit. Damage was proved in the Justice's court, which together with the costs amounted to $14.

Inasmuch as Mr. Daniels offered to settle the damage for less than $5 out of court, the suit was certainly a costly one for Mr. Reineke, who doubtless regrets that his cream-yielders have become so fond of the grain that tastes so delicious when served up in the form of smoking hot pancakes, along with new sausage and honey, on a frosty morning in late autumn.

Last Monday Was 'Squire Ammerman's Busy Day. On Monday morning Judson Gillett was arraigned before 'Squire Ammerman charged with disorderly conduct on the previous Saturday. It was a very hot day, you will probably recollect, and there was some sort of "doings" in the vicinity of Wangum avenue, (away up town), the "doings" being not exactly of a public nature. Finally police officer Richardson was sent for to decide some question as to whether everything should be peaceful and quiet along the Middle Creek, or otherwise, and Ed. went up to pull off the little stunt. When he got there Gillett was anxious to bet that Ed. couldn't do certain parts of the stunt. Nobody was anxious to hold the stakes; but Richardson went right through with the program. In some way Gillett must have slipped, or something, and got hurt. When he went down town with Ed. he was bleeding. There was plenty of excitement in that part of town. It was livelier than three games of baseball with the Honesdale team all rolled into one. There was an interlude from Saturday until Monday, and 'Squire Ammerman, after hearing all about it, decided that a $3 fine and $2 costs was about what the racket amounted to. The $5 was forthcoming, and everybody went home happy and satisfied. All is now quiet along the gurgling waters of the Middle Creek.

Personal Palaver About Hawleyites and Non-Hawleyites. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Fuller, of Scranton, with their children Alice, Burnish, Mary, Perry and Caroline, are spending a few days in Wayne county at F. P. Woodward's, in Hoadleys. Mr. Fuller is a clerk in the Scranton post office. He was born in Hawley and spent his boyhood days here. His father was the late Perry H. Fuller, who removed to Scranton a few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard M. Bone, of Dunmore, with their little son Willard, passed through Hawley on Tuesday morning. They were going to Honesdale, and from that point intended to proceed to Tyler Hill, where they purposed to remain for a week. Howard is a son of Julius G. Bone, who at one time lived in Honesdale. Misses Helen Johnson, Vera Gribbon and Alice Murphy on Monday returned to Dunmore after spending a week with Miss Anna Norton, of Wangum avenue.

Miss Elizabeth Spall, of Carbondale, and Genevieve McLaughlin, of Honesdale, are visiting their cousin, Angela McAndrew, of Marble Hill. Last Saturday morning James McCloskey, Jr., of the East Side, left Hawley for Fall River, Mass., to spend a week with his cousin, Geo. Gibbons.

Mildred, Margaret and James Broderick, of Scranton, are visiting their grandmother at Marble Hill. Miss Alice Gillespie, of Forest City, is visiting her aunt, Mrs. John McGinty, at Marble Hill. Michael Zenzen, Herman Everdeen, Mrs. Gibbons, Frank P. McDonnell and Daniel Corcoran motored to Milford on Sunday last. The trip was taken especially for the pleasure that they knew it would bring.

Mr. and Mrs. Bushwaller and daughter, Christene, of Clyde, N. Y., are spending a few days in Hawley visiting Mrs. Bushwaller's father, John Kearney. Father Gardner, of Plains, arrived in Hawley on Monday on his vacation. On Tuesday he left for New York city, accompanied by Joseph Curran. They will spend several days among the Gothamites.

August Lieber, Jr., of Missouri, accompanied by his wife, are visiting Mr. Lieber's father on Keystone street. Pitcher Bonner, of the Archbald team, is in Hawley visiting his cousin, Mrs. Edward Rosenkranz, of the East Side.

Mr. and Mrs. John Murray, of Carbondale, after visiting with druggist Parker's family, returned to their Carbondale home last week. Mr. Brown, of Kingston, who is relieving Mr. Freethy while he is taking his vacation, is making hosts of friends in Hawley. Last week his daughter spent a few days with her father, incidentally making the acquaintance of a fine lot of Hawley people.

Ed. C. Goldbaugh, Hawley's popular shoe dealer, was in Scranton on Tuesday. Dr. Holden, of Brooklyn, is spending his vacation at the Y. M. C. A. camp at Fairview Lake. Geo. Simons has purchased the livery business of G. Matter & Sons. He will conduct the livery business in connection with the harness business he bought of the late John Thompson. Mr. Simons used to conduct business at Lake Ariel.

E. L. Peck, the Hancock, N. Y., lumberman, was in Hawley on business on Monday and Tuesday. Miss Mary Williams, of Plymouth, is visiting Misses Irene and Ellen Bishop, of the East Side. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Strong, of Camden, N. J., are visiting Mr. Strong's parents on the White Mills road. Mr. Strong is employed as a carpenter in the New Jersey city opposite Philadelphia.

Bandmaster Myers has accepted a position in Binghamton, N. Y. On Monday Mrs. Myers came to Hawley to spend a few days while her husband gets settled down in his working bearings up among the Binges. Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Adams are entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney, of Jersey City. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Freethy and son Fred went to Fairview Lake on Tuesday. They will occupy Dr. Rodman's cottage for a week. Mr. Freethy took his auto along for emergency calls.

John B. Littlejohn spent the early part of the week in Scranton. Phillip Clifford, of Port Jervis, left Hawley on Tuesday morning after spending a week with his sister, Mrs. Watterson, of Main avenue. Joseph Watterson, of Scranton, is spending his vacation with his mother on Main avenue. Annie Bohan, of Church street, is visiting friends in Port Jervis. Andrew Gaffney, of New York city, is visiting friends in Hawley.

Mrs. James Jones, of Massillon, Ohio, is visiting at the Bohan home in the East Side section of Hawley. Elizabeth Thielke, of New York city, is spending her vacation with her mother, Mrs. John Thielke, on Church street. James Flynn, of Scranton, is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. James Flynn, on Wangum avenue.

Many Mourn the Death Of Orin E. Babcock. In every sense of the word Orin E. Babcock was one of the best known men of Hawley, and when he died on Wednesday, August 6, words of sorrow and sympathy were heard in all parts of the town. Mr. Babcock's death was painless. He was found dead sitting in his chair on the morning of that day. He died of valvular disease of the heart. The funeral was held from his late residence at 2 p. m. on Friday, August 8. A minister from Wilkes-Barre of the Christian denomination, (to which deceased belonged), preached the funeral sermon. The interment was made in Walnut Grove cemetery.

Orin E. Babcock was born April 19, 1854. He was a son of the late Allyn Babcock, and, like his father, was a harness maker by trade, and he belonged to the class of men justly described by the expression, "their word is as good as their bond."

Boys' Band Give Concert The Band May Disband. On Wednesday evening the Boys' Band gave an open air concert between Church and Spring streets. They sold ice cream and cake and were liberally patronized. On account of bandmaster Myers going to Binghamton where he has accepted a position the boys are without a leader and may disband. That would be too bad!

St. Philomena Ladies Are To Hold a Benefit. Some time in September the ladies of St. Philomena's congregation will hold a benefit entertainment for the purpose of increasing the parochial residence fund. More particulars will be announced later.

A Little Batch of Vicinity Railroad Notes. Cal Crane, operator at the Wangum tower, will leave Hawley on Saturday, August 16, to spend a ten days' vacation. He will go to New York city. John Neary, of Hawley, will take his place during his absence.

The early morning passenger train from Scranton no longer takes water at Hoadleys. It "tanks up" now at West Hawley. After spending a few days in Hawley, Charley Martin, of Dunmore, returned to that place on Monday of this week.

Conductor Connolly, of the Erie's Summer passenger train, whose home is at Avoca, is quartered in this town. His wife spent last Saturday and Sunday in Hawley. Spencer Martin, an Erie engineer on the Wyoming division, owns a very attractive farm on the west bank of Cajaw pond. His wife and children look after the cattle, crops and such while Spencer makes the wheels of his engine go round.

Beginning with last Sunday a new order went into effect that does away with switching at Hawley. Seventy-car trains are now run from Port Jervis. The Hawley yard engine pushes these trains to Wangum. The lead engine then pulls the train to Clemo. At that point a pusher engine, which is located there, pushes the train to Maplewood, then returns to Clemo.

On Wednesday last the second section of train No. 46, pulled by engineer Werkheiser, of Avoca, ran into the rear of a work train at West Lake Junction. The work train's caboose was destroyed and one car was derailed. Nobody was hurt. Passenger trains were delayed about 20 minutes.

SWAMP BROOK. Bertha Schmitt has accepted a position at general housework with C. C. Jadin at Honesdale. Fred DeReamer is building an addition to his house. Mr. and Mrs. Louis Moser and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Moser's sister, Mrs. Wm. Warwick, at East Berlin.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Huber, daughter and son, of Brooklyn, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Hallam of Flatbush, are summer guests at the home of Mr. Geundlinger. Mr. and Mrs. John Maner have begun housekeeping in Honesdale where the former is employed at his trade, that of glass-cutting.

A number from this place are planning to attend the German picnic to be held at Bellevue Park on Friday. Lester Rosenkrans was a recent caller here. Miss Reining of Vine Hill, was a pleasant caller at J. F. Smith's on Tuesday.

Matthew Schmitt and wife are rejoicing over the arrival of a ten-pound boy. Wm. DeReamer and sister, Mrs. J. P. Smith, visited at the home of Wm. Daniels on Dyberry Place, Honesdale, on Sunday.

LOOKOUT. Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Rutledge motored to Honesdale on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Ralph West and son of Scranton are spending the week with Mrs. A. Daney. Miss Ella Rodenberg, of Honesdale, was a guest of her mother, Mrs. Agnes Rodenberg Saturday and Sunday. Ezra Maudsley of Damascus, was a guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Maudsley on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Stalker of Tyler Hill, called on friends at this place on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Bert Bruce were Callicoon visitors on Tuesday.

A. V. Tyier, of Damascus, was a business caller at this place Tuesday. Mrs. Fred Edwards and children of Long Eddy spent Saturday night and Sunday with her sister, Mrs. L. L. Teeple. Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Rutledge and Mrs. Lewis G. Hill, Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Hill and sons, Mrs. F. M. Lester and sons and Miss Mary Rodenberg were among the number from this place who attended the church fair at Galilee on Wednesday of last week. Jesse Hathaway is quite sick at the home of Grant Hawley where he had come to lay the foundation for Mr. Hawley's new house. F. M. Lester, Floyd and Bert Bruce made a business trip to Callicoon on Wednesday. Don't forget the church fair to be held in the grove at this place Wednesday, Aug. 20. All day and evening. The Galilee Boy Band will be in attendance. Mr. Monington, of Bethany, was a guest of friends here on Saturday and Sunday.

STALKER AND BRAMAN. We are having very warm weather, hard showers, hard thunder and lightning, doing some damage. One barn was burned. Miss Lena Blum, of Binghamton, who has been taking course in Bible study, spoke to a well-filled house at Braman M. E. church last Sunday evening. She gave a very entertaining talk and her friends all wish her success, as she seems very earnest and devoted to her work and she will be able to do a grand work for her Master. Emma Stalker and Emma Kelly spent last Saturday at Long Eddy. Quite a number from here listened to the address last Sunday evening by Miss Bluma at Braman church and they were also present from all points on the charge. The L. A. S. has been postponed a week on account of the Braman picnic on that day. Mrs. F. Hineman and son Frederick, of Port Jervis, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Rauer. Mr. and Mrs. John Skinner made a business trip to Long Eddy last Saturday.
