

GARRISON MISSING

Subpoena Servers Unable to Find Sulzer Witness.

HE MAY NOT TAKE THE STAND

Impeached Governor Still Has Control of State Prison Department, While Highways Bureau Remains Neutral—Glynn Still For Peace.

Albany, N. Y., Aug. 25.—It looks as if the efforts of the assembly judiciary committee to trace to Governor Sulzer responsibility for the stories charging that four assemblymen were bribed to vote for his impeachment will meet with failure at its session to be held in the city hall in New York.

Process servers have been diligently searching here and everywhere for James C. Garrison, who is to be the important witness.

Garrison is known as the governor's "press agent" and in an interview made the charge of bribery. However, the committee wants to know his authority for the statement and Aaron J. Levy, majority leader, believes that Garrison got his information from the governor.

Garrison has not been seen in this city since the assembly judiciary committee in New York announced he would be subpoenaed. He, however, stated he would disregard any subpoenas served upon him, but he has not permitted himself to be served.

To Hire More Lawyers.

The board of managers of the assembly conducting the impeachment proceeding has retained Alton B. Parker, formerly chief judge of the court of appeals, to aid it in the prosecution. Additional counsel is to be retained this week.

The close of the second week of rival governorship camps at the capitol finds Acting Governor Martin G. Glynn in practical possession of most of the machinery of state, so far as surface indications go.

Mr. Glynn has adhered rigidly to his program of quietly isolating Governor Sulzer. He has made no spectacular attack upon the Sulzer fortress, but all the while has been entrenching himself steadily behind the legal ramparts furnished by the attorney general's office, by means of which some of the main state departments avowedly and other tacitly have acknowledged their allegiance to his authority.

Glynn Still Peaceable.

According to the Glynn adherents, the state prison department is the only big wheel in the commonwealth's machinery that is turning openly for Governor Sulzer, with the highway department preserving a strict armed neutrality.

So careful has Mr. Glynn been to avoid anything savoring of a physical contest, on which might precipitate an appeal to the courts, that he has failed to carry out his previously announced intention of requisitioning members of the gubernatorial clerical staff who continue in the service of Mr. Sulzer.

He also has declined to press to an issue the contention over the delivery of the mail addressed impersonally to "the governor."

HOLDS IDLENESS A CRIME.

Delaware Judge Establishes Precedent When Wife Complains.

Wilmington, Del., Aug. 25.—For the first time in this state a man was held in ball on a charge of idleness in the municipal court here. When Alphonsus M. Acton was arraigned on a specific charge of breach of the peace preferred by his wife, Judge Churchman remarked that, according to the defendant's wife, he would not work. The judge then said that having understood that idleness is a crime according to Blackstone, he would also place that charge against the accused. Acton was held under a $300 peace bond and ordered to give $300 bail addition for a hearing next Wednesday on the idleness charge. He was unable to furnish bail.

"Every few days," the judge said, "men are brought before the court on complaint of their wives. The main cause of the trouble is that the husbands will not work. I hope to find a remedy."

TWO KILLED IN AIR RACE.

Hydroaeroplane Falls and Both Occupants Are Dashed to Death.

Paris, Aug. 25.—Two men were killed in the hydroaeroplane race from the suburbs of Paris to Deauville, a distance of 200 miles, yesterday. Nine of the entrants in the race started. De Montalent was the pilot and Metivier the mechanic of No. 9, a Breguet machine. While the machine was over Rouen it fell 150 yards. De Montalent crashed through a bridge, struck the deck of a river barge and was then thrown into the hold. Metivier fell between two barges. Both men were killed instantly. De Montalent, who was twenty-seven years old, lived at Rouen, where he owned much property.

Why is the soda cracker today such a universal food?

People ate soda crackers in the old days, it is true—but they bought them from a barrel or box and took them home in a paper bag, their crispness and flavor all gone.

FEAR THAW SCHEME

Authorities Believe He Will Try to Get to Pennsylvania.

PRISONER LOSES MUCH SLEEP

Ex-Governor Stone and W. A. Blakeley of Pittsburgh Latest Recruits to Escaped Lunatic's Legal Army. Thaw Becomes Despondent.

"I'LL GET MY LIBERTY," SAYS THAW IN JAIL.

"I feel rotten. Somehow I can't sleep. Well, I faced the electric chair twice, so I suppose I should worry if I have to go back to Matteawan. I haven't any fear of anything. It might have been better if I had gone to the chair. Then all my troubles would have been ended and it wouldn't be a case of fight, fight, fight. But I'll get free. I'll get my liberty. I may be an old man, but get it I will."

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 25.—Although the immigration officials have told Franklin Kennedy, deputy attorney general of New York, and E. A. Conger, district attorney of Dutchess county, N. Y., that Thaw will be turned over to Vermont authorities, the representatives of the state of New York have discovered what they believe will be an attempt to smuggle Thaw into Pennsylvania and there have his sanity determined.

Thaw was downcast and spiritless when he awoke and said that it might have been better had he gone to the electric chair, but when he heard that he had been the subject of many sermons in the churches and several of the pastors had asserted he was the victim of persecution he brightened up and declared he would go free even if he is an aged man before the day of liberty comes.

The Thaw family is leaving nothing undone to save Thaw from Matteawan, as reports received here state that agents of the Thaw family are active at Newport, Vt., and other Vermont towns. What they are doing has not been made known, save that public opinion is being appealed to save Thaw in the event of his being sent to that state.

Another Lawyer Arrives.

The arrival here of W. A. Blakeley, formerly district attorney of Pittsburgh, to aid Thaw in his fight for freedom, following closely W. A. Stone, once governor of Pennsylvania, has given rise to the belief that there is something on foot to get Thaw into Pennsylvania. Thaw expressed regret that he had not proceeded to Pennsylvania instead of coming to Canada. All of the Thaw family seem to feel confident that once they get Stanford White's lawyer in that state he will go free.

The immigration agents reiterated to the representatives of New York that they will turn Thaw over to Vermont as soon as they get possession of him, which they believe will be on Wednesday, but the additional counsel Thaw has enlisted has made Messrs. Kennedy and Conger wary of any move that may be made by Thaw's attorneys. He has no less than eleven legal representatives here, and none has yet been able to compel him to follow their instructions. However, they hope that Mr. Stone may induce him to see the folly of talking.

Passed Sleepless Night.

Thaw passed a sleepless night and showed the effects of it when he made his appearance at the cell door. He had been depressed by the announcement that he was to be turned over to Vermont and that state had promised Acting Governor Glynn it would immediately extradite him to New York.

So grave was his condition that it was necessary to send for Dr. G. L. Hume, one of the physicians employed to see him by Dr. Britton G. Evans, the New Jersey alienist, before he left here last week.

"I feel rotten," he said. "Somehow I can't sleep." Casting himself wearily into a chair he said with a yawn, "Well, I faced the electric chair twice, so I suppose I should worry if I have to go back to Matteawan. I haven't any fear of anything," he added, rising impatiently.

"It might have been better if I had gone to the chair. Then all my troubles would have been ended, and it wouldn't be a case of fight, fight, fight. But I'll get free. I'll get my liberty. I may be an old man, but get it I will."

Talking Too Much.

When Thaw's array of counsel read the statements Thaw had made in which he declared that Stanford White's friends were persecuting him, also that he and his family had forced D. Amos T. Baker out as the head of Matteawan, they threw up their hands and said that he was talking himself into Matteawan. So urgent did they deem it to silence Thaw that Mr. Stone was aroused early and informed that Thaw must be gagged if necessary to prevent him from making statements. Mr. Stone called on Thaw early and urged him to be silent.

Scheme to Get Bail.

He has been giving out interviews to almost any one on every conceivable subject, except facts concerning the plot by which he escaped from Matteawan and the route that he took to get there. One cannot talk with Thaw ten minutes without realizing that he is anxious to tell every detail. In fact, he has said that he may give out the statement today or tomorrow. However, it is thought Mr. Stone will prevent that.

The governor said that he received a message from Thaw last Friday while he was in his summer camp in the mountains of Pennsylvania and came here as soon as he could. He asserted he knew nothing as yet in regard to the legal question at issue. When asked if a legal attempt would be made to get Thaw into Pennsylvania, where the prisoner desires so much to go, he refused to answer.

Alienist Asserts Thaw is Sane.

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 25.—That Harry K. Thaw's attorneys are preparing to prove him sane in either the Canadian or Pennsylvania courts is shown in the statement made by Dr. G. S. Hume of this city, who was designated as a physician for Thaw by Dr. Britton D. Evans, the New Jersey alienist. Dr. Hume declares that Thaw is sane.

This was the third time he had examined Thaw. He asserts that Thaw's wonderful memory and his accurate knowledge of law and medicine satisfies him that Thaw is sane.

Thaw Drives Man Insane.

Corry, Pa., Aug. 25.—Freeman Lyngar of Kerstown, near Meadville, was taken to the Warren asylum, driven insane over the escape of Harry Thaw. He brooded over the matter, fearing Thaw would have to go back to Matteawan.

HUERTA TO DECIDE HIS OWN FATE

Little Hope Expressed That Mexican President Will Yield.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The Mexican situation, as viewed by United States officials, will be at its crisis today or tomorrow. They believe that unless President Huerta accepts the American mediation proposals involving his retirement from office the negotiations to all practical effects will be terminated. A high official of the administration put it this way:

Provisional President Huerta has until Tuesday to accept our plan. Unless Huerta does give in to the American demands before President Wilson begins his address to congress at noon on Tuesday there is now little hope among officials that he will yield at all or that the present revolution in the southern republic will be settled peaceably through the good offices of the United States.

Should Huerta maintain until Tuesday noon his policy of flatly demanding recognition by the United States and flatly refusing any suggestions not predicted upon this, President Wilson will give to the joint session of the house and the senate all the information on the situation and his own views as to the duties which devolve upon the United States.

President Wilson has completed and discussed with Secretary of State Bryan the first draft of this address. The president and Secretary Bryan have, however, kept to themselves the character of the views to be expressed in congress.

HARVEST HANDS IN RIOT.

Fifteen Hundred Men Make Trouble in Immigration Office.

Port Huron, Mich., Aug. 25.—Fifteen hundred harvest hands on their way to Winnipeg broke loose at the tunnel station here. The men were required to pay a head tax of $4, which is returned to them upon their arrival at Winnipeg. They refused to make this payment and started a little rough house on their own account, smashing windows and chairs in the immigration office.

The police interrupted the revelers as they were marching up and down the platform singing. After agreeing to pay the required tax the men were allowed to go on their way.

"BILLY, THE KID."

Of the many successes in dramatic plays which have been produced the past six years, those with their scenes laid in the western country have appeared to have appealed more strongly to the fancy of theatre-goers. One of the best of these is "Billy, The Kid," with its scenes placed in the great Southwest, near the Mexican border, and it is said to tell a story that appeals to all classes of amusement lovers. The plot is well conceived, there are innumerable strong dramatic situations and there is plenty of comedy. Some of the scenes are said to be especially realistic and the production on a very elaborate scale. "Billy, The Kid" with Johnnie Erwin in the leading role, will come to the Lyric, Thursday, August 28th.

"A NO. 1," THE FAMOUS ROVER.

Now Claimed the Fellow is Being Sought for by "Uncle Sam."

The Susquehanna (Pa.) Transcript has the following regarding "A. No. 1," the famous tramp, who visited this city on several occasions and his acquaintances here among some of the best people:

Tramp "A. No. 1," known to fame for his life work of sending home boys who start on the road, has, it is claimed, offended the law. It isn't usual for "A. No. 1" to transgress the law. He never did when he was in Susquehanna, and he has been here often in his peregrinations of 500,000 miles or more during his unique career.

Perhaps he really didn't know that he was offending the law when he placed his "moniker" on the Hartford, Conn., post office building, but Uncle Sam is strict about such things and the federal authorities at Hartford are looking for him.

"A No. 1" is a tramp, but he has always kept within the law. He has respect of police, railroad detectives, town constables, and what William Allen White calls "the authorities everywhere."

Sitting in the shade of water tanks along the steel ways or beside bridges and fences, "A No. 1" has perused literature. He has read and he has written. He has written at least one book a year, giving intimate pictures of tramp life.

The proceeds of these books the tramp puts to good use. Many a boy with the wanderlust strong within him has been turned back from the road by "A No. 1." That is the life work that "A No. 1" has chosen. He watches for lads that leave home and he tells them the real truth about the road that seemed so fair to them. And if they have no money he shares his own with them and sends them back to their mothers.

He has traveled half a million miles at an expense of $7.61, it is said. Not long ago he was in Susquehanna and railroad men here treated him well.

Everywhere he goes he puts his cabalistic "moniker." This is a custom with him, a sacred rite, but when it comes to putting such a mark on Uncle Sam's official building it is an offense. So "A No. 1" has committed the first crime that he has been known to commit.
