

LIND WAITS ORDERS

Many Americans Decide to Remain in Mexico.

TALK OF APPEAL TO POWERS

Held Monroe Doctrine Does Not Call For United States to Police Mexico For Europe—Secretary Bryan Decides to Stay in Washington.

City of Mexico, Sept. 1.—Rumors that John Lind had been summoned back to the capital were dispelled later by the statement from unofficial sources that no invitation for his return had been sent to Vera Cruz to him. "Mr. Lind is welcome here at any time," it was said.

From Vera Cruz it was reported that Mr. Lind had no intention of coming here and might not return to the capital even if an official invitation was extended toward him unless he had specific orders from Washington. Few Americans applied to Arnold Shanklin, consul general, for transportation to the coast, and it is believed that the 500 Americans who went to Vera Cruz on the Saturday night trains marked the high water mark of Americans fleeing the country. It is thought that very few of the Americans now in the City of Mexico will leave here in any circumstances.

Most of those asking for transportation are Americans of means, but are able to realize on their holdings immediately. The great majority of Americans here will remain, believing themselves safe from molestation even in case of intervention. For them to leave the country would entail great loss to them, and the closing of their enterprises would throw thousands out of work.

Americans who arrived from the states of Aguas, Calientes and Guamajuato say that most Americans will leave such outlying districts because of the general impression that intervention is coming. Most of the Americans are leaving the country under protest. Up to the present they have suffered more from the ill-effects of other foreign colonies here than by anything said or done by Mexicans.

Bryan in Washington.

Washington, Sept. 1.—Few authoritative statements could be gained relating to the Mexican situation. The president has gone to his summer home at Cornish, N. H. In his absence Secretary Bryan, it is said, will remain here today and refrain from lecturing. Mr. Bryan was at the state department a few hours between his Chautauqua engagements. In the afternoon he gave one of his lectures at Oxford, Pa., and in the evening one at Belair, Md.

Mr. Bryan is reported to be confident that General Huerta will soon be eliminated from the situation, but he would not say how, nor would he say on what his confidence is based.

May Appeal to Powers.

There is speculation here on the suggestion which has been made that President Wilson, as a last resort, submit the solution of the Mexican problem to a conference of the powers. The president does not believe that the Monroe doctrine calls for the United States to police Mexico for the other powers.

Under this interpretation, if the citizens or subjects of other powers are in danger in Mexico the United States can be expected to do nothing more than exercise its good offices through diplomatic channels in their behalf. The natural corollary of this belief, it is declared, is that the United States will not look askance at any steps European or Asiatic powers may deem necessary to take for the protection of their citizens in Mexico.

TO TRY GIBSON IN OCTOBER

Lawyer to Face Jury For Third Time on Murder Charge.

Goshen, N. Y., Sept. 1.—Robert H. Elder of New York spent some time with Byron W. Gibson, who has been tried twice by Orange county juries on the charge of causing the death of Mrs. Rosa Szabo in Greenwood lake on July 16, 1912. Mr. Elder said after he left his client at the county jail that District Attorney J. D. Wilson, Jr., of Newburgh intended placing Gibson on trial for a third time at the term of the supreme court, which convenes in Goshen in the latter part of October.

Mr. Elder said that he would again be Gibson's attorney and that Henry Kohl of Newburgh and Jacob J. Singer of Jersey City would be associated with him. Another conference will be held by Gibson's lawyers in a few days, when the case will be gone over in detail. It is planned to present an entirely new defense at the third trial.

Ohio Will Pay Its Convicts.

Columbus, O., Sept. 1.—Convicts serving terms in the Ohio penitentiary or their dependents will receive compensation for their labor on and after Sept. 1. The amount of compensation to prisoners will range from 1 to 5 cents an hour, and the gradings will be based upon character, industrial efficiency and good conduct.

PRESIDENT IN COUNTRY HOME

His Stay in "Summer White House" Will End Tomorrow.

Windsor, Vt., Sept. 1.—Refreshed by his night's rest at Harlakenden house, President Wilson, accompanied by his family, attended church yesterday. The president intends to rest as much as possible on his stay here, which will end tomorrow, and in that time will try to forget Mexico and other international affairs. Although fatigued by his journey, the president was gratified at the reception given to him by the residents.

President Wilson was also interested to notice the "boom" caused by his residence here, as was shown all along the road to the "Summer White House" where he saw signs announcing the opening of new inns with "city prices" prevailing.

Mr. Wilson had intended spending today on the golf links, but he is urged so earnestly to attend the annual picnic of the Windsor board of trade that he may consent to do so.

The president's trip to his summer home was a slightly adventurous one. From New Haven, Conn., to Springfield, Mass., his private car was attached to the rear of an excursion train. The rear end of his car was next to the excursion train's official "barroom," and because of its congested condition correspondents and secret service men were "forced" to make their headquarters there.

At Springfield it was discovered that the regular train to which the president's car was to have been attached had left, and a special engine was obtained for the remainder of the trip to Windsor. Miss Jessie Wilson, who was hurt last week when she was thrown from her horse, was at the station to greet her family, as was Miss Margaret Wilson.

KILLED AT GRADE CROSSING

Father and Son Die Together in Driving Over Trucks.

Mays Landing, N. J., Sept. 1.—In a grade crossing accident near McKee City station on the West Jersey and Seashore Electric railway, James Miller, a prosperous farmer, and his ten-year-old son, James Miller, Jr., were instantly killed, together with the horse they were driving. They were struck by the southbound special Sunday express leaving Camden.

Mr. Miller was driving along the English Creek road, and when nearing the crossing looked to see if any train was approaching. The northbound track was clear, but the station obstructed the clear view of the southbound track, and, not noticing the onward rush of the special express, Miller attempted to cross the tracks.

The horse and wagon were tossed more than 100 feet from the crossing. The bodies of Miller and his son were picked up thirty feet from the tracks.

TARANTULA A HOTEL GUEST.

"All Big Bugs Come Here," Shouts Representative Reilly.

San Francisco, Sept. 1.—There was consternation in the lobby of a big downtown hotel when a tarantula walked out a suit case in front of the clerk's desk and took a promenade. Women screamed, clutched their skirts and jumped on chairs. All the men likewise retreated except Representative Thomas R. Reilly of Meriden, Conn., who exclaimed: "Don't mind the spider; all the big bugs come to this hotel."

The tarantula had emerged from the baggage of Mrs. H. Hoffman of Los Angeles, who had just returned from Honolulu. As the tarantula ambled across the floor it held tight to its luncheon, a large oyster cracker. A bellboy finally captured the tarantula and imprisoned it in a box.

THAW IS CONFIDENT

Declares He'll Stay in Canada Jail Until October.

HAS MANY CALLERS IN CELL.

Young Women Present Him With a Huge Bouquet of Sweet Peas—Prisoner Expresses Regret That There Are No Sabbath Services.

Sherbrooke, Que., Sept. 1.—Harry K. Thaw said that he expects to remain in Canada until October, if not longer. That statement was made despite the fact that he must appear in court Tuesday on a writ of habeas corpus sworn out by Judge Boudreau, constable at Cook's, who drew up the faulty warrant on which Thaw is held.

"That move on the part of Jerome is a joke," Thaw asserted.

"William Travers Jerome is a wee bit crafty at times, but he has leaped before he looked. Canadian law says habeas corpus proceedings can be instituted by a prisoner, his agents or attorneys or persons acting in his behalf. Boudreau is Jerome's agent, not mine. I think Justice Hutchinson will recognize that, in view of the additional fact that I discontinued the habeas corpus proceedings instituted by my lawyers. Justice Globensky held that habeas corpus proceedings could not be denied me, nor could they be forced upon me."

"How long do you expect to remain in jail here?" he was asked.

"Until October, anyway," he replied.

Looks For Long Stay.

"What do you propose to do at that time when the grand jury will undoubtedly quash the faulty warrant on which you are held?"

"Never climb a hill until you come to it," he answered, adding, "I may be in Canada for a long time."

Although Thaw's attorneys seem equally as confident as their client, nevertheless their agents are said to be most active in Vermont, into which state Thaw will be deported by the immigration authorities when he is freed on the faulty charge of being a fugitive from justice.

Thaw expressed regret again that there are no religious services in the jail here on Sunday. The governor of the prison offered to send for a clergyman, but Thaw declined. The prisoner has received two new suits of clothes from a local tailor, and he looked like a "June bridegroom."

Thaw is a great attraction for the Sherbrooke exhibition, which is now open. Almost as many persons go to the jail as to the exhibition grounds. Three young women who refused to save their names called at the jail and presented Thaw with a huge bouquet of sweet peas.

DIED ON FOURTH ATTEMPT.

Knife and Water Failing, Ferrario Lay Down Before a Train.

Morristown, N. J., Sept. 1.—After making three attempts to end his life, Antonio Ferrario, thirty-one years old, laid down on the Lackawanna railroad tracks near the Water street bridge and was cut to pieces by the theater train passing through here.

Ferrario went into a cobbler's shop near his home at 67 Morris street and, picking up an awl, jabbed it into his left wrist several times before it was taken away from him. He then ran off toward the Whippany river, and about an hour later a watchman at one of the plants near the Water street bridge saw him leap off the bridge into the water. Ferrario was fished out and a friend started home with him. As the two were crossing the Centre street bridge Ferrario again leaped into the river. It was about daylight that his mutilated body was found on the railroad tracks.

SEARCH FOR NOTORIOUS THIEF

'Hores' of London 'Swami' Scandal May Be on Way Here.

London, Sept. 1.—The American immigration authorities at New York have been notified to keep a lookout on incoming steamers next week for a certain notorious character who is believed to have sailed for that port.

Frank Jackson, alias Hores, the notorious thief in the Swami case, one of the worst scandals in the corruption of young girls that London has ever experienced, who was sentenced to fifteen years imprisonment on Dec. 20, 1901, was released on Aug. 26. He boarded a train at Waterloo station bound for Southampton, from which port he sailed on some vessel for New York.

TIDE TURNING TOWARD DISCREDITED "DOC" COOK.

German Scientist Is Not Inclined to Brand Him "Swindler."

Frederick A. Cook's claim to the discovery of the north pole is still of sufficient importance to enlist the consideration of scientific men in Germany. One of these is Professor Otto Baschin, custodian of the Geographic institute of the Berlin university, who, in an article headed "Is Cook a Swindler?" considers the Peary-Cook controversy at considerable length and concludes that the evidence for Cook's truthfulness is very strong.

The question of observations based upon the sun's altitude as a method of determining whether one has reached the pole is summarily dismissed by Professor Baschin as quite unreliable. The insufficiency of such observations, he says, was set forth, soon after the Peary-Cook dispute arose by Dr. A. Wedemeyer of the German imperial marine department, an experienced astronomer and navigator, who declared that the explorers' diaries, so far as observations of the sun's altitude was concerned, could have no probative value.

Other authorities have since confirmed this declaration, says Professor Baschin, and, this being so, the question as to who had reached the pole became primarily one of credulity, in which Peary, with years of successful and honorable exploration to his account, naturally came off the better.

Professor Baschin continues: "One must separate this question (whether Cook reached the pole) from the second, whether Cook, even if he cannot prove his presence at the pole, did not attain far toward the pole and tread hitherto unworked portions of that part of the arctic regions. These results of his expedition are not affected by the strife over the pole and deserve at least consideration, whereas they are fully ignored by the Peary adherents. Little by little, however, the number of those who believe that Cook reached the pole is growing."

$6 "BARE EXISTENCE" WAGE.

Twenty-five Per Cent of Kansas City Girls Get Even Less.

Twenty-five per cent of the 25,000 woman workers of Kansas City receive less than $6 a week, the wage needed for a "bare existence," according to a report of the board of public welfare, which has just been issued. The report is based on two years' investigation.

The 25,000 are thus classified: Manufacturing and mercantile pursuits, 4,500; mercantile establishments, 3,900; telephone exchanges, 1,182; agricultural pursuits, 65; professional service, 2,007; domestic and personal service, 13,475.

A wage of $8.50 is necessary for a girl living in boarding and lodging houses in order to live comfortably, while $9 a week means a bare existence, says the report.

GUM Oozing FROM TREES.

The following question, in regard to gum oozing from trees, was referred to Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, Harrisburg: "I have cherry trees that have bunches of gum. Can you give me a remedy to rid the trees of the trouble?"

Answer: The gum oozing from the bark of your trees may be from one of three or four causes. It may be:

(1) Mechanical injury, in which case the best thing to do is to clean away the gum and paint the wound with melted grafting wax or bees wax, or even common house paint, and let Nature take care of it.

(2) A fungus disease sometimes called "gummosis," in which case severe pruning back of trees, cultivation, fertilization of soil and watering are about all that can be done, as the purpose should be to stimulate growth. This can not be reached by spraying, as it is beneath the bark.

(3) Bark borers or shot-hole borers. These are the larvae of very minute beetles that make tunnels beneath the bark and are also called "Engraver Beetles." When they mature they bore through the bark and leave holes about the size of those made by gun shot, or about the size of a pin's head. This is why they are called "Shot-hole Borers." They attack only trees that are declining. There is no way of reaching them in the sense of a remedy, but the best thing to do is to prune back the trees, cultivate the soil, and water abundantly and frequently with water containing a teaspoonful of nitrate of soda in each gallon of water. This is to stimulate growth, and often is successful.

(4) The fourth cause of gum is a larger kind of borer, such as is to be seen in peach and plum trees frequently. This can be killed by inserting a soft wire with a sharp point, or by cutting out with a sharp knife, slitting lengthwise rather than crosswise in the bark; or using the best possible remedy for borers, which consist of a liquid called carbon bisulfide, or bisulfide of carbon, put into a spring bottom oil can and injected into the holes with mud or clay, and the pests will be killed at once and the tree not injured as it might be by cutting. This remedy is recommended for all borers.

Erk Brothers and Ohio Silage Cutters.

WITH the corn growing rank and tall in the fields of Old Wayne county, the majority of farmers are thinking about silos, ensilage and ensilage cutters. And that line of thought leads right up to where the Erk Brothers hardware store have their innings.

Erk Brothers are more than dealers in hardware, for they are practical farmers. Consequently they know the needs of farmers, and they represent and sell the best machinery and farm appliances that are manufactured. For instance, take Silage Cutters: They sell the famous "Ohio" Cutters, and can give a good and valid reason for every claim made as to their superiority. Here are some reasons why the "Ohio" Cutters are the very best:

Dependability.—The "Ohio" will fill your silo at the rate of a ton in two minutes, the corn being cut in half-inch lengths, and will keep the pace and maintain the strain hour after hour and day after day.

Bull-Dog Grip.—The "Ohio" is so built that material to be cut cannot wind around the lower roll and clog or break the machine. When once started the material has to go through.

Durability.—The "Ohio" people have been building machines for nearly 60 years. They have found all the weak places, and the weak places have all been eliminated.

Castings.—"Ohio" castings are all heavy and of high-silicon iron.

Foundation.—Extra heavy of thoroughly seasoned hard maple, mortised, tenoned, double-pinned and well braced with iron rod and nut reinforcement through front.

Safety.—The tragedies that occur at silo filling time are cut out if you use the "Ohio." They are so eternally rigid that no lives or limbs are ever risked.

Phone or write Erk Brothers to send you a little pamphlet, "Silo Filler Logic." It is free, and they will gladly mail it to you. What is better yet, call at their store and let them explain a lot of things about silos, ensilage and silo-filling machinery that every farmer ought to know.
