The family of Fred Farnham will vacate their Main street home and move their household effects into the Gunn house on Park street within the next few weeks.

If you are a hunter and have children, don't carelessly drop your gun where it would be in easy reach for your boy or girl. The Citizen contains an article to-day in which a little brother shot his sister through carelessness like this.

Owing to a bad piece of road in Monroe county Uncle Sam's representative recently did not recommend the establishment of a rural delivery. The matter went before the court which directed the supervisors to place the road in better condition or there would be trouble.

In court Friday Judge Fell, of Luzerne county, granted permission to District Attorney Bigelow to indict State Highway Commissioner Bigelow, his first deputy, Chief Engineer Hunter, and his assistants. They are charged with maintaining bad roads in several townships in the county. Bigelow's defense is that he has no funds to carry out the work.

Fire, which started in a store room filled with newly arrived holiday goods, swept through the Thompson Department store at Binghamton Friday afternoon doing $100,000 damage before it was under control. Sixty girl employes and a crowd of customers escaped without injury. Six buildings in the same block with the Thompson store were slightly damaged.

Work on the big cut-off the Lackawanna Railroad company is building on their main line between Clark's Summit and Hallstead is about half completed. The grading is fifty per cent. and the bridge work forty-two per cent. done. When the cut-off is finished the mileage to New York city and Hoboken will be considerably lessened, and pusher engine service from Clark's Summit to Hallstead will be done away with.

Everybody is anxiously waiting to see what the Rev. J. Elmer Saul, the Baptist clergyman recently elected mayor of Norristown, is going to do in the way of reform. He has served as a member of council and recently alone signed a minority report asking for the removal of the chief of police, who was up on graft charges. The liquor men are anxious to know how his administration will affect their business.

Following the announcement that spurious coins have been passed in several local towns comes a report from Hallstead that detectives representing the government have arrived in Binghamton, N. Y., for the purpose of running down what is thought to be a gang of counterfeiters. Deputy United States Marshall Black says the coins include a half dollar, quarter dollar, nickels and dimes. A test has shown all of the coins to be counterfeiters.

Mrs. Fannie McGlynn, 77 years old, arrived in Palo Alto Monday from Philadelphia, having walked the entire distance of 95 miles during the week to collect rent on a dwelling house which she once owned and thought she still retained possession of. The McGlynn property at Palo Alto was sold by the county commissioners in 1884 for non-payment of taxes. Thomas Collins, who now owns the house, offered Mrs. McGlynn the free use of the property for the remainder of her life, and she accepted the gift.

"Where did you get that lovely coat?" asked a Honesdale woman who buys her clothing out of town. "Why, I bought this right here at home," answered the young maid. "Well, if I knew I could have done as good as you did I would not have bought my coat in S—." This is an actual experience and the same thing is being said every day right here in Honesdale. Besides, the lady who bought her coat in that city paid more for it than did the young lady who purchased at home. Patronize Honesdale merchants.

Curator R. N. Davis, of the Everhart museum, Scranton; George Friant, taxidermist; Clem Marsh and Cad Robinson, a son of former Sheriff Robinson, one of the men interested in the Pocono game preserve, left at 4:40 o'clock Saturday morning for the purpose of getting a specimen of the elk from the preserve for the Everhart museum. Guarded by the law which allows the hunting of any animal at any time for scientific purposes the men will start hunting on the preserve soon after they arrive there, and soon after the elk are fed. Charles Fielcinus is in charge of the preserve which covers over twelve hundred acres.

Socialism and fanaticism have always been more or less associated with each other, but under the spell of the pen of Miss Florence Converse the association of the former with the latter completely disappears. Socialism assumes a very different aspect as the characters of the book "The Children of Light," were revealed in their true garbs by Mrs. Salo Friedewald at the High school auditorium Saturday afternoon. The selection of the book as one of the readings before her Honesdale audience this season had been by accident. Mrs. Friedewald explained. It had been placed in her hands by a friend and at first she hesitated to spend time reading it on account of the comparative obscurity of the writer. On reading, however, she found a big story. Miss Converse, the author, is one of the children of light and her Uncle Lou is the unsuccessful founder of a co-operative colony. "The Torch," a daily newspaper edited by her in later years at the time of the Garment Workers' strike in Boston, figures largely in the plot of the story. The next reading by Mrs. Friedewald will be held in the usual place on Saturday afternoon, December 6. This number will be "Richard Feverel," by George Meredith.

There will be no preaching services in the Methodist church next Sunday. Other services as usual.

The next time you have anything for sale or rent try an adlet in The Citizen's Cent-a-word column. It is like some favorite remedy, once prescribed always used.

The office of the Consolidated Telephone company at this place is being repainted and varnished. Other improvements will be made in equipment in the near future.

The Chimes of Normandy, which was booked for Honesdale on December 1st, has been cancelled. The last show of the company will be given November 29, on account of poor business.

The following report of the expenses of the Wayne county teachers' association has been given to The Citizen for publication: In fund last year, $142.72; income this year, $1,027.50; expenses, $1,020.70, leaving a balance of $149.51.

The Home Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet with Mrs. John Congdon, East street, Wednesday evening. The balance of the mite boxes will be opened at this time. A literary program will be rendered. All members are requested to be present.

While the practice of marking on sidewalks to advertise entertainments, dances and the like is a cheap way of advertising, would not the affair be impressed more clearly upon the public's mind if a little adlet or display advertisement were inserted in the local papers?

Inspection of orchards throughout the State was resumed by inspectors of the State division of economic zoology and last week a series of demonstrations of methods for control of insect pests and of pruning and grafting trees began in nine counties. Every county will be included in the demonstration work before the end of the year, about three being arranged for each county.

There will be a bazaar held in the parish rooms of Grace Episcopal church Thursday afternoon and evening, November 20. Come and buy your Christmas gifts at the bazaar. An unusual variety of articles will be on sale. Coffee and Kuchen, ice cream and cake will be served during the afternoon and evening. A clam chowder lunch will be served at 6 o'clock. Chowder will be sold by the quart.

While driving over the Lackawanna railroad tracks near the Dodson colliery at Plymouth Tuesday morning a wagon owned by John Montgomery and carrying John Barnes and his companion, was completely demolished when struck by a westbound passenger train on the "Bloom" division. The occupants saved their lives by jumping. The horses were frightened and ran away but were caught a short time after.

The first appearance of "The Tuneful Liar," by Harry L. Tyler, was presented by local talent at the Lyceum theatre at Scranton one evening last week. The play is one that has attracted country-wide attention, and has been the subject of some little comment in Honesdale where the author is known. He was born in Tyler Hill, this county, and visited that place two years ago and it was at that time that Mr. Tyler paid a visit to Honesdale and made several acquaintances.

In totaling up the district vote in Northumberland county numerous oddities have been found. James Van Kirt, East Chillisquaque township; Jeremiah W. Hepler, Jackson township, and E. B. Schuyler, Lewis township, were elected justice of the peace, although their names were not printed on the ballot, and each has two years to serve. In one district Harry Kendall Thaw got one vote for justice of the peace, while in another Theodore Roosevelt was given one for Burgess, and in a third Woodrow Wilson was voted for controller.

John Shaffer, the Hancock bus driver, was arraigned at Delhi a few days ago on one indictment charging him with violating the excise law, and bail was fixed at $1,000, in default of which he has since remained in jail. On Monday he was arraigned on another indictment of the same kind, and another $1,000 was added to his bail. Shaffer has been convicted once on a similar charge and served time. He is said to have carried a bottle of whiskey around in his pocket in the no-license town of Hancock, and sold it for 10 cents a drink.

The many inquiring friends of Councilman S. T. Ham, who was taken ill on Friday last, will be gratified to learn that he has sufficiently improved to be at his store on Monday morning. Mr. Ham while working in his harness shop shortly after 2 o'clock, was stricken with a dizzy spell or vertigo and fell to the floor. Contractor John Bryant entered the store just as Mr. Ham lost his equilibrium and went to his assistance. Mr. Bryant asked Mr. Ham a question and on receiving no reply he placed him in a comfortable position and as soon as possible went for help and a physician. The sick man was taken to his home, where, a few minutes afterwards he regained consciousness. Mr. Ham is now feeling more like himself, which is encouraging news to his many friends.

The fact that the vicinity of White Mills is not the mecca for hunters who are looking for rabbits was demonstrated last week when one of the youthful hopes of that place went out with a gun and came back empty handed. Now there are a few rabbits around in that neighborhood, but they are, unfortunately, tame. This young man had often come home without the sign of the successful hunter hanging from his bag and his mother began to chide him about his ability as a marksman. He proved the latter point the next day by bringing home several fine rabbits. The mystery as to the bunnies was solved a few days later when the young man in question confessed that he had shot the tame rabbits and had taken them home for sale. "There ain't no other kind here."

Owing to the Ladies' Improvement Association giving the third reproduction of the "Isle of Nod" on Monday evening, the November meeting of Honesdale Camp No. 106, United Sportsmen of Pennsylvania, will be postponed until the regular meeting in December.

A jury in the federal court, Scranton, valued a boy's arm at $3,725 Thursday and added to this amount $1,330 for the father, who brought the suit in his behalf. The verdict came after Judge Witmer had refused a non-suit. Albert Chesko, eight years old, got his hand caught in the machinery of the Delaware and Hudson company's shop in North Scranton. He wandered in through an open door right up against the sidewalk. The company said he had no business there. Court held that the company should have used reasonable precaution to keep people out. The jury was out from 11 to 3:30 o'clock. Joseph O'Brien, James F. Bell and W. J. Fitzgerald represented the boy. W. J. Torrey, of Welles & Torrey, appeared for the company.

Mrs. Thomas A. Crosley, who recently represented the Honesdale Methodist church in the Conference Home Missionary Society convention, which was held in Binghamton, has returned home. She also spent a few days with relatives in Taylor.

Mrs. Charles F. Bullock, while in the cellar of her home last Thursday just prior to getting the noon day meal, tripped on a board and fell, injuring herself quite badly, thereby being confined to her bed for several days. No bones were broken. Dr. P. B. Petersen was called.

WAYNE ALUMNI E. S. N. S. HOLD ANNUAL BANQUET

MEMBERS ENJOY FINE CATERING OF MRS. WM. DODGE IN CITY HALL.

Many After Dinner Speeches—Prof. George Kemp, Son of Principal of Normal School, Present.

The Wayne County Alumni Association of the East Stroudsburg Normal school held their annual banquet in the city hall on Thursday evening, after the entertainment at the High school. There were about fifty present. The hall was prettily decorated in red and black. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Koehler, Professor George Kemp of the East Stroudsburg school, Dr. LaRue, vice-principal of the East Stroudsburg school, Strickland Gillilan and Mr. Frederick Wood. Speeches were made by all of the above named gentlemen. Mr. Winfield Menhennett was toastmaster. Music was furnished by Mr. John Storm, Principal of the Lake Ariel school. Besides singing, cheers were given by the different classes. Mrs. William Dodge was the caterer, and the menu, which was excellent, follows:

- Brief Consomme
- Queen Stuffed Olives
- India Relish
- Combination Vegetable Salad
- French Dressing
- Baked Blue Fish
- Egg Sauce
- Boiled Potatoes
- Crabapple Jelly
- Roast Chicken
- Mashed Potatoes
- French Peas
- Glazed Sweets
- Ice Cream
- Cake
- Fruit
- Mixed Nuts
- Coffee

Toastmaster Menhennett in introducing one of the speakers of the evening stated that it gave him pleasure to present W. B. Holmes, who for some time had been a trustee of the East Stroudsburg State Normal school. Trustee Holmes made a few very good extemporaneous remarks. He congratulated the Alumni upon the fine banquet and said he greatly enjoyed the spirit of the hour. Trustee Holmes gave a quotation from Bacon: "Blessed shalt thou be when thou goest in and blessed shalt thou be when thou comest out." This is placed over the door of the theological building at Yale. Mr. Holmes said this was not only an ideal motto for other colleges and universities, but it will be an appropriate motto to be placed over every school in Wayne county. He spoke of the privileges of attending the school in the county, of the loyalty of the students and of their confidence in their teacher. He made the comparison of the Great Teacher and pupils, who said, "Blessed are the little ones."

Toastmaster Menhennett next called upon County Superintendent J. J. Koehler who stated that he was proud of the teachers who were graduates of the East Stroudsburg State Normal School and who are now teaching in Wayne county schools. He highly commended the work they were doing; also the work of graduates of other normal schools who are teaching in the county.

Hon. F. D. Wood, of Seattle, Wash., commenced by telling of his inability in securing an education in school. He first entered a printing office and as his tastes did not run in this line he drifted into a law office and commenced reading law. He mastered Blackstone and was soon admitted to the bar. This was done by perseverance and hard study. The speaker said his greatest instructor was the English dictionary. He then asked the pardon of those present for being personal, adding that he had the largest vocabulary (the dictionary) of any lecturer upon the stage.

Toastmaster Menhennett then called upon Strickland Gillilan, who entertained the alumni with a few humorous remarks.

Professor A. H. Howell of Waymart, gave a short talk along the line of keeping the normal school up to a high standard.

The toastmaster next called upon Professor George Kemp, son of Dr. E. L. Kemp, principal of the Stroudsburg State Normal School. Prof. Kemp brought a message from his father, who was unable to be in attendance. Prof. Kemp based his talk upon a letter which had been received at the school asking to which school a certain man should send his daughter. Principal Kemp replied, "To the East Stroudsburg State Normal School, of course." He continued this line of thought, showing that the record of this particular school has been clean in all its departments, in its athletics and in fact everything that pertains to the school. It is the custom of the school never to resort to any illegitimate means to secure students, but that they depend on the standard of the school, efficiency of the faculty and the alumni. Prof. Kemp said there are 2,000 graduates of this normal school and that they act as a good advertisement to secure new students.

Dr. D. A. LaRue, also a representative from the East Stroudsburg State Normal, was next called upon by Toastmaster Menhennett for an address. Dr. LaRue said in part: "I always enjoy coming to Wayne county to attend this annual banquet of the alumni and address its members. I am proud of the fact that my better half was a Wayne county girl. Boys you will never make a mistake if you marry a Wayne county belle." (Mrs. LaRue was nee Miss Guinnip, of Atco.) Dr. LaRue concluded his remarks by stating that he was gratified to know that the Alumni was growing in numbers and that the enthusiasm was also greater.

John D. Storm, principal of the Ariel High school, was next introduced by the toastmaster. He gave a short talk on the responsibility devolved upon him, but stated that he appreciated the honor. Professor Storm said that he hoped the affair would be a success next year, and that he felt sure, with the hearty cooperation of the members of the Alumni that it would be a success.

GEO. G. SCHWENKER

Death of May M. Curtis. On Tuesday morning, Nov. 11, May M. Curtis, quietly passed out of this life, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bessie Stuart, of Waymart.

While the deceased had been failing for some time her ailment had been difficult to understand, and all that human hands could do proved unavailing. It is worthy of notice, however, that in spite of all her suffering, she seldom complained and her will power was such that she kept up practically all but the last three days of her life.

Deceased was a faithful member of the Aldenville Baptist church and an earnest Christian woman in her every day life, always ready to do for others first, being a great lover of her home, her family and a large circle of friends throughout the county and especially in Berlin Center, Honesdale, Edenville and Waymart at which places she lived during her life.

The deceased, who was a daughter of the late Francis Stevens and wife, of Berlin Center, was born in Indiana, March 2, 1847, having moved to Pennsylvania when quite young. She was the relict of the late E. Curtis whose death occurred Dec. 10, 1911, and is survived by the following children: A. S. Vanderberg, of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Frank C. Vandenberg, of Mahoning City, Pa.; Percy Curtis, Prompton, and Mrs. Bessie Stuart of Waymart; and by sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Oliver of Beachlake, Mrs. Cynthia Potts of Ocean Grove, N. J., Mrs. Nellie Trevorton of Scranton, and Mrs. Isabelle Penwarden, of Asbury Park, N. J.

Funeral and interment services were held at Aldenville Thursday, Rev. A. H. Knight officiating.

Death of a Young Lady.

The death of Miss Sarah L. Meyers occurred at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George A. Meyers, at Susquehanna Friday after an illness lasting over several years. Miss Meyers was 22 years of age, having been born in Susquehanna county on February 18, 1891.

Her parents lived on the Dorflinger farm at Indian Orchard three years ago and for a time resided in Bunnelltown. They had only lived in Susquehanna three weeks. The remains were brought to Honesdale Sunday morning over the Delaware & Hudson and the funeral services were held from the Bethany M. E. church Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock, Rev. Oliver officiating. Interment was made in the Bethany cemetery.

She is survived by her bereaved parents and the following brothers, namely, George N., Lewis V., James S., and William Thomas, of Honesdale; Cedric M. Meyers of Susquehanna.

TO-DAY'S CITIZEN.

The attention of our readers is called to pages 2, 3, 6 and 7 of today's paper. There is not a dull article on any of these inside pages. Every page is bright and reflects what is going on in Wayne county and elsewhere. On page two is found the balance of the report of the Wayne county teachers' institute, which is continued from last Friday's Citizen. Don't forget the advertisements. Page three contains local, national, state and other news and don't forget the ads. On the sixth page is our ever popular magazine page, while on the seventh page is Lincoln's Gettysburg address, which was delivered 50 years ago. There is an article on "Trade with the merchant who helps build up the town," comments upon Dr. Swentzel's sermon and something about Dr. Cook. By the way, don't overlook the advertisements on seventh page.

MOTOR HOSPITAL NOW.

Bureau of Mines Makes New Use of Auto Truck.

A thoroughly equipped motor hospital recently completed for the bureau of mines for use in Pittsburgh discloses a new use for the auto truck, a variation of which might find an application in the work on water supply projects such as the Catskill and Los Angeles aqueducts.

The first fully equipped vehicle of the new type includes in its equipment two pulmotors, six oxygen tanks, fifty regenerators and oxygen pump, two stretchers, a life line, a box of explosives, lanterns, tents, fire extinguishers, a complete telephone system and a full complement of hose, axes, saws, miners' tools and medical and surgical supplies. Even the bird and cage used in detecting poisonous gases in mine shafts are to be found in the ambulance.
