

THE CITIZEN

Semi-Weekly Founded 19 08; Weekly Founded 1844.

Published Tuesdays and Fridays by the Citizen Publishing Company.

E. B. HARDENBERGH, PRESIDENT; C. VAN ALSTYNE and E. B. CALLAWAY, MANAGING EDITORS; FRANK P. WOODWARD, ADVERTISING MANAGER AND FEATURE WRITER.

DIRECTORS: L. J. DORFLINGER, M. E. ALLEN, E. B. HARDENBERGH, W. W. WOOD.

TERMS: ONE YEAR $1.50—THREE MONTHS .80c; SIX MONTHS .75—ONE MONTH .35c.

Remit by Express Money Order, Draft, Postoffice Order or Registered letter. Address all communications to The Citizen, No. 803 Main street, Honesdale, Pa.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1913.

THANKS!

Let me give thanks, not with word, but with deeds.—Kormer. They say late thanks are ever best.—Lord Bacon. Thanks are worthy due for things unthought.—Ovid.

THANKSGIVING.

Thursday we will celebrate another Thanksgiving Day and on another page to-day the Citizen publishes good and sufficient reasons why Honesdale people should be grateful for material blessings.

TARIFF BILL A FAILURE.

The Philadelphia Inquirer had the following editorial on Monday concerning the effect of the tariff on the "high cost of living":

Winter is coming and our sincere hope is that it may not prove to be a hark-back-to-Cleveland-times Democratic winter of discontent.

After having passed successively through the stages of "tottering," "crumbling," "disintegrating" and "collapsing," the Huerta administration still seems able to sit up and take a little nourishment and continue its policy of giving Uncle Sam his daily amount of back talk.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

LIGHT.

The new process of making artificial daylight at night is quite simple according to Arthur St. George Joyce. All that is needed, he explains, are two color screens and a strong incandescent light.

Various cabinets, lamps and lights to produce daylight have been manufactured, but none have stood the test, continues the writer. In this latest invention a cabinet is employed. This cabinet is constructed in various sizes, but the one which is most convenient is eighteen inches deep, thirty inches wide and twenty-eight inches high.

An incandescent gas light is placed at the top of the cabinet. There is a metal reflector to throw the light downward through the delicate screens which filter out the rays of red, orange and yellow which are foreign to daylight except in a small way. In order words, the screens extract from the light excesses of these colors.

The invention has a great field of usefulness in surgery and certain industries. Surgeons depend upon the color of the tissues to tell whether they are diseased or not. A great deal of surgery is done at night. In artificial light the tissues have not their true color. The invention will remedy that in that operations may be performed by aid of daylight at any hour of the night.

"DON'T FIRE OVER LINE TO EL PASO"

Is U. S. Warning to the Mexicans.

FIERCE FIGHT ON.

Biggest Engagement Since French Invasion.

FEDERALS ARE PUSHED BACK.

Smoke of Battle Crosses Line—Federal Commander is Reported Killed—General Villa Winning—Hundreds Killed in Desperate Encounter.

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 26.—Major Robert E. L. Michie, acting commander of the Second United States cavalry, sent formal notices to General Pancho Villa, commander of the Constitutional forces now engaged in battle with a federal army in the vicinity of Juarez.

The use of bullets, shells, shrapnel, bombs or other projectiles or explosives by either of the contending Mexican forces in such a manner as to endanger life and property within the limits of the United States must be prevented, otherwise "effective measures" will be taken, Major Michie's notice said.

The smoke of battle hung over El Paso all day. At times it was impossible to distinguish objects a block away. The firing of the contending forces could be plainly heard.

After a twenty-six hours' battle Pancho Villa's rebel defenders of Juarez held all positions that they held at the time of the federal assault, and in addition had driven the federals back in several places. The rebels claimed to have captured three field pieces and 200 prisoners during the fighting, but said nothing of their own losses.

Villa himself telegraphed his headquarters that he had captured the guns and prisoners, and Americans coming out on a hand car confirmed the fact that Villa had a number of prisoners in his possession.

Hundreds Killed.

The federals made desperate efforts during the day to break through the rebel ranks or turn the rebel flanks, but failed. The fighting opened with the federals on the left or eastern flanks of the rebels, but after fighting all morning twelve miles east of Juarez, opposite Ysleta, Tex., the federals were forced to fall back. Then in the middle of the afternoon a desperate effort was made to charge and break through the rebel center, and the federal artillery was used to greater effect, the shells falling closer to Juarez than any other time of the fight, but without sufficient effect to get into Juarez. Hundreds of dead are on the battlefield. The rebels claim the federals have lost 600 men. The rebels admit losing about 600 men. It is generally believed that the loss in dead and wounded is about equal, probably 800 or 900 killed or wounded.

Only about a hundred wounded were in Juarez, but at the time that Villa sent his message to his chief of staff, Juan N. Medina, claiming a victory and the capture of 200 federal prisoners and three field pieces he asked for trains to be sent to bring in more wounded. The fields are strewn with the dead and dying, with no doctors to care for the injured. One train brought forty-five wounded. The dead are left on the field. It was reported that General Salazar was killed.

"ALL QUIET AT TUXPAN."

Admiral Fletcher Sends Assurance to Washington by Wireless.

Washington, Nov. 26.—A wireless dispatch from Rear Admiral Fletcher, in command of the American fleet in Mexican waters, received at the navy department reported "all quiet at Tuxpan."

Captain Wood, commander of the battleship New Hampshire, which arrived at Tuxpan, reported that General Aguilar had taken measures to see that the action of his troops should not be a subject of complaint.

WILLIAM W. FINLEY DEAD.

President of Southern Railway Stricken With Apoplexy.

Washington, Nov. 26.—William Wilson Finley, president of the Southern railway and one of the best known railroad officials in the country, died suddenly at his residence here.

Mr. Finley was stricken with apoplexy. His condition was not made known to his friends until shortly before his death.

OFF ON HONEYMOON

White House Couple Keep Destination a Secret,

PRESENTS ARE MADE KNOWN.

First Announcement of the Important Gifts—Many Freak Donations, Including Washtubs, Cook Book and Onions—Sayre Family Present Ancestral Mirror.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The destination of Mr. and Mrs. Francis B. Sayre on their honeymoon trip is shrouded in mystery, and efforts to learn where the White House bride and groom were going were fruitless.

Up to the time of their departure not a word had been whispered from the White House. They would spend their honeymoon on the president's yacht, the Dolphin; they would spend it on the Mayflower; they were going to Mr. Sayre's ranch in Montana; they were going to spend the honeymoon quietly in the Pennsylvania town where they met; Delaware Water Gap, Palm Beach, Bermuda and the West Indies were all on the list, unofficially announced and impossible of confirmation.

No one about the White House, either members of the president's family or the official staff, has any knowledge of the whereabouts of the bride and groom. The secret is locked close in the breasts of four people, a rosy faced chauffeur, Dr. Wilfred T. Grenfell and the bride and groom themselves. It is generally presumed that the car scudded over into Maryland and Mr. and Mrs. Sayre have hidden themselves away in some friend's home.

Announces Presents.

It is seldom that an American bride receives such a multiplicity of wedding presents as has Miss Jessie Wilson. From high and low, from powerful and inconspicuous, through kinship, friendship, admiration for a successful career in the field of social service, and just for the simple love of giving, Miss Jessie Wilson has been the recipient of tokens valuable and valueless from every quarter of this country and from every rank of its citizenship.

Except for the purposes of the acknowledgment of this myriad of donations by the bride herself probably no one will ever see or know the complete list of the White House wedding presents. The following is a list of the more important or the most prized by the bride:

From the president of the United States and Mrs. Wilson, a dining room set of solid mahogany.

From the French ambassador, a silver tray of Louis Quinze design, and from Mme. Jusserand, a silver flower vase.

From the German ambassador and Countess von Bernstorff, a pair of antique sugar shakers.

From the Italian ambassador and Marchioness Cusani Gonfalonieri, four Etruscan candlesticks of silver.

From the Russian ambassador and Mme. Bakmetoff, an amber umbrella handle set with jewels.

From the Spanish ambassador and Mme. Riano, a vase of hammered Seville silver.

The supreme court of the United States sent a large silver flaggee centerpiece in the shape of a bowl with a raised flower holder of wrought silver.

The United States senate sent a solid silver teaset, comprising a water kettle, tray, chocolate pot, ice cream dish, two compoters and four candlesticks, all of colonial pattern, and the tray engraved with the dedication to the bride.

The house of representatives sent a canary colored diamond set in platinum embellished the central stone.

Mr. Sayre's family presented the bride with an antique mirror, which for more than 100 years has hung over the fireplace in the ancestral home of the Sayres in Pennsylvania.

In addition to all of the foregoing there have been numberless donations of a more or less frankish character, notably in this list are two rag carpets, a sewing machine, a fifty pound cheese, five bushels of Bermuda onions, six boxes of soap, two washtubs, a washing machine, coal scuttles, brushes, pails and mops, a bushel of black walnuts, a barrel of apples, a barrel of potatoes and a cook book. And besides all this, the Rev. W. J. Shaw, a Massachusetts Methodist clergyman, has dedicated an original poem to Miss Wilson. It is entitled "The Wedding Bell."

HAZEN HYDE WEDS COUNTESS.

Quiet Ceremony in Paris Church For Daughter of Ex-Ambassador.

Paris, Nov. 26.—In the presence of only a few relatives and intimate friends James Hazen Hyde and Countess Louise De Gontaut-Biron, daughter of John G. A. Leishman, former ambassador to Germany, were married here. The civil wedding occurred in the mairie of the Sixteenth arrondissement, and the religious ceremony was performed in the American Church of the Holy Trinity by the Rev. Dr. Watson.

The Duke of Crov, brother-in-law of the bride, gave her away.

OUR STORE WILL CLOSE MONDAY EVENINGS, AT 9 O'CLOCK. MONDAY SPECIALS

IF YOU HAVE A DOLLAR THAT MUST GO FAR, SPEND IT HERE ON MONDAY. THIS IS THE DAY TO TEST WHO SELLS THE BEST AND THE MOST FOR THE LEAST MONEY.

MONDAY, DEC. 1st

Grocery Departments:

- Columbian or Snow White Flour, per bag $1.45; Old Homestead and White Rose Coffee, 35c val., per lb. 32c; Oak Leaf Soap, 8 bars for 25c; Good Quality Prunes, special, per pound 8c; Heinz's Baked Beans, 15c value per can 13c; Macaroni and Spaghetti, 10c value, per package 8c; Japan Rice, fresh stock, per pound 6c; oat Flake, the favorite breakfast food, per package 8c; Bushel Bags, finest Dairy Salt, 75c value, per bag 69c

Other Departments--Main Floor

- New Dress Velveteens, 60c value, per yard 49c; Yard Wide Serges, 60c value, per yard 49c; Dress Flannelette, best quality, 10c value, per yard 9c; Fine Unbleached Muslin, 10c value, per yard 8 1/2c; Extra Width Persian Lawn, 35c value, per yard 25c; Yard Wide Silkoline, best 12 1/2c value, per yard 10c; Niagara Cotton Batts, unroll in one sheet, 25c val., each 17c; Men's Natural Wool Underwear, $1.00 value, each 85c; Ladies' Fleece Underwear, 25c value, each 22c; Eden Cloth and Ripplettes, 15c value, per yard 13c; Renaissance Squares and Scarfs, $1.00 value, each 69c; Fancy Persian Ribbons, 35c value, per yard 22c; Fan Handkerchief Boxes, useful Xmas Gifts, per box 22c; Children's Sweaters, Red and Grey, $1.25 value, each 94c

Second Floor Specials

- Children's Coats, sizes, 2-6, $2.98 value, each $1.98; Children's Plush and Cloth Coats, $4.50 value, each $3.00; Ladies' White Waists, $1.00 and $1.25 value, each 89c; Ladies' Fleece Lined Kimonos, $1.25 value, each 98c; Children's Percal and Gingham Dresses, $1.25 value, each 89c; Best Granite Stair Carpet, special, per yard 22c; Comfortables, filled with white cotton, each $1.29; Fine Wool Finished Blankets, $2.50 value, per pair $1.98; Matting Shirt Waist Boxes, $3.50 value, each $2.98

Katz Bros. Inc.

NOTICE--Monday Specials are sold for Cash.

SLAUGHTER OF DEER.

Since the season for deer opened in Pennsylvania over fifty deer have been killed in Pike county, according to reports received by the state game officials. Twenty deer were slain last week.

Charles Thornton of Hawley, secured a fine buck in the woods near Tafton. While at Blooming Grove, a Scranton party composed of John Price, Cole Price, Harry Simpson and Mr. Waterson also succeeded in securing a fine specimen.

The large doe which had been killed by some hunter and left in the woods near Notch, Pike county, has been sent to the State hospital in Scranton. It was found by State Forester John E. Avery, who had it removed.

Dec. 3, Wednesday, Waymart, Gildea's Sale of Cows, Horses, Etc.

WAYMART SCHOOLS OPEN.

The diphtheria epidemic that threatened the borough of Waymart the last two weeks, has subsided and now only two cases remain. These are fast recovering and are out of all danger, according to the statements of the physicians in charge of them. Mildred Stephenson is much improved and Fred Davis is recovering nicely. No new developments have been reported in a week and it is thought that all danger of future spread of the disease is past.

As a precautionary measure the schools and churches were closed by order of the borough health officers but the schools were opened again on Monday and pupils resumed their school work. Church services were held in all the churches on Sunday, the first since the breaking out of the epidemic.

—The Citizen is getting better.

Lyric Thursday, Friday and Saturday Nov. 27, 28, and 29th. Evenings 7 to 10 o'clock. Special Holiday Matinee on Thursday (Thanksgiving) at 2:30. Big Vaudeville Acts. Dare Devil Frank, Novelty Skating Act. The Dip to Death. See-Saw and Barrel Jumping. Otto Steinert and his English Model. Comedy Singing and Dancing. Dick Fitzgerald, the Happy Tramp. Bradford Dean, Black Face Monologist. The Famous O'Donnell Twin Bros. in a Scientific Boxing Exhibition. 4 Reels of New Motion Pictures, changing for every performance. Special Feature for Thursday Evening only. The World's Base Ball Series—N. Y. Nationals vs. Philadelphia Athletics. Special Feature for Friday Evening—Bradford Dean in a new Hypnotic Stunt, "At the Circus." Prices—Adults 25c; Children 15c.