As this was the date for election of officers for the ensuing term of six months, mention of which was made in the last issue of The Citizen, that was the principal business of the evening. The attendance was fair, but should have been greater. At the suggestion of one of the members, the president appointed a membership committee with Walter Kimble to act as chairman. He also appointed a committee to draw up the con-stitution and by-laws, with L. S. Miller to act as chairman. A resolu-tion was adopted to the effect that hereafter the minutes of each meeting shall be read at the close of said meeting instead of at the next meeting. A few other class matters were brought up and as this completed the business the meeting was adjourned, after which delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. —In a recent issue of The Citizen there appeared an article concerning a campaign to be launched by the Delaware & Fludson company for the purpose of preventing accidents to persons trespassing on their right of way. It would seem that more stringent efforts would be made by the officers and employees of that company to keep people, especially children, from walking on the tracks in that section, at least, where much switching is done. The other day the writer noticed two small boys who appeared to be about ten and twelve years old respectively stealing a ride on a switching train near the down town viaduct. There were two engines in the yard at the time but no one seemed to pay any attention to the youngsters who jumped on the wheel box and clung desperately to the ladder at the side of one of the box cars as the train moved along. Some day there is going to be an accident. It won't be the company's fault entirely, but surely they should take reasonable precaution in keeping children off their trains that were not meant for passenger service. The parents, too, do not fully comprehend the risk of allowing their children to participate in such dangerous pastime.

COUNCIL AFTERMATH.

Paul McGranaghan called at The Citizen office on Wednesday and re-quested The Citizen to state in its next issue that he was asked to retire from the meeting before Solicitor W. H. Lee made his aprear-ance. Mr. McGranaghan said he would stay, claiming that he was a taxpayer and had a right to remain. Mr. Lee returned shortly afterwards and the president asked the borough solicitor concerning Mr. McGrana-ghan's bill. The conversation that took place was reproduced in our last issue and therefore we deem it un-necessary to repeat the conversation. Mr. McGranaghan, however, claims that he was not treated courteously at the hands of the council, especial ly when he asked a few questions just before adjournment and was abruptly shut off by one of the councilmen who moved that the council
