

PROGRESS OF THE STRIKE.

RIOTING AT DUQUENE, PA.

Militia sent to the Scene and Order Restored. The Homestead Mill Running Nearly Full.

There were riotous scenes at Duquesne Thursday morning when about 300 of the old hands attempted to enter the Carnegie steel plant to make repairs and get that mill in readiness for operation on Monday.

It was reported Wednesday night that an attempt would be made to start the Duquesne mill yesterday, and the Homestead men feared that the Carnegie number went up to assist the Duquesne strikers in preventing a stampede.

A large number of men had made applications for work, and some of them were ordered to report. This started the report that the mill would resume at once.

The strikers who are still loyal to the Amalgamated Association, and the Homestead men who had camped out there Wednesday night, were at the gates before daybreak, nearly all armed with clubs, ready to drive back any who came to work.

At 6 o'clock when the first man appeared and he was ordered home. Others followed him and they, too, were forced back, and all retired without discussing the case, as they wished to protect their heads.

William Misilage, a foreman in the mechanical department, did not fall back as quickly as the others, and he was inclined to resist.

Misilage said he was going to work in spite of all the men there. A big steel worker brushed up against him, and he said: "Keep your hands off me. I'm going to work and you can't stop me."

A blow from the steel worker's fist landed on his nose and knocked him over an embankment. He was forced back, and a broken nose, he arose and a crowd made for him and chased him up the hill.

He managed to escape without serious injury. Hugh Boyes, a boss carpenter, and a former well-known deputy sheriff also protested against the carrying of arms by the strikers.

After much trouble he was rescued by a half dozen deputies before he was hurt, and then he went to his home. The only man who succeeded in getting within the fence was a tall machinist whose name could not be learned.

He came down on a Riverton street car, and the conductor and motorman, whose sympathies are with the strikers, tried to signal the men that he was aboard.

There was too much excitement just then and nobody noticed the signals. Then the motorman ran the car at full speed past the gate to prevent the men getting off if possible, but he alighted without trouble, and before the strikers could prevent it, was inside of the gate.

A shout of disappointment went up, but they made no attempt to get the man out of the mill yard.

When asked by the strikers why they wanted to go to work some said they had large families to support and had no income. Others said that they had just bought a home and did not want to lose it, but no excuse would be accepted, and all were turned away from the gate.

THE MILITIA CALLED ON. Deputy Sheriff Young finally grew tired of protesting, which was the only thing he could do, and he went to Homestead, where he laid the case before Chief Deputy Gray.

Colonel Gray asked General Wiley for assistance, and Colonel Hillings was ordered to get the militia back. For the balance of the day the soldiers and strikers did nothing but watch each other.

Workmen were taken in the mill and the company expects to be ready to resume work on Monday.

Treasurer H. M. Curry, of the Carnegie Company, who at Duquesne during the day and he is the authority for the statement that 510 of the 800 men formerly employed at the mill have applied for positions again.

He said the company had not the slightest intention of starting work before Monday, and then work will be resumed. There are enough applications now from old and new men, he said, to completely fill the mill, and many of the old men will not be taken back under any circumstances.

If the Homestead men would stay away from Duquesne, said Mr. Curry, we would have no trouble there. They intimidate the men and force them to remain idle when they really wish to work. We will have no trouble from that source now, and the mill will be running in full on Monday.

Speaking at Homestead, Mr. Curry said that only a few new men had been received at the mill yesterday, as there are none needed just now. When they are ready for more, Mr. Curry says, they will have no trouble in getting them.

Mr. Curry fails to see what some people expect to accomplish by their efforts to compromise or arbitrate the trouble. The company, he says, has nothing to arbitrate, as the mills are open to any acceptable workman to go back to work.

The break at Duquesne has not caused any uneasiness for the men, who are making the tireless fight at Homestead. They have been expecting it, as the Duquesne men have been wavering ever since the mill closed down.

The Advisory Committee thinks it will not be long before the new workmen will rebel against being kept in the mill all the time. Circulars the Advisory Committee dropped from the railroad trestle and threw over the fence, they say, are having the desired effect, as a few of the men at work have come out. Following is a copy of the circular:

A STATEMENT! To Non-Union Men in Homestead Steel Works: Several men have come to us in the last few days for assistance in getting away from the Homestead Steel Works.

They stated that they had not been told where they were to work or the circumstances, and after a few days were not satisfied to stay. They stated that it was almost impossible to get permission to leave the works; that the men are practically in a prison, and the greater part of them are very anxious to get away if they were sure they would not meet with violence outside the fence.

In view of these reports, which we believe to be true, the men of Homestead and vicinity feel it to be their duty to communicate with you, if possible, and inform you that you have nothing to fear from them, and that the statements of the foremen to you in regard to violence are wholly untrue.

and stabbed him seven times in the sides. He remained until 9 o'clock in the afternoon attending to business, when he drove home in an open carriage. His rapid recovery is considered remarkable, and is another example of his pluck and endurance.

Mr. Frick's sudden return to work was a surprise to everybody, but Secretary Lovejoy would have gone back to his desk last Monday had it not been for the earnest protest of Dr. Litchfield. Friday the doctor consented to his leaving the house, though he wanted to go to the office with him, but the Chairman would not permit it.

Frick came down in a street car, and the elevator boy, who was the first to recognize him, almost fell off his seat when he saw him. Mr. Frick stopped for a few moments to converse with him, and thanked him for his efforts in preventing Berkman from escaping after he had done his bloody work.

RIOTING STRIKERS ARRESTED. Duquesne was thrown into great excitement Friday morning, when the deputies began to arrest the strikers who are said to have taken part in the riot Thursday morning. So far 11 arrests have been made and others are being made.

The persons arrested are: Jacob Snyder, John McClain, W. J. Nolan, William B. Bisset, James E. Martin, Kenneth L. Burke, Jacob Haas, Emile Cotz, John Ursin and F. P. Hogan. They were all taken to Pittsburgh.

The barbers of Homestead have agreed to have no man who is employed at the steel works as a non-union man. Several of the former employees of the Carnegie Steel Company would return to work but their wives will not permit them.

Two strikers named Conway and McGuire were arrested and put in the guard house for cursing sentries. They were released with a reprimand.

Five of the Duquesne workmen who were arrested for riot on Thursday were released from jail Saturday on $2,000 bail. The men released were Wm. Nolan, F. P. Hogan, Martin Kennedy, Jacob Snyder, and Jacob Hinkle. The remaining one who did not get bail was John Usie.

Edward Burke, who was first arrested charged with inciting a riot at Munhall station, near the Carnegie works, last Wednesday, who was afterwards arrested charged with aggravated riot, and who was on Friday charged with murder in connection with the Homestead calamity of July 6, was on Saturday released on $10,000 bail on the charge of murder and $2,000 bail on the charge of aggravated riot. He had previously been released on $1,000 bail on the charge of inciting a riot.

A NOVEL CONGREGATION. At 11 o'clock Sunday morning, when Rev. Ken. C. Hayes, chaplain of the Fifteenth Regiment, walked into the new beam church at Homestead, he was treated to a genuine surprise. Instead of a congregation of meager proportions he was confronted by one which in more ways than one was remarkable.

It consisted of more than a score of military dignitaries in full uniform, a number of dressed young women and 1,400 workmen of all sorts and conditions, from the skilled steelworker to the laborer. The mill had been filled with benches, and all of them were occupied.

At the eastern end of the building was a small platform furnished with a couple of chairs and a table. On the table lay a bible, and beside it a bunch of wild flowers. Directly in front of their improvised pulpit sat General Wiley and the members of his staff.

To the left of them was an orchestra of 12 pieces. Back of the soldiers and musicians were massed the civilians. Mr. Hayes was evidently impressed with the novel conditions and by the size and make-up of his congregation.

After the usual hymn had been sung and a prayer had been offered, Chaplain Hayes delivered his sermon. Husband and Wife Murdered.

FALL RIVER, MASS., Aug. 6.—Andrew J. Borden, a wealthy real estate owner and mill man, and his wife were found dead at their home. Both had been mutilated about the head and face with an ax, cleaver or razor.

There is hardly a doubt that both were murdered. The police are looking after a Portuguese who runs the Borden farm at Gardiners Neck, and who was in the house a few minutes before the bodies were discovered.

Who the murderer was, why he committed the crime, or where he went, is not known. The police have arrested three persons on suspicion, but the only suspicious circumstances about them was the fact that they were seen in the neighborhood about the hour of the murder.

Mr. Borden was a very large owner of real estate in Fall River. Charles C. Cook was his agent collecting his rents, and yesterday paid to the old gentleman a large sum of money from his rentals. He made regular deposits in the Union Bank, and never paid any accounts except by check.

He left home about 9 o'clock this morning to take his deposit to the bank. About 10 o'clock his deposit was received by the Union Bank, and he went from there to his home, arriving about 10:40 o'clock and going into the sitting room to recline upon the lounge and read the newspaper.

Mrs. Borden went up stairs to make the bed in the bedroom in the front of the house. No one except the murderer saw them afterward until the dead bodies were found.

CANADA BACKS DOWN. Its Cabinet Takes Action That Will Remove Danger of Retaliation. The Canadian Cabinet met Saturday to consider the canal tolls dispute. It was decided to abolish the rebate on freight of 2 cents a ton on all freight shipped by the St. Lawrence to Montreal, and instead the Government decided to resume the system of 20 cents a ton on all freight passing through the Welland and St. Lawrence Canals, all vessels to be rated alike, no matter whether bound to Canadian ports or not.

This removes the discrimination in favor of Montreal complained of by President Harrison. A feeling prevails here that all danger of retaliation has now disappeared. Canadian vessel owners will now be the only losers by the change, as the revenue will be increased by the additional duty.

A DOUBLE TRAGEDY. Sad Ending of a Sunday Excursion at Jamestown. JAMESTOWN, N. Y., August 8.—A double tragedy occurred here Sunday afternoon. Patrick Towd, of Dunkirk, N. Y., shot and instantly killed George Heath, of Jamestown, and then shot and killed himself. Towd came to the lake on an excursion accompanied by two ladies. Heath put his arm around the neck of one of the ladies who were with Towd, who pulled a revolver and fired point blank at Heath's head.

Towd realizing his terrible crime ran into a building near by and fired four bullets into his own person, expiring in a few moments. It is said both men were under the influence of liquor.

Poisoned on a Snake in Cabbage. CINCINNATI, Aug. 8.—A family named McIntyre, in the village of Buena Vista, Ky., ate heartily of boiled cabbage Monday. All were immediately taken ill, and four died in agony. To prove her innocence the colored cook ate some of the cabbage, and was taken violently sick. An examination showed that an adder had been cooked with the cabbage.

Children Burned Up in Cabin. LAKE PROVIDENCE, LA., Aug. 8.—Three children of Robert Dorsey, colored, the eldest 7 years, being locked up in a cabin while the parents went to church, set the place afire and were burned to death.

THE SANTA MARIA'S VOYAGE.

Spain's Celebration of the Sailing of Columbus.

The Little Caravel Starts From the Port of Palos.

A cablegram from Palos, Spain, says: On the four hundredth anniversary of the day on which Columbus set sail from Palos westward on his voyage of discovery the festivities arranged here for celebrating the day were carried out with great éclat.

The view from the town, however, was obscured by a thick mist which hung over the river and rendered it impossible to see more than a dim outline of the hulls of the vessels lying at anchor.

At 6 o'clock, the hour at which Columbus began his voyage, the caravel Santa Maria, constructed in imitation of the vessel of that name belonging to the Columbus expedition, which had been lying off shore all day, set her sails for her passage through the lines of warships anchored outside the bar, but owing to the dead calm a line was run to her from a gunboat, and she was towed down stream, followed by the Spanish flotilla in single file.

Montijo was on board the warship Legaspi. The voyage down the river past the Monastery of La Rabida, on which the flags of all the American States were flying to the bar occupied about an hour.

Outside the bar were moored the vessels of the foreign squadrons which had come to take part in the celebration. These vessels were formed in lines, between which the caravel passed amid the thundering salutes and deafening cheers.

The firing and the smokes from the guns made it impossible to watch the manoeuvres of the caravel, which followed for some distance the route taken by Columbus 400 years ago. At 9 o'clock the little vessel returned and re-entered the river.

The town of Huelva is crowded with visitors, and all the buildings, both private and public, are gayly decorated. Fifteen of the Spanish flotilla conveyed the Santa Maria several miles to sea, and when the signal was given by the Spanish Minister of Marine for the vessel to return to Huelva, she was met by a large salute.

The caravel returned with the flotilla to Huelva. These manoeuvres were part of a ceremonial in celebration of the departure of Columbus. A dispatch from Washington says: The following cable messages were exchanged on the anniversary day.

The President: To-day four hundred years ago Columbus sailed from Palos, discovering America. The United States flag is being hoisted this moment in front of Convent La Rabida along with banners of all American States, Banners and ships saluting, accompanied by enthusiastic acclamations of the people army and navy. God bless America.

PHUETO, Alcalde of Palos, Spain. DEPARTMENT OF STATE, WASHINGTON, August 3, 1892. Señor Prieto, Alcalde de Palos, La Rabida, Spain.

The President of the United States directs me to cordially acknowledge your message of greeting. Upon this memorable day, thus fittingly celebrated, the people of the Western world, in grateful reverence to the name and fame of Columbus, join hands with the sons of the brave sailors of Palos and Huelva who manned the discoverer's caravels.

Her Resolves.

"In the Cheering-up Business" contains the brave conclusion reached by a young girl who so persistently tries to bring sunshine into the lives of others that she finally becomes known as the "joy-giver."

"If there is only one thing in life which is bright and pleasant," she said, "that I mean to hold fast; and if there isn't such a thing, I'll make it. I'll be it myself!"

Perhaps she was helped in her hearty and healthy way of taking life by the remark of an old doctor, who had called to see another member of the family and asked: "What's the matter with her, now?"

"Oh," said the young girl, "I suppose it's her nerves." "Nerves!" cried the doctor, seemingly in an alarming rage. "My dear young lady, I adjure you by all your hopes of happiness, don't let that word get into your vocabulary. There's no such thing! Indigestion, dyspepsia, if you like, but not nerves!"

That he was fond of exaggeration, no one can doubt; still, the lesson he would have taught was a sensible one. When we allow ourselves moods of ill-temper or weakness because we are "nervous," then we need to remember that the soul is stronger than the body. We need to look about us and see whether or not we can make some one else happy.

"For," says the little heroine who became a joy-giver, "if one is really disposed to bring people good cheer it is wonderful to see what frequent opportunities there are. One might make it a business!"

GEORGIA GOLD FIELDS.

The Property and Prospects of the Atlanta Gold Mining Co. Fully Described.

The two articles appearing recently in your journal have called forth such a flood of inquiries in relation to the plans, prospects, etc., of the Atlanta Gold Mining Company, that the company has requested your correspondent to answer through the medium of the press the many questions which otherwise would require a score of letter writers.

The property upon which the Atlanta Gold Mining Company proposes to begin operations is situated about 3 1/2 miles east of Dahlonsga, Ga., consists of a forty-acre tract of land, which is crossed in a direction slightly east of north by the famous Calhoun Gold Belt, having on this lot a width of about 150 feet. The entire belt is composed of alternate strata of soft slates and quartz, all bearing more or less gold.

At different times within the past twenty years more or less mining has been done upon this lot, and while the work has mainly been confined to a very small portion of the vein, and has always been of a crude and desultory character, the returns in gold have been extremely gratifying, and in several instances of sufficient magnitude to put the miners, who from time to time, have held leases upon the lot, in very strong financial circumstances. The total cost of all the work thus far done upon the lot would not exceed the direction of a competent mining engineer, provided with proper appliances, exceed $500, and the total gold derived from this strata, covering not over two acres of the forty acres, is considerably over $50,000.

The vein or lead is well defined throughout the whole length of the lot, about one-quarter mile, and has been explored a number of places by shafts and tunnels, proving its continuance in size and richness from one end of the lot to the other, a fact which is further evidenced by the valuable and rich mining properties lying upon the extension of this lead, both north and south, and which are owned by the Atlanta Gold Mining Company. The shafts sunk upon this lead have gone to a depth of about forty feet, and have, without exception, followed down quartz veins which gradually increased in size and richness as depth was attained. Hitherto the mining has been conducted principally with water, except where shafts were sunk, and the ore passed through sluice boxes depending solely for a means of separation upon the gravity of the gold, and consequently allowing much of the fine gold and all the gold contained in the undecomposed sulphurets to run to waste. This loss, resulting from causes noted above, has amounted to fully one-half the assay value of the ore, as demonstrated by determinations made with great care and exactness by the company.

The Atlanta Gold Mining Company now proposes to put in operation machinery for mining which will greatly cheapen the cost of the ore per ton delivered at the mill, and appliances that will save at the mill not alone the heavy free gold, but all floor particles, and the iron contained in the sulphurets as well.

The experiments made by the company have demonstrated that a mill with a capacity of twenty tons can be supplied with ore for many years and will yield an annual profit of $100,000 or upward. The average assay value of the ore approximates $25 per ton, and a modern mill properly equipped, costing $12,000 and $14,000, in the hands of an experienced millman, should save at least 25 per cent of the full assay value. The Atlanta Gold Mining Company has been incorporated with a capital of $100,000, in shares of $10 each, fully paid and non-assessable, and one-half this capital stock, or $50,000, has been placed in the treasury as a working capital.

A portion of this treasury stock, sufficient to cover the cost of the mill and such other improvements as the company has in contemplation, is now offered for sale at 50 per cent of its par value, or $5 per share. The Southern Banking and Trust Company of Atlanta, Ga., is the transfer agent of the company, and all orders for shares should be addressed to them or to the Atlanta Gold Mining Company, No. 7 North Fryer street, Atlanta, Ga.
