THE POPULAR PLURALITY.

Returns of the Recent Election at Last Received From Every State.

The New York Eccating Post published the following table giving the full vote for President in all the States. The most striking feature of these figures is the small in crease of the total vote in 1892 over that in 1888. Disregarding the scattering and nondescript ballots, the records during the last four Presidential contests show these totals for the Republican, Democratic, Prohibition and Greenback, Labor or People's party as it has been variously called: 1888, 9,218,-251, 1881, 10,052,706; 1888, 11,570,602; 1892, 12,028,008, as follows:

This would make Cleveland's plurality in the country 29,379. In this estimate, though, the Post credits the 85,181 votes ast for the unpledged electoral ticket in Alabama to Weaver. This was the ticket indorsed by the Republican National Committee, and, if successful, the electors would have voted for Harrison. Most authori ies, therefore, hold that these 85,060 votes should be aided to the Republican column in figuring the popular plurality. A similar question affects about 5,000 votes in Texas. These changes would make Cleveland's plurality in round numbers 500,000.

TO KEEP OUT THE RAGS. A Very Positive Order By the Treasury Department.

Department.

Collector Beard at Boston, Mass, received a sweeping order from the treasury department at Washington, prohibiting the importation of rags from certain foreign ports, issued from the office of the superintending surgeon of the marine hospital service. Importers were notified as fast as they arrived at the custom house. The order, which absolutely prohibits importation of rags, includes Paris, Rouen. Havre, Marseilles, Cherbourg, Dunkirk and L'Orient in France, ports and places in Russia, Netherlands, Eefgium, Austro-Hungaria, Trieste, Hamburg, Altona and Kiewo, in Germany. All other places where cholera may be known to be prevailing or may bereafter prevail will be included in the list. Collector Beard, in commenting on the order, said that the prohibition was of vast concern to the manufacturers of fine paper in Massachusetts.

Who Aim to Improve Stock.

The Standard Delaine Spanish Merion Sheep Breeders Association met at Steubenville, Ohio. This association met at Steubenville, Ohio. This association has been in existence since 1890, and is a separate organization from the National Delaine Sheep Breeders' Association. It now numbers 40 members. Its object is to improve the merino sheep so as to make them pay a greater per cent. for the food consumed. They differ from the National Delaine Association in that they have a scale of 100 points which sheep are graded to and they must reach 72 points before they are registered. The National Delaine Association registers all sheep which are the progeny of the merino and blacktops.

The World's Coldest Winter,

The co'dest winter the world [ever knew according to several chroniclers, occurred during the year 1435. The season was not only intensely cold, but lasted unusually long. In a large portion of middle and Western Germany the frost was so severe during the month of May that skaters brayed the ice without the least danger, and on the 12th of May sleighs were generally used. On St. John's day, the 2th of June. the wincows were frozen, and not a vestige of vegetation was to be seen anywhere. Spring was ushered in with the last day of "The Scythlans," said Sydney Smith, "ate their grandparents when they became troublesome and told long Who knows whether the Eumedidas may not suffer a remnant of these useful Scythians to survive even unto our day, to be a terror to long-winded fogles, male and female. I met at dinner recently an old fogy who I am sure has his Scythian waiting for him. He had been har-tying the company with stupid re-marks about natural history, asking questions, too, that would turn the stomach of a school inspector. At length, in that peculiar tone of voice in which theological questions are uttered in the pulpit, our fogy said:

"Has an oyster brains?" "Certainly," replied our host, "for an oyster knows

when to shut up."

This reminds me of another rep-I did not hear it myself; I wish I had for, in years past I often met the hero of the story, Mr. Bonamy Price, and could well appreciate his peculiar power of leadership in talk, a power suggestive of the sound of Scotch bagpipes over and above other musical instruments. On this occasion the leader of talk—some wished he were Lieder Ohne Wortestarted the subject of the generally prevailing ideas about heaven. After the usual hit at the materialistic view of the Mohammedan, he turned to an American gentleman at the table and asked what were his notions on the subject? The Yankee, with his slow, nasal accent and cool manner, com-manding attention, replied: "Wa-al, my notion of heaven is that of a quiet, green place, without money and without price."-Tempel Bar.

Housekeeper's Don'ts.

Don't let æstheticism overwhelm common sense to that degree that your windows are so profusely "got up" as to make ventilation or the washing of them a difficult job.

Don't dust your furniture with a feather duster; it's like cleaning an egg-cup by stirring the egg around. Use a cloth. If it is slightly olled so much the better for the woodwork much the better for the woodwork.

Don't be vague in your turnishings and set this and that and the other thing because each by itself is pretty, but take the object of a room first into consideration and live up to it, then take one color as a guide and select all others in harmony with it.

Don't put furnishings with big designs in a small room—it will make the room. look the smaller. Keep in the rule of proportion. It's like a little woman with a skinny face wearing a big foot-ball of a hat, which only accentuates her sharp features the more.

"Cluth" and "Clother."

Dr. Murray has been puzzled about the origin of "cloth" and the plural "clothes" for garments, as distinct from "cloths." The etymology and even the primary sense of the old Teutonic kloth are uncertain. The former is probably to be sought in the Tentonic verbal stem kli. klai, to stick; but whether the name was applied to cloth as a substance felted or made to stick together, or to a cloth as a thing to be attached or made to cling to the body, is doubtful. The distinction of "clothes" from "cloths" is chiefly of the present century. The common eighteenth-century spelling was "cloaths."

He Has Clathes for a Lifetime.

If the I imperor of Germany should retire from the ruling business to-morrow he would have clo hes enough to last him his lifetime. It is said that he has a thousan I suits, besides twelve dozen suits of underclothing and fifty dozen socks and han ikerchiefs. Some of his suits are uniforms which would not be available if he became a private citizen, but there is no doubt that he could keep his stock of underwear replenished from the sale of these extra uniforms, and retain a little pocket-money be-

John was away from home at the time. After eating an early supper, Mrs. Chapman stepped outside the titchen door, intending to place a pan of milk in an outhouse. She had just closed the door of the kitchen when, looking up, she was confronted by four bears, all resting upon their tending the state of the confronted by four bears, all resting upon their tending the confronted by the haunches and within a few feet of

She screamed and rushed into the house and told the hired man the cause of her fright and assisted in finding the cartridges for a rifle that stood handy, and then sank into a chair exhausted and belpless, while the hired man made an attack on the bears, killing the old one and two of the cube

When Mr. Chapman returned he found his wife in an alarming condition, her nerves being at such tension that he feared she would go into hysterics. That night she complained of hearing the bear screaming outside, and finally, to satisfy her, John got up, and taking his gun went to the door, where, sure enough, out in the cold. The cub made for the bush as soon as he heard John coming, but in the morning the dogs were turned loose on his trail, and young brain was brought in to complete the family. The cube were fully half-grown silver-tips and averaged over 180 pounds each. The she bear was a big one-as large as a cow.

Strongest, Purest, Most Economical. As to whether any of the baking powders are equal to the "Royal," the official tests clearly determine. When samples of various baking powders were purchased from the grocers, and analyzed by the United States Government Chemists and the Chemists of State and City Boards of Health, the reports revealed the fact that the "Royal" contained from 28 per cent, to 60 per cent, more leavening strength than the others, and also that it was more perfectly combined, absolutely pure, and altogether wholesome.

As most of these powders are sold to consumers at the same price as the "Royal," by the use of the Royal Baking Powderthere is an average saving of over one third, besides the advantage of assured purity and wholesomeness of food, and of bread, biscuit and cake made perfectly light, sweet, and palatable.

The official reports also reveal the presence, in other powders, of alum, lime or sulphuric acid, by which their use is made a matter of grave danger to the consumer.

Whenever a baking powder is sold at a lower price than the "Royal," or with a gift, it is a certain indication that it is made from alum, and is to be avoided under all circumstances
