LOCAL LAONICS.

Frank Beard on the 22nd. This is the first day of Lent. Always bargains at Robinson's. "Pink Tea" to-morrow evening. Have you seen Reed's $1.50 line of shoes? "Little thinkers are apt to be big talkers." Ladies heavy shoes cheap at Robinson's shoe store. The revival services in the M. E. church are well attended. "The men who are against excitement in religion, want more of it in politics." Additional local and items from our correspondents will be found on the 8th page. There will be four tickets to select from at the Borough election on the 21st inst.

Dan. Stratton, of DuBois, and Annie B. Marshall, of this place, were married at Esq. E. T. McGaw's office last Thursday evening.

An excellent supper for twenty-five cents at the G. A. R. hall to-morrow, Thursday, evening. Served by the N. T. L. society.

The Commissioners' statement of the finances of Jefferson county for the year 1892, will be found in this issue of the STAR. Peruse it.

The rains and warm days of last week caused the Sandy Lick creek to get out of its bed and run over some of the lowlands along the stream.

John Braund, a coal miner, had his right hand badly injured between a car and large lump of coal in the Big Soldier mine on Monday.

James Moore's name was omitted last week from the Building and Loan notice for the election of officers. He is a candidate for a director.

The Prohibitionists will hold a caucus in Centennial hall at 8:30 P. M. on Thursday, Feb. 9th, for the purpose of nominating a borough ticket.

Dr. Sterley, of Reading, Pa., who is a property holder here and who visits the town annually, broke one of his legs near the hip joint a week or two ago.

P. F. Clune, proprietor of the Curtin House at Driftwood, fell down stairs several weeks ago and received injuries from which he died on Monday of last week.

The Western Division of the Clearfield Baptist Association held a meeting at Sykesville last Thursday. About thirty people from Reynoldsville attended the meeting.

Two years ago Ninian Cooper sold clover and timothy seed at $4.50 per bushel, this year he will ask about $11.00 per bushel. Quite an advance in two years.

On Monday and Tuesday the streets and sidewalks were covered with ice so that it was difficult for pedestrians to sustain their equilibrium, and many did take an ungraceful tumble.

Ladies clean your kid gloves with Mousquetaire glove cleaner, for sale only by J. B. Arnold, the leading house in town, for dressed and undressed kid gloves in all the most desirable shades.

About eighteen members of the Guiding Star lodge went to Sykesville Saturday evening and attended the lodge at that place. The ladies enjoyed the trip immensely.

The Punksutawny News, in mentioning the Royal Arcanum banquet at this place, adds: "The Reynoldsville people should feel proud of their reputation as entertainers."

Next Tuesday one cent postage stamps will be in demand and many penny caricatured colored pictures will be hidden beneath the cover of white envelopes, St. Valentine day.

Two weeks from to-day marks another anniversary of Washington's birthday. We have not yet heard of any preparations being made for its appropriate observance. With so many patriotic orders in town surely it will not pass by unnoticed.

A number of Reynoldsville ladies intended going to a birthday surprise at Mrs. Joanna Anderson's, near the tannery, last evening but as the water was running over the street and sidewalk at the west end of the iron bridge, they returned home disappointed.

Swinging signs are dangerous on windy days. During a wind storm last Friday evening a DuBois lady was walking along on one of the streets of that town when a sign was blown off its hinges and fell, striking her on the head and knocking her insensible to the sidewalk. Reynoldsville has a few swinging signs that should be "tied up" before some person is injured by them.

We stated last week that an oyster supper would be held at Peter Baum's on Thursday evening, Feb. 2nd, for the benefit of the M. E. church. The Reynoldsville correspondent to the DuBois Courier stated in Saturday morning's issue that an oyster supper and dance were held at Peter Baum's on Thursday evening. The correspondent was misinformed about the dance part, but the oyster supper was given.

The great features of the evening was the wonderful skill as a draughtman displayed by Mr. Frank Beard. The amusing rapidity with which he produced figures in chalk on the black-board excited the liveliest amazement among the spectators. His "Cheerful Giver" was a rich and cleverly drawn caricature and produced great laughter and applause. Scarcely less amusing than the artistic feats he accomplished, were the remarks with which they were accompanied.—Brooklyn Journal.

Some people in the neighborhood of M. M. Moore's farm in Winslow township may have felt a shock Friday morning and thought it was the effect of an earthquake some where, but if they did they were mistaken. Mr. Moore had purchased a new pair of boots and stepped out onto the ice-bound earth and in a jiffy his new boots ascended towards heaven, taking his feet with them. Mr. Moore thinks his number nines must have struck a constellation, because he saw stars flying in all directions. He fell hard.

February 2nd was the 12th anniversary of the organization of the Christian Endeavor Society, which was organized at Portland, Maine, by Rev. Francis E. Clark for the training of new converts after a big revival. At the first of this year the membership of the society was reported to be one and a half million. The Y. P. S. of C. E. of the Presbyterian church held a missionary responsive service last Sunday evening as an observance of the 12th anniversary of the organization of the above mentioned society. The meeting took the place of the regular preaching service. A. J. Postlethwait, president of the Y. P. S. C. E., had charge of the meeting which proved to be interesting and profitable to all who attended.

Schulze & Son's team got frightened at a train at the A. V. depot yesterday morning and although Albert Schulze was holding one horse and Albert Harris the other, yet the horses could not be persuaded to stay in that immediate vicinity and after dragging the boys over the ice a short distance and throwing Al. Schulze down and tramping on him, the uncontrollable steeds created considerable excitement by their clattering hoofs over the ice-bound street in their mad race up Main street. The "bob" sleds, to which the runaways were hitched, upset near the railroad and became uncoupled and the fiery animals had only the front "bob" attached to them in the race up Main street. They got tired running and stopped near the STAR office.

Josh Brink, who lives on what is known as "Poverty Flat," came very nearly losing a horse under the ice Saturday morning. Sandy Lick had over run its banks and then the cold snap of Friday froze the ice so that it was difficult to find the street along the creek. Josh hitched up his nags and started to drive down the street. There is a bridge over the little run below the woolen mill and Josh missed the bridge, which was covered with ice, and one of his horses took a tumble. The water was not deep where the animal fell, but in floundering around in attempting to get up the horse got into deep water and at one time was all under but his head. After considerable difficulty with ropes and other means the shivering animal was rescued and wrapped in haps. The rescuers were about as cold and wet as the horse when it was placed on terra firma.

List of Jurors.

Following is a list of jurors drawn for a special term of Court, commencing march 6th, from Reynoldsville and Winslow township: Reynoldsville—I. M. Swartz, A. J. Pierce, C. A. Stephenson. Winslow township—Chas. Dean, L. L. Henry, Ben. F. Jones, Jacob Shaffer.

"Pink Tea."

The N. T. L. Society, of the Presbyterian church, will give a "Pink Tea" supper at G. A. R. hall on Thursday evening, Feb. 9th, for the small sum of 25 cents. Supper will be served from five to nine o'clock. This society has the reputation of giving good suppers, consequently we are safe in saying this will be a good supper. Try it and know for yourself.

Candidates.

In another column of this issue will be found the following announcements of gentlemen who are seeking office in this county: E. Neff, for sheriff; John Waite, for treasurer; W. T. Cox, for county commissioner; Daniel Brewer, for county commissioner. The three first named gentlemen are not strangers in this part of the county, but have been citizens of Reynoldsville and Winslow township for many years.

Installation.

Past Captain A. S. Moulthrop, of Multhrop Camp No. 142, S. V. of DuBois, will install the following officers of Gen'l Phil. Kearney Camp No. 39, S. V. of Reynoldsville, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 14th, 1893: Captain D. W. Atwater: 1st Lieut., G. W. Stokes; 2nd Lieut., A. M. Wadding; delegate to state camp, A. M. Wadding; alternate delegate, G. W. Stokes. All members of Gen. Phil Kearney Camp are requested to be present.

Send your Votes to Allison.

The DuBois Courier now prints a coupon each morning which entitles the holder to a vote for any school teacher of that town, and the one receiving the highest number of votes before the first day of May, 1893, will receive a free ticket to the World's Fair or a set of American Encyclopedia Britannica. The Courier's offer is a liberal one and we opine the object is to increase the paper's circulation, but that being the fact we do not see just why the offer is confined to DuBois teachers. The Punksutawny News wants to trade Courier votes for Pittsburg Times votes. Prof. Allison, of the News, no doubt, would enjoy a trip to the World's Fair on the Times' special train if he gets enough votes, and as he is a real gentleman, or he would not be in the newspaper business, and is a popular man who has been principal of the Punksutawny public schools for a number of years, it would be a capital idea to put in practice for all who get the Times and have no particular use for the vote to cut it out and send it to Prof. Allison.

Council Meeting.

The Borough "Dads" held their regular monthly meeting at Thos. H. Scott's office on Monday evening, Feb. 6th. Bills to the amount of $98.60 were ordered to be paid. An order was granted Ninian Cooper for $500.00 to apply on certificate of indebtedness for the hose purchased. A gentleman appeared before the "Dads" and asked permission to canvass the town with a book he wanted to sell without paying the license required by the ordinance passed a few months ago. The request was not granted. Council was asked to grant a right of way for the Reynoldsville and Ratholm Electric Street Railway to lay track and operate the road on the following streets: The entire length of Main street; Fourth and Fifth streets from Main to Jackson st.; Jackson street from Fourth to Taylor street. Cars not to run over eight miles per hour. As the present Council only have one more regular meeting night, it is probably they will not take action on the right of way asked. The Council and Railway Co. may not agree on the kind of rails to be used.

Democratic Caucus.

The democrats held a caucus in Centennial hall last Thursday evening. C. J. Kerr, Esq., was elected chairman, W. J. Weaver and A. G. Milliren, secretaries; Henry Dieble, Judge; I. H. London and M. Mahoney, tellers, of the caucus, and the following ticket was the result of the meeting: Burgess, C. F. Hoffman; Councilmen, Alex. Riston, Tom Wendle, Wm. K. Marshall, Thos. E. Evans, Geo. Hartman; school directors, Geo. Mellinger, Peter Burkhardt; tax collector, Ninian Cooper; constable, Frank P. Adlesperger; high constable, Milton Schlabin; auditors, Glenn Milliren, three years, Wm. F. Marshall, two years; overseers poor, C. J. Kerr, two years, M. Mohney, one year; judge of election, L. J. McIntire; inspector of election, S. T. Dougherty. The Chairman appointed Wm. C. Schultz, Jacob Dieble and W. J. Weaver as a Committee to fill vacancies. It was with difficulty that a man was found who would accept the nomination for high constable. M. C. Coleman and A. A. Swab were nominated for school directors if the Court decides that there are four to be elected, which seems to be a question for dispute now.

TWO NEW SCHOOL HOUSES.

A Citizens' Meeting was held—Directors Remain Firm.

About ninety citizens of Reynoldsville held a meeting in Centennial last Friday evening to take some action in regard to the building of two school houses here, as proposed by the school directors, and to give an expression of their disapproval of the East End location. The meeting was called to order by August Kleinbans and Dr. J. W. Foust was elected chairman and C. J. Kerr secretary. Dr. Foust stepped on to the platform and explained the object of the meeting and took his seat as chairman, but for some unexplained reason Mr. Kleinbans took charge of the meeting and the chairman-elect sat there with his arms folded. A number of speech were made and opinions given as follows: Tear the old one down and build a large one on that site; secure enough ground to build a large one beside the present one, and in the future when required build new ones in the suburbs; build the two new ones now and use the present one as a central high school, &c., &c. Some did not object so much to two new school buildings as they did to the East End location and the objections to it were these: It is on a hill-side, a mud-hole on one side, barn on the other, a railroad just below it where the R. & F. C. R'y have their weigh scales, and the back windows could not be raised on account of the smoke, and the noise would be very annoying, besides that it would be almost impossible to keep the boys away from the railroad. It was stated at the meeting that Tom Reynolds would donate two acres in his orchard rather than have the school house built on the site now selected by the directors. Before the meeting closed it was decided to appoint a committee of three to canvass the town with a petition which was to be presented to the school board last evening for their consideration. The petition had two columns, the one was for two school houses and the other one was for one large central school building, and citizens were requested to sign their name in the column that signified their choice. The school board decided at their meeting last evening to build two new school houses, but will change the East End site if a better one can be secured.

Young Hoodlums.

The Punksutawny News thinks that the officials of Reynoldsville should look after the mischievous boys of this place. We heartily agree with the News and gave expression to that fact in the last issue of the STAR, that is so far as boys molesting ladies and gentlemen who visit our town is concerned, but when a sled load of young scapegraces, hoodlums, ill-bred, impudent, unevil, impolite imps with a superabundance of Indian war-whoops and profane language visit Reynoldsville and parade the streets and make themselves obnoxious to respectable people and insult and molest the boys of this town, then we say the quickest and roughest way to drive such young imps out of town is the best way. A town that sends out such uncouth lads had better look after their own boys, and it would be more consistent for the News to devote a little space in advising the parents of Punksutawny to bring up their boys so that their actions away from home will have a semblance of respectability at least.

We do not attempt to defend the hoodlumism of our boys who would be guilty of annoying any one who visits our town and acts in a becoming manner, but the Punksutawny boys deserved all they got and still had some coming.

People's Party Caucus.

The People's party held a caucus last evening and nominated the following ticket: Justice of the peace, John Baughman; councilmen, T. O. Saxton, Jos. Pentz, Reynolds Johns, Harvey Gray, Geo. Roller; school directors, H. C. Kellar, August Kleinbans, Abraham Hoon, Peter Robertson; auditors, John Robinson, John Burns; constable, Monroe Fetterhilt; collector, John Pomroy; poor overseer, David Lane; high constable, John Bassett; judge of election, L. D. Kleinbans; inspector election, T. J. White. Appointed as watchers at the February election, 1893, J. McIntyre, Robt. Vabinder and A. J. Pierce.

High Waters.

The Sandy Lick Creek is very high. At six o'clock this morning the water was within six inches of the first floor in the Ross House, but had not raised any since ten o'clock last night. Some of the people living in the inundated district moved their household goods to places of safety. The cold snap put a stop to the flood increasing or many more would have moved or had their goods destroyed. The water was nine inches higher at Falls Creek yesterday than it was in the time of the Johnstown flood.

The First Leather.

The first car load of leather ever shipped from Falls Creek was loaded at the Proctor tannery Thursday and sent to Boston Friday of this week. It has been considerable over a year since the tannery at this place was started, and during all this time money has been expended but none received.

What a Difference it Makes.

The readers, and also borrowers, of a home newspaper expect to find all the local news of the day in it because that is one of the things a newspaper is published for. The items read almight as long as something is chronicled about a neighbor, but if it should come home and you are the one that gets your name in print for something that makes good news for your neighbor to read, then what do you think about a newspaper publishing the events of the town? It makes all the difference in the world whose toes are tramped or who has been guilty of some misdemeanor that they do not want the public to know anything about, or at least do not want to see statements made in the paper with their names attached thereto. It generally follows that the editor gets a tongue lashing behind his back, is called "a fool" and "he don't know any more about running a newspaper than a hog does about Latin." The very kind of reading matter that a majority of the people of to-day enjoy reading is something that is sure to make some one furious. We have often heard people say if they were running a newspaper they would expose certain things and "blow-up" certain people. They would do nothing of the kind, because they lack the "sand." People should remember that it is a newspaper's business to publish the news, expose vice wherever found, be a staunch advocate for all that is pure and good and for the elevation of humanity and to advance the town's best interests. Some times articles are published with no particular person in view and the shoe fits a half dozen or so who think it was intended for them and they tell their neighbors that they are the object of insult and add that "the editor would do well if he attended to his own business." In consideration of the above facts be gentle with an editor if, when giving the news, he mentions something about you which you wanted kept quiet, for while you are vexed perhaps a thousand readers think the item very interesting.

Pennsylvania Bible Society.

Editor STAR:—As my work for the above society closed in Reynoldsville on January 31st, I thought it might be interesting to the Christian people to know just what I have done since I have been here among you. In the first place I wish to thank the people of Reynoldsville for their kind hospitality, warmth of welcome and good words of cheer which I have received since I have been in your midst, and especially the pastors of the different churches for the interest they have taken in this Bible work.

I commenced my canvass Dec. 14th, and up to Jan. 31st, inclusive, I have visited 631 families, made cash sales to the amount of $253.92, numbering 486 copies of Bibles and Testaments. In addition to this 69 families were presented with copies of the Word, making a total of 555 copies of the Word of God placed in the homes of the people in Reynoldsville. Twenty-nine families were found without Bible or Testament in their homes. Nineteen of these were too poor to buy and were presented with Bibles, the other ten families purchased. Bibles and Testaments were sold in English, Welsh, German, Swede and Italian. I have preached seven sermons for the Methodist and Baptist churches and would have preached for the Presbyterian and Catholic, but was not asked to do so.

We are sorry to say this good work has to cease, for want of funds, and instead of being able to go to Punksutawny and other places in the county where the work is very much needed we have to go home. We trust that when the collections are taken in the different churches for the Pennsylvania Bible Society you will respond liberally, for this grand and glorious work must go on. JAMES JONES, Johnsonburg, Pa.

Her Reason Dethroned.

[Punksutawny Spirit.] Mrs. Paul Feraco, a wife of a respectable, hard working Italian who was employed in No. 2 mine, Horatio, has been rendered insane by the sudden and unexpected death of her husband. Feraco was engaged in mining on Tuesday afternoon when a huge rock fell on him, killing him instantly. The rock was so large that it required the united effort of seven men to lift it off his body. The remains were placed on a stretcher and taken to his home. While a man was imparting the news to the deceased's wife, the men carrying the remains walked into the house. The shock was too much for the poor woman and she began to scream and tear her hair, and becoming still more violent attempted to commit suicide by striking her head against the walls of the house. Instead of becoming quieter after a time, as the people thought she would, her paroxysms of grief continued to become more violent, and fearing that she would succeed in killing herself, it was found necessary to restrain her by force. The couple had three children, the youngest being but a few months old. A few days previous to his death Feraco had taken out an accident policy for two hundred and fifty dollars.

Robinson has men's fine shoes for $1.25, lace and congress.
