

THE EVANGELIST,

G. R. McKinney, of Venango, Pa., who is holding a series of meetings in the M. E. church at this place, is drawing large crowds. He is a plain talker and does not hesitate to tell professed christians what is expected of them. At present the indications are fair for a good revival.

Wedding Jubilee.

On Wednesday, Jan. 25, Miss Mary E. Breenholz, of Allens Mills, and Mr. H. E. Martz, of Emerickeville, were united in marriage. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Lewis Breenholz. About thirty invited guests were present. Rev. Balentine, pastor of the German Baptist church, at Allens Mills, pronounced the ceremony, after which followed the congratulations, and then dinner was served, but as Geo. Bartop, Jerry Allen and Curt Smith have been advertising the dinner, pronouncing it wonderfully good, the feast perfect, we shall leave the cooking department to them and just say the dinner was excellent. Among the wedding presents received were a beautiful chair, presented by Mr. and Mrs. John and Geo. Bartop, the McConnell and Cooper families; a crystal dish by Mr. and Mrs. Long; bed spread by Mr. and Mrs. Martz; parlor lamp by Mr. and Mrs. Will Wilson; set of table napkins by Mr. and Mrs. Horner, set of fine towels by Mr. and Mrs. Allen; and last, but not least, came a handsome lamp presented by J. Herbert Rew, of Philadelphia. All present unite in saying we enjoyed this delightful wedding and may our young friends live a long a happy life.

A PARTICIPANT.

Ayer's Hair Vigor keeps the scalp free from dandruff, prevents the hair from becoming dry and harsh, and makes it flexible and glossy. All the elements that nature requires to make the hair abundant and beautiful, are supplied by this admirable preparation.

Paradise.

Amos Strouse is killing rats by the score.

Grandpa Ludwick has started up his saw mill.

Isaac Piffer took a large drove of cattle through this place one day last week.

As the election draws near let every man make up his mind to vote for the man and not for party.

At the time of writing this (Feb. 4th) the protracted meeting at Sykesville is still going. About fifteen have professed religion.

If the men who were instrumental in the discharge of the teachers in South Paradise know what the public thought of their actions they would not brag so much of it. It is nothing to be proud of.

A wild cat has been terrorizing the people near Sykesville for some time, or at least it was supposed to be a wild cat. It has given chase to a couple of young men and the other day it was tracked to its lair in a kitchen in Sykesville. It was Dave Stall's big Tom cat.

Rathel.

Mr. Leach, of DuBois, visited with Jas. Thompson and family on Saturday.

J. F. Shafer and L. L. Henry are attending court this week as jurymen.

A remonstrance against the sale of fire water in our town is being circulated by the temperance people. At last accounts the document contained the signatures of about 130 voters.

The protracted meeting in the Church of God still continues, this being the eighth week since its beginning. Seven of the converts received the ordinance of baptism on Sunday at 3.00 o'clock.

The P. O. D. of A. and the P. O. S. of A. attended church on Sunday morning. Rev. Stevens preached the sermon, which abounded with great patriotism.

Rev. H. G. Furbay preached in the M. E. church on Sunday afternoon. His sermon was adapted to all those who feel the want of regeneration once and twice each year.

From present indications the supper and ball given by the K. of P. lodge this (Monday) evening will be a grand success.

With pure, vigorous blood coursing through the veins and animating every fibre of the body, cold weather is not only endurable but pleasant and agreeable. No other blood medicine is so certain in its results as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. What it does for others it will do for you.

Captain McKay and His Passengers. The fact is that the excellent captain of the Umbria, Captain McKay, was a little more open with his passengers than was quite prudent. With the laudable desire of sparing them any unnecessary anxiety, he informed them plainly of the cause of the stoppage of their course and generally assured them of their perfect safety. So far, so good. The passengers had a right to ask that much, and it was but sensible to let them know the truth and not imagine worse things for themselves. But what the passengers had no right to ask for was information as to the course that the captain was going to pursue, and Captain McKay made a mistake in not snubbing the first gentleman who questioned him on the subject. "Why don't you send up rockets?" one of the passengers is said to have plaintively demanded. "There will be time enough for rockets when a vessel comes near enough to see them," answered the captain evasively, but courteously.

The politeness was fatal. After the implied admission that rockets and other ships were necessary to their salvation the passengers had a terrific hold upon the unlucky commander of the ship. Had he only answered, as he would have been perfectly justified in doing and as a great many other captains would certainly have done, "What business is that of yours?" he might have made himself a little unpopular, but he would have saved himself from much further worry. The passengers seem to have actually divided themselves into two different camps and discussed a vote of confidence or censure. Happily common sense carried the day, and a vote of confidence was carried. What would have been done had the vote of censure been passed we cannot guess, but this at least we may say—that if that motion had been carried it would have been the plain duty of the captain to put the mover, second and principal supporters of the resolution in irons.—London Spectator.

Saved by a Music Box.

W. A. Menny, bookkeeper for Joseph A. Duffy, had an exciting experience with burglars at his house early Monday morning. He is but recently married, and among his wedding presents was a music box. To this happy circumstance he attributes the fact that the burglars did not succeed in carrying off everything in his home.

One of the burglars in rummaging through his drawing room stumbled across the package of stored music, and thinking probably that it contained jewelry or silverware attempted to open it. In doing so he set the music machine in motion, and presently Mr. Menny was roused from his slumbers by the touching strains of "Auld Lang Syne." Mr. Menny got his gun and started for the burglars, and they started for a window. He arrived at the drawing room doorway just in time to see two burglars leaping from the window. He fired, but the robbers continued their flight. One of them stumbled in getting over the front fence, and Mr. Menny is convinced that he shot him, as he found several splashes of blood on the ground and sidewalk.—St. Louis Republic.

Cheap Books Coming.

"I think the time is coming," said Henry Smallby, a New York publisher, at the Lindell, "when the ruling market price of our paper covered novels will be 5 cents. I think the revolution will commence some time this year. What do I base my opinion on? Why, on our Sunday newspapers. Take any of the better class of our daily papers and look at their Sunday editions. They print fully five times as much matter as the average novel contains and a great many more illustrations. Now, if the newspaper publishers can afford to do this, there is no reason in the world why the book publishers can't do the same thing. Of course they will have to use a cheaper paper, but I don't think the average readers care two straws about that. It's the reading matter they want, and as long as it is clean and legible they are not going to stop to inquire if the paper used is 'news' or 'calendered.'"—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

No "Beautiful Snow" in the City.

If the world be poets who perpetrate sonnets about the beautiful snow would just wander about the streets of lower New York the day after a snowstorm, there would be more suicides and less poetry. Perhaps this would be all for the best.

What a shock it would be to the tender susceptibilities of these gentlemen to behold the dirty, disreputable Italian disciples of Maud Muller heaping up the alleged "beautiful" in haycock shaped piles and carting it away! New York has no use for snowstorms nor for the spring and snow poets.—New York Herald.

The New Mail Flag.

The pennant to be borne at the mast-head of the United States mail subsidy ships is 20 feet long, 8 feet 6 inches at the mast and 5 feet at the end of the swallow tail. Its field is red, bordered by 9 inches of blue. In the upper left hand corner is an eagle in blue, with arrows and a branch in its talons, and bearing on the breast a shield with stars and stripes in red and white.—Charleston News and Courier.

Big Injuns Blew Out the Gas. Munedo-mahqua, Sub-gub-chew and Oh-ee-mah-sish are Indians who have been attending federal court and came near not living to return to White Earth and their tepees. They were putting up at the Globe hotel and blew the gas out when they lay down to sleep. They were almost asphyxiated when discovered and were revived after strenuous efforts by a physician.—St. Paul Globe.

Wooden Pavements in Canada. Wooden block paving is proving a conspicuous failure in Montreal. The wooden block paving in front of the Langevin block in Ottawa has stood well, but it was a most exceptionally expensive paving of the kind. The Montreal experience confirms previous indications that our climate has little use for ordinary wooden paving.—Ottawa Journal.

Fortune Longevity in Georgia. We heard yesterday of a hog being captured in the river swamp a few days ago that was marked by old Uncle Jack Hurst in 1870. This would make the hog 22 years old, which is a most remarkable age for a hog to attain.—Cor. Atlanta Constitution.

If prayer and womanly influence are doing so much for God by indirect methods, how shall it be when that electric force is brought to bear through the battery of the ballot box?—Frances E. Willard.
