The officials of the A. V. R'y have not seen the one hundred cars of freight that the Pennsylvania R. R. was to ship daily over the Low Grade, which was to have been inaugurated last Wednesday. There is some talk of the P. R. R. shipping freight over the A. V. R'y, but it has not been settled yet how many extra trains will be run or when the work will be commenced. It is a pretty certain thing that the Pennsylvania will ship considerable freight this way before many days.

It has been rumored about town, and even stated by correspondents to outside papers, that S. B. Rumsey, superintendent of the Low Grade Div. of the A. V. R'y, has a cancer on his tongue. We are glad to say that there is no truth in the statement, at least the eminent physician of Philadelphia, by whom Mr. Rumsey is now being treated, says it is not a cancer nor anything even of a malignant nature. Mr. Rumsey will be at home again in ten days or two weeks with a good, healthy tongue.

Sixty years ago the few people who lived in this neck o' woods had to go to Bellefonte, sixty-six miles, for their mail and groceries. The postage on a letter then was about twenty cents. Now groceries are delivered at your door, and before many years the free delivery system will be in vogue, not only in villages and hamlets, but the farmer can sit by his fireside in the winter months and wait for the mail man to come, not only that but it will cost a penny to send a letter. In the oldentimes, however, every member of a family did not visit the postoffice daily.

The overflow of the Sandy Lick creek on the swamp below town, and the freeze up of the same, made good skating for the lads, lassies and a few married people Saturday. The creek was not safe for skating on and consequently the skaters almost swarmed on the place above mentioned. Several found tender places in the ice and got into the cold water up to their waists and had some difficulty in getting out again, as the ice would break when they would try to get out and their compan-this day many despicable cowards seize the opportunity to send contemptible colored pictures to their enemies as a token of their hatred for them. Valentines sent out by young people, more for a joke than anything else, is alright but grown people who take that avenue to try to hurt some one's feelings are stooping to an act that shows their extreme littleness. Some people are very sensitive and when a valentine is received by them they take it to heart. but generally speaking, such valentines have no more effect on the receiver than the pouring of a pint of water on a duck's back.

Rev. G. R. McKinney, the evangelist, is still conducting services in the M. E. church. His sermons are delivered in a way that draws the people and the house is crowded almost nightly, and vet there have been but few at the altar. The man is greatly in carnest and if the church members were onehalf as much in earnest about a revival as Rev. McKinney is, there would be a big ingathering into the church. Unless the people have a mind to work the results of a special meeting will not be very great. Rev McKinney, in his peculiar style, shoots some very plain, unvarnished truths at his congregation every evening. There was a little sensation at DuBois Saturday night. A married lady, whose husband had not been living with her for some time and she had been making her home with her parents went coasting with another man. The green-eyed monster seized the "dog-inthe-manger" husband and he met the twain at the parental gate and proceeded to run air-holes into the body of the young man who had dared go coasting with the woman whom he had solemnly promised at the sacred marriage altar to support, love, honor and cherish. After the jealous husband had run a knife into the intruder eight times then the fellow got courage enough to knock the would-be-murderer down and escape from him.

John Murphy, a passenger engineer on the A. V. R'y, who was "married" to engine No. 3 about fifteen year ago, and at that time thought "she" was the best engine that ever turned a wheel, has been persuaded to give up the faithful engine for a faster and heavier one, as the 3 is to small to do the passenger work on the Low Grade now. Mr. Murphy is making his first trip to-day on his new engine, No. 58, which has just come from the shop.

A Success.

The "pink tea" supper given by the young ladies of the N. T. L. Society of the Presbyterian church in the G. A. R. hall last Thursday evening was a grand success. The tables were loaded with entables that would please the most fastidious epicurean in Reynoldsville, the ladies had on their Sunday clothes and sweetest smiles, and were careful that everybody was waited on. It is remarkable what capacity some people have for storing away good things. The N. T. L. ladies were well pleased with the financial success of the "pink tea."

A Wise Man. We received a letter the other day from Homer B. Leach, of Alton, Kansas, formerly a live business man of Reynoldsville, which was dated Feb. 9th, 1893, in which he says: "As this is my 53rd birthday, and I am starting out on a new year, and we are old friends, and you are editing a paper, and I wish to know the happenings of the town and to note the doings of my old friends from time-in short, send me the paper for the next year." If Mr. Leach has acted as wisely in all his other plans for the coming year, his fifty-fourth year will be the most successfully one of his life.

Prohibition Caucus.

On Thursday evening, Feb. 9th, the Prohibitionists held a caucus in Centennial hall. Solomon Shaffer was elected chairman and R. L. Miles secretary, the following ticket was nominated: Burgess, Solomon Shaffer: justice of the peace, J. C. McKee; councilmen, J. Van Reed, D. W. Stiles, T. J. Davis, Joseph Shaffer, E. L. Evans; school directors, A. E. Dunn, Wm. Barkley: tax collector, John Pomroy; constable, H. H. Mincer; high constable, Chas Epler: judge of election: R. L. Miles: inspector of election, Wesley Motter; overseers poor, Jonathan Whitmore, L. A. Styles; auditors, Wm. F. Marshall, M. S. Sterley; school directors to fill vacancies, if any, Rufus Kirk, D. E. Jones; watchers at the February election, J. C. McKee, S. Shaffer, R. L. Miles.

On the Right Track. January 4th J. Kaufman, of Punxsuawney, opened an auction store in the Flynn building in this place and Sykes, Allis & Moorhouse, proprietors of the woolen mills, had him arrested for conspiracy, with intent to defraud. The sheriff appeared on the scene and locked the goods up until the matter was settled. The woolen mill men had sold Kauffman goods in his own name and ions were afraid to get close enough to afterwards he bought goods from them help them, fearing they too might get a but had the goods shipped in his fatherin-law's name, J. Adelson. Kauffman Yesterday was St. Valentine day. On claimed when arrested here that he unpaid bill of goods was bought and that he could not be held responsible for the debt of his employer. He tried a "bluff game," but the woolen mill men were on the right track and would not be "scared off." The grand jury found a true bill against Kauffman at Brookville last week. A few hours before the case was to come before the Court Kauffman wanted to settle. The original bill amounted to $317.00, the costs were almost $400. He was willing to, and will, pay the entire bill. The goods were shipped from Reynoldsville to Altoona on Friday in another man's

Not all Roses.

The sleighing party of young people rom Punxsutawney, Brookville and DuBois who came to Reynoldsville for a dance and supper last Thursday evening did not return to their respective homes before the dawn of the following morning in high glee, especially the Punxsutawney and DuBois parties. The first sled load for DuBois found the road flooded before they reached Rathmel and in attempting to drive through upset. An upset in the snow is one of the novelties of a sleigh ride, but an upset in the water puts a "damper" on the pleasure, therefore, the load returned to Reynoldsville. A second load started out and met the same fate and they also returned to wait for daylight. A third load left here for DuBois and got lost and drove ten or fifteen miles out of the way. It would be hard to convince them that "the farthest way round is the nearest way home" under such circumstances. Water and a break down were some of the obstacles the Punxsutawney parties had to contend with. Some of the young people from all three places finished their sleigh ride on the morning passenger trains. The difficulty of home going found not its way into the ball room while the "mazy dance" was going on, e'en though the rain drops fell fast all

Found Dead in Bead.

Mrs. Margaret Milliren, reliet of Daniel Milliren who passed into the Great Beyond over ten years ago, died at her home near Emerickville sometime Thurday morning Feb. 9th, at the age of seventy years and seven months. She was an active old lady who had been a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for forty-two years, where she was a faithful worshiper up to the time of her death. The old lady was apparently in her usual health when retiring Wednesday evening and when the girl went to call her Thursday morning she was found dead in bed, but the spirit had not long before taken its flight, as the body was not entirely cold yet. Heart trouble is supposed to have been the cause of her death. Her maiden name was Margaret McKinley, and she was married to Daniel Milliren at Roseville, this county, fifty-two years ago. They moved into Emerickville forty-five years ago, where she has since lived and was loved and highly respected by all who knew her. Her husband and four children preceded her beyond the valley of death. Six children, of whom our townsman, A. G. Milliren, is one, are still living. Her funeral services were held in the M. E. church at Emerickville at ten o'clock Sunday forenoon, conducted by Rev. Jas. H. Jelbart and her remains were interred in the family burying ground on the old homestead near Emerickville. The large crowd that attended the funeral was evidence of the high regard in which the friends and neighbors held the "old mother in Israel."

Savage and McMurray.

We met the editor of the Clearfield Public Spirit at Brookville in the Jeffersonian Democrat sanctum sanctorium one day last week and were forcibly impressed with the thought that his name (Matt. Savage) is a misnomer. He is a very pleasant gentleman, but perhaps being in the sanctum and presence of the good natured editor, John McMurry, who had just settled into his usual pleasant mood after having had a set-to with one of those fellows who are grasping enough to want to subdivide the clay they are made of and sell it for town lots. Brookville is no exception to all other towns when it comes to looking for men who want a newspaper to give them complimentary notices and then they, in turn, will try to "beat" the editor out of a subscription or expect their work done for "a song." Bros. Savage and Me-Murray have been in the business long enough not to allow the "rackets" scattered along the stream of journalism to long disturb the peacefulness and calm that is forced into a newspaper man's life by pleasing everybody.

To Divide the Prothonotary's Office.

[Punxsutawney Spirit.] Bills were introduced simultaneously in the Senate and House last Thursday by Senator Mitchell and Representative Smith, to divide the prothonotary's office in each of the counties of this State containing a population of not less than 40,000, and appropriating $15,000 to the Memorial home at Brookville. The basis of the proposed division for the Prothonotary's office was, one person to fill the office of Prothonotary, clerk of the courts of general quarter sessions and over and terminer, and one person to fill the office of recorder of deeds, register of wills and clerk of the orphans court. It will make two of the best offices in the county after it is of Brookville; for county auditor, S. R. divided, and will give an additional patriot a chance to serve his country. But it is a difficult matter to do. It has been attempted in almost every conceivable way by many different persons since 1873, but has invariably been vetoed. We believe that the bill now introduced is constitutional, however, and have hopes that it will escape the fate of its predecessors.

Studying Medicine.

John W. Warnick, once a teacher in our public schools is studying medicine with Dr. M'Comb, of West Millville.— New Bethlehem Vindicator.

Mr. Warnick was a groceryman in this town for several years with R. E. McKee. John has the ability to become a good physician if he applies himself studiously to the undertaking, but if he ever comes to Reynoldsville to practice medicine it would not be advisable for some of the fellows who bought groceries from him and never paid their bills to call him in if they were seriously ill. He may look to the interest of other grocerymen.

Special Offer.

We are making a special offer to each of our readers paying a year's subscription to the STAR in advance, and to all new subscribers paying in advance, we will give them the best local paper in Jefferson county and will give them free, either the Womankind or Amertcan Farmer, for one year. The two papers above mentioned are excellent monthly papers and the subscription price of each is $1.00 a year.

E. W. McMillen came very nearly seeing his saw mill, which is located about three miles from Reynoldsville, go up in smoke last Wednesday morning about five o'c'ock. Mrs. McMillen was the first to discover the fire. The alarm was given and in a very few minutes the mill hands were ready to combat with the fire fiend which was drowned out before much damage was done. Mr. McMillen says he has nine of the best men that ever worked on a saw mill. He went into J. B. Arnolds' store Wednesday afternoon and said, 'Mr. Arnold, my wife saved my mill from burning down this morning and I want the best dress goods you have in the store." He got her a good dress. There was no insurance on the mill and large amount of lumber which was close by. Mr. McMillen is inclined to think that he had a presentiment of the financial embarrassment that almost visited him, for if the fire had gained the victory it would have been a heavy loss to him. He was at Brookville the day before and was worried about something but could not tell what was the matter. Some of his intimate friends asked him what was troubling him. He could not be prevailed upon to stay at Brookville all night because he felt that he ought to go home, and yet could give no good reason why he should go.

The School Question.

At the election on the increase two hundred and eighty-one, of the three hundred and forty-two that voted that day, said build upon the old location, and upon this idea the increase was obtained. By petition two hundred and twenty-five voters say, build one central school building near the old location. Unheaded they pass before the eyes of our school board, who are of the people, by the people and for the people, and there to handle the cash, gathered from the hard hands of the sons of toil, who not grudgingly pay in the same, but desire that it be judiciously expended. At present about four of our eight rooms are much crowded. To save the interest on the one building being erected before it is needed, the East End citizens are willing to allow the West End to erect their eight room building, and get along with sixteen rooms until they are out grown, then erect another where it is most needed.

A petition to the board to this end is now being circulated asking the signature of a number of citizens. It can be seen at Walter Spry's store.

Possible Democratic Candidates.

(Brookville Jeffersonian Democrat.)

We have heard the following names mentioned in connection with the democratic nomination for the various county offices in Jefferson county this year. Whether all will be candidates for the offices indicated we cannot say. Most of them will be, perhaps. And there may be other candidate whose names we have not heard mentioned. Here are the names as we have heard them: For prothonotary, J. J. Young, present sheriff, 'Squire Baur, of Brookville, and W. D. Kane, clerk to the board of county commissioners; for sheriff, E. W. McMillen, of Winslow, J. H. Carr, of Rose, and W. W. Barelay, of Big Run: for county treasurer, Al Hawk, of Knox; for county commissioner, M. F. Woods and A. W. Mulhollan, present incumbents, G. W. McKinley, of Union, Samuel States, of Bell, and W. E. Kelso. Kelley, of Brookville.

Reduced Rates to Washington.

For the benefit of those who desire to attend the ceremonies incident to the inauguration of President-elect Cleveland, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will sell excursion tickets to Washington March 2d, 3d, and 4th, valid to return until March 7th, 1893. The excursion rate from New York will be $8, from Pittsburg $10, from Buffalo $15, and from Philadelphia and all other principal station on the Pennsylvania system, two cents per mile.

The inauguration promises to be a most interesting event, and will undoubtedly attract a large number of people from every section of the country.

The magnificent facilities of the Pennsylvania Railroad make this line the favorite route to the national capital on all occasions.

Recommend Beard.

I had the pleasure of hearing Mr. Beard deliver one of his "Chalk Talks" several years ago, and I consider him both entertaining and instructive.

Gas Notice.

Hereafter on the first of each month the Oil City Fuel Suppy Company will mail to each of its patrons a postal card notifying them of the amount of gas consumed by them during the previous month. By bringing these cards to the office for receipt, the transaction of the business will be greatly expedited, as it will be unnecessary to wait for duplicate bills to be made out.
