This being a legal holiday the school children and bankers are enjoying a days' rest from their labors.

Archie Lyle, of Rathmel, and Mrs. Syman Scott were baptized and received into the Baptist church last Sunday evening.

The Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Society will hold a social at Mrs. J. B. Ayers' on Main street next Tuesday evening.

Rev. Brown, an Episcopalian minister of Brookville, will preach in the Lutheran church at this place next Sunday at 11:00 A. M. and 7:00 P. M.

The Endeavor Society of the Baptist church will have charge of the services in that church next Sunday evening. It promises to be an interesting service.

The Penfield Weekly Press has a correspondent at Prescottville who signs his articles "Crow Foot," and generally two items, out of the six he writes, are about "Sitting Bull."

An obedience to the simple laws of hygiene and the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will enable the most delicate man or sickly woman to pass in ease and safety from the icy atmosphere of February to the warm, moist days of April. It is the best of spring medicines.

We received a letter from Calera, Alabama, yesterday which was written last week and in it the statement was made that the people in that south-land had commenced to make garden. Just think of it! Yesterday morning the thermometers here had taken a "tumble" down to 20 degrees below zero.

Dr. S. Reynolds was in the drug store about four o'clock yesterday morning when a stranger, a smooth-faced fellow, came in with a light coat, no hat, and his head and face battered up in bad shape. When asked what he wanted he said, "Nothing," and then went out and started up street.

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a chicken and waffle supper in the G. A. R. hall to-morrow, Thursday, evening. The supper will be worth fifty cents, but they will only charge thirty-five cents for it. Supper will be served from 5:30 until everything is eaten. Go early and avoid the rush.

An eight-year-old son of Peter Esowine came very nearly being crushed to death under a wagon wheel last Thursday while attempting to get a ride. The driver stopped his team just as the wheel had caught the boy. The little fellow was taken home and a doctor called, but the boy was not badly injured.

Sixty years ago it was not an uncommon sight for the people who lived in the wilderness where Reynoldsville now stands to see as high as twenty-five deer running around in one day. In those days the people would only eat the hind quarters of a deer. Now they will eat all the meat, make "head cheese" out of the head and if possible make a little "blood pudding."

Judge Clark renewed the licenses to Hotel McConnell, Hotel Belnap, Ross House, Commercial Hotel and Burns House, and granted new license to John C. Dillman and Walsh & O'Riley, but the applications of H. S. Belnap, wholesale license, David Roll, Wm. F. Schultze, of West Reynoldsville, and John Wylam, of Rathmel, were held over until the 4th of March.

The different churches of town were not as well attended Sunday evening as usual on account of the severe storm. It was really too stormy for strong men to be out, and many of them accepted the excuse to stay at home, and of course the women did not like to go alone. There were quite a number, however, who would not allow a young blizzard to keep them away from church.

The driver of the Hotel Belnap bus went to the early train Monday morning without a porter and when the horses heard the snoring voice of the driver call out "Hotel Belnap," they mistook the meaning and started up town on their usual get-there-as-soon-as-you-can gait. The driver started after them yelling whoa! but the horses did not stop until they were caught at the opera house.

The "shadow social" in the G. A. R. last evening was an enjoyable affair. A screen was put up and the ladies would stand behind it so that their shadows would be thrown onto the screen and the highest gentlemen bidder got the shadow. Each lady had a basket filled with more than a "shadow" of a lunch, but something substantial for the innerman. Proceeds were for benefit of G. A. R. Post.

A waste pipe froze in the Degnan & McDonald block Sunday night and when H. Alex. Stoke opened his store Monday morning the floor was covered with water. The water had run onto the floor in the Volunteer office and spread out and then ran down into Alex's store and destroyed a considerable amount of goods for him, besides the half day of unpleasantness in trying to protect his goods and keep the water swept off the floor.

It is expected that Rev. Harvey Graeme Furbay will deliver one of his popular lectures in Big Run some time in the near future.—Big Run Weekly Echo. When the brilliant young pastor of the Reynoldsville Presbyterian church delivers his lecture at Big Run the citizens of that town can depend upon it that they will hear something good. The reverend is bright and eloquent.

K. J. Pachajeff, a native of Bogaria, will deliver a lecture in the M. E. church on Friday evening, March 3rd, under the auspices of the Epworth League. He will lecture on the manners and customs of his country and will be dressed in the costume of his native land. The lecturer is now a student at the Allegheny seminary preparing himself as a missionary. Admission will be 25 and 10 cents. Tickets on sale at Reed's shoe store.

As the somber shadows of evening time enveloped the earth Sunday a full grown son of a genuine western blizzard passed over this section of the country. Although the air was not as frigid as it had been other times during the winter, yet the wind fiercely whistled and howled and in its fury tossed the snow in the air so that people who were out in it found it almost impossible to face the raging storm. The Punxsutawney and Brookville and many other roads in the country were so badly drifted Monday that they were impassible.

Mrs. William Sample, whose maiden name was Richards and whose parents live near Maysville, died at her home on East Main street at four o'clock, Tuesday morning, February 21st, of heart disease. A husband and five little children are left to mourn for what the children will never know again, a mother's love. The two youngest are twins only two weeks old. Mr. and Mrs. Sample have lived in Reynoldsville about six years. The deceased was a member of the M. E. church. The funeral services will be held at the house at two o'clock this afternoon and to-morrow morning the remains will be taken on the train to Oakland for burial. Mrs. Sample was twenty-six years old. It is sad, indeed, for five little children to meet the cold, unfriendly world without a mother's care and protection.

We have been informed by Wm. G. Harris, an official member of the Church of God, of Rathmel, that the revival meetings held at that church by Rev. D. A. Stevens, which have been in progress eleven weeks, are meeting with grand success. Up to the present time ninety-one have testified to saving faith in Christ. Thirty-five of this number have been baptized by immersion and joined the Church of God, while many of the remainder of the converts will unite with other churches. Mr. Harris says Rev. Stevens' aim is not only to build up the church of his choice, but he is earnestly working to win men and women into the paths of righteousness.

Rev. Thos. Pollard, pastor of the Rathmel M. E. church, and Rev. E. T. Derr, pastor of the Reynoldsville Baptist church, have helped along the good work by each one preaching a sermon for Rev. Stevens.

DEATH OF MRS. H. A. REED.

She Peacefully and Trustfully Passed into the Glory Land.

It was a great surprise to many Reynoldsville people to see craps hanging on Henry A. Reed's door Tuesday morning, Feb. 21st, and to hear that Mrs. Reed had died at two o'clock that morning, as but few people knew that she was sick. On the 14th inst. she was enjoying comparatively good health. She was out on the street and the sidewalks were slushy and she got her feet wet which resulted in a sore throat and then diphtheritic croup followed. Monday evening she, and her friends, knew that her life was hastening to an earthly close and it was only a matter of a very few hours until her heart would cease its throbbing. She asked to see her little two-year-old daughter, Aldine, who had been at her grandfather Reed's during her mother's illness. The little girl was taken into the room of her mother, who dare not touch her, but the fond mother took one long, last look at her darling, and as the innocent babe was being carried out of the room she waved her little hand and said, "bye, bye." Mrs. Reed requested that a minister and some singers be sent for. Rev. Furbay, Mrs. Dr. S. Reynolds and J. B. Arnold were soon found. The dying woman, who had been a member of the Methodist church for many years, had two favorite hymns which she wanted them to sing for her, "It is well with my Soul," and "Jesus Lover of my Soul." The singers sang but one hymn, the first verse of which is as follows, "When peace, like a river, attendeth my way, When sorrows like sea-billows roll! Whatever my lot, Thou hast taught me to say, It is well, it is well with my soul."

after which Rev. Furbay read a passage of scripture and offered prayer. The second hymn was not sung on account of Mrs. Reed being so weak. She was rational up to the very time when she calmly and sweetly passed into the haven of eternal joy and rest, and talked with her dear ones, telling them what she would like to have them do, and requested that they meet her beyond the ebb and flow of earthly sorrows and sadness, where "the wicked cease from troubling; and there the weary be at rest." A while before she died she talked frequently, in a child-like trustfulness, of going to meet her Saviour and see her mother, who died about twenty years ago, and her little brother, Walter, who died several years ago. Just before she died she said she was happy. Death had lost its sting, and the grave its victory for her.

Mrs. Reed was a daughter of C. N. Lewis, and was married to Henry A. Reed three years ago last Monday. She was twenty-four years old the fifth day of last August. The almost heart-broken husband and a bright little two-year-old daughter survive her. The funeral services will be held this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock at the house, conducted by Rev. Harvey Graeme Furbay, and the remains will be buried in the Pleasant Avenue cemetery.

Mrs. Reed had many friends who are saddened by her sudden and early demise.

Evangelist McKinney.

G. R. McKinney, the evangelist, who has been holding a revival in the M. E. church at this place for three weeks, closed the meeting Sunday evening. There were thirty-one at the altar during the meeting. The church was crowded almost every night. On Monday night the Evangelist delivered a lecture in the church and charged an admission fee of 25 cents. About four hundred people attended the lecture. He gave a history of his life from the cradle to the altar. He was born in the wilds of the west, and has served as a cowboy, a detective, infidel lecturer, spiritual medium, a lawyer and politician. His boyhood was spent between Rio de Janeiro, in South America, and Sitka, Alaska. He quarrelled with his father and when leaving the state where his parents lived he said: "I hope if ever I return to this state I will lose my right hand." Eighteen months later he returned to that state and when arriving at the first station within the state they stopped fifteen minutes for dinner and in attempting to get off the train before it had entirely stopped he slipped and fell and threw his right hand on the track and his fingers were all cut off. He related many pathetic and humorous incidents.

Up with the Times.

Bell Bros., the clothiers of this place, who are continually keeping up with the times, will soon have a mammoth store in Reynoldsville. Their store is now located in one room of the Seeley block. Before many weeks the adjoining room, now occupied by Dr. Alexander's drug store, will be made vacant by the drug store being moved into the Degnan & McDonald block where Alex. Stoke now has his drug store, and then Will H. Bell, manager of the clothing store, will have three archways made and both rooms will be used for their clothing store. An addition is now being built onto the rear of the rooms for their tailor department. Bell Bros. will not only increase their stock but they will carry a finer line of goods than ever before handled by the firm, and all their customers know what a fine stock they have handled heretofore. The secret of success with this enterprising firm is printers ink, they advertise extensively.

Need City Ains.

There is one very important thing that the railroads centering at Falls Creek have overlooked which would relieve the passengers on the morning and noon trains of considerable worry, and that is to dress a man up in blue clothes, with brass buttons, and a sonorous voice, to announce where each train is bound for. Falls Creek is badly in need of that much "city airs." Two A. V. R'y trains, one P. R. R. and a B. & P. R'y train all there at the same time has a tendency, and does, confuse passengers. While at Falls Creek last Friday we heard inquiries about like this: "Is this the train for Brookville?" "Oh! my, which one of these trains goes to Brookville?" "Dear me, I wonder if any of these trains go to Punxsutawney, or when I can get there?" But people should not expect too much from railroad companies at once. It must not be forgotten that a new station has just recently been built there.

CONVENTION AND LECTURE.

The People's Party of Jefferson county will hold a county convention in Reynoldsville opera house to-day, commencing at one o'clock this afternoon. It is expected that the convention will be largely attended by delegates from other towns. Business of importance to the party will be transacted. This evening J. B. Conser, of Clayville, will deliver an address at 7:30 in the opera house in the interest of the People's Party on the following subject: "The foxes guard the chicken coops and the wolves guard the lambs, or who makes our laws?" Ladies are invited to attend this lecture.

WE MUST HAVE IT!

The Future of the Town Demands the Railway.

In all probability the directors of the proposed Reynoldsville and Rathmel Electric Street Railway Co. will abandon the project and return all the money to the individuals who had sufficient enterprise to invest, unless the property holders of Reynoldsville and along the intended line of the road take an interest in it and encourage. In place of discouraging, the building of the street railway. There is no use "going around the bush" about the fact that Reynoldsville must awake from her lethargy and put forth some effort for the good of the town in the future or we will be left behind the surrounding towns in a few years hence. It is an undeniable fact, which has been patent in the history of our town for a number of years, that there are men, and number is entirely too many for the good of the town, who discourage the every enterprise proposed for the improvement of Reynoldsville on the ground that "I am afraid it will not pay." DuBois, Punxsutawney, Falls Creek, and even the old staid town of Brookville, are moving along with the stream, and we must not, we cannot afford, to be content with our present attainments, else our neighbors will sap the life-blood out of Reynoldsville in eight or ten years. We must have manufacturing establishments of various kinds. Do you suppose people who are looking for a town to locate in with some kind of a factory or large establishment will come to a town where the citizens lack sufficient enterprise to build an electric railway three and a half miles long? It has been proven by DuBois and Punxsutawney that a street railway enhances property greatly, gives life to the business interests and gives the town a good standing with the outside world. We believe a street railway to Rathmel would pay expenses the first year and in a few years be a paying investment. While you would be waiting for the railway to pay a large interest on the money invested, how about the increase of valuation on your property? As night follows day, so does the valuation of property increase with every substantial improvement made in a town. The men who have worked to have the road built are now discouraged and think of giving it up because the people will not take hold and help along, in place of throwing cold water on it. This is not a matter that will benefit the projectors any more than others, but they are enterprising men and can see what the outcome will be if the road is built. We do hope the citizens of town will become thoroughly imbued with a progressive spirit and will encourage what ever may be proposed for the town's best interest. Don't throw cold water on anything that others are trying to advance for your best interest. If you are not willing to invest your money, you can surely speak in its favor. Don't get discouraged, gentlemen, persevere and the victory is yours.

A Cheap Job.

The auditors of Reynoldsville borough experienced considerable worry and difficulty in getting the tickets for the election yesterday. Pat. George, who runs a cheap job office at Brookville, made a specialty of printing the ballots for a very cheap rate. He sent his prices to the auditors over the county and promised to do good work. The auditors of our borough were not slighted. They visited the STAR and Volunteer offices with Mr. George's prices, but as neither one of the offices cared to assume the responsibility of getting out ballots for the prices quoted by the Brookville man, he, of course, got the job. The auditors received their ballots Saturday evening and it was a good job—good for nothing. The auditors talked with George over the telephone and made arrangements to pay his office a visit on Sunday. On Sunday morning two of the auditors hired a sleigh, faced the storm and drove to Brookville and they, with Mr. George, laid their respect for the Sabbath aside and the tickets were printed correctly. After the printer pays the horse hire and other expenses of the auditors out of his at first paltry profit, he will be out of pocket for the privilege of printing the Reynoldsville tickets. Where a man gets a half dozen or more tickets to print he can do it cheaper than when he has one set of tickets to print. Of course the auditors have a right to get the work done just as cheap as possible, but cheap work is most generally cheap work. The county pays for the printing of the tickets.

Building and Loan.

The Reynoldsville Building and Loan Association held its regular monthly meeting Monday evening and sold twenty-three shares, $4,600, at an average premium of twenty-one per cent. Four directors were elected, John M. Hays, M. S. Sterley, Wm. F. Marshall and James M. Moore. One auditor, M. C. Coleman.

If the sale of money keeps up an average as it has in the past two years the first series will mature in ninety months, thirty-five of these have already been marked on the annals of time.

John T. Coax, a well read old gentleman living near town, has been called as a grand juror for United States District Court to be held at Scranton, Pa., the week commencing March 6th. This makes the fifth time he has been called as a juror for Uncle Sam.

W. W. Crissman, of Clayville, a candidate for county treasurer, was in Reynoldsville yesterday forenoon. He had been subpoenaed to appear at Brookville on Monday as a witness on a case in which his evidence would be of no use, and he did not go. Monday evening he received a telegram stating if he was not there at nine o'clock Tuesday morning an attachment would be sent for him. Mr. Crissman started for Brookville yesterday morning and a car-off the track delayed the B. R. & P. train so that they missed connection with the A. V. R'y train at Falls Creek. He faced the chilly wind and rode to Reynoldsville on a freight car over the R. & F. C. R'y with a view of evading an attachment and also looking after his political interests here.

Pinned to a Crib.

Frank Grady, who was assisting in repairing Humphreys' dam at Port Barnett, was seriously injured last Wednesday. The water raised and a timber stick came down and the end struck Grady in the back, knocked him down and dragged him a distance of sixteen feet and finally pinned him against the end tie of the crib with the force of the fifty foot stick against him. His right leg was badly smashed and his left leg so lacerated that it has been useless to him ever since. He was injured internally.
