James Delaney will move his barber shop into the front part of the Hotel McConnell billiard room. Punsutawneyites will soon travel the streets of their town under the glare of electric light. So much for enterprising citizens. A boy never troubles himself to look in a mirror to see if his face is clean after washing. The towel answers for that purpose. George Henry, of the Henry mines at Rathmel, got his right foot badly injured Saturday by a coal car. Two of his toes were broken. Twenty-five persons were taken into the Presbyterian church at this place last Sunday. Twenty-four by confession of faith and one by letter. The "Shadow Detective" was produced at the Reynolds opera house last Thursday evening to a crowded house. The show was a good one. E. W. According to the moss-covered prediction for March we can look for the lion-like fury at the close of this month, as it was ushered in as docile as a lamb. Wm. Lawson, a miner, was crushed to death in the Horatio mines last Saturday morning by a fall of coal, and his son, who was working with him, was badly injured. The K. S. Social Club of Reynoldsville had a billiard table put in their rooms last week and a gymnasium, on a small scale, will be added for the benefit of the members of the club. The months' task of weighing mails come to a final Saturday. During the thirty days, seven thousand pounds of mail matter was handled at the Reynoldsville postoffice. The ladies of the Presbyterian church will give a literary and musical entertainment in Reynolds opera house on Thursday evening, March 10th, for the small admission of ten and fifteen cents. The entertainment will, doubtless, be a good one. Six hundred pounds of mail matter was dumped off at Brookville one day last week. This is considerable mail for one place, but by the time the surrounding county would get their portion out of that the amount would be greatly reduced. There will be an oyster supper at the residence of Mrs. James B. Orr, in West Reynoldsville, at five o'clock Friday evening, March 10th. Proceeds for benefit of the Rebeckah lodge. Supper twenty-five cents. All are cordially invited to attend. It was the universal verdict last night that Guy Brothers is the very best Minstrel troupe that has visited Jackson in many a day. Each member of the company is an artist in his line.—Jackson (Mich.) Courier, Dec. 11, 1892. At Reynolds opera house to-night. David Roll, proprietor of the City Hotel, will run his house on the European plan. A restaurant will be run in connection with the house. The room formerly occupied by Jas. Delaney's barbershop, will be used for the restaurant. The house contains fourteen rooms. Samuel Tilton Reynolds, the corpulent gentleman who is building the new brick on Main street, is anxiously awaiting spring time so that the bricklayers can commence work. We have it from good authority that Mr. Reynolds really puckered his mouth and whistled one day last week. The backbone of winter is splintered to smithereens, surely. A tramp informed us that he saw a robin near Skesville one day last week. He was not explicit in his statement and we are unable to decide whether he saw a robin red breast or one of his "pards" a robben some poor fellow of his worldly gain. If it was the former, the little fellow needs socks, if the latter he needs a sockdolager. The R. & F. C. R'y will build a passenger station at this place sometime in the near future. Just where it will be built is known only to the officials of the road. There is no doubt but that passenger trains will stop at the Main street crossing, even if the station is not built there. Early in May passenger trains will be running on this road. M. J. Coyle, proprietor of the racket store, offered, as a prize, a pair of chenele poutiers to the person who would make the closest guess to the number of beans in a jar which he had standing in his window during the month of February. The jar contained 2,866 beans. Mead Lucas guessed 2,860, and got the prize, John Hays guessed 2,859. Mrs. Maggie Haffner, wife of William Haffner, of Clarion Mines, and daughter of Reece Williams, of this place, died Wednesday afternoon and was buried at Brockport Sunday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Haffner had been married five years and had but one child, a little boy nine days old when the mother died. The deceased was not quite twenty-six years old. The STAR, Volunteer and correspondent to DuBois Courier gave an account Wednesday morning of the fire here Tuesday morning, and any one who chanced to read the three papers would be unable to tell what Mr. Snyder's first name is. The STAR said Peter, the Volunteer Jacob and the Courier Phillip sr. Of course the STAR gave the correct name. The directors of the proposed electric railway met at C. Mitchell's office Monday evening and about the only business transacted was to pay a bill presented by W. C. Elliott for $1.30. No further action in regard to building the road will be taken for several months. It has not been abandoned entirely. We prophesy an electric railway in Reynoldsville inside of three years. Thursday of last week was Mrs. Wilder Boyle's birthday and in the morning a few relatives and intimate friends gathered at her home, near Deemer's school house, to celebrate the occasion and give the old lady a surprise. They took a pretty rocking chair with them and when Mrs. Boyle, who was at a neighbor's house when the surprisers arrived, returned home she was seated in the new chair while she "sized up" her visitors and recalled the fact that another birthday anniversary for her had been marked on the dial of time. They all made a day of it. The stockholders of the Jefferson County Agricultural Association met at Brookville on Monday afternoon and elected the following officers: President, W. L. McCracken; vice-president, S. A. Hunter; secretary, A. D. Long; directors: W. L. McCracken, S. A. Hunter, W. K. Fetzer, W. S. Weaver, M. C. Rhodes. The present stockholders took hold of the above named association last year when it was in a crippled condition. They repaired the grounds and paid all their premiums and discovered at the meeting on Monday that they have $284.00 in the treasury.

Two Valuable Pups. A box came by express last Saturday which contained two English Setter pups. One was valued at sixty dollars and the other at forty dollars. Father Brady owns the sixty dollar pup and C. F. Hoffman, the jeweler, owns the other. They are very pretty dogs and it is needless to say the above named gentlemen, who are getting to be lovers of the chase, are proud of the dog flesh they now own. Wayland-Wiley. Miss Ella M. Wiley, who taught several terms in the borough schools at Reynoldsville, and who has many friends here, became weary of treading the journey of life alone, and on the 22nd of February, 1893, joined heart and hand with James G. Wayland, of Dunkle. The ceremony was performed at Brookville by Rev. T. Henderson. Mr. Wayland has secured a good help-mate. The STAR wishes the new couple success. Buried Yesterday. Thomas Henry Pomroy, a little three years and three months' old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pomroy, after a ten days' illness, died at 3:30 A. M. Monday of membranous croup. Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon, conducted by Rev. J. C. McEntire. The interment took place at Beulah cemetery. This is the second time death has invaded this home and robbed it of a darling child. Open Bars on Sunday. The people of Jefferson county may be surprised to know that for one or two months bars, not fifteen miles away from Reynoldsville, have been kept open on Sunday the same as any other day, but it is a fact, and our authority for the statement is reliable. Frank J. Black drove to Punsutawney a week ago last Sunday and several places he found the roads too "full" to be passable and as the bars were open he drove through the fields without much inconvenience. Another Lodge. Mrs. M. I. Scott, of Pittsburg, was here last week and instituted another secret society in Reynoldsville, the Daughters of St. George. This new society starts out with a membership of about forty. The meetings will be held in the L. O. O. F. hall semi-monthly. Twenty-two secret societies are now in running order in this place. Five of them are for the ladies. Many Reynoldsville women can keep late hours often and when asked, as they get into bed with cold feet, "where have you been?" can answer with an air of absurdity, "I've been to lodge!" Lodgegoing pleasure is no longer confined to the "lords of creation." Nine Sick. The home of Elijah Trudgen, the groceryman, has been a hospital during the past two or three weeks. The four children had the scarlet fever and Mr. and Mrs. Trudgen were both sick. Miss Mamie Harding, of Summerville, Mrs. Trudgen's sister, stopped here on her way to visit friends at Carrier and when she found the entire family sick she remained to care for them and in a few days she was numbered with the sick. Then the mother, Mrs. C. P. Harding, came up from Summerville and it was only a matter of a few days until she was unable to do anything on account of being sick. The next to need medical attention in that hospital was the hired girl. The nine patients have most all recovered sufficiently so as to be able to get around again. Tramps Perfumery. Three different mornings last week, at about nine o'clock, the STAR office was visited by three different tourists who dine at back doors and lodge at Hotel de Tanneries or Hotel de Coke Ovens and wash their faces when caught in a rain storm. They call at printing offices and beg old exchanges to while away the time between meals. The perfumery which they use, and they all have their clothing well saturated with it, is made from a peculiar dandy-lion familiarly known in this country as a conglomeration of smoke and various kinds of filth. This article has never been named yet and we think "The Tramps' obnoxious odor" would be an appropriate name for it. The smell is not pleasing to all nostrils, in fact you must join the tramp brigade before you can appreciate the superfine quality which they use. Out of Their Line. We suggested last week that the Town Council appoint a Board of Health at their session this week. We have since learned that the council did appoint a board of Health some time ago, but it is inactive for the simple reason that our "Borough Dads" have not the power to appoint such a board, and at present Boards of Health have no legal existence outside of large cities. A bill is now before the House, the object of which is to enable Borough Councils to establish Boards of Health, and it has been favorably reported by the Committee on Public Health and Sanitation. This is a measure of vast importance and should be passed by all means, and especially is it inestimable in view of the probable advent of Asiatic Cholera when spring opens. Reynoldsville will have an active Board of Health as soon as Council has power to appoint one.

An Upset. Last Saturday the Hotel Belnap bus team left the A. V. R'y station, after the arrival of the one o'clock train, on their usual brisk trot, but they stopped suddenly near the Italian's shoe shop in West Reynoldsville. If any person disputes the suddenness of the stop, we are willing to be qualified to it, and can get John S. Warnick, Sam'l Whittaker and August Anderson as witnesses to the same. We were all "in it" when the bus stopped. The buckle of the line on the off-side horse got fastened in the ring of the harness and the driver, Norman Doughty, did not discover it until the team started and then it was too late. The horses did not run off but trotted so close to the ditch that the bus slid into it and upset just as the front wheel struck a little bridge, and that was the whyfore of the suddenness of the stop. The driver remained at his post until thrown from his seat and then he clung to the lines, but the horses did not attempt to runaway and if they had they would have "gone it alone," because the harness was broken to pieces. The occupants of the bus bounded around like a gum ball for a second and ye editor's head struck the roof of the bus with such force that we expect to be baldheaded the remainder of our life unless John Wanamaker, ex-Postmaster General, sends us the recipe Christopher Columbus used to make his whiskers grow with a Jonah's gourd-like rapidity, as shown by comparing the one and two cent Columbia postage stamps. It is needless to add that all were frightened except the editor of the STAR. The bus was badly wrecked and it is almost a miracle that some one was not seriously injured. Old and New Council. The Town Council held their regular monthly meeting on Monday evening, March 6th. Burgess Hays reported collections to the amount of $24.81, and bills to the amount of $35.59 were ordered paid, and on motion the old Council adjourned sine die. John M. Hays, who was elected for the second term as burgess, presented his oath of office and then administered the oath of office to the new Council, Dr. S. Reynolds, E. R. Jennings, Daniel W. Strouse, John D. Lowther and W. M. King. The new Council transacted the following business: Elected Thos. H. Scott secretary; W. B. Alexander treasurer; M. M. Davis borough attorney; Jacob Henninger street commissioner; Frank P. Adlesperger chief-of-police; Harry H. Mineer night policeman at a salary of $40.00 per month. Amount of bonds required for poor overseer, $3,000; Amount of bonds for treasurer, $5,000. Milton Sloppy neglected to get a bondman and he was not sworn in as high constable. The Burgess appointed the following committees: On streets, alleys and sidewalks, E. R. Jennings, D. W. Strouse, John M. Hays; on sanitary, Dr. S. Reynolds, Wm. M. King, J. D. Lowther; on stove pipes and flues, Strouse and Jennings; on ordinances, Reynolds, King and Lowther; on finances, Reynolds, Jennings and Lowther. The application to Council for the right of way for the Electric Railway has been withdrawn for the present. From Macedonia. K. J. Pachejeff, a Bulgarian from Macedonia, Turkey, who is now a student at the Allegheny College in Meadville, lectured in the M. E. Church last Friday evening to a small crowd. He cannot handle the English language very fluently. He talked for one hour and a half about the customs of Bulgaria. The lecturer commenced by saying his hearers should thank the Lord that they live in the best country in the world. The farmers of that country use the implements of a thousand years ago. Among the crops raised there is tobacco, but they call it "American weed," because they got it from America. He told some thrilling incidents which he witnessed when Bulgarians were ruled over as slaves by the Turks. Pachejeff will hardly become famous as a lecturer, but he tells an interesting story of the hardships the people of his country had to contend with. They are not slaves to the Turks now, but are free from their murderous assaults and open handed robbery, and freedom was granted them indirectly through the missionaries who visited their land. Pachejeff is preparing himself to return to Macedonia to preach the gospel. He remained here over Sunday and talked in the Baptist church on missions in the morning and in the evening occupied the Presbyterian pulpit. Missionary Service. The services at the Methodist church on Sunday evening next will be conducted by the ladies of the Home and Foreign Missionary Societies. The following program will be rendered: Anthem.....Choir Prayer.....Mrs. J. C. McEntire Reading scripture lesson. Mrs. Albert Reynolds Singing.....Choir Reading.....Mrs. Thos. UNANIMOUS CALL. A Tyrone Congregation Want Rev. H. G. Furby for their Pastor. Rev. Harvey Gramme Furby, the talented young pastor of the Reynoldsville Presbyterian church, has received a unanimous call from the congregation of the First Presbyterian church of Tyrone to become their pastor. We are unable to say positively at this writing whether Rev. Furby will accept the call or not. He went to Tyrone the first of the week and will not return until next week. There is very little doubt but that Mr. Furby will accept this call. Below we give the report of the committee, who visited Reynoldsville, as published in a Tyrone paper several weeks ago: TO THE MEMBERSHIP AND CONGREGATION OF THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, TYRONE, PA.—DEAR BROTHERS: The committee appointed by you, at the congregational meeting January 11, 1893, to make inquiry for a minister of the gospel who in their judgment would be acceptable as a pastor, and believed to be an able and faithful minister of the word of God, beg leave to report to you that on Sabbath, February 12, they had the pleasure of hearing Rev. Harvey G. Furby, of Reynoldsville, Jefferson county, Pa., preach in his own church in that town. They afterwards met with him in his home, and have been much pleased with both his preaching service and his home life. We believe him to be an earnest, faithful, and able preacher of the gospel, a good pastor, loyal to the faith of his church, and a courteous, Christian gentleman, and we recommend him to you as a suitable minister to call as your pastor. The report of the committee was formally accepted and it was decided to call a regular congregational meeting for Wednesday evening, March 1, to elect a pastor. The committee was not only unanimous, but enthusiastic in its recommendation of Rev. Harvey G. Furby. They all spoke in the highest praise of the young minister and his work. They say that he preaches the pure truth of God's Word and shows by his manner in pulpit and home that he is a bright, active, intelligent young man who will grow in the affections and regard of his people. He has a pleasant, clear ringing voice and easy manner, uses no notes, and as Colonel McAmant put it, "While preaching he has nothing before him, not even a pulpit." Rev. Harvey G. Furby, who will beyond doubt be elected pastor of the First Presbyterian church at the congregational meeting two weeks hence, was born in Cadiz, O., twenty-eight years ago. In his manly struggle for the benefits of an education his career is markedly similar to that of the church's former pastor, Rev. Dr. J. R. Davies. Young Furby worked his own way to the pulpit. He was graduated at Franklin college, Ohio, and then took the theological course at the Allegheny seminary. To pay his expenses while at the seminary, the energetic young man made a practice of supplying pulpits in the western part of the state and thus before he had been graduated he preached several times for the Reynoldsville congregation in the Presbytery of Clarion. No sooner had he entered the ministry, three years ago, than the congregation at Reynoldsville extended him a call, and he has been their pastor ever since. He is greatly beloved by his people who are very loth to part with him. Mr. Furby is married to the daughter of a Presbyterian clergyman, and they have one child. Mrs. Furby is a refined and cultivated lady, being also a college graduate. Their charming home life, as well as the young divine's pulpit work, speaks volumes for their worthiness. The Tyrone church is an amphitheater style and the auditorium proper seats 1,500 people and when the Sunday school room, which holds 500, is opened it gives a seating capacity of 2,000. The average attendance of the congregation is from 1,000 to 1,200. The membership of the church is about 600. The church property is valued at $40,000. What Will it Be? The article in the STAR two weeks ago about the electric railway, and the article last week in regard to a board of trade at Reynoldsville, has had a tendency to make the business men of this place carefully consider the prospect of the town's future prosperity. Quite a number are in favor of a board of trade, while others think it will pay to organize a company here with a capital stock of $50,000 and start several industries. Now the important question arises, will either one be done, or will it all end in talk? There is one thing certain, talk will not accomplish the end. Both papers may "blow" until they get tired, but that will not bring about the delightful hum of industry which we hope to hear in Reynoldsville before many years. Some years ago four or five business men of this place thought this would be a good location for a tannery. They went down in their pockets and pulled out a "V" apiece and inserted an advertisement in a Shoe and Leather Reporter of Boston, Mass., and in a few weeks men were here to look over the advantages for a tannery plant at this place. Most all the citizens of Reynoldsville know that the men were not long in deciding to come here, and now the tannery has about one hundred employees. This does not only show that activity is a great lever in moving along the best interests of a town, but it also shows what a great blessing printers' ink is to the business interests of our country, and yet some people say it does not pay to advertise. What shall it be first, a board of trade or a stock company? Outsiders Intrude. Outside parties, unbeknown to the citizens of Brockwayville, published a charter notice in the Brookville papers stating that an application will be made to Gov. Pattison on the 24th of this month for a charter for a corporation to be known as the Crystal Water Co. for the purpose of supplying Brockwayville with water. A home company has been considering the matter and, no doubt, there will be some trouble over the blessing about to visit Brockwayville. PERSONALS. Mrs. M. E. Wood visited friends at Falls Creek last Friday. John Benson moved to Anita, near Punsutawney, this week. Raymond Ross went to Philadelphia and other places yesterday. Col. J. C. Boyles, of DuBois, was in Reynoldsville last Wednesday. Geo. H. Jones went to New York state last week to visit his home. Miss Ada Graffius, of Punsutawney, visited Miss Etta Henninger last week. Miss Annie McGhee, of Sandy Valley, returned Monday from a visit at Pittsburg. Miss Ella Campbell, of East Brady, visited friends here during the past week. Miss Annie McAninch, of Brookville, visited friends in Reynoldsville last week. W. C. Bond, of Brockwayville, was in Reynoldsville on business Monday afternoon. Mrs. J. S. Ross, of Pittsburg, is visiting her nephew, Will H. Bell, at this place. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Campbell went to Butler county Saturday to visit relatives. Fremont Chambers, the drayman, is confined to his bed with sciatic rheumatism. Dr. Wallace and wife, of East Brady, were here last week to see Rev. P. J. Slattery. J. W. Mayes, of Hazen, Pa., a Republican candidate for sheriff, was in Reynoldsville yesterday. Mrs. J. B. Wilson, of Punsutawney, visited her daughter, Mrs. Geo. F. Cant, at this place last week. Miss Mattie Walte, of near Reynoldsville, returned Monday evening from Grove City, where she had been attending school. James M. Knapp, Satanic Majesty of the Brookville Republican office, spent Sunday with L. L. Gourley, "devil" of the Volunteer office. F. K. Arnold and daughter, Mrs. W. B. Alexander, were at Salem, Pa., last Friday attending the funeral of Mrs. Chas. H. Goodlander. Mr. and Mrs. John F. Nelson, of Tioga, were in Reynoldsville last week. They came here on account of the death of Mrs. Wm. M. Haffner. Jim Schwem, who has been taking a business course at Duff's College in Pittsburg, returned to Reynoldsville last week and brought his "sheepskin" with him. Reece Williams and family drove to Clarion Mines Sunday to attend the funeral of their daughter and sister, Mrs. Wm. Haffner, who was buried Sunday afternoon. Rev. Jas. H. Jellbart is having a big revival at the Emerickeville M. E. church. The house is packed every night and great interest is manifested by the people in that section. Alex. Whitehill returned yesterday from a trip to New Athens, Ohio, and Wheeling, West Va. He was at the first named place to visit his brother, John B., who is attending school there and who has been sick, but is now convalescing. Mrs. J. S. Smith, who has been at Buffalo, N. Y., for sometime having her eyes treated, was in town over Sunday. Her eyesight is not being restored very rapidly, in fact she cannot see as well now as she could when she commenced the treatment. John S. Smith, one of the old inhabitants of Reynoldsville, who has been working in the oil fields at Oakdale, below Pittsburg, for several years, met with what might have been a very serious accident on Tuesday of last week, while at work in a boiler house when a gas explosion took place. Mr. Smith had his face burned to a crisp. J. C. Swartz, who has been at Winter Haven, Florida, for several months, sent Fred. A. Alexander a box of sweet, delicious oranges last week. Fred. brought a half dozen into the STAR office yesterday afternoon which were thankfully received by the office force. In the language of the office "devil," "yum, yum," but they were good. This week we add to our list of announcements the name of E. W. McMillen, of Winslow township, for sheriff, subject to the action of the Democrats of Jefferson county at the primary election in June. Mr. McMillen is engaged in the lumber business and is well known in this county. He is the first Democratic candidate to make his announcement for the coming primary. Alex. Riston, of Reynoldsville, the noted Ambrosia and "Hashish" cigar manufacturer, went to Washington, D. C., last week to see Grover Cleveland step on board the great ship of state to steer it over the billows of four years amidst the tidal wave of office seekers and will-not-be-satisfied howl of many on board the craft. Alex. does not expect to ever see another Democratic President inaugurated, at least he said so. He thinks the next president will be a People's Party man.
