Mrs. Hetherington will soon move her millinery store into one of the rooms in the Centennial hall building.

Is there enough base ball enthusiasm in Reynoldsville to get up a good nine this summer? There is material here for it.

A meeting of the Prohibition club of this place will be held in Centennial on Monday evening, April 3rd, 1893, at eight o'clock.

The members of the Reynoldsville M. E. Sunday school will give an Easter service in the church at 11:00 o'clock next Sunday morning.

We expect to write up the business men and places of our town some time in April and also run pictures of the same if arrangements can be made.

Rumor sometimes tells the truth, but she is a lying and untrustworthy jade as a rule and often gets those who repeat her yarns into serious trouble.

Joseph McKernan, baggagemaster at the A. V. R'y station, took a holiday Monday because his family circle has been increased with twin babies.

A charter will be applied for on the 8th of May for a new church at Allen's Mills, to be known as the Newman Chapel Methodist Episcopal church.

W. C. Schultze & Son recently received a large crate of English Decorated ware, dinner and tea sets. If you want a pretty set of dishes call at their store.

Constables-elect will be sworn in at the May term of court, and school directors elected will enter upon the duties of their office the first Monday of June.

The second annual ball of the C. T. A. U. of A. will be held in Reynoldsville opera house on Monday evening, April 3rd. Neat invitations have been issued for the ball.

E. T. McGaw is anxious to accommodate Cleveland and will gladly assume the responsibility of running the Reynoldsville postoffice if the president consents for him to do so.

Rev. J. Ash will preach in the Lutheran church next Sunday 10.30 A. M. in the German language, followed by communion services. Will also preach at 7.30 P. M. in English language.

Judge Clark heard the arguments for and against the granting of a preliminary injunction against the school board of Reynoldsville, but no decision has been given in the case yet.

The town Council meets next Monday evening. Arrangements will be made for the annual inspection of back yards by the Burgess and a committee. Some back yards are unsightly places.

Roy Scott, who was employed as a brakeman on the R. & F. C. R'y, had his right hand badly injured while attempting to make a coupling in the Falls Creek yards last Friday night.

A meeting will be held in M. M. Davis' office on Friday evening, March 31st, for the purpose of talking of a location for a cemetery. All who are interested are requested to attend the meeting.

The public schools will soon close at this place and why not have an appropriate program prepared for the occasion? The school has good material with which to get up an excellent entertainment.

W. T. Cox, who has been in the mercantile business at Sandy Valley for some time, sold his store to Mrs. Sam'l Steele last week. Mrs. Steele has been running a store at that place for several years.

A number of Rev. Furbay's friends, non-members of his church, pre-ented him with an expensive and pretty fishing outfit. The Reverend takes great delight in fishing and telling his experience afterwards.

There was no services in the M. E. church last Sunday evening on account of it being Rev. Furbay's last sermon as pastor of the Presbyterian church. It was the largest congregation ever packed into the Presbyterian church.

The board of directors of the Reynoldsville Building and Loan Association held a meeting last Friday evening and declared the sixth series closed and the seventh series open. Considerable stock has already been sold in the seventh series.

The board of trade will meet in Flynn's hall on Friday evening to effect a permanent organization. All who wish to become charter members are requested to attend. The committee have secured fifty-six names, but have not completed their work yet.

Miss M. E. Moore has returned from the city where she has been purchasing her spring and summer stock of millinery goods. She will also have an Easter opening on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 30th, 31st and April 1st. All the ladies are cordially invited to attend.

John R. Clarke, the orator, actor, vocalist and mimic, who made a "hit" at this place on the 22nd inst., will lecture in Centennial hall Tuesday evening, April 4th. General admission twenty-five cents. Tickets on sale at Henry A. Reed's. Get your seats early so you will not be compelled to stand.

Mary, seventeen-year-old daughter of Pat McClosky, of Rathmel, died early Saturday morning, March 25, 1893, of diphtheria, and was buried Sunday forenoon in the Catholic cemetery. A little over two weeks ago Mr. McClosky buried a younger daughter whose death resulted from the same dread disease.

The lock on the safe of the Brookwayville bank refused to work last week. A couple of experts from the manufactory were sent for, but it would not yield to them. The only resort was to cut off the door which took four or five days. The lock's refusal to perform its work cost the bank about one thousand dollars.

County Surveyor Caldwell, of Brookville, was in town yesterday surveying Tom Reynolds' orchard off into lots. Grant street will be opened up to Beech street. There are some very nice lots among the hundred Tom is having surveyed, and there is no doubt but that he will have no trouble in disposing of them.

Emery H. Slaughenaupt, at one time a fireman on the Low Grade railroad, afterwards a Methodist preacher for a few years, was in Reynoldsville last week. He is traveling around taking pictures. He took a picture of each of the eight school rooms at this place last Thursday afternoon while the scholars were occupying their respective places, and afterwards attempted to take a picture of the entire group of scholars on the exterior of the school house.

Col. John J. Lawrence, of Allegheny, brother of our former townsman, J. K. Lawrence, deceased, and uncle of Mrs. Alex. Riston, died at his home on Monday evening, March 27th. Colonel, as did his brother, Major J. K., answered his country's call during the late war. From 1869 until 1875, he was manager of the Allegheny Valley Railway. At the time of his death he was an active member in the Presbyterian church, senior member of the firm of W. W. Lawrence & Co. and a director of the Masonic bank. A wife and five children survive him.

A New Brick.

Daniel Nolan will move the frame building on the corner of Main and Fourth streets and build a brick there. Work of building the brick will be commenced about the first of May. The National bank will occupy the building when completed.

Under the Logs.

Edward Sykes, young son of George W. Sykes, was playing on the logs in the Sandy Lick creek one day last week and he made a misstep and fell in. The alarm was given and Thos. Corbett, who lives hardly where the youth fell in, helped him out. The boys have been warned about such dangerous practices, but it has a fascination for many of them.

Have You Seen Them?

The "Aztec Family," the preserved remains of five human bodies, now on exhibition in the Foster building, near the postoffice, are rare curiosities. The manager, J. H. Docking, discovered the bodies and he is able to explain many things about the horrible looking family he found in a cave at Arizona. Go and see them. Admission ten cents. Will be here all week.

Frenchmen and Bear.

Two Frenchmen were in town yesterday with a cinnamon-colored bear which furnished considerable amusement for the small boys and men. The bear danced, was about as good a singer as the Frenchman, wrestled with his master, climbed a tree, drank beer and devoured some raw meat, in the mean time the Frenchmen were gathering up pennies, nickels and dimes.

Shot Himself.

Amos Reiter, a fifteen-year-old lad of Sykesville, was fooling with a revolver one day last week and the weapon went off, the ball entering his body two inches above the right groin. The boy is in a critical condition. This is another to be added to the long list of accidents that are occurring daily from the careless handling of fire-arms, and notwithstanding the oft repeated warnings men and boys continue the carelessness.

Bewildered.

Monday a young man who wanted to go to Lock Haven got confused at Falls Creek, where four passenger trains were standing, and got on the West bound train on the A. V. R'y and Pancoast was reached before the conductor asked him for his ticket. It was then the youth discovered he was traveling in an opposite direction from what he wanted to go. He started to walk back to Falls Creek where he would have to wait for the evening train. Again we say it should be some persons especial business to inform people which way the trains are going.

"To and Fro in London."

John R. Clarke gave even better satisfaction at the opera house last night than he did on the occasions of his first visit to DuBois. For some reason he preferred to take another subject than the one announced and delivered "To and Fro in London." The lecturer talked two hours or more and gave a much better entertainment for the money than the people of DuBois are accustomed to getting, and he can meet a good audience here at any time.—DuBois Courier, Friday, March 24th. Mr. Clarke will deliver the same lecture here on Tuesday evening, April 4th.

A Good Play.

If the attendance at a play can be taken as any criterion, "Around the World in Eighty Days," may be at once put down as the hit of the season, as the audience which greeted it crowded the house from pit to dome and standing room was in demand. "Around the World in Eighty Days," possesses the elements necessary for a grand spectacular production, but the expectations of the audience were not disappointed last night. The scenery, a good deal of which the company brings with it, is quite good, and the three principal characters received quite a good deal of applause.—Brooklyn Eagle. At Reynolds opera house Thursday evening, March 30th.

A Ferocious Dog.

A ferocious white bull dog of West Reynoldsville attacked one of Wm. Burge's cows last Thursday and raised considerable excitement for a short time. The dog got a good hold on the animal's jaw and hung on and the cow ran for home while a number of citizens joined in the chase with clubs and stones which were unsparingly applied to the dog's body, but the dog was there to stay until a hammer, in the hands of Earl Sutter, came in contact with the canine's head and then the cow's tormentor let go his hold. The following day the dog was led to the woods and put on the bullet route to "dogland." The owner was wise in ending the career of such a savage dog.

He Made a Hit.

The fourth, and what was to have been the last, lecture given under the management of the Lecture Association, was delivered by John R. Clarke in Centennial hall last Wednesday evening. On account of the inclement weather and the disappointment given the people by Ora J. Gould, the audience was not very large, but from the time Mr. Clarke was introduced by Rev. Furbay until the conclusion of the lecture, on "Hits and Misses," which was two hours long, he held the close attention of his audience, and unbounded satisfaction was expressed by most all who heard him. He introduced dialect, mimicry, song and oratory. His songs, the Scotch "Cuddle Doon," "Yacob Strauss," with the "German Lullaby," and the "Yorkshire Laboring Man," "I am a Child of a King," were charming. His "Irish Jaunting Car Driver," with side-splitting jokes and bright witticisms were worth the admission. Underlying the entire lecture was a current of good moral instruction and advice. Most all who heard him had a continuous smile on their face and they enjoyed numerous hearty laughs. The lecturer made such a hit that the Lecture Association, by special request of a number of good citizens, engaged him to lecture here again on the 4th of April on "To and Fro in London."

After the first lecture had been delivered the seven members of the Association, Rev. H. G. Furbay, Rev. E. T. Derr, Dr. B. E. Hoover, Prof. W. H. Stamey, J. Van Reed, W. C. Elliott and C. A. Stephenson, had good prospects of paying out ten or twelve dollars apiece to meet the expenses of the lectures promised, but by letting the school children in for ten cents to hear Gould and Beard, they were unable to come out twenty-one dollars ahead at the close of the season. A number of people complained about the confusion and noise kept up continually during the two lectures into which the children were admitted for ten cents, consequently no special rates were given the school children for the last lecture and there was no annoyance from that source. All persons holding season tickets will get the fifth lecture free. General admission 25 cents; reserved seats 35 cents; tickets now on sale at Henry A. Reed's shoe store.

Joined the Benedict.

L. P. Seelye, formerly of Reynoldsville, now of Pittsburgh, a member of the Seelye, Alexander & Co. banking house, was in town last week and was a trifle elated over the fact that he had been married almost three weeks and the people of Reynoldsville had not heard it yet. Dame Rumor had the ex-Reynoldsville merchant married, or soon to be married, to three or four different ladies inside of as many years, and the whyfore of his glee over the matter was to think he had been married twenty days and it was yet a secret. Mr. Seelye married a charming young widow of Bloomington, Ill., and not a Baltimore lady, as stated in the Pittsburg Dispatch of last Friday. Dr. Alexander, who was at Pittsburg several weeks ago and was at Mr. Seelye's home and met his bride, says she is a handsome and highly cultured woman. The Illinois lady was visiting friends in the "Smoky City" when Leonard got acquainted with her and Cupid's arrow hit the mark. Although a little late, yet the STAR wishes the happy couple success in their matrimonial journey.

Like a Game of Cards.

In May, 1878, the following article was published in The Eye at this place and credited to an exchange, now it is again making its appearance as original matter:

Man's life a game of cards. First it is a "crib-bage." Next he tries to "go it alone" at a sort of "cut, shuffle and deal" pace. Then he "raises" the "duce" when his mother "takes a hand in," and, contrary to Hoyle, "beats the little joker" with her "five." Then with his "diamonds" he wins the "queen of hearts." Tired of "playing a lone hand," he expresses a desire to "assist" his fair "partner," "throws out his cards," and the clergyman takes a ten-dollar bill out of him "on a pair." "Orders him up to build the fires." Like a "knave" he "joins the clubs," where he often gets "high"—which is "low," too. If he keeps "straight," he is oftentimes "flush." He grows old and "bluff," sees a "deal" of trouble when at last he "shuffles" off his mortal coil and "passes in his checks." As he is "raked" in by a "spade," life's fitful "game" is ended.

Successful Experiment.

I have been working and experimenting for some time on an apparatus for the relief of pain occasioned in excavating and preparing teeth for filling and I think I can say to anyone that I can prepare any accessible cavity without pain to patient. The proof of the pudding is in the eating. Try it and see.

WILLIAM M. BURGE.

A Lumberman, Machinist, Carpenter and Merchant.

William M. Burge was born in Potter county, July 19th, 1832. He was a son of William and Eliza Burge. He was reared in Clinton county. Engaged in the lumber business in Clearfield county in 1855. Moved to DuBois in 1872 and helped build DuBois' big mill. Came to Reynoldsville in 1874, where he worked at machine work for about one year, after which he entered the employ of the A. V. R'y as a bridge builder, at which he worked for one year and then engaged in the mercantile business on a small scale in Ohiotown, which he followed several years and sold out. Afterwards he went into the grocery business, and he is now running a grocery and general merchandise store in West Reynoldsville and has succeeded in building up a large trade.

Looking for a New Pastor.

At the close of the morning service last Sunday a congregational meeting was held in the Presbyterian church for the purpose of appointing a committee to look for a pastor for the now shepherdless flock. Dr. W. B. Alexander, G. W. Pallen and D. F. Robinson were appointed to that important position. The congregation already have a Huntingdon county man in view. After the committee have found a man they think will be suitable for this place, he will be invited to come here and preach. We think the wisest plan would have been to allow the committee, who are capable of deciding, to select a man and give him a call before he comes here to preach. Any man that comes here on trial will be measured by Rev. Furbay and, unless this congregation is an exception to all other congregations, it will be a hard task to please all the members. While on the other hand if a man was to receive a call and come here then the congregation would be ready to receive him as a pastor and not hold him off on trial. Then, again, an excellent man may be secured and come on trial and not be able to do himself justice from the fact that he knows the people are out to "size him up" and judge of his ability to become their pastor. Yet the plan adopted by the congregation is much better than to have a number of preachers come here on trial and then allow the members to select their man. While we are sorry to have Rev. Furbay leave, yet we think he was wise in accepting the call, and he has the best wishes of the STAR in his new field of labor.

A Board of Trade.

We have been agitating a board of trade for Reynoldsville for some time, but no steps toward getting such an organization was made until last week. C. F. Hoffman proposed to see what could be done in the matter and in talking to Dr. Alexander about having a meeting, and where it could be held without going to the expense of hiring a hall until it was discovered how many were really interested in it, Doctor offered the use of the bank for a place to meet in. Mr. Hoffman got bills printed announcing the meeting for last Friday evening. A fair representation of the business men of town was present. Hon. S. B. Elliott explained the workings of a board of trade of which he was once a member. It was decided to charge two dollars as a membership fee and the yearly dues are not to exceed more than two dollars. Twenty-four names were secured immediately. This organization is not confined to a few business men, but any and all citizens who are interested in the future of Reynoldsville are earnestly solicited to become members of the board of trade. A committee of three, Frank J. Black, L. M. Simmons and C. F. Hoffman, was appointed to secure as many names for charter members as possible before the next meeting night, Friday, March 31st. We have been asked why the meeting was held in such a small place giving only a few the opportunity to attend, in other words, why was the meeting not held in a public hall? Two or three men did not feel like paying five dollars for a hall until, as above stated, an expression had been received from the people. It is not necessary for any one to feel slighted if they did not get a printed invitation to attend the meeting, as none were issued, but a public meeting was announced and "all were invited to attend."

Thomas Mahoney, who has been at DuBois for four weeks taking the "Gold Cure," was at home Monday night. Mr. Mahoney is feeling fifty per cent better than when he commenced the treatment, and he thinks it will prove a great blessing to him.

A. G. Brown, who has had charge of T. & S. McCreight's flour mill at Prescottville for several years, bought Delaney's barber shop and shipped it to Salsburg yesterday, where Mr. Brown expects to move the first of May. The young miller has made many friends during his stay at Prescottville who are sorry to learn of his intentions of leaving.

Dr. J. S. McCreight and wife, Mrs. Geo. McGrody, Mrs. Ed. Seeley, Mrs. Sam'l Bloom, Mrs. John Hartman, Miss Minnie Ewing, Miss Maggie Solida, and Wm. T. Cox went to Brookwayville last Friday and instituted a Daughters of Liberty lodge at that place with twenty-eight members. The ladies of Brookwayville furnished an excellent supper in the rink. The party spent very highly of the kindness shown them while there. The National Deputy, Dr. J. S. McCreight, says, "we were never treated better in our lives."
