WEDNESDAY APRIL 19, 1893

It is reported that the Keeley Cure has been sold to a syndicate for $10,000,000.

The World's Fair, according to rumor, will not be opened the first of May as was expected.

It is now claimed that the White House policemen, and possibly the others, are hereafter to wear uniforms.

A Turist and Providing Co. of Manchester, England, will send 8,000 visitors to the World's Fair in companies of 250.

The naval review to be held in the harbor of New York on April 27 will be one of the most memorable events of the century. It will appeal not to curiosity alone, but to the patriotic pride of every American.

The Chinamen of Pittsburg are beginning to wear their shirts inside of their trousers. The baggy blue drilling trousers, the quilted coat and the felt and woolen-soled cloth shoes are being discarded for American style.

One of the provisions of the Baker ballot law reported favorably from the judiciary general committee of the house, permits any political party which has held state conventions for five years to have official ballots, even though it may not at the proceeding election have polled 3 per cent of the highest vote, is in the interest of parties, which, though small in number, may be laboring to establish what they regard as an important principle.

Good society and plenty of it is not only an educating influence—it is refining in the truest sense of the word. It is the most available and successful means of culture. It is in society that we find most opportunities, outside of the family circle, of "rubbing off the rough corners" of our individuality. Persons whose sole society is at home have more noble opportunities for the cultivation of character than can be found anywhere else, but in every family which lives wholly in itself; there is a constant tendency to tensify peculiarities of temperament.

Gold cannot buy happiness, and the parents who compel their daughters to marry for station or money commit a grevious sin against humanity and God. And a woman who marries a churl for his wealth will find that she has made a terrible bargain—that all the glitterings of heartless grandeur are phosphorescent glitterings of heart-wretchedness; that her life will be one of gilded misery, and her old age will lie like a crag on the black side of a desert mountain, where cold moonbeams sometimes glitter, but no birds sing, but wild storms howl and hoarse thunders roar, and through the sweeping storms shall be heard the stern voice of the great God saying: "Your riches are corrupted, your garments are motheaten, your gold and silver are cankered, and the rust of them shall be against you, and eat your flesh as if it were fire."

It is like living in a den of snarling animals to live with a person who has this sort of temper, writes Ella Wheeler Wilcox in an article on "The Destroyers of Domestic Edens." Many an Eden is destroyed by it, while the possessor prides himself upon being a good Christian, and doing his whole duty by his family. Yet, if the soup lacks a little salt or contains a little too much pepper, if a meal is a moment delayed, if a child is noisy in its mirth, if a drawer sticks, or a door slams, or a chair creaks, each trifle calls forth an exhibition of disagreeable temper, which ruins the comfort and peace of the household for an hour. Many a woman is addicted to this sort of temper and calls it "her nerves," and considers herself the most devoted wife and mother in the world. Yet if she is obliged to delay her dinner for any member of the family, if she is called from one task to perform another, if the children scatter their playthings or leave their books in the parlor, she indulges in such petulant scolding that a gloom settles over the whole household. She would consider it no difficult thing to die for that household, if it were demanded of her. But to control her irritable temper is a task too great to demand of her. And so the Eden is destroyed, and the children grow up eager to get out of the home where everything is uncomfortable, and the parents wonder why all their sacrifices are so poorly appreciated, why their children, for whom they have toiled and saved, seem to care so little about their home, and why they seem so anxious to seek pleasures elsewhere.

Sandy Valley.

It is not an uncommon sight to see on every hill a man, a team of horses and a plow.

We hear that Will Brown is going west to make his fortune. We wish him success.

Sam'l Reitz, of this place, is visiting relatives at Heathville.

Horntown school closes next Tuesday. We hear that Rev. Mether intends photographing the entire school.

Mrs. J. T. Cox, of Valley Home, invited a few of her lady friends to dine with her Friday, April 14th. Upon their arrival she informed them that it was the anniversary of her sixtieth birthday. One of the ladies, Mrs. W. T. Cox, being aware of the fact, presented her with a pair of Turkish towels. A good time was enjoyed by all.

Men's fine shoes, yard wide, at Robinson's.

Rathmel.

All who wish to attend summer school call on Mary A. McKee.

Miss Kate Lyton, of this place, visited her friend, Agnes Major, of Punxsutawney, last week. She reports having a very pleasant time.

According to the progress of Rathmel at the present date, its inhabitants will soon be applying for a city charter.

It is reported, whether it be true or not, that a trio of our young ladies will attend the Clarion Normal this summer.

Ladies and gentlemen, are you wishing a beautiful new buggy? If so, call on J. K. Johnston, of this place.

The farmers in the vicinity of Rathmel are taking advantage of the spring weather by plowing the soil for seed-time, also the busy housewives are preparing their gardens to see who can raise the "earliest mess of pease."

Fire Insurance

For Sale.

A house and lot on Jackson street. Enquire of Jos. Boody.

Ladies' Oxfords 75 cents at Robinson's.

Reginald de Koven's waltz, which one hears played on so many pianos nowadays, has proved so popular with young women that a second edition of the April Ladies' Home Journal, containing the music, has been found necessary, the first edition of the magazine consisting of 700,000 copies.

Buffalo fertilizer for sale at Swartz's.

Special Offer.

We are making a special offer to each of our readers paying a year's subscription to the STAR in advance, and to all new subscribers paying in advance, we will give them the best local paper in Jefferson county and will give them free, either the Womankind or American Farmer, for one year. The two papers above mentioned are excellent monthly papers and the subscription price of each is $1.00 a year. This offer is made only to those in Pennsylvania.
