LOCAL LAONICS.

Bucksin Bill on the 9th of May. Children's patent tip shoes 65c. at Robinson's. Sunshine, rain and snow was the program last Saturday. Ladies, buy your $2.00 shoes at Robinson's, best in the world. Don't fail to see Old Hickory Farm. In the Opera House soon. Mrs. Jonathan Whitmore has opened a bakery at her home on Main street. After the first of May the weekly pay at the tannery will be changed to semi-monthly. Jas. C. Chapman got his right hand injured on the R. & F. C. R'y yesterday afternoon. Seed potatoes, Early Rose, Early Ohio and Snow Flake, also seed oats, at Schultze's. Dr. J. S. McCreight has a new process for filling teeth. It gives satisfaction. Try it. Miss Lillie Peters, of DuBois, daughter of Rev. Caring Peters, is to be married this week. W. W. Ford, Justice of the Peace elect, will probably have his office in John M. Hays' office. The Christian Endeavor of the Presbyterian church will give a social in the G. A. R. hall to-morrow evening. Rev. Cozad, of the Allegheny Seminary, will supply the pulpit of the Presbyterian church next Sunday. D. F. Robinson, the shoe man, and Ed. Gooder, the jeweler, have had new canvas awnings put up in front of their stores. Thomas McKernan, the drayman, while unloading beer, let a keg fall on his hand and smashed the end of one of his fingers. The Christian Endeavor of the Baptist church held a "Shoe Social" at the residence of Dr. A. H. Bowser last Friday evening. We publish a communication this week from Brookville concerning the Grit correspondent and management of the Memorial Home. Dame Rumor says that an East End woman unceremoniously left her home circle the other day, leaving no trace of her new abiding place. Four verses of poetry entitled "My Sweet Heart," from a Rathmel poet, was crowded out this week, which will be published in our next issue. A stone tied in a handkerchief, with muscle attached to one end, makes an ugly cut in a man's head, which can be attested to by a young man of this place. Lace curtains! Lace curtains direct from the mills. A great bargain. Sold by samples at Mrs. Kate Smeltzer's millinery store, Jackson street. Please call and examine our stock. Any of the young men of Reynoldsville who are anxious to succeed and have no occupation, will find that cabbage culture in their mother's garden will enable them to get a head. Frank Sutter has a new bicycle and when the roads get in condition, if ever they do, he will cover the distance between his home and Bing & Co.'s store on his two wheeled contrivance. As the trout fishing season is now open it is about time to have some one "spin a yarn" or two about their experience. The man who won the belt last year has moved away from town. The DuBois Legion Select Knights of America have issued invitations for a grand reception in their new rooms in the new bank building at DuBois May 3rd. Tickets will cost the trifling sum of three dollars. A number of Reynoldsville Presbyterians received neatly printed invitations to be present at the installation of Rev. H. G. Furbay as pastor of the Tyrone Presbyterian church on Thursday, April 27th, 1893. Ed. D. Sealey, one of our hardware merchants, has had a serious time with "Pink Eye." He wears blue glasses and in addition to that has his left eye covered with a muslin pad. His right eye has to do all the seeing.

W. E. Blaney, of Oil City, has been in Reynoldsville the past four or five days trying to organize an order of the Knights of Macabees. We have been informed that there is a probability of his efforts being successful. The Sedler property on Jackson street, which has been announced so often for sale and each time postponed, will be sold positively at 2.00 P. M. tomorrow, April 27th. There is a bargain for some person in this property. Bucksin Bill's new monster railroad Wild West Show, Indian Silver Bands and Mexican Hippodrome, will be at Reynoldsville Tuesday, May 9th. A street parade at 10.30 A. M. General admission 25 cents. See "ad" on another page of this issue. Ten members of the Jr. O. U. A. M. of this place, went to Brookville Monday afternoon and assisted Monday evening in initiating a number of new members into the lodge of the above name, which was organized at Brookville several weeks ago. An excursion train was run from this place to Ridgway this morning to accommodate all who wanted to attend the I. O. O. F. anniversary. A large number went from here. The train will leave Ridgway at eleven o'clock to-night for the return trip. Dr. F. M. Phillippi brought a number of relics with him from South America which can be seen in the display window of C. F. Hoffman's jewelry store. A tiger skin, snake skin, two guns, a revolver, a sword, bridle and bridle reins, water pots, old coins, &c., &c. They attract considerable attention. There are always two school days that require a little extra tidiness on the part of pupils, and perhaps a little finer "loggery," than at any other time during the term. They are the first and last days of the term. This is no new vogue, but has been handed down for many years, especially is it so in rural districts. The supper and entertainment in the G. A. R. hall last Saturday evening, given by the Daughters of St. George, was a complete success. The supper was good, the entertainment excellent and the cash receipts were $54.19. The ladies were well pleased with the success and pleasant manner in which everything passed off. The Jr. O. U. A. M. of this place, never having yet owned a flag, ordered a fine sixty-five dollar one last Wednesday night. We do not know whether they were waiting for their membership to reach one hundred before they would purchase a silk stars and stripes, but the roll showed one hundred that night. Rev. J. J. Kerr, of Brookville, delivered a good temperance lecture in Centennial hall Monday evening to a small but appreciative audience. The Prohibition Club of this place had him come here to lecture. The Prohibition Club holds a meeting in the hall every Monday evening. They expect to have a lively debate next Monday evening. Richard M. Johnson, of Philadelphia, the Most Excellent Grand Scribe of the Grand Holy Royal Arch Chapter of Pennsylvania, was at Brookville last week instructing the Jefferson Chapter, No. 225, in the various degrees. Friday night he exemplified the workings of the Blue Lodge. Chas. Herple and J. V. Young, of Reynoldsville, went to Brookville Friday night for the especial purpose of witnessing the exemplifications of the Blue degree. Mrs. Belle McElhaney, of Rimersburg, sister of J. Van Reed, died at her home on Friday morning, April 21st, 1893, after many weeks of suffering from catarrh of the stomach. J. Van Reed and daughter, Miss Eleanor, have been at the sufferer's bedside for three weeks. Henry A. Reed went to Rimersburg Monday morning to attend the funeral, which took place Monday afternoon. Mrs. McElhaney leaves one son, Van McElhaney, who is a young man, to mourn for a mother. Esq. E. Neff, an aspirant for the office of sheriff of Jefferson county, went to Rathmel on Tuesday evening, April 18, and tied the nuptial knot for Lewis G. A. Wagner, jr. and Miss Annie Maria Leton. The ceremony was performed at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Wagner at eight o'clock, after which a sumptuous supper was spread. The Prescottville Cornet band, having heard about the marriage, visited the scenes of feasting and mirth, and after playing a few choice selections willingly assisted in storing away their share of the viands prepared for the occasion. W. C. Reed, of Big Run, formerly of Reynoldsville, and Miss Mary M. Brennan, daughter of Sylvester Brennan, of Hancock, were married in the Catholic parsonage at this place by Father Brady at four o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, April 19, 1893. The marriage was a quiet affair and was witnessed by three or four intimate friends. The ring ceremony was performed. The couple drove to Big Run soon after they were married where Mr. Reed had a house already furnished. When they drove up Main street they were tendered a serenade on a small scale, and as they are both a trifle bashful it is needless to add that they were glad when Reynoldsville was left behind.

An Explanation. Some people may wonder why Will H. Bell, of the firm of Bell Bros., looks so dignified the past week and also seems to be a trifle large for his clothes, and as an explanation we mention the fact that a little daughter arrived at his home last Thursday. Water the Stock. The DuBois newspapers are again justly urging upon the people the necessity of a better water supply. Usually the stock of a company is well watered, but in this case it lacks the essential dampness. We are surprised that DuBois people have tolerated the "scarcity of water" as long as they have. He's Hustling. Prof. W. H. Stamey, principal of the Reynoldsville schools, has been improving the time since his school closed presenting his reasons to the school directors of Jefferson county why he should be elected superintendent of the county. The Prof. is too well known to require any lengthy article at this time. First National Organized. The First National bank, which has been talked of for a few weeks, was organized last Thursday evening, April 20th, and will be ready for business in from thirty to forty-five days. There is nothing definite yet as to the building in which the bank will be opened. There are various rumors concerning it. A committee has been appointed to secure a room. The directors are: C. Mitchell, Scott McClelland, G. W. Fuller, Jos. B. Henderson, John H. Kaucher, J. C. King and Joseph Strauss. C. Mitchell was elected president, John H. Kaucher, cashier. We understand there are about forty stockholders. A Valuable Dog. Mrs. L. M. Simmons received a fine St. Bernard dog as a present from a friend several weeks ago. Edgewood, as he is called, is from the Edgewood Kennel at Pottsville, and is an intelligent and well-bred dog. A St. Bernard pup is considered very cheap at $25, and as high as $250 is often asked for a pup of the best pedigree. It is not uncommon for a choice St. Bernard to sell for $8,000. Edgewood's sire, Mascot Bernard, is a brother of Sir Bedivere, and is one of the most promising dogs in the country. It is reported that Sir Bedivere was imported from England at a cost of $7,500. Mrs. Simmons is very proud of her dog, even though he does compel her to give the porches numerous extra scrubbing. Failed to Come. Rev. Allen Kirchbaum, of Van Port, Beaver county, Pa., whom the Presbyterian congregation of this place have been thinking of giving a call to become their pastor, has received a call somewhere in the Buckeye state. He was to have preached for the Reynoldsville congregation last Sunday, but on account of the call in Ohio did not come. Word was not received at this place until Friday evening that he could not come and Dr. Gilson, of Pittsburg, was telegraphed for, but the Dr. was just one minute too late in arriving at the Union Depot in Pittsburg Saturday afternoon and the train left without him, which also left the Presbyterians at this place without any preaching last Sunday. A minute seems a trifle and yet it is long enough to change the plans of men. Powder and a Match. Fred Barto and Arthur Reynolds, two lads of this place, went down the A. V. R'y fishing one day last week and a rain came up and the boys sought shelter under a rock. There they found a powder can with a good quantity of explosive in the can, and to while away the time they decided to have some fun with the powder. They poured it out on the ground and stuck a match to it. Of course the powder did its work quickly. Fred Barto was badly burned on his forehead and left cheek. Arthur was more fortunate and was not so badly burned, but his clothes caught fire. The boys are not frightened now, oh, no, but they would have told a different story during the next ten minutes after the powder made "such a fuss." It might have proven very serious for both boys. Crushed Under a House. A sad accident occurred at Johnsonburg last Thursday morning which hurled a husband and wife into eternity with a moments warning, and yet they had been wise and in the midst of health had prepared for death. Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hutchison were the couple who met death together. They were living in a frame house which was set on a post foundation. Mr. Hutchison was under the house fixing a gas pipe and at his request his wife had gone under to help him. The work they were doing was almost completed when a more than ordinary gust of wind struck the house and blew it off its frail foundation, snapping asunder the silken thread of life of husband and wife beneath it. Mr. Hutchison was a son of Joseph Hutchison, of Hancock, and his wife was a daughter of Mr. J. Ditchburn, of DuBois. The funeral services were held at the DuBois Presbyterian church Sunday afternoon. They were active members in the Presbyterian church and were both teachers in the Sunday school.

Will Join the Ranks. At half past ten this forenoon Joseph M. Cathers and Miss Carrie Bell Fink will be united in marriage at the home of the young lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John V. Fink, on Pleasant Avenue. Rev. P. J. Slattery, pastor of the M. E. church, will perform the ceremony. The bride will be dressed in a light cashmere, trimmed with lace. Clarence Patterson and Miss Lou Fink, sister of the bride, will stand with the contracting parties. Miss Lou Foust, Carries' boon companion, will play the wedding March. After the hymeneal services dinner will be served and the bride and groom will leave on the one o'clock train for the great roaring cataract, Niagara Falls, which so many people have gazed upon as the hours of their honeymoon were swiftly passing by. The groom was a wise young man and purchased and furnished the house before he got the wife. They will live next door to Dr. Foust, on Jackson street. Joseph Cathers is an honest, upright, industrious young man. Carrie is getting a good husband. On the other hand Miss Fink is an estimable young lady who has won many friends by her kind disposition. She can successfully master the difficulties of house-keeping, which is an indispensable qualification, and we bet into the house where the wife is unfamiliar with the requirements of home life. Joseph has, therefore, taken unto himself a good wife. We wish them unlimited joy and hope their matrimonial sea will not be disturbed by many storms. Still at Liberty. Three prisoners, George Coleman, Henry Kunselman and Elmer Milliren, who were charged with felonious assault with intent to kill and robbery, made their escape from the county jail Monday night of last week. The sheriff was at Punxsutawney that night. The young men went directly to their homes near North Freedom and one of them walked the street of that hamlet at ten o'clock the following forenoon. Coleman's father, who seems to be an honest old gentleman, escorted his son back to Brookville Wednesday morning and gave him into the sheriff's keeping again. Kunselman and Milliren spent Wednesday night in Reynoldsville with friends and went from here to DuBois and was there until 11.00 A. M. on Friday. On Wednesday evening a man named Himes escaped by the same outlet made on Monday night, which had not yet been repaired. The three "jail birds" are yet on the wing. Coleman tells the following story of their escape: Two men from the outside, by the aid of a ladder, got on top of the jail and from there through the sky-light onto the cage and then to the floor. They broke the lock on the large lever that fastens the cells. Two iron bars were sawed off through which the two men gained an entrance into the cage and then they broke the locks on the doors for the prisoners whom they wanted to set free and all made their exit through the sky-light route. They broke the lock for two other prisoners who refused to go with them.

THE MEMORIAL HOME. A Statement from a Brookville Man Concerning the Home. From the article on the investigation (?) of the management of the Home last week in the STAR we quote: "The committee found it perfectly satisfactory and all that could be expected. The Grit correspondent was snubbed a little for some of the freedom he tried to take at the Home, and to get even he condemned the management of the institution." This latter clause is evidently intended for the local correspondent of Grit, and in reply we say most emphatically that he was never snubbed at the Home and never tried to take any undue freedom there. (Fortunately for him, he was not a member of the Relief Corps or the Grand Army and therefore not so likely to be snubbed there.) Nothing ever appeared in the columns of Grit written by its Brookville correspondent condemning, or in any way reflecting on the management of the Home. This, too, in the face of the fact that he was, and is, in possession of information of specific acts of cruelty to the children of the Home committed during Matron Carlin's administration, many of them known to her and some of them done by her direction, that could not be tolerated in any properly conducted institution, not even in a penal institution, much less in a charitable Home gotten up by charitable ladies and, if under their management and control (as it should be, and we sincerely hope soon will be) would be sifted as wheat and the perpetrators dismissed from their office instanter. Rumors of these cruelties had spread throughout many parts of the state and a staff correspondent was sent by Grit to investigate and write it up. He spent a week in Brookville and interviewed many people. The local correspondent gave him information and introduced him in the community. He visited the Home and talked with the inmates; whether or not he got snubbed we know not, but he wrote to his paper condemning the management, and that is the only article that ever appeared in Grit condemnatory of the Home. The committee came here to investigate and three out of five of the ladies were entertained at the Home as the guests of the matron. The correspondent was not asked to furnish his proofs of cruelty, but he offered them to the committee and they were not accepted. He laid the facts and names of witnesses before one member of the committee and that member insisted on an investigation, but was overruled and he refused to sign the report whitewashing the management. The proofs are still accessible and can be furnished to any properly constituted investigating committee that will investigate and not whitewash. Something about how the people of this community look upon the action of the committee may be learned by reading an article on it in the Jeffersonian Democrat of April 20th and some information of how visitors are treated may be had by reading an article in the same paper of this week. These helpless orphans, wards of the Woman's Relief Corps, unprotected except by the force of sympathetic public sentiment, many of whose natural protectors sleep the long sleep beneath government tombstones may not be subjected to the cruelties that have been charged against the management of the Home without arousing the indignation of this community against those who, "Dressed with a little brief authority," would lord it over the helpless. BROOKVILLE.

PERSONALS. J. M. Norris is in Pittsburg this week. Dr. J. B. Neale is in New York this week. Father Brady is in Philadelphia this week. Mrs. L. V. Daily, of DuBois, is visiting Mrs. Kearns. Dr. W. B. Alexander went to Chicago Monday morning. Frank K. Mullen is in West Virginia this week on business. L. W. Miesmer went to Medix Run yesterday on business. P. A. Hardman went to Brookville this morning on business. Harry L. Hastings, of Brookville, was in town last Thursday. Frank A. McConnell, of Punxsutawney, was in town yesterday. Jessie L. Test is at Wilcox this week attending the Clarion Presbytery. John H. Kaucher will move his family back to Reynoldsville in his near future. Thomas Hoon visited his sister, Mrs. R. L. Rearick, at Falls Creek last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Cooper, of Brookwayville, spent Sunday in Reynoldsville. John C. Glass, Master Mechanic of the A. V. R'y, was in Reynoldsville Monday. Miss Ethel Mitchell, of DuBois, has been visiting C. Mitchell's family the past week. Jacob Suttler went to Portland Mills this morning to see his daughter, Mrs. Dr. Thompson. Masters Harry and Percy Andrews, of New Bethlehem, visited Frank McEnteer last week. Chas. Bangert, editor of the Falls Creek Herald, was in Reynoldsville a few hours Saturday evening. Mrs. Frank Hancy, of Curwensville, spent Monday night with her sister, Mrs. H. S. Belpap, at this place. Mrs. Kate Smeltzer, who has been at Latrobe, Pa., since the first of February, returned to Reynoldsville Monday. R. E. McKee was in Pittsburg last week. Ralph is now representing the Commercial Life Insurance Co. of New York. Mr. and Mrs. C. Elmer Coryell, of Penfield, visited Mrs. Coryell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Milliren, at this place during the past week. Geo. H. Jones, who is a first-class cook, left here Tuesday morning to accept a good position in one of J. L. Emery's camps near Cameron. Oscar Steve, the man who lost his left hand on the R. & F. C. R'y several months ago, has gone to the Jefferson Medical College at Philadelphia. Andrew Cant, of Buffalo, N. Y., uncle of Geo. F. Cant and a member of the company who operate the Standard mine, was in town a few days last week. A. W. Mulholland, one of our county commissioners and a candidate for another term in the same office, spent Sunday with his parents in Reynoldsville. John K. Dunkle left here Monday to visit his sister, Mrs. Julia Farringer, who lives across the river from East Brady, whom he has not seen for twenty-three years. She is seriously ill now. Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jackson, of Allegheny, came to Reynoldsville Saturday to visit their daughter, Mrs. H. Alex. Stoke. Mr. Jackson returned home Monday, but his wife will remain for a short time. G. M. Davis, of West Reynoldsville, a fireman on the Low Grade Div. of the A. V. R'y, went to Verona Monday to be examined for an engineer. Mr. Davis will also visit Pittsburg and several other places before he returns home. Dr. J. K. Brown, of Summerville, got a little mistaken about the date of the monthly meeting of the Jefferson County Medical Association and came to Reynoldsville last Friday for that purpose. The meeting is to be held at this place next Friday. Daniel Brewer, of Perry township, Republican candidate for county commissioner, spent Sunday with his son, E. S. Brewer, in West Reynoldsville. Mr. Brewer has entered into the field in earnest now, and by the assistance of his numerous friends, will do his utmost to secure the nomination. Enos Everson, of Williamsport, son of E. R. Everson, formerly of this place, was in Reynoldsville visiting friends a few days during the past week. Enos is now a young man. His father, who has lived at Philadelphia for a few years, moved to Williamsport last week. Mr. Everson is an old railroad man and will be superintendent of the Williamsport and North Branch railroad when it is completed, which will be some time in July. The new road is one hundred miles long. S. M. Shields, of Clover township, was in Reynoldsville last Thursday. Mr. Shields was born and raised in Jefferson county. He has been engaged in the stock business, in connection with farming, for many years. Considering the fact that Clover township seldom asks any favors when the county offices are distributed, and heretofore he has not asked his party for recognition, therefore, the name of S. M. Shields will be found among the announcements of this issue as a candidate for county commissioner, subject to the action of the Republican primaries June 17, 1893, in hopes that the township will be recognized by his nomination. Mrs. Kate Smeltzer, of the East End Jackson st., has just returned from the city, bringing with her a nice assortment of millinery goods, trimmed and untrimmed. Opening on Friday and Saturday, April 28th, and 29th. All ladies are invited to call.

Will be Absorbed. According to newspaper rumors a charter has been granted to an organization to be known as the United States Leather Company, which will, doubtless, soon control all the tanneries. Jas. H. Proctor, of Boston, Mass., was here several days last week looking around the tannery at this place, but his business here can only be conjectured, as the superintendent, book-keeper and bosses are not willing to impart any knowledge they have concerning the rumors about this tannery being absorbed in the combine. To all inquiries they knowingly smile and say, "Can't tell," "don't know," &c. There is a possibility, however, in fact no doubt, but that the Reynoldsville tannery will be run under a different name before very many weeks. It will not necessarily make any difference in the business of the tannery nor affect the employees in any way. There are Sarsaparillas and Sarsaparillas; but if you are not careful in your purchase, the disease you wish to cure will only be intensified. Be sure you get Ayer's Sarsaparilla and no other. It is compounded from the Honduras root and other highly concentrated alteratives.

Got Into Bad Company. [DuBois Courier.] Policeman Blair found a man sitting in front of L. M. Sterns & Co.'s wholesale house Saturday evening in a helpless condition. He was unable to give an account of himself and with considerable difficulty was piloted to the lock-up. Sunday morning the man was released when he stated that he had come from Reynoldsville with $60 in his pockets. In DuBois he fell in with some people who were willing to be sociable and drink frequently with him. The next thing the Reynoldsville man knew, he alleges, he was in a back alley with his "friends," who laid him out and robbed him of all his cash.
