LOCAL LAONICS.

A Yearling.

For one year we have endeavored to make the STAR interesting and give our readers all the news. Doubtless in that time we have said some things that would have been better not to have said, and perhaps omitted news, unintentionally, that should have been published. In gathering news items we have paid no attention to condition of life from whence the news comes, rich or poor, laborer or merchant, subscriber or non-subscriber, all were served alike so far as we were able to do so. Of course we have not pleased everybody, but were familiar enough with the newspaper business before assuming the position as an editor to know that that is an impossibility. As long as a news item strikes some one else it is alright, but when it comes home that is a "horse of another color." If a paper does not publish all the news it is "no good," and if it does some one will get cross about items which concern them. Our subscription list is evidence that we are pleasing a large number of people. The STAR entered into the journalistic field last May on somewhat of a venture, as it was a little doubtful whether the town would support two papers. We were not disappointed in the supposition for the first year at least, for we have been able to live and keep our debts down, by hard work and economy. We have learned a few lessons by experience during our first year which we expect to profit by in our second year. We will try to make the STAR more interesting in the coming year than it was in the past one. We hope the STAR has become such a welcome visitor that all the old subscribers will renew and many new ones give us their names.

Counterfeit silver dollars, half dollars quarters and dimes are said to have been recently put into extensive circulation in some of the eastern counties of this state. They are brand new coin, and can be easily detected if you are on your guard. They haven't the true ring and the feel of them is different from the genuine.

The debate that was to be delivered by the Reynoldsville Prohibition Club in Centennial hall on Monday evening has been postponed till next Monday evening, May 8th, at 8 o'clock, at which time a lively discussion is anticipated and the public is invited to attend. Subject, "Resolved that local option is the best means to suppress the liquor traffic."

Test, of Reynoldsville, was elected as a commissioner from the Clarion Presbytery to the General Assembly which will be held at Washington, D. C., the 18th of this month. Mr. Test is anxious to attend the General Assembly to hear the Briggs case.

Drunkness, cursing and fighting occasionally run the streets unmolested. A sample of such conduct was given on Main street Saturday afternoon. Why the "drunks" were not "pulled in" we are unable to say, unless it was because our officers were all in some other part of town. If such scenes are not to become an every day occurrence a generous supply of the law must be applied.

The following ladies of the Reynoldsville Relief Corps went to Brookwayville last Thursday to visit the Corps at that place; they speak very highly of the hospitality of the Brookwayville ladies: Mrs. D. M. Dunsmore, Mrs. Ab. Reynolds, Mrs. J. S. McCright, Mrs. Anna S. Gibson, Mrs. George Sykes, Mrs. Thomas Mahoney, Mrs. J. C. Burns, Mrs. Frank Hamaker, Mrs. E. Neff, Mrs. Lyman Scott, Mrs. Sam'l Saxton, Mrs. M. F. Phillippi.

A district convention of the Knights of Pythias with delegates from Clarion, Jefferson, Elk, Indiana and Clearfield counties, was held at DuBois last Friday. It was decided at this meeting to hold a re-union of all the K. of P. lodges in the counties mentioned at DuBois on Thursday, June 22. This will be the first re-union ever held in the district by the Knights of Pythias. David Hartman represented the Vallant lodge of Reynoldsville.

The three prisoners who escaped from the Brookville jail several weeks ago are still at liberty and are likely to have their freedom as long as they behave themselves and do not return to Brookville in day light. The sheriff has already spent fifty dollars looking for them and as the commissioners will not furnish any money to secure their re-capture Sheriff Young has given up the chase, as he can spend his time and money in a more profitable way than looking for such chaps.

Our morning friend, the DuBois Courier, says: "Down in Reynoldsville the borough council authorized a tax on cats as well as dogs. An unusual departure on the fee line." Whether, or no, the above was written for the purpose of the Courier pun-stor getting in his usual number of puns, or he was really in good faith and believes that Reynoldsville people have to pay a tax on cats, we wot not, and yet why are not cats about as taxable as dogs? The council have not authorized such a tax.

His Time Has Expired.

E. T. McGaw, who was clothed with authority of a Justice of the Peace in the borough of Reynoldsville, has been robbed of the official vesture by Time and he is now a common citizen.

Prof. Hughes Elected.

Prof. J. H. Hughes was re-elected County Superintendent at Brookville yesterday at the School Directors' Convention. Prof. W. H. Stamey run well, but was too late in entering the race to choke off a few provarications that had been fabricated by some unscrupulous fellow.

Good Band.

The Keystone band of this place was at Ridgway last Wednesday and was the finest appearing and furnished the best music of any of the six bands in the parade. Our town has just reason to be proud of the Keystone band. If the boys keep up the practice, as it is practice that wins, they can play as nicely as the Great Western in the by and by.

K. of M. Organized.

A Tent of the Knights of the Maccabees was organized in the K. of P. hall at this place on Monday evening with about twenty-five charter members. E. S. Watson, of Williamsport, State Commander of the Maccabees and also associate editor of the Grit, was present and delivered an excellent speech on the good qualities of the order. Those who heard him say that Mr. Watson is a good orator.

Two Store Rooms.

The room just vacated by Alexander's drug store has been re-painted and re-papered. An archway has been put in between that room and the one now occupied by Bell Bros.' clothing store, and this firm will occupy both store rooms. They have always carried a large line of goods, but will now increase their stock. They expect, when finished, to have as fine rooms and large stock of clothing as can be found in the county. Bell Bros. are live, energetic business men, and are doing a good business here.

New Basin.

A fountain was put in several years ago on the piece of ground between Supt. Rumsey's office and the A. V. R'y passenger station. There was no basin made to catch and carry off the water and, consequently, it was not often in operation. The A. V. masons built a good stone basin last week and a waste pipe was attached. When the ground is again cleaned up, the fountain in operation and the flowers in bloom the passengers can seek the shady side of the depot while waiting for trains and watch the spray as it sparkles in the sunlight.

A New Church.

The St. Peters Evangelical Lutheran church in the Paradise settlement, was dedicated last Sunday. Rev. J. Poffenberger, of Leechburg, Pa., delivered the dedicatory sermon. This is a neat little brick cased church with a seating capacity of 200. The church cost $1,700, which was all raised before last Sunday but $300; that was soon raised Sunday and the church was dedicated free of debt. When it is considered that there are not over fifteen members in that locality it can be seen that they had courage to even attempt to build a church there. Such a neat church is not found in all the rural districts.

Council Meeting.

The town council held their regular monthly meeting last Monday evening. The Burgess and all the councilmen were present and the following business was transacted. A petition was presented asking for a sidewalk on Bradford street from Pleasant Avenue to Borough line. It was granted. John Dillman, proprietor of Hotel Dillman, asked for privilege of building an addition to his hotel. The request was not granted. Harry H. Mincer, the night policeman, handed in his resignation, which is to take effect May 8th. It was accepted. Hereafter a policeman will be on duty pay days and on special days. Bills to the amount of $432.40 were ordered to be paid. The tax to be levied this year is to be the same as last year. Borough two mills, water two mills and bond one-half mill. On motion the Borough will borrow three hundred dollars for six months.

At Ridgway.

The I. O. O. F. seventy-fourth anniversary held at Ridgway last Wednesday was a grand success. In the first place the county seat of Elk was a good place to celebrate the anniversary, and then the people showed their appreciation of the honor by profusely decorating public buildings, business houses and private dwellings. The day was a pretty one. About six hundred Odd Fellows, six brass bands and one drum corps paraded through several of the main streets. After the parade they gathered in the court house and listened to the speakers of the day. The Reynoldsville lodge, No. 824, had the largest representation in the parade with the exception of Johnsonburg lodge, which had only nine miles to travel to get there. Our lodge made the best appearance of any in the parade. With the large attendance from here, the fine looking men and the best band in the parade, Reynoldsville has reason to be proud of the representation from here.

Death from Childbirth.

Mrs. William G. White, nee Belinda Bennett, was born in Camborne, Cornwall, England, February 15th, 1855, died on Thursday, April 27, 1893, aged 38 years, 2 months and 12 days. Wm. G. White and Belinda Bennett were married in England on the 16th of August, 1879, and emigrated to America May 11, 1882, and came to Reynoldsville where they have since resided. The husband and seven children, the oldest not twelve yet and the youngest three hours old when the mother died, are left to mourn for the departed. Mrs. White was a sister of John Bennett, of Hill street. The funeral services were held in the M. E. church at 2:30 P. M. Sunday, conducted by Rev. P. J. Slatery. The church was crowded, many people being unable to get into the church. The deceased was a member of the Daughters of St. George, and the husband is a member of the Sons of St. George and the Knights of the Golden Eagle, also the leader of the Prescottville Cornet band. All three of the above named orders and the members of the Prescottville and Reynoldsville bands turned out in bodys. Members of the Prescottville band acted as pallbearers. A beautiful pillow and anchor of sweet smelling flowers were tokens of honor and from the Daughters of St. George and the Prescottville band. The pillow was from the ladies. Five hundred and fifty people viewed the remains in the church. The coffin was lowered beneath the sod of Beulah.

Changed His Mind.

Albert Pangon, a barber, who had been in Punxsutawney about two weeks, attempted to commit suicide in his room at the Dingler house of that place last Friday morning by cutting his neck in two places. He also cut his wrists and legs. The man came very nearly making a successful job out of it, and doubtless would have bled to death had he not been found when he was and physicians called in. Trouble, was the only reason given for the rash act. When his vein's were almost emptied of his live's blood, the fellow had changed his mind and was not anxious to "go hence," and when the physicians arrived and one of them asked him if he wanted to live he promptly answered in the affirmative. To the next question from the physician, "shall we do all we can to save your life?" he, a few hours before, would-be-a-corpse unhesitatingly said "yes sir." The man or woman who seek an escape from their troubles by the suicide route will find, when too late, that this world with all the troubles which have entered into their lives—and in most instances creatures of their own make—is a real paradise compared to the region they will inhabit for a billion of years, and then some. What fools many of the human family do make of themselves.

Do You Destroy Your Votes.

Little Susie McKernan has sent in twelve hundred votes to the Pittsburg Times for her ex-school teacher, Miss Lizzie Burris. What do you do with your Times' votes? If you destroy them would it not be a good idea to save them and thus swell the number of votes for some school teacher? It is a sure thing that all the teachers who are receiving votes will not go to the World's Fair on the magnanimous offer made by one of the best daily papers of Pittsburg—Times. There are three or four from this place who are being voted for. Would it not be a good thing to select out the teacher who has received the highest votes so far from Reynoldsville people and from this on cast all votes for that person, thus making it possible for one of our teachers to get to the World's Fair free. When making a choice of the class of people who would be taken to the Fair at the expense of the Times, we know of no other class of people who are more deserving of it, save the country editors, than the instructors of "Young Americans." The man or woman who spends five days in a week, five months in a year in a school room with forty, fifty or sixty dead, docile, angelic boys and girls, deserves at least a free ride.

Feminine Determination.

When the south-bound passenger train pulled into Ridgway last Wednesday evening with only two coaches and the depot platform was crowded with passengers enough to fill four coaches, the crowd became unmanageable, their only thought was that they must get on that train regardless of how unseemly their actions were in getting there. Before the train stopped they tried to get on, but, fortunately, no one was injured. In justice to the men be it said, the women were the reckless ones this time. With their teeth set and an "I will" expression, oblivious of all else just then, they got on board the train. The conductor and brakeman tried to stay the feminine tide of determination long enough to allow several passengers to get off, but the conductor was "tired" on the railing between the two coaches and watched the women get on his train.

Sealed Proposals.

From Monday, May 8th, until Tuesday, May 16th, sealed proposals will be received at C. F. Hoffman's jewelry store for the erection of a two-story brick building on the corner of Main and Fourth streets, Reynoldsville, Pa. The privilege of rejecting any or all bids will be reserved. DANIEL NOLAN.

"Old Hick'ry Farm."

The Juvenile band of Reynoldsville decided to play "Old Hick'ry Farm," a New England comedy, at this place about the middle of May with H. Eugene Phillips, of Clarion, as the star, "Old Zekiel Fortune." Mr. Phillips came here last Wednesday night and wanted to present the play Saturday night. The home talent required was selected and they began rehearsing and on Saturday the comedy was played before a fair-sized audience at the opera house. All who took part did remarkably well, and especially so when the length of time for preparation is considered. There are numerous shows traveling to-day that do not give as good a performance as that of "Old Hick'ry Farm" by home talent. The comedy was so well received that it was played again on Monday night to a fair audience. Both evenings the weather was unfavorable for the entertainment. As the proceeds were for the benefit of the Juvenile band the citizens did not patronize it as they should have done. Following was the cast of characters: Zekiel Fortune, a New England farmer, H. Eugene Phillips; Larry McKeegan, an Irish Alderman, Chas. F. Watson; Gilbert Darkwood, handsome and unscrupulous, Chas. Kischartz; 'Riah Skinner, a miser, Frank Alexander; Jack Nelson, Fortune's adopted son, W. J. Weaver; Detective Rankin, John Denny; Bill Tracy and George Jones, officers of the law, Vincent Reynolds and Chas. Doverspike; Jessie Fortune, "pretty and innocent," Miss Lillie McCright; Mrs. Priscilla Dodge, "the widdy," Miss Minnie Ewing.

The seven leading characters were the farmer, which was done almost to perfection by Phillips, and the Irish Alderman was as well mimicked by Watson as if he had just come from the Isle of the sea; Kischartz acted the villain well, but he hardly suspected that Frank Alexander would make such a good miser. Weaver played the lover and friend naturally, while Miss McCright gracefully played her part. Miss Ewing, "the widdy," captured the audience about as cunningly as a widow could have accomplished the act on a real stage of life.

While preparations were being made for the after-piece Monday night Miss May Iseman entertained the audience with several of her delightful songs.

Give them the Limit.

The Board of Trade of Reynoldsville has a number of committees appointed, among which is a "committee on promotion of trade and protection of merchants," and "it is the duty of the committee to see that our laws are enforced in regard to hawking and peddling in our town and vicinity, and to do everything in their power to foster and protect the trade interests of Reynoldsville."

The Borough law requires that people who canvass the town shall pay a license of three dollars per day, and every person "desiring to begin a transient retail business in said Borough for the sale of any goods, wares or merchandise, whatsoever, whether the same shall be represented or held forth to be bankrupt, assignees or about to quit business, &c., shall take out a license for the same from the Chief Burgess or President of the Council and pay to said officer for the use of said Borough a sum not less than twenty-five dollars per month, nor more than one hundred dollars per month, at the discretion of the Burgess or president of Council."

If the Burgess does not assist the committee above mentioned, it is hard for them to successfully perform their duties. True the Borough needs money and if the full extent of the law, one hundred dollars, was charged to transient retail establishments they would give the town the go-by. How about the business men who stay here all the time and pay their various taxes every year, help keep up the churches and feed and clothe their families here, are they not worthy the best protection possible, makes no difference what their business may be? Therefore, what is twenty-five dollars to the Borough compared to what our business men pay annually? And again, who is the better off after a transient establishment has been in town a week or ten days? We suggest that all transient retail business men pay the full extent of the law, one hundred dollars, and that the coffers of the borough be replenished by fines gathered from the drunken individuals who make "Rome Howl" frequently in our town.

It Was Almost Impossible.

The street commissioner, Jacob Henninger, has been trying to make the extreme East End of Main street passable. The street was in such a condition that a team could not get through with an ordinary load. Four hundred and seventy loads of stone and gravel have been dumped on the street for a distance of about two squares, commencing near the watering trough at Cold Spring Hollow. There are other parts of Main street that are in very bad condition, but comment is unnecessary. Quite a number of property holders are willing to pay liberally to have Main street paved, while others are not the least discomforted by the present condition of the streets.
