A strike has been on for over a week at the Henry mines, near Rathmel, over some difficulty about the weight allowed for a car of coal.

The east bound passenger train due here at 1.00 P. M. was two hours late last Saturday, caused by a main line engine being disabled.

Middaugh's Musical Comedy Co., so well and favorably known here, will appear in a new and novel entertainment next Thursday evening, May 18.

Mrs. E. D. Mair, of Pittsburg, gave a very good temperance talk in the Centennial hall last Friday evening. Those who heard her were well pleased.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. lodge, with their "stove-pipe hats" and Japanese parasols, will, doubtless, make a fine appearance in the parade at Punxsutawney to-day.

Charles Watson, who left here with Bucksin Bill's Wild West to play in one of the brass bands, got enough of show life in several days and returned to his home again last Friday.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. box supper in the G. A. R. hall Saturday evening brought in something over eighteen dollars for the lodge, although there were only fourteen boxes sold.

Henry A. Reed, the shoe man, has at last something to help suffering humanity. He has the Infallible Corn Cure, which never fails to remove corns and does not injure the feet. No cure, no pay. Why suffer when 25 cents will stop the cause.

A passenger train will be put on the new road between Reynoldsville and Clearfield on Monday, May 29th. Whether there will be more than one passenger train a day and when it will leave and arrive at Reynoldsville, we are unable to say at present, but a schedule will be out in a few days.

Hon. M. V. B. Bennett, of Kansas, will deliver his famous lecture "The Boys," in Centennial Hall this Wednesday evening, May 17th, at 8 o'clock. Admission free. All are invited, both young and old, to hear a man of national reputation, and one who has never disappointed those who go to hear him.

H. L. Hastings has rented the photograph car located on Main St., opposite Baptist church, and will have the same open for business on and after Monday next. The car will be in charge of W. J. Smith, a competent photographer, and first class work will be assured those who favor him with their patronage. Prices reasonable.

Sam'l Bloom, District Deputy of the A. P. A., of this district, will go to DuBois this evening to institute a lodge at that place. A number of members from here and Rathmel will assist Mr. Bloom to institute the lodge.

The first passenger train ran over the Clearfield & Mahoning railroad last Wednesday. It was a special with a number of the big men connected with that road, the B. & P., and the Bell, Lewis & Yates C. M. Co.

The W. C. T. U. will serve dinner and supper in the G. A. R. hall next Thursday May 18. All are invited to lend their aid by patronizing them at meal time. They will do their best to furnish "good grub" to keep your custom for the future. Don't fail to go.

If ever a man feels like "a poor worm of the dust," it is when he suffers from that tired feeling. Ayer's Sarsaparilla removes this discouraging physical condition and imparts the thrill of new life and energy to every nerve, tissue, muscle, and fibre of the whole body.

Three members of the "Joshua Simpkins" company, that showed here last Wednesday evening, learned by experience Thursday morning that Allegheny Valley Railway trains do not wait long for passengers, even if they are showmen. The trio went on a coal train over the R. & E. C. R'y to Falls Creek.

Charles O. Wilson, of Punxsutawney, eighteen years ago one of the boys of Reynoldsville with whom we associated, was in town last Saturday and called at the STAR office. He is one of the six Republican candidates who is seeking the nomination for sheriff. Charles has many friends in the county who are anxious to see him get the nomination.

Dr. W. B. Alexander and G. W. Palen, two of the committee of three who were elected by the Presbyterian congregation to get them a preacher, was at Allegheny last Sunday to hear a minister who preaches in a mission church near the suburbs of the city. The committee were well pleased with the man. He will preach here soon as a candidate.

Hon. M. V. B. Bennett who will lecture in Centennial hall Wednesday and Thursday evenings of this week, comes highly recommended and comments on him by the press and public are: "He has fire, force, pathos, logic and argument." "The finest debater on the platform to-day." "He is an original and profoundly impressive speaker." "He has taken the people of Nebraska by storm."

The new fountain put in the yard at Supt. Rumsey's office was made by Mr. W. S. Stone, machinist at this place for the A. V. R'y Co. The fountain is a pretty one and those who look at it would not suspect that it was made out of old scraps. Pieces of the tool car, engines 3, 15, 27 and 64, and pieces of the top of ventilators of the engine house are used in constructing the fountain. Mr. Stone is a first-class mechanic.

We have been informed by Hon. S. B. Elliott, general manager of the Bell, Lewis & Yates C. M. Co., that the Clearfield & Mahoning railroad will run a big excursion over the new road from Reynoldsville to Clearfield about the first of June. The excursion will be free to all who receive invitations, which will be sent out to business men at Brookville, Reynoldsville, Falls Creek, DuBois, Luthersburg and vicinities. The invitations will be issued with a blank to be filled out and returned to S. B. Elliott, Reynoldsville, Pa., by all who accept the invitation. The citizens of Clearfield, according to the Public Spirit, will make preparations to give the visitors a pleasant time while at that town. It will certainly be a treat for the business men.

Mrs. Cora Blanche Young, wife of C. H. Young, of Jackson street, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Armagost, died about noon on Wednesday, May 10, 1893, of lung fever, after an illness of eleven weeks. Her remains were taken to New Bethlehem Friday morning, funeral services were held in the M. E. church at that place at 1.00 P. M. conducted by Rev. Gearheart, and the remains were buried in the New Bethlehem cemetery. The Daughters of Liberty No. 77, of this place, of which Mrs. Young was a member, turned out in a body and accompanied the remains of their departed sister to the railroad station at this place Friday morning. The deceased was 22 years, 11 months and 17 days old. A husband, three children, the oldest is not yet seven and the youngest five weeks old, father and mother, and nine brothers and sisters survive her.

World's Fair Excursion.

Commencing Wednesday, May 10th, and continuing daily until October 31st, the Allegheny Valley Railway Co. will sell round trip World's Fair excursion tickets from Reynoldsville to Chicago at rate of $21.50, good returning until November 4th.

Middaugh's Musical Comedy Company.

This excellent company of merry-makers are to appear at Reynolds opera house on Thursday evening. The entertainment is a novel one entitled "A World of Fun." As the company is well and favorably known here a crowded house may be expected. Reserved seat tickets on sale at Stoke's drug store.

Main St. will be Paved.

Our "Borough Dads" held a special council meeting last evening for the purpose of taking some action about paving a portion of Main street. A resolution to pave twenty feet in the middle of the street from crossing at Hotel Belnap to crossing at Arnolds block with 2x6 plank set on edge, passed the council unanimously. The work will be commenced as soon as the streets are in a condition for it to be done.

Died in Oregon.

Henry Sykes, father of our townsman, George W. Sykes, died at his home in Salem, Oregon, April 23rd, 1893, at the age of 75 years, 5 months and 17 days. Mr. Sykes was well known in Jefferson and Clearfield counties, having moved to the wilderness where Sykesville now stands in 1892, where he lived until five years ago when he moved to the Pacific slope and from there passed to the land where age is unknown. The deceased leaves a wife and eight children to mourn for him. His wife and two sons and two daughters live in Oregon and were with him when his spirit took its flight, and three sons and one daughter live in this section and did not know until last week that their father had died.

County Convention.

The Prohibitionists of Jefferson county will hold their county convention at this place to-morrow, Thursday. The convention will be held in Centennial hall, and will begin at 10.00 A. M. At 2.00 P. M. a delegate will be elected to attend the State Convention at Harrisburg June 7, 1893, and candidates for a county ticket will be nominated. Van Bennett, of Kansas, will deliver an address in the evening at 7.30. This gentleman has the reputation of being an excellent speaker. The ladies of the W. C. T. U. will serve dinner and supper in the G. A. R. hall for the delegates. Prof. J. G. Daily, of Brookwayville, and the Bellview quartet will furnish music for the occasion. A large crowd from over the county is expected to be present.

He's a Guardsman.

H. Wadsworth Slack, formerly a school teacher of this place, was appointed last week as a Guardsman on the Columbian Guard at the World's Fair. He was appointed by Col. Edmund Rice, commandant of the Guard at Chicago. The company is composed of eighteen hundred men. They are provided with handsome uniforms and badges conspicuously worn which show their authority to make arrests and promote peace throughout the grounds which comprises six hundred and forty acres. The Prof., in speaking of the World's Fair, says: "This is the most wonderful, most grand and perfect event of the known ages of the world. All people, if possible, should see this greatest of events, for such wonders will never, in the years of the present generation, be again. Up to June, first-class board and room can be secured at the Park Gate Hotel, near the main entrance of the World's Fair grounds, for $1.50 per day for one, or $3.00 per day for two persons."

Statue of Wm. Penn.

Last week we stood beside the statue of William Penn in Philadelphia, which has been fitted for its place on the dome of the City Hall of the "Quaker City." It is indeed a wonder, and no one can realize its greatness until they stand beside it. Below we give the size of the statue: Weight, 60,000 pounds; height, 37 feet; hat 3 feet in diameter, rim, 23 feet in circumference; nose, 13 inches; eyes, 12 inches long and four inches wide; mouth, from corner to corner 14 inches; face, from hat to chin, 3 feet 3 inches; hair, 4 feet long, shoulders, 28 feet in circumference, and 11 feet in diameter; arms 12 feet 6 inches long; coat sleeves 9 feet 6 inches in circumference; cuffs on coat, 3 feet long; waist, 24 feet in circumference and 8 feet 9 inches in diameter; button on coat, 6 inches in diameter; hands, 6 feet 9 inches in circumference, 3 feet wide and 4 feet long; finger nails, 3 inches long; legs, from ankle to knee, 10 feet; ankle, 5 feet in circumference; calf of legs, 8 feet and 8 inches in circumference; feet, 22 inches wide and 5 feet 4 inches long; the tree back of the statue is 16 feet 4 inches in circumference. It was made at the bronze department of the Tacony Iron and Metal Co., of Tacony, Philadelphia. It is said that the statue will be taken to Chicago and put on exhibition there before it is placed upon the dome of the City Hall at a height of over 500 feet. When the statue stands 500 feet above the people it will not look so large as it does to stand beside it, and more than likely when it is on the dome it will not be taken down soon, as it will be a trifle heavy to lift up and down.

INSTANT DEATH.

A Poland's Head Crushed Between a Heavy Stone and a Plank.

Last Monday morning Jacob Henninger, street commissioner, put five Polanders to work on Fifth street, near the STAR office, where they had only worked a short time until Burgess Hays came along and asked that one man be sent to help load stones near Hotel Belnap, where the stone had been hauled several years ago for Frank A. McConnell to build a large addition to his hotel. John Zetolewski, a Russian Poland, who had been in American over one year and in Reynoldsville three months, was sent to help Fred Burns load stone to be hauled to the east end of the Main street iron bridge where a new culvert is being put in. The first load had been hauled and it was while loading the second that the accident occurred. A short plank was used to roll the stone onto the wagon and just as they had a large one so near that another wagon would have put it on the wagon, Zetolewski's foot slipped and he fell with his head on an old plank lying at the side of the wagon and the heavy stone fell and crushed his head into a jelly from the eyes up. His face was not disfigured. Death was instant. His brains were afterward covered over on the plank where they were crushed out. The remains were taken to John M. Hays' undertaking rooms and were prepared for burial and were left there until eleven o'clock yesterday when they were taken to the Catholic church and from there to the Catholic cemetery. As soon as the coffin was put down beside the grave the men stepped back about ten feet and the women, there were four or five, kneeled down and the men sang.

The deceased was a single man about twenty-five years old. He has a brother-in-law here. The fellow had no money and the borough poor overseers expected to bury him, but his Polish friends would not allow it and they raised a collection among themselves and bought a good coffin and gave him a respectable funeral. There seemed to be considered indifference manifested by his countrymen when Zetolewski was killed, but at the grave there were many tears shed.

Shop-lifter Caught.

Monday afternoon a young lady, whose parents live within three miles of Reynoldsville, came to town and entered C. C. Gibson's store and asked to see some slippers. Mr. Gibson showed her his stock of slippers. The girl acted a little suspiciously but purchased a dollar pair and left the store. The proprietor's attention was called to something else for a few minutes and then he went to put the slippers on the shelf again. He found the box empty in which the first pair of slippers had been that the young lady looked at. Mr. Gibson started out to look for the shop-lifter, but failed to find her. After supper he walked out to their home. The father was not at home, but the daughter and mother were there. When the daughter saw the merchant coming she had business at the spring house. The merchant inquired for the young lady and the mother called her, but she only came part way to the house and stopped. Mr. Gibson made known his business. The girl denied having taken any only the pair paid for. After a whispered conversation between mother and daughter, the old lady went into the house and returned with the cash for the stolen slippers. Mr. Gibson asked to see the slippers, but the girl declared positively she had left them with her sister, who lives in Reynoldsville. Mr. Gibson thinks by the coolness and indifference with which they took the whole matter, that it is not the first time such thieving has been performed and that the old lady "winks" at it. The young lady wore a cape on Monday, which is very handy for shop-lifting. The next time we hear of such a performance the parties' names will likely be published so that our merchants may know who needs watching. Shop-lifters should be held up to public gaze.

Fourth Anniversary.

Last Sunday was the fourth anniversary of the organization of the Epworth League and the occasion was observed by most all the Leagues in the country. The chapter at this place gave an interesting program in the M. E. church Sunday evening. The decorations consisted of potted plants and the glorious old flag. M. W. Womer, president of the League, had charge of the exercises. The program consisted of an anthem by choir, singing by League, prayer by M. W. Womer, salutatory, Miss Lou Foust; an explanation of the workings of the League was given by Rev. P. J. Slattery; recitation, Miss Olive Jones; solo, Miss Lizzie Binney; recitation, Miss Mollie McKee; recitation, Miriam Harries. All who took part in the exercises put forth special efforts to make the program a good one, and they succeeded grandly. The church was crowded.

Music Hath Charms.

The Keystone Cornet band cheered up the discouraged Jr. O. U. A. M. boys this morning by lively music and they quickened their steps to catch the excursion train. Inclement weather is not to be considered when the band plays and there is a parade on the program.

HOPKINS BIG MILL.

A Hamlet Where the Buzz of the Saw is Daily Music.

Recently we decided to visit Hopkins to see the mill in operation. We went over to the A. V. R'y crossing and got on the railroad—not the train—and counted the ties from there to the railroad platform at Hopkins and found just five thousand and ninety-six ties between the two places. Hopkins is a hamlet that is hemmed in by hills. The only industry of the place is Hon. A. C. Hopkins' mill plant. The place has a railroad ticket office, small store and postoffice. A. P. King is postmaster. Two mails arrive daily. As high as seventy-five letters have been sent out of there in one mail. Twenty families reside there, besides a large boarding house where fifty-two men eat and sleep. Considering the above facts the town does not receive the accommodations it should from the A. V. R'y Co. Trains one and two will not stop there to let passengers on or off. The people have only the morning and evening trains to travel on. If they want to get on the noon trains they will have to walk to Reynoldsville or Prindable. Frequently the ladies of Hopkins would like to come to Reynoldsville during the day, but as it is too far to walk, they remain at home and allow the "man of the house" to buy what they want in the evening. The place is more deserving of a stop by all passenger trains than many places along the Low Grade where they do stop.

The buzz of saws, hissing of steam and whiz of machinery to be heard there are unmistakably the real hum of industry. One hundred men are employed on the mills and in the yard. The machinery consists of a band mill, gang edger, lath mill, shingle mill, gang slubber, 32 saw flat gang, double shaver, flooring machine, rip-saw, and shavings press. Twin engines of 175 horse power drive the machinery on the saw mill and a 40 horse power engine does the work at the planing mill. The smallest engine is fed on shavings by A. R. Schuckers, and the twin engines keep the saw dust pile down. At the time of our visit they were sawing pine at the rate of 120,000 per day. When handling hemlock they saw between 80,000 and 90,000 per day. This year they have adopted the Michigan way of sorting lumber. They have six grades and frequently after a log has been sawed a part of it has been piled in each one of the six grades. Logs are like people in one respect. The exterior looks good and sound, but the heart is worm-eaten and valueless to the owner or any one else. It is the intention now to saw 12,000,000 at that place this season.

John H. Schofield is superintendent, A. P. King salesman and general overseer of the mills, Miles Towns foreman of the saw mill, John Evert yard foreman, C. E. Warden planing mill foreman, A. P. Weitzel engineer, S. D. Smith has charge of the lath mill and A. L. Peters is the smithy of the plant. Every man has his place to work and they are always at it as if they were trying to get ahead of the machinery in its whizzing activity. The men are paid each week.

The last, but not least important place we visited, where we were not a looker on but a partaker, was the dining room of the boarding house. Two long tables were well spread with the necessities of life, and everything had the appearance of neatness and cleanliness, which is one of the essential things when it comes to providing for the inner man.

Through the kindness and geniality of Messrs. A. P. King and John H. Schofield our visit to the town two miles west of Reynoldsville was made very pleasant, for which we were very thankful.

Big Berries.

Casper F. Hoffman, Dr. J. B. Neale, Alexander Riston and John Conser were over in Clearfield county on a fishing excursion four days last week. They had excellent weather, a good time and caught about 300 trout. Casper Hoffman, the jeweler, has had, up to the present time, a good reputation for veracity, therefore, we will not doubt his word, publicly, nor will we vouch for the following story he tells about their outing: "Our most thrilling experience was with Alex. Riston in a teaberry patch. We got into a place where there was nearly a thousand acres of berries, which varied in size from a hen egg to a large pumpkin. We were climbing a hill a mile long which was almost perpendicular and it was covered over with teaberries. Alex. Riston was behind the rest of the party and some one broke a big berry loose from the mother stem and it started down the steep hill at a great speed, getting faster and faster with each turn. Alex. saw it coming, but could not get out of the way soon enough and he was almost killed by the collision with the tea berry. His wounds were dressed by Dr. Neale and he was helped to the top of the hill, where, after eating his usual number of trout—twenty-five—and resting six or seven minutes he was able to again join the party."
