The tannery ball team of DuBois came down to Rathmel yesterday afternoon to "do up" the Rathmel nine, but were badly disappointed, for the score stood 12 to 29 in favor of Rathmel. The DuBois papers will have a good excuse, if they mention it. Rathmel boys can play ball.

A change will be made at the tannery soon. The men will either be put on half time or a number will be laid off. About thirty Daughters of America drove down from DuBois last Friday evening and visited their sister lodge at this place. The time has come when women delight in keeping late hours at the lodge and the "henpecked" husbands stay at home and sing the lullaby. Things were not thus in the days of our grand parents.

Walter Spry, district deputy for the Sons of St. George, installed the following officers in the George Washington lodge, No. 124, at this place last week. Each office has worthy attached to it: W. Dean's farm, died at nine o'clock Sunday morning and was buried in the Baptist cemetery Monday forenoon. Two more of his children are down with the dread disease, diphtheria. Mr. Williams is having considerable trouble. His wife has been an invalid for two years, his own health is failing, now diphtheria has invaded his home.

Free as Air.

Comments on the paving of Main street are as free as the air. Opinions vary somewhat concerning the way the work should be done. Even a tramp that struck the town the other day gave his opinion about how he would do it if he was boss.

A New Agent.

H. M. Iseman has been agent for the American Express Co. at Reynoldsville ever since the company handled goods here, which has been six years, but a new agent took hold of the business last week. Frank P. Adlesperger is now express agent for this Co. The office will be located in C. F. Hoffman's jewelry store.

A Fortune.

There has been some talk of the Hetricks in this section falling heirs to a large fortune. According to an article published in the New York "World" last week, there is $70,000,000 in Germany to be distributed to the heirs, in Pennsylvania, of Col. Geo. Hetrick, of Revolutionary fame. This will, doubtless, make the Hetricks of our neighborhood well off, financially, if they are the descendants of the old Colonel.

An Increase.

The Winslow township school board held another meeting last Saturday to finish the business left over from the previous Saturday. Henry Stevenson was appointed by the board to fill the vacancy made by John Smith's non-attendance. Mr. Smith has been conspicuous by his absence at five consecutive meetings. The board settled all accounts and decided that the school tax for this year would be as follows: For school purposes three and one half mills, school building purposes one mill. This is an increase of one mill over last year, which was schools two and one half mills, school buildings one mill.

A New Road Difficulty.

There is some difficulty between the and some citizens of the township supervisor of East Winslow township concerning the public road which passes near George Washington Fullers farm. The road has been in use for some thirty odd years, but since the railroad was built up to Big Soldier the wagon road has not been in as good condition as before. The supervisor wants to build a new road at the expense of the township and the citizens, who are taking a hand in the matter, want the R. & F. C. R'y Co. to build the new road. The case was argued before the Court at Brookville on Monday, but has not been disposed of yet.

Church Dedicated.

The new Baptist church at Sykesville was dedicated last Sunday evening. There was eighteen hundred dollars to raise on Sunday. The church was peaked at the morning service. Rev. Teasdale, of DuBois, preached. It was hoped that the church could be dedicated in the morning, but only $1,000 was subscribed, leaving them $800 behind. In the evening Rev. Derr preached, and although his congregation only numbered about sixty-five, he raised $817.00 and the church was then dedicated. A number of Reynoldsville people were at Sykesville for the morning services. The new church cost a trifle over $3,000. It is on the same plan as the Baptist church at this place, only it is a frame structure.

Jefferson County's Contribution.

Jefferson county furnished four victims for the western penitentiary last week, as follows: Thomas Harrison, for larceny, a term of fifteen months; Homer Kunselman, burglary and attempt to rob, a term of five years; George E. Coleman, who pleaded guilty of burglary, a term of five years; John Milliron, accessory to burglary and an attempt to rob, a term of three years. These young fellows have donned their penitentiary garb. They will all be in long enough to learn a trade. Five years of early life is a long time to spend within the confines of penitentiary walls. If some of the youth of Reynoldsville who are now sliding down the declivity that leads to the "pen," do not get off onto the road that leads to something noble and useful, they will get their heads shaved and wear the striped clothing before it is said of them, "earth to earth," etc.

Almost Stranded.

The Cleveland Consolidated shows, which showed at Reynoldsville last Friday and Saturday, did not prove to be a glowing success, financially. The exchequer of the affair was drained before all bills were paid. Roscoe's orchestra of DuBois and the band boys of Reynoldsville, who played for the combined shows, did not get their money. Three of the star performers severed their connection with the show here and returned to their homes Monday morning because they wanted money and it was not to be had. Generally speaking, Reynoldsville is a good show town, and it is a poor excuse of a show that does not draw a big crowd, but the people did not flock to the ticket wagon of this show, in fact it was poorly attended. The show will have to have a better financial support or it will not survive the embarrassment with which it is now surrounded very many days.

Columbia's Defenses.

Last Sunday was Children's Day in the M. E. church at this place. The program was "Columbia's Defenses." A platform was built in the church and nicely arranged with flags. A large white cross was standing on the platform and Miss Lou Foust, who represented Columbia, stood on the platform with her right arm resting on the cross, with a beautiful silk flag at her left. She was dressed in white and wore a wreath on her head. The introductory address, "Our Patriotic Program," was delivered by Miss Lizzie Binney. Three young men and three ladies, with shield on their left arms, with the words of the defense each one represented inscribed on their shields, came on the platform one at a time and addressed Columbia. First was Roman E. Koehler with "Just Laws" inscribed on his shield, second, Port Harries, "Worthy Rules;" third, Lloyd L. Gourley "Good Citizens;" fourth, Miss Olive Jones, "Christian Schools;" fifth, Mrs. Jos. M. Cathers, "A Sacred Sabbath;" sixth, Miss Louisa Koehler, "Pure Religion." Little Frankie King addressed Columbia in behalf of the primary department of the school. Columbia responded to each one. The exercises were interspersed with music and responsive reading. All who took part done well and everything passed off nicely until the part when the shields were to be hung on the cross then the organist got a little confused. The collection, which is the Sunday school children's contribution to the Board of Education, amounted to $22.50.

Didn't Know it was Loaded.

George Koher, a young man about eighteen, who lives near Rathmel, claims he was "held up" once on his way home from Reynoldsville, came to town on Saturday and bought himself a 32-caliber revolver to use on the next party who attempts to stop him. George and his brother Harry, a lad about twelve years old, went out Sunday to look for a groundhog to try the new revolver on. They failed to find game, but shot mark for awhile. George thought the revolver had been emptied of its contents, and was practicing on jerking the revolver out of his hip pocket and taking aim at the supposed highwayman, Harry answering for the villain. He pulled the trigger and hit his man. The ball entered the boy's neck on the left side and Dr. J. B. Neale took the piece of lead out at the back of the neck Sunday evening. Of course George did not shoot his brother intentionally, but "did not know it was loaded." It is the same old story. Fortunately it did not end in a funeral. The boy will get well.

Second Call.

A fellow a "little off" in the upper story of his pate, called at this office Monday and wanted to occupy the editorial chair long enough to pen an epistle to some one in a distant land, but the incessant howl of the office devil for copy about that time made it impossible for us to comply with the old gentleman's request and he had to look for more accommodating quarters. The same man called at this office several weeks ago and asked for the same favor, which was granted at that time. He asked for pen and ink, then a sheet of paper, then an envelope was asked for, which was followed by the statement that he was financially embarrassed and would like to have a stamp. He licked the stamp himself, however.

Picnic Spoiled.

Four fellows of town, who would not want their names published, bought a keg of beer and took it into the rear room of the basement of David Hartman's blacksmith shop and were guzzling down the beer at their leisure Sunday afternoon when Mr. Hartman got an inkling of the new bar. There are two doors to the room, but both were locked against Mr. Hartman. While he was up to the shop after a hammer the beer drinkers made a hasty exit and left the keg half full of beer, which Mr. Hartman emptied into the run.

An Old Tormentor.

An old gentleman out at Emerickville is certainly very devilish. He does some of the most contemptible tricks perpetrated in a civilized community. The people whom he is attempting to annoy are very lenient with him. If the old man will not stop his meanness he should be sent to hotel de Young at Brookville to board. There are times when even christian people are not called upon to stand the insult of revengeful people, especially when they trample the law under their feet.

Birthday Parties.

Monday was Mrs. John Pomroy's birthday and a number of her friends celebrated the occasion by giving her a surprise party. They presented her with a handsome rocking chair. John Andrew Huntingdon was honored by his numerous friends on Monday with a surprise party. A handsome chair was the present given him.

All Citizens are Invited.

Yesterday we were informed by Frank J. Black, president of the fire company, that a meeting will be held in room of Hose Co. No. 1 at 8 o'clock this evening to make some arrangements about celebrating the 4th of July in Reynoldsville.

Julius Caesar Surprised.

Thirty-seven years ago the 12th of this month a son was born in the home of William Ferris in Reynoldsville and they named him Julius Caesar. Last Monday evening about one hundred friends and neighbors invaded Julius Caesar's home and premises while he was down town, their purpose being to give him a birthday surprise, and they succeeded. The house was packed with people and a number of the male portion of the party were lying in the grass in the yard, among whom were the members of the Keystone band with their instruments ready at a moments warning to make the welkin ring with sweet music. Milton Winslow and Caesar are both members of the I. O. O. F. lodge and Mitt. had some lodge accounts which he wanted, as a blind, to have Caesar help him audit. A little after nine o'clock they started for home and the "kid" of thirty-seven years ago, wanted to try a new pair of clippers on Mr. Winslow's head. When inside the gate the signal was given and the torches for the band boys were lighted in a moment and the music started. Caesar was taken on into the house. Tears trickling down his cheeks were witnesses of the fact that he was the victim of a complete surprise. About eleven o'clock refreshments, such as sandwiches, coffee, various kinds of cake and ice cream were served to the large crowd. After the older people had gone their various ways the young portion of the party cleared one of the rooms of its furniture and tripped the light fantastic until an early hour Tuesday morning. Caesar had frequently made his brags that it was impossible to get up a surprise on him. He hardly has the same opinion now. Two handsome chairs entered his home as a result of the surprise party. Mrs. Ferris, the victims wife, Mrs. Melissa Scott, his sister, and John Boston and Chas. Stitts were the responsible parties for the surprise party.

New School Board.

The school directors met at Seelye, Alexander & Co.'s bank last Friday evening and re-organized. David Wheeler was elected president, Jos. M. Cathers secretary, and Dr. W. B. Alexander treasurer. Geo. Mellinger and Dr. J. C. King were the two directors whose time had expired, but as Mr. Mellinger was re-elected in the spring, he and Peter Burkhardt were the new directors to step in. Peter Robertson and A. H. Hoon presented papers from the election board stating that they had been elected on the People's Party ticket at the spring election to fill the vacancy which was claimed to have been created at the spring election of 1892 by a mistake of the election board in making their return. This being the case Dr. Alexander and Jos. Cathers would have stepped out. The president of the school board said there was no vacancy to be filled and therefore there was no place for Mr. Robertson and Mr. Hoon. The board would not even consent to enter the application of the gentlemen for members on the minutes of the meeting. We understand that some of the citizens are going to have the law decide who is entitled to the seat on the board, whether it be Dr. Alexander and Jos. Cathers, or Peter Robertson and A. H. Hoon.

Prof. W. H. Stamey was re-elected principal of the schools and A. J. Postlethwait vice-principal. There will be no increase of wages for the teachers this season.

The school board does not expect to build any new school house this year. Some provision will be made to care for the scholars during the next term of school. The preliminary injunction restraining the board from issuing $40,000 worth of bonds still stands.

Clearfield Disappointed.

We have been informed by good authority that the citizens of Clearfield had a much better behaved crowd at their town on the "inaugural train" than they had expected, for they figured on considerable drunkenness. A number of extra police were sworn in for that day with instructions not to arrest any one, as the visitors would be the guests of the town, but if there was any fights the police were to make peace, and if any of the visitors lost their equilibrium by indulging too freely in "tangle foot" they were to be put to bed somewhere until the world slowed up a little in its revolving. The bars had a large supply of "fire water" on hand for the occasion. If the hotels had laid in a larger supply of eatables Davis McCracken and the scribe of this paper would not have had such difficulty in getting enough to eat. If the extra police and large supply of whiskey were true, the people of Clearfield surely made a miscalculation on the respectability of their visitors on the 6th inst. Whether the business men of this section were judged by business men of Clearfield or by the fellows who went over to their county seat occasionally from DuBois, we wot not, but nevertheless Clearfield discovered before the day was over that they had no use for any police and that whiskey was not in much of a demand.
