Subscribe for the STAR and get all the home news, besides the general news of the day.

The Italian has moved his green grocery store to one of the rooms in the Bee Hive building.

Go to W. C. Schultze & Son's for "Minnehaha" flour, the only place where it is sold in town.

The remains of Mrs. E. DeHaven were removed into another grave in the Beulah cemetery last week.

William Phipps, a miner, had his left shoulder badly bruised while at work in Big Soldier Monday.

A Swede, who had $2,200 in one of our banks, drew it out a few days ago to hide about his home somewhere for safe keeping.

A number of Reynoldsville sports went to Brookville Friday to see the game of ball between Brookville and Uniontown.

The first of August the American Express company began receiving and sending express to all points east over the C. & M. R'y.

Loyal Temperance Legion will meet at Mrs. Woodward's next Friday, Aug. 11th, from 4.00 to 5.00 P. M. Children are invited to attend.

A number of the young people of town held a picnic in S. M. Gourley's orchard, two miles out of town, last Wednesday afternoon.

Considerable "boodle" changed hands at the ball game between Brookville and Uniontown teams last Thursday on the Brookville grounds.

Rev. J. M. Lyons, of Johnsonburg, Pa., will preach in the Reynoldsville Baptist church next Sunday, August 13, both morning and evening.

W. L. Johnston keeps a large stock of feed at his store in West Reynoldsville, and his prices are away down at "rock bottom." Call and see him.

George H. Jones is having an addition built onto H. M. Iseman's store near the bridge for a shooting gallery. He has several very fine guns.

Advertisers should remember that the STAR has more readers than any other paper in this neck o' woods. Plant your advertisements in it.

C. B. French, the insurance agent, has rented the room next to the Volunteer office in the Degnan & McDonald block, where he will be ready to transact business in a few days.

William T. Cox will open a grocery store in the room next door to the Reynoldsville Hardware Co.'s store. Bert Cox will have charge of the store.

The B., R. & P. R'y will run an excursion from here to Niagara Falls on Sunday, Aug. 13. Train will leave here at about 5.45 A. M. Fare for round trip $2.50.

James Moore took a vacation several days last week on account of a badly smashed finger. The finger was between two stones when they came together.

A. R. Schuckert's house at Hopkins caught fire on the roof by sparks from the flue last Friday, but was discovered in time to save any damage worthy of mention.

The ladies of the Woman's Relief Corps will give an "orange grove social" and ice cream and cake festival in the G. A. R. hall to-morrow, Thursday, evening.

The local freight on the A. V. R'y upped a car of lumber at the switch at Hopkins one evening last week. The accommodation was detained a few minutes by the wreck.

Two young men who are "smitten" on one girl, had a little "flatic encounter" in front of Arnold's store last night. Adelsperger got there in time to take a hand in it.

We will give the American Farmer free to all subscribers who will pay a year in advance. The STAR contains all the home and general news of the day. Give it a year's trial.

Al. Moore, who is now taking in the "wild and woolly west," sent some collections of minerals to his brother, James Moore, at this place recently. Al. gathered them up in the Black Hills.

A number of Reynoldsville ladies drove to Pannic last Friday and there met about a score of ladies from Punxsutawney and they joined in a picnic in the Pannic grove. They had a delightful time.

The county surveyor was up Saturday surveying a small piece of public road that the township is going to make near Wash. Fuller's, in place of the portion of road destroyed by the building of the R. & F. C. R'y.

The individual who lives three miles out of town that comes in and gets full of "bug juice" and then gets into his cart and drives recklessly through town should be "pulled in" before some one is badly injured.

In the list of teachers for Winslow township published last week we unintentionally omitted Rathmel. The teachers for that school are, S. A. Hunter, principal; Iris Johnston, No. 2; Mary Patterson, No. 3.

W. H. Bell has had a new sign swung to the breeze in front of his clothing store since our last issue. The sign is a very neat one. One of the attractive parts is the star at the top. The STAR is sure to attract people.

An exchange says: A fellow who couldn't spare $1.50 for a newspaper a year sent seventy-five two cent stamps to a down east Yankee to know how to raise cents. He got an answer to "take hold of the tops and pull."

James Hawlett, young son of John Hawlett, had his left fore-arm broken while playing foot ball one day last week. He was close to a boy who kicked the ball and it struck him on the hand with above results.

A blind man and small boy from Bradford done their utmost Friday evening to persuade people on the street to exchange their pennies, nickles and dimes for songs and violin music. The twain "raked in" a number of red pennies.

Albert, a young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Waugaman, aged four years and six months, died on Saturday, of inflammation of the brain. The parents took the remains of their darling little boy to Kittanning on the train Monday morning for interment.

R. W. Dinsmore, of Punxsutawney, who has been devoting his time for four years as deputy revenue collector of the sub-district of which our county is a part, will now squander his time in some other vocation and Wm. Brown, of Bells Mills, will see to it that the revenue is gathered in.

A number of horse-trading, fortune-telling Gypsies are camping near Wash. Fuller's farm. Four of the females invaded the town yesterday to reveal coming events to all who would allow them to do so, when the permission was accompanied with the necessary amount of the "coin of the realm," one dollar. The swarthy maidens do not seem to be bashful.

Sixteen gallons of beer, two gallons of whiskey and several violins figured conspicuously in a dance in the neighborhood of Pleasant avenue last Saturday night. About the time the Sabbath day was ushered in the intoxicants began to wield an influence and a drunken row was the result. There was not much gore spilt, however.

At a special meeting of the Board of Trade held last evening, a committee of seven, Dr. Alexander, F. K. Arnold, W. C. Schultze, Chas. Hergel, Dr. S. Reynolds, Geo. Mellinger and C. Mitchell, were appointed to see what arrangements can be made to induce Sykes, Allis & Moorhouse to rebuild here. The Board of Trade has a good scheme which the committee will explain when they call on the people of our town.

Rev. George W. Hill, pastor of the Beechwoods Presbyterian church, will preside at the congregational meeting to be held in the Presbyterian church, at this place this evening. The object of the meeting, we understand, is to give Rev. Johnston a call to become pastor of the flock at this place, whom, it is believed, will accept the call. All Presbyterians are expected to attend the meeting and have a voice in the call.

A patent-medicine street fakir, accompanied by a fellow who blackens his face and tries to be a funny negro, was in town Monday evening and gathered a crowd around them near Centennial hall. After the "coon" made an attempt to get off some jokes which failed to evoke much laughter, the patent-medicine man began his speech by giving the people to understand that he was not a street fakir, but was taking this method to introduce a wonderful medicine of his own make which should be in every home.

Two Hearts Sorrowing.

W. H. Bell's clothing store has been closed since last evening and white crape hung on the door. Evalyn, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bell, died at 3.30 P. M., August 8th, 1893, of cholera infantum. Remains will be buried in Prospect cemetery this afternoon.

K. G. E. at DuBois.

The fourth annual re-union of the Knights of the Golden Eagles held at DuBois yesterday was simply a grand success. DuBois was bedecked in a gorgeous festive attire, and the day was a beautiful one. The parade was large and impressive. The Knight were delighted with the re-union and will not soon forget it.

Looking for a Site.

Judge Heydrick, of Franklin, Colonel Rose, of Johnstown, Ex-Congressman Hall, of Mercer, and Hon. Geo. A. Jenks, of Brookville, commissioners appointed by Governor Pattison to select a site for the asylum for feeble minded children, to be erected for Western Pennsylvania, were at Brookville last week examining several sites that had been offered near that town.

They all Went.

The Keystone band and a large number of Golden Eagles left here on the 7.10 train yesterday morning to attend the re-union at DuBois. There is an old saying that "there is always room for one more," but it is doubtful whether it would have been possible to have packed many more on the two coaches which composed the train. The seats, isles, platforms and steps were packed. It is estimated that there were 150 passengers on the two cars, and one of them was part baggage car.

Claim Adjusted.

J. K. Hatfield and D. B. Allewell, of Pittsburg, and J. S. Catanack, of Philadelphia, insurance men, were in town last week adjusting the loss by the burning of the woolen mill. Sykes, Allis & Moorhouse carried $8,000 insurance on the mill, store room and goods. The entire claim was paid but $200, which was knocked off a safe and some other store fixtures that were not valued as high by the adjusters as they had been insured for. J. T. Reed, insurance agent of Brookville, is the gentleman who wrote the policies for Sykes, Allis & Moorhouse.

One Suit Ahead.

Albert Reynolds, the tallest notary public in the Keystone State, made his appearance on the street Saturday in a very pretty blue suit, which he had made last year to attend the re-union of the boys in blue at Washington, Ab. being one of the brave lads who responded to his country's call in her hours of need. Ab. did not go to Washington and the new suit was laid away carefully and was entirely forgotten by the man for whom it was made, and when asked the other day by his wife why he did not wear it, Ab. was agreeably surprised to know he had the suit.

Want a Place to Vote.

For a number of years the Moore House has been the place where the voters of West Winslow township cast their ballots, but the county commissioners will now have to get a new place, as there is not room at the hotel to hold elections, as the Baker system requires more room than the old way. A. W. Mulholland was up from Brookville yesterday for the purpose of finding a place to hold the fall election in. The West Reynoldsville Hose Co. is talking of putting up a building and Mr. Mulholland has hopes of making arrangements with the fire company, otherwise the commissioners are in a box.

Billy Goat.

C. J. Darrah, of Hopkins, owns a very nice turn-out for a small boy, a Billy Goat, set of leather harness and cart. Mr. Darrah's little boy drove the rig to Brookville in three hours a few days ago. The gentleman wants to sell Billy because he is not content to graze on the green but wants to fool along the railroad track and feast on ballast, spikes, ties, &c. The owner would not object to that way of living, but the goat has become so impolite that it is hardly willing to show respect for the iron horse by stepping off the track to let it pass by and Mr. Darrah is afraid there will be trouble some day between an engine and the goat.

A Big Chief.

Last Thursday the delegates from four Hose Companies met at Dr. J. B. Neale's office for the purpose of electing a chief for the fire departments. Ed. C. Burns and C. F. Hoffman were the nominees and Edward was elected for the position. The Hose Companies represented and delegates present were as follows: No. 1, Dr. J. B. Neale, Frank J. Black and E. C. Burns; No. 2, M. C. Coleman, Sam'l Saxton and Will Wiley; Bell & Lewis Co., Jos. Abernathy, John Ewing and Albert Wadding; West Reynoldsville Co., S. E. Brewer, Henry Hergel and Frank Shaner. E. C. Burns will make a good chief, and if the fire lads are not roady when Ed. is he can take the hose cart of any one of the companies with him without much trouble, he is such a powerful man.

Three Mice.

David Reynolds, who has lived in this town from the days when the very few inhabitants could step out of their back doors and look for deer, and the quietness of the town was occasionally disturbed by a panther's cry or a bear's growl, when the scent was yet fresh on the red man's track and the whole town was one vast wilderness, in the days when the whoa! of the stage coach driver, as he pulled up at the little inn with his "four in hand," was of as much interest to the few boys of town as the lightning express with its palace and pullman cars is to the country lads to-day, even in those days with all their wildness, David was never more frightened than he was one morning last week in his fine house on Mabel street. Mr. Reynolds got out of bed and began dressing. He pulled on one sock and just about the time his big toe reached the stopping place in the sock something began scratching around lively on the bottom of David's foot. "Whew!" "Great guns!" "A rattle snake, as sure as I am born!" A few such remarks were escaping from David while the foot was backing out of the sock. When the foot came out three little mice, that had been disturbed from a quiet snooze, ran out and disappeared in a hole at one corner of the room and the owner of the supposed snake-bitten foot looked on in astonishment. While Mr. R. slumbered the mice had moved into new quarters to be so rudely ousted out. Mr. Reynolds says he had read so many articles about snakes crawling into houses that he could think of nothing else but a snake when his foot got into the sock.

Town Council.

The regular monthly meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening and there were so many bills presented for payment that the "Dads" did not get home until after the mid-night hour. Orders were granted to the amount of $4,964.19 as follows: A. O'Donnell for lumber delivered on the street for paving purposes, $3,803.46; John M. Hays to balance for work of paving the street, $360.94. Mr. Hays had previously received an order for $200.00. Mrs. Anna Burtop to interest on $250.00 at 6 per cent., $15.00; H. H. Mincer for one night's watching when bridge was out over Pine Run, $2.00; John D. Lowther for 1 1/2 days' service as policeman, $3.00; Thos. H. Scott for making tax duplicate and other work, $8.50; Jacob Henninger, street commissioner, handed in bill for work done by men and teams on the streets, $580.89; old iron rails bought from R. & F. C. R'y Co. for bridge across Pine Run, $21.78; W. T. Nicholson, of Pittsburg, for coupon bonds, $30.00; gas $1.84; E. C. Burns for work of filling up street, $26.00; Mike Martin for mason work on Pine Run bridge, $19.37; F. A. McConnell for 6 1/2 perch of stone, $95.25.

Council decided to pave Swamp alley from Main street to rooms of Hose Co. No. 1. The secretary was instructed to get prices on gum coats, boots, &c., for fire departments, and a committee was appointed to see about towers for the Hose companies. It looks very much now as if the town council were going to take some interest in the fire companies at this place, which is a good step in the right direction.

Failed to Materialize.

J. Prescott Eldridge, who was booked to give an entertainment in Reynolds opera house last Friday evening, devoted to the mysteries of hypnotism, or somnambulism, and mesmerism and the Mousonian melange, also to consist of morsels of mirth, slices of humor and draughts of merriment, did not give the "carnival of the passions" because the opera house was crowded with empty seats and mesmerism subjects, with the all important one-quarter of a hundred cents at the door failed to materialize. The "cagliostro" was a trifle disgusted with Reynoldsville people. The black haired gentleman, when interviewed after the lights were put out at the opera house and the dust on the seats remained undisturbed said that he had issued twenty-six passes and even the holders of these did not attend. The experience of trying to get a crowd here "puzzled the wits" of Eldridge and "baffled the wisdom" of Albert Reynolds, who gave the house on a percentage of door receipts.

A Runaway.

Harry O'Bryan, bartender at the Commercial Hotel, was hauling coal last Friday and Matson's spirited grey nag ran away from him. Harry was loading his wagon with coal at Company store when the train passed by and frightened the fiery steed. Harry can hold any person down when it comes to telling big yarns but he did not have grip enough to hold the grey from running off. About the first act was to upset the box, which was filled with coal, off the wagon and then the horse jerked the wagon down Jackson street at a break-neck speed. When the horse reached the Methodist church it was so tangled in the wagon and lines that it stopped. The only damage done was one wheel knocked out of gear. O'Bryan had a narrow escape from serious injury in attempting to stop the horse when it had decided to go. It may be possible that the nag would have succeeded in dropping several wooden awnings had it not been for the upset in front of the M. E. church.

A Beautiful Banner.

The Knights of the Golden Eagle at this place received a beautiful silk banner on Monday and took it to DuBois with them yesterday. The lettering on the front is: "Mountain Cliff Castle, No. 359, Reynoldsville." The design is an angel crowning a Knight. A large castle stands in the background. The price of the banner was $100.00.

Tea Party.

Mrs. C. G. Matson, wife of Mine Host of the Commercial Hotel, gave a tea party to fourteen of her lady friends at the above named hostelry last Wednesday evening. The tables were generously supplied with the choicest viands of the season, and were gotten up in a tempting manner, which the hostess of that hotel knows how to do. Of course the party was a pleasant success.

Orange Grove Social.

Following are the "doings" that will be going on at the "orange grove social" to be given in the G. A. R. hall on Thursday evening, August 10th, by the ladies of John C. Conser W. R. C.: Music by the Keystone orchestra; a very nice prize will be given to the one buying the lucky orange; a gipsy camp where fortunes will be told; refreshments will be served consisting of sandwiches, hot coffee, ice cream and cake.

The Town Cow.

The ubiquitous town cow that loveth to revel in a well filled garden at this season of the year, is now threatened in the strongest language known to profane history. The "cow pond" is strongly agitated by a few men of town who have fought bugs, pulled weeds, scratched with a hoe, watered plants, in fact almost broke their backs to have a good garden, and then have a four-legged, two-horned, pesky, contemptible, fiendish, milk-giving bovine meander that way and "yank-off" the rope, wire or anything else that may be used to tie the gate and quietly enter in at the mid-night hour and, with goulsh glee, proceed to snatch cabbage stocks bald-headed, eat the sweet corn, and trample down all the garden truck that is not suitable for her cud, these men are on the war path with blood in their eyes. Just why a man should get mad because an innocent cow happened to break into his garden, is incomprehensible to the man whose cow has done the damage, but let some other man's cow feast on his garden truck and his comprehensiveness is wonderfully acute.
