

LOCAL LACONICS.

Read Bell's ad. Why? "The Burglar" Sept. 5th. Saturday is a legal holiday.

Tennis shoes cheap at Robinson's. Harry H. Minceer will move from Jackson street to Hill street.

A Salvation Army is holding meetings at the Electric park in DuBois.

"The Burglar" will be played at the opera house Monday, Sept. 5th.

The Lecture Association will meet at the gas office next Monday at 8.00 P. M. Gentlemen call and inspect Bell's fine woollens for fall and winter suits. Why?

Rev. Geo. S. Womer will occupy the M. E. pulpit next Sunday, morning and evening.

When in need of shoes go to Henry A. Reed, "the shoe man." He can suit you to a T.

Mrs Wesley Motter kindly remembered us with a beautiful bouquet of choice flowers yesterday.

The amount subscribed on the paper circulated by E. W. McMillen to aid Josiah Wolfe, was $54.50.

The Juvenile brass band serenaded Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Woldemurff last night. The boys make good music.

Tom Mullen, of East Brady, an erst while Reynoldsville boy, was among the party who visited the mines at this place last week.

A mania for slaying mustaches must have struck Reynoldsville, as a large number of fellows look as if their upper lips are too short.

A "harvest home" picnic was held in the Sykesville park last Friday. A dance was held in the evening which ended in a big row.

Rev. E. T. Derr will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday. The Rev. gentleman will return from his vacation Thursday, Aug. 31st.

The Hopkins Mandolin Club came to town Friday evening and "picked" a few choice selections at the residence of Mr. Kearns on Main street.

John Schultze and Miss Maggie Kain are to be married next Tuesday. Their names were called out in the Catholic church last Sunday morning.

Reynoldsville and Rathmel played ball at Rathmel yesterday afternoon and the nine from this place got left. The score was 12 to 5 in favor of Rathmel.

A number of the men who were coal miners at Pancoast in that town's palmy days, with their friends, will hold a picnic there sometime next month.

A festival will be held in the G. A. R. hall Saturday, Sept. 2nd, by four of the patriotic orders of Reynoldsville. Dinner and supper will be served.

Rev. H. A. Cooper, of East Liverpool, Ohio, nephew of Ninian Cooper, preached two excellent sermons in the Presbyterian church at this place Sunday.

"Oklahoma Jim," Brookville's great "Wild West" showman, is now content to take life as he finds it daily in the county seat. He earns his bread by "the sweat of his brow."

Miss Maude Reynolds and Miss Annie Mitchell drove to Sykesville one day last week and got lost on the homeward trip. They were nearly three hours coming from Sykesville to Reynoldsville.

The Presbyterian Sunday school was to have picnicked in the Reynolds grove last Thursday, but the shower in the morning changed the arrangements and the picnic was held at their parsonage on Grant street.

J. K. Brown, auditor of the A. V. R'y, accompanied by his family, took a trip over the Low Grade Div. Friday, to get a sniff of fresh air and see the wild looking country between Red Bank and Driftwood.

A little green snake was found on one of the chairs in front of Hotel McConnell last Friday and it was put in the cage with the monkey, but they let one another alone. The monkey was not "fooling" with snakes.

A base ball nine from this place went to Emersville Saturday and "measured bats" with a nine at that place. The Reynoldsville boys stepped on the home base seven times and the Emersville players only got there twice.

The crank and pitman rod on the flat gang at Hopkins mill is what broke last week. The mill was shut down four days and a half. This was the longest shut down, on account of a breakage, since John H. Schofield became superintendent.

A special meeting of the Board of Trade was held in the Masonic hall last evening. The committee appointed to secure funds for rebuilding the woolen mills here, reported $8,350 having been raised. The amount wanted is $15,000. At the regular meeting of the Board Friday night of this week it will be known whether Sykes, Allis & Moorhouse will locate here or not.

Engine No. 6, on the C. & M. passenger train, is always run backwards from Falls Creek to Reynoldsville in the evening. Last evening just as the train came around the curve at the cut above town at a fast speed, a cow stepped onto the track. The engine and two coaches ran over the bovine. It was miraculous that the train was not thrown over the embankment, as there is no cow-catcher on the tender.

Rodena, little daughter of Morgan Thomas, got one of the fingers of her left hand split open Monday evening by a hatchet which her little brother was playing with.

The popular Hopkins Mandolin Club will be at the G. A. R. hall Saturday to delight all who attend with some of their choice music. Elegant refreshments will be served at the hall.

The Daughters of St. George, who meet in the I. O. O. F. hall, are very much annoyed by some one picking open the lock of the trunk in which they keep the key to the "goats" department.

Pearl, six-year-old daughter of George Roller, was buried in Beulah cemetery last Thursday, Aug. 24th. Rev. P. J. Slattery conducted the funeral services. Inflammatory rheumatism sapped her young life away.

The Epworth League will go to DuBois Saturday to play ball with the League at that place. All who desire to go with the League to DuBois that day can get excursion rates by applying to M. W. Womer.

Rev. J. J. Rankin, of Penfield, will preach for the Reynoldsville Presbyterians next Sunday. Rev. Johnston, pastor elect, expects to be here and take charge of and preach for the congregation the third Sunday in September.

A moonlight picnic was held in Thomas Reynolds, jr., orchard, Paradise, last Thursday evening. A jolly good time, was the pass-word of the evening, and according to reports, every person had it. A few young people went out from Reynoldsville.

What is called the first nine of Reynoldsville and a picked nine of the same place, played ball Friday. The latter chaps had a battery from Brookville. A heavy storm stopped the game at the 9 to 2 in favor of the picked nine.

Willie, son of E. J. Lofts, was squinting on an air gun Saturday when the thing went off and the shot penetrated the skin just at the corner of his right eye. The boy's father forbid him having a gun and the lad went to a neighbor's and was playing with the air shooter.

Rev. J. N. Williams, of Tarentum, talked on the World's Fair and the moral lessons to be gleaned from it, in the I. O. O. F. hall at this place Sunday afternoon. Just about the time the meeting opened a heavy shower came up and kept many at home who would have attended.

A number of young ladies of the Presbyterian N. T. L. Society went out to Robert Waite's yesterday afternoon to have a good time and look for coons in the evening. No doubt Mr. Waite's corn field looks worse this morning than it would had a half dozen coons been in it last night.

J. H. Bell has accepted the position of general superintendent of the Bell, Lewis & Yates Coal Mining Co., a new office just created in that company. S. B. Elliott remains general manager of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Coal and Iron Co. and the B., L. & Y. C. M. Co.

Jim Sing, the Chinese laundry man at New Bethlehem, was invited to go out for a glass of beer one night recently and while he was absent some person entered the laundry and carried the Chinaman's little money box away which contained $500.00 and some valuable papers. There is no clue to the robber.

Reynoldsville and Rathmel ball teams played on the grounds at this place Monday afternoon in a drizzling rain. The game was a good one, but in the eighth inning there was some trouble about Rathmel putting their best batter in when it was not his turn and it resulted in breaking up the game at a tie score of 6 to 6.

Miss Ella Seeley persuaded a number of young people to go to Jacob Sutter's last Wednesday night and have a surprise party. When the young people got to Pleasant avenue the Misses Sutters were in bed, but of course they soon donned their habiliments and made their appearance and entertained the party royally for a few hours.

D'Alma & Stone's railroad show came to Reynoldsville in a box car Friday and pitched their tent near the company store. It made a better appearance on the bill boards than it did on the street. The storm, which got here just after the afternoon performance was over, blew down the tent and left it in more of a dilapidated condition than it was before the storm.

The grocery firm known as Swab Bros., doing business in Reynoldsville and Rathmel, has been dissolved. D. F. Swab will continue the grocery business at this place, and A. A. Swab will have charge of the store at Rathmel. These gentlemen bought McKee & Warnick out last fall and, apparently, have made a success of the business which was new experience for them.

Miss Winnie Llewellyn, who has been down in Alabama for several years, came to Reynoldsville a few weeks ago, and last Thursday she and H. M. Stewart, of Westville, Pa., went to Salamanca, N. Y., and were united in the bonds of matrimony. Mr. Stewart was in Alabama when Miss Winnie lived there and that is where the love affair began. They will live at Westville. The bride has many friends in this place.

Skinned Himself.

A few days ago a black snake crawled through the stone wall into the power house at Big Soldier mine, and within a few feet of where it entered, the snakeship immediately made its exit but left three feet and nine inches of old black skin on its way out through the stone wall which it had no further use for. The snake's old suit was of no use to any employees at the power house.

Labor Day Sept. and.

We stated last week, on what we considered good authority, that Monday, Sept. 4th, was Labor Day. That statement was incorrect. At the last session of the legislature the time was changed from the first Monday to the first Saturday in September. The act was approved May 1st, 1893, therefore, Saturday of this week is a legal holiday, known as Labor Day.

Ten-pins Style.

While a game of ball was in progress Friday a heavy storm came up and, in a hurry to get over the foot walk, one fellow fell in and he grabbed for the next man to him and in he went, and so on until seven were splashing around in the Sandy Lick creek. After they got out of the water they ran as fast as they could with their wet clothing on to get out of the rain.

A New Bridge.

The county commissioners have decided to build a bridge across the Sandy Lick creek at Pancoast. The people in that section have opened a new road and want a bridge. Commissioners Woods and Mulholland were up Monday looking around and think it will be the cheapest in the end for them to put up an iron bridge, but have not fully decided yet what kind they will build.

Surmounts Obstacles.

Rev. George S. Womer, who has been attending the University at Delaware, Ohio, for three years, is visiting his parents at this place. This young man is deserving of much credit for the success he has made in overcoming obstacles that would have discouraged many a young man in his determination to get an education, and is another illustration of the fact that "where there is a will there is a way."

A Corn Supper.

The Patriotic Daughters of America gave a corn supper in the G. A. R. hall last Thursday evening and a large number of people were well "corned," for everything had corn in it, even the ice cream had corn-starch in it. Notwithstanding the "cornishness" of the supper it was an excellent one. The button-hole bouquet, which was two gold-bronzed acorns tied onto a green ribbon, was appropriated for "a corn supper."

They Knifed Him.

D'Alma & Stone's show, which went from this place to Brookville Saturday morning, is at that town yet and eight of the showmen are boarding with Sheriff Young. A man by name of Russell got into a fight with the showmen Saturday night and they cut him up badly. It required thirty-seven stitches to sew up his wounds. Eight of the men were arrested and lodged in jail. They will get a hearing to-day. Russell may not live.

Got Lost.

One evening last week a party of young people of Reynoldsville hired a rig to drive to Anita to attend a party. They started and were at almost every other place in the neighborhood of Punxsutawney, but did not reach Anita. They got lost, and are lost yet to the farmer whose orchard they entered and carried off enough apples to try to appease their appetites at an early hour in the morning, after they had found themselves and were homeward bound.

Probecis Skinned.

Thursday afternoon Mrs. James Kempse and son, James jr., were driving up Main street and in some way they accidentally ran into a buggy that was standing on the side of the street, and the Kempse rig tipped up and the occupants tumbled out. The boy got a little skin peeled off his nose and it bled freely. Mrs. Kempse was on her way to DuBois. After the mishap she wanted to take the boy home, but he was not going to be cheated out of the trip to DuBois just because he got his probecis skinned, and they proceeded on their way.

A Whopper.

While at Brookville last Friday we heard the biggest snake prevarication, to be told for the truth, that has been given to the public for many a day. We promised not to give any names, and will keep our promise. The lady went out on the porch, with broom in hand to sweep, and there, coiled up glistening in the sunlight, was a large snake. She struck it with her broom and it broke into a thousand pieces as if it was all glass, and the head rolled off the porch. In a few minutes the pieces all came together again and the woman was so dum-founded that she let the snake crawl away. The lady says she was not dreaming and was perfectly sane when the above happened. The story comes from a good class of people, but we do not try to palm it off on our readers for a true one.

Fined $5.00.

Two young men drove over from Punxsutawney one day last week and while in town went into Hotel Belnap. There is a closet between the bar-room and billiard parlor, and one of the fellows stepped into it and fired a revolver through the partition, but fortunately there was no one injured. Before the smoke cleared away the fellow denied shooting and then afterwards said it was an accident. The twin got into their buggy and drove up town, but soon returned. Burgess Hays was notified and he searched the man who had done the shooting and nary a weapon did he find. The Burgess wanted to search the other chap, but he refused to allow any person to go through his pockets, and one of the hotel men held him and the Burgess ransacked his pockets and found a revolver. The Punxsutawneyites were fined five dollars, the weapon was given back and they were given a few minutes to "skip" the town.

In the Bastille.

A fellow who hailed from Craven-town lodged in the Reynoldsville lock-up Wednesday night. He had filled up on "tangle foot" and before he got too "beastly drunk" to even hold up his head, he abused the livery horse he was driving shamefully. The horse was taken care of at Tapper's livery stable while the driver slept off the effects of the liquor on the soft side of the board bunks in the cooler. Just why the Burgess let him go in the morning without paying a fine, we can not account for. If the fellow abused the horse, as it is reported he did, then a fine of not less than ten dollars should have been imposed on him. A man who will abuse a dumb animal, be he drunk or sober, deserves punishment for it.

Joined Hands.

On Monday, August 28th, Jacob Woldemurff and Miss Jennie E. Fuller, daughter of G. W. Fuller, were married at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. H. A. Cooper, of East Liverpool, Ohio, performed the ceremony before a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. The wedding presents were numerous and handsome. After the ceremony an elegant dinner was served and in the afternoon the bride and groom drove to DuBois. They have rented the rooms over Henry A. Reed's shoe store and have gone to housekeeping. They have our best wishes for success in their matrimonial career.

"The Burglar."

That charming drama, "The Burglar," was produced at the Leland Opera House last evening with a cast every way excellent. The piece is admirably mounted and so played as to lead to unbounded satisfaction. "The Burglar" has a very interesting plot, so wound up that it strikes the hours of progress with a dramatic effect highly suggestive of genius in the author. The incidents are all nicely arranged, while all the characters are so artistically drawn and personated as to lead to a finale that must be productive of good.—Albany Evening Post.

At Reynolds Opera House Monday night, Sept. 5th.

Is it Possible?

Some people may have doubts as to whether it really was a DuBois girl who asked advice of the Pittsburgh Times, in the following item which appeared in that paper last Saturday under the head of "answers to correspondents." The answer was not given as soon as the young lady had hoped it would be:

SIR:—Through the medium of your paper can you advise a young lady, 20 years of age, how to overcome bashfulness in gentlemen's company? If so, you would do me a great favor by answering in Monday's issue.

DuBois, Aug. 10. B. P. R.

Will be a "Dandy."

Robert J. Thomas, the tonsorial artist, went to Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon to buy some more new furniture for his barber shop. "Bobby" has rented the new brick room just back of the First National bank and expects it to be ready for occupancy in several weeks. When "Bobby" gets into his new room his shop will be second to none in this section. All his furniture will be new and the latest style, his room centrally located and well adapted for the business.

Unexpected Visitors.

The ladies of Pleasant Valley Temple, No. 25, were agreeably surprised Monday evening when eight or ten members of Echo Temple, of Brockwayville, made their appearance for admittance into the lodge just as it opened. After the lodge was over, the ladies and their visitors went to Hotel Dilman and partook of a supper that had been prepared for them. Both lodges are branches of the Knights of the Golden Eagles.

Shooting Mark.

Comrade Albert Reynolds crossed the Sandy Lick yesterday afternoon to get out of the borough limits to shoot mark. He had a piece of white paper about the size of the head of a flour barrel which he tacked up on a large tree and stepped back a short distance and fired at it. We cannot assert whether there were any other holes in the paper when taken down than that made by the tacks or not.

THEY WERE DELIGHTED.

Nearly One Hundred Visitors take in Big Soldier and Rochester Mines.

The Western Pennsylvania Mine Institute, composed of mine inspectors, mine engineers, mine foreman and fire bosses, meets every four months in the Court House at Pittsburgh. At these meetings they discuss all live questions pertaining to the ventilation, drainage, construction of tipples, and general and practical operations of mines. The new state law was practically framed by this Institute. Hon. S. B. Elliott has been a member of the Institute and on several occasions made good addresses on the scientific problems of mining and operating coal.

At the meeting held in July Mr. Elliott, on behalf of the Bell, Lewis & Yates Coal Mining Co., invited the members of the Institute to visit the coal works at this place and DuBois. They could not come at that time, but accepted the invitation and set Aug. 24th, as the day to make the visit.

Last Thursday they came to Reynoldsville in two extra coaches attached to A. V. train which arrives here at one o'clock. The party numbered eighty. They were distributed at the Ross House, Commercial House, Hotel McConnell and Hotel Belnap for dinner. After dinner a special train of an engine and two coaches was waiting for them at the Main street crossing of the R. & F. C. R'y, with Ira Smith, conductor, and Archie Huntington, engineer. General Manager S. B. Elliott, Superintendent Geo. Mellinger, Mining Engineer F. M. Brown and his assistants, R. V. Pratt and Chas. Davis, were also on hand to do their part in making the visitors feel that the intention was that all were to enjoy themselves.

At the company store the party left the cars and visited the large brick office where a short time was spent in looking through the building and at the maps of the company's coal properties. The maps, which are fine ones, are the work of F. M. Brown. Again the party boarded the train and were taken to the Big Soldier mine. At Big Soldier they walked up the steep grade from the railway to the tracks to the mine. At this point General Manager Elliott stepped onto a pile of boards and his guests gathered around him and he made a short address, which he began by extending a cordial welcome to the visitors in behalf of the B., L. & Y. C. M. Co. Among other things he said:

"We have invited you here to see this work, not as a finished work; now you remember that. Down there you see four entries. You ask why four? I will answer that we expect eventually to take out not less than 800,000 tons daily. We estimated that one rope could take out 150,000 tons, and four ropes would require to take out 600,000 tons. We now have one rope in here will take out nearly 600,000 tons alone on the system we now have, and we shall probably never use but three of the entries instead of four for a wire rope, leaving the other one for a traveling way. Now that is the reason why there are four entries. You will find a tippie there with tracks laid upon but one-half of it. In the tippie building you will find only one-half the number of dumping places occupied, because we have not the space opened up enough yet to require any greater number. You will find the engine room down here with only one pair of engines in it, and with places for two. The building is to be extended 50 feet further. It will then have two pilot houses on the top instead of one. You will find the boiler house with four boilers in it, where it is intended to have eight, and so in the compressor building which has only one compressor in, where it will eventually have two. You see the map down there, and we have not been here long enough to get this opened up."

After the short speech the visitors scattered around to inspect the excellent system by which such a large amount of coal is handled. The rope haulage, tippie, power house and compressor were objects of great interest to many of the party, especially those who work around mines where 25 or 30 cars in a big day's shipment. Twelve mine cars had been lined with new boards and fitted up with seats for the men who desired to go into the mine. This was quite an experience to some of the men who were accustomed to mule speed in entering the mines. Some of the visitors said they had peculiar sensations as they traveled into the darkness at a lightning express rate. The Harrison mining machine at work was another curiosity to the sightseers. During the stay at Big Soldier one trip of fifty-five cars, with 110 tons of black diamonds came out. The haulage system used there is a combination of the tail rope and endless rope system. A grip car is used to handle the train.

About five o'clock the excursionists started for the Rochester mine at DuBois and with a clear track they were not long in reaching that large coal plant. The haulage system at that mine, which is somewhat different from that at Big Soldier, was inspected. When the party gathered at the train, Adams, president of the Mining Institute, informed the gentlemen that the party was to be divided, part to stay at DuBois all night and the remainder to return to Reynoldsville. The names of those who were to stop at DuBois were read. After this business was disposed of Alex. Dempster, in behalf of the visitors, extended their heart-felt gratitude and thankfulness for the hospitalities received. The speaker began by saying: "We all know where we sprang from. According to the Good Book there was one Adam, and we have all followed that Adam. Now, to-day we have finally followed Adams, (President of the Society), that means more than one." Space will not permit publishing Mr. Elliott's and Mr. Dempster's addresses. Three cheers were given for the B., L. & Y. C. M. Co. and for Mr. Elliott and his assistants, and the train started for Reynoldsville.

The ten State Mine Inspectors were with the party, as follows: 1st dist., Henry Louttit; 2nd, Wm. Jenkins; 3rd, Thos. K. Adams, also president of the society; 4th, Jas. Patterson; 5th, Chas. Connor; 6th, Josiah T. Evans; 7th, Jas. Blick; 8th, David H. Thomas; 9th, Bernard Callagan; 10th, Rogers Hampton.

Rufus T. Foster, of Colliery Engineer, Scranton; Ezra Gray, DuBois Courier; W. C. Elliott, Reynoldsville Volunteer, and ye editor of the STAR, were with the party.

The members of the Western Pennsylvania Mine Institute were greatly pleased with their visit.
