LOCAL LACONICS.

New shoes at Reed's. Go to Riston's for guns. Read Bell's ad. Why? Court convenes next Monday.

It is now lawful to buy oysters. Have you seen Reed's $3.00 shoe? Premiums $6,000 at Brookville fair.

A full line of heavy boots at Robinson's. Go to Riston's for ammunitions of all kinds.

The borough schools open on the 18th of September. The Keystone band was on the street Friday evening.

The M. E. Sunday school will picnic in the Reynolds grove to-day. The front of Hotel Dillman has just received a fresh coat of paint.

There will be no services in the Presbyterian church next Sunday. "The Burglar" was played in the opera house last night to a large crowd.

Gentlemen call and inspect Bell's fine woolsens for fall and winter suits. Why? The Prescottville band will hold a dance at their band room next Monday night.

A large black snake is now on exhibition in one of the windows at Hotel Dillman. An English tea party will be given in the G. A. R. hall on Saturday evening, Sept. 23rd.

M. C. Coleman got a potato vine out of his garden that measured 82 inches in length. Archie Wyant had his left foot injured by a fall of coal yesterday in the Sprague mine.

Go to W. C. Schultze & Son's for "Minnehaha" flour, the only place where it is sold in town. William Mercer, who lives near Panic, cut his right foot badly with an axe one day last week while cutting wood.

Why pay rent any longer? Walter Spry has three good houses for sale, two on Jackson st. and on Worth st., at bargains. William Ferris has been having a painful time with catarrh in his right hand for several weeks. It is getting better slowly.

The panther that made its appearance in the Paradise Settlement a few weeks ago, is still roaming around in that neighborhood. Tyrone and Brookville played ball at the latter place last Thursday. The game was a good one. The score was 5 to 3, in favor of Tyrone.

A farmers' institute will be held at Sandy Valley sometime in December. It is expected now that Gov. Pattison will attend the institute. The Prescottville Cornet band made their appearance on the street Wednesday evening. It is an excellent band; their music is first-class.

Reynoldsville was visited by a very heavy storm last night. The lightnings flashed and the thunder rolled and the rain came down in torrents. The Baptist and Presbyterian Christian Endeavors and a few young men of the Methodist League held a union picnic in the Reynolds grove last Thursday.

It is a sign of popularity and prosperity to see a merchant adding to his stock these days. That is just what Henry A. Reed, "the shoe man," is doing. The management of the Brookville fair, who made a success out of the fair last year, are making preparations to make it a greater success this year than ever before.

All who vote this fall must be registered not later than the 13th of Sept. Walter Spry will be at the Burns House on the 12th and 13th to register those who appear there for that purpose. A Sunday school picnic was held at the Reformed church in Paradise settlement last Wednesday. The attendance was the largest that has been at a picnic in that section for many moons.

From Friday, Sept. 1st, until the first of 1894, the law allows nimrods to shoot as many squirrels as they can. The season for rail and reed birds opens at the same time and close the first of December. Joe Evans peeled the skin off his right knee and caught cold in the sore place. Joe says: "It boiled and boiled and was opened and then it boiled and boiled." In consequence of the muchly boiled knee Joe hobbled around for a few days with his right leg stiff.

A merry-go-round is now gathering in nickles from the youths of Reynoldsville in the vacant lot near the opera house. The weigh scales in front of J. S. Morrow's store are now ready to tell the accurate weight of everything put on them. We can't blame a man for being watchful of his dollars, but all are not watchful; if they were, they would trade at Reed's.

Edward Thomas, a coal miner, was drowned at New Bethlehem Wednesday night of last week. He attempted to cross a foot log over a mill race and fell in. The B., R. & P. will run an excursion to Niagara Falls on Thursday, Sep. 12th, tickets good for five days, for $3.50. The train leaves Falls Creek at 1:40 p. m.

The second annual exposition of the Jefferson County Agricultural Association will be held the latter part of this month. Six thousand dollars will be paid in premiums. Mr. Waugaman, a deaf and dumb man, was run down by an R. & F. C. train at the mines Wednesday morning. He miraculously escaped with several scratches on his face.

Mrs. Chambers handed a small bouquet of lilac flowers into this office Monday. It is late for such flowers, but this was the result of taking the leaves off the bush the first of August. The Winslow township school directors have been asked to build two new school houses, one near Skyesville and the other near Iseal Snyder's. They have not decided to build them yet.

The Clearfield & Mahoning R'y commenced carrying mail between Clearfield and DuBois last Monday. It will only be a short time until the train will carry mail between Reynoldsville and Clearfield. The fifty-eighth session of the Erie Annual Conference will be held at DuBois next week. Bishop Hurst will preside. This conference is no small affair. It will convene on the 13th and continue until the 18th.

There will be a box supper and ice cream festival held in G. A. R. hall on Saturday evening, Sept. 9th, 1893, under the auspices of True Blue lodge No. 17, A. P. A. Every body is invited to come and bring a basket. Anthony Comstock, of New York, a speaker of national reputation, will lecture on "Gambling and Crime Breeders of the day," in the Court House at Brookville to-morrow evening, September 7th. The lecture is free.

A typos of the STAR and Volunteer offices went coon hunting one night last week. The "devils" of the two offices are not much on catching coons, but they are a small "herd" when it comes to getting away with roasting ears. W. L. McCracken, president, and A. D. Long, secretary of the Jefferson County Agricultural Association are hustlers and will leave nothing undone to make the Brookville fair a complete success this fall. The fair will be held four days, Sep. 26th to 29th inclusive.

The four American orders that held the festival in the G. A. R. hall Labor Day met with a financial success. A good musical program was furnished free in the evening by "The Strouse Family," Noah Strouse and his sons and daughters, W. L., Ambrose, John, Mabel and Estella, and the Hopkins Mandolin Club. As the one o'clock passenger train came thundering around the curve at the round house Monday John Dillman's white cow stepped onto the track. The engine struck the cow and knocked her a distance of almost one hundred feet over the embankment. The cow's back was broken, leg broken, horn knocked off and tail cut off. She died in a few minutes.

Will Schultze borrowed several dogs and went out hunting a few days ago. The dogs started up some game and Will jumped on a log and saw the bushes shake near him, and thinking the game he was after was in there, he pulled the trickier. When he stepped into the bushes to see the result of the shot he found Ed. Lewis' dog with a big hole in its head. The N. T. L. Society, of the Presbyterian church, composed of nine ladies, are having the parsonage of their church painted. Five of the ladies, Sue Ayers, Mary Cooper, Agie Riston, Isabelle Arnold and Robertha Ayers, worked faithfully with paint and brush on the iron fence in front of the parsonage until the fence is now the color of a black crow.

The following Republican candidates were in Reynoldsville last Thursday: John S. Barr, of Brookville, for Register, Recorder and Clerk of the Orphans Court; W. D. Clark, of Brookwayville, for Prothonotary and Clerk of the Courts; David G. Gourley, of Brookville, for Sheriff; John Waite, for Treasurer; S. M. Shields, of Clover township, for Commissioner. John Schultze and Miss Maggie Kain were married in the Catholic church at eight o'clock yesterday forenoon by Father Brady. An excellent dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Kain. The happy pair left on the one o'clock train for a trip to Buffalo and Niagara Falls. Their young friends gave them the usual shower of rice at the train.

A foot ball was let loose on Main street, between Fourth and Fifth streets, one day last week and a number of the young business men and clerks had a kick at it. The next time such a performance is enacted the participants will pay well for the sport, as the Burgess will enforce the law. The following persons were appointed fourth-class postmasters for Jefferson county last Wednesday by the powers that be at Washington: Sigle, G. A. Carroll; Summerville, James Guthrie; Sykesville, J. H. Ake; Nothville, S. M. Gerst; Hamilton, Sharp Neale; Horatio, B. D. Divilblas; Ella, Mrs. E. M. Painter; Emericville, Emanuel Weiser. L. G. Lidle, Mrs. Henry Herpel, Mrs. James Orr, Mrs. J. C. Ferris, Mrs. Frank Miller, Mrs. William Gibson and Mrs. M. I. Winslow, members of the Daughters of Rebeckah, Degree Lodge No. 205, of Reynoldsville, went to Falls Creek last Wednesday evening and help to institute Ada Degree Lodge, No. 127, at that place, with 53 charter members.

When the school directors of Winslow township elected their teachers the latter part of July for the coming term, D. M. Geist was selected as teacher of the Phillippi school, but Mr. Geist gave up the school and at a meeting of the board held last Saturday, Miss Jessie Smeltzer, of Reynoldsville was given the school. Miss Smeltzer is a graduate of the Indiana State Normal and the pupils of the Phillippi school will find her not only a good teacher but an excellent young lady. Committees have been appointed by the Lecture Association to see the people of Reynoldsville and vicinity and get as many as will promise to take season tickets for the coming lecture course. It is hoped a large number will take tickets so the course can be a sure thing. Fearing that some might be overlooked the Association requests all who want tickets who have not already been seen to report to C. A. Stephenson, secretary, before Friday night if possible.

A ball nine of Punxsutawneyites came over Monday to play a nine of boys at this place. When they arrived they had the man who caught for Brookville against Tyrone last Thursday, and a pitcher who plays in Punxsy's first nine for their battery. They were too heavy for our "kids." Will Shultz and Chas. Bitters played with the Reynoldsville boys or the visiting nine would have run up a large score, as it was the score stood 12 to 5 in favor of Punxsutawney.

The fourth and last quarterly meeting for the present conference year, will be held in the M. E. church at this place Saturday and Sunday. The service will be as follows: Preaching Saturday at 7:30, followed by the quarterly conference; love feast Sunday morning at 10:00; preaching at 11:00, followed by the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper; Sunday school at 3:00 in the afternoon, and preaching services at 7:30 in the evening. It is expected that Presiding Elder Beck will be present at all the services and do the preaching.

Mrs. Geo. Armor was badly frightened by the explosion of gas Monday afternoon. She had a man put in several posts for her grape arbor and in digging the holes he struck the gas pipe with his pick unbeknown to the man. When the post was in Mrs. Armor went out to see about the job and she smelled gas. She had the man throw out some of the dirt again to find the leak. Mrs. Armor was on her knees looking down into the hole watching the man trying to find the leak with a lighted match when an explosion occurred which might have resulted seriously.

Miss Lillian McCreight, daughter of John McCreight, of Paradise, and sister of Dr. J. S. McCreight, of this place, was married at Limestone, N. Y., Saturday, Sep. 2nd, to John Quinlan, a plumber of DuBois. The young couple left DuBois Saturday afternoon without heralding their intentions broadcast and were united in marriage as above stated. Miss Lillian was well known in Reynoldsville where she has spent much of her time in the past three years. Miss McCreight was to have been married to a lawyer of Danville the latter part of this month. Preparations were being made for the wedding.

Horace G. Miller, senior editor of the Punxsutawney News, must certainly have married a popular young lady. This is the only way we can account for the royal reception given them on the return from their wedding trip, for it is foolishness to think so much expenditure upon a country editor as Bro. Miller tells about in his modest long article in last week's News. The friends were wise, however, in buying leather seated chairs, as it may be a long time before he gets new chairs, unless a tidal wave of religion sweeps over this country and the people who take a paper two or three years and then refuse to take it out of the office or pay for it, get converted. When the time comes, we fear, that all people will pay their subscriptions and stingy people quit borrowing their neighbor's paper before they read it themselves, an angel will stand with one foot on the land and one on the sea and say, "Time was, but Time is no more."

Not Welcome.

Mike Shinglebeck has a team of horses, that would not win much of a medal for beauty or fatness, which afforded considerable amusement for some of the citizens in West Reynoldsville one day last week. The nags were meandering around at will and they walked into the machine shop and watched the machinery run awhile, but it was evident, when discovered by one of the proprietors, that they were unwelcome visitors, and they were "fired." They crossed the street to loaf at Wm. Burge's grocery store, but he met them at the door with a club and forbade them entrance into his store. Not being entirely discouraged at this treatment the "poor" pair decided to go to Ross' bar-room and call on Bert Williams. One of the horses had pushed open the screen door and was almost into the room, its "pard" close at its heels, when they were demanded to stop and back out. The horses by this time were discouraged and they came up Main street with their heads and tails down as if they thought this an unfriendly world.

Surprised their Pastor.

Rev. E. T. Derr, pastor of the Baptist church, and wife returned last Thursday from a months' vacation. The congregation wanted them to feel that they were welcomed home again, and on Friday evening about sixty members of the church, and a few other friends, with well filled baskets called at the parsonage. It was not intended as a surprise party, but the Reverend had not been notified of the intention of his members and when they arrived at the parsonage the pastor was absent and when he came home and found the jolly party he was greatly surprised. The evening was spent in talking, singing and eating the good things the visitors had carried with them. The evening was pleasantly spent, the people left delighted that they had visited the pastor, and Rev. Derr and wife were happy because of the visit, as they took it as a token of love and friendship.

A Tongue War.

A couple of families at Camp Run had some difficulty over a matter which resulted in a terrible battle with tongues. The hills and valleys echoed and reverberated with the sound of battle and most all the citizens of the hamlet were out to enjoy the first real tongue war ever fought there. The language used by the warriors, which was a man and woman, was foul enough to make respectability blush with shame, at least that is the report of those who heard it. It is claimed that threats were made by the man to do harm and he was required to appear before Esq. E. Neff Saturday and give bail in the sum of $200 to keep the peace and appear at the next term of court. Those who thought it "as good as a circus" as they listened to the war, will not think it so much fun if they have to loaf around on the hard seats of the court house for a week as witnesses.

Ripped His Pants.

It is almost an impossibility to embarrass Dr. J. B. Neale, but he was placed in a predicament one day last week which really disconcerted the doctor. He was in the Beechwoods and called at the camp where Alex. Riston and Neal McCombs and their wives were enjoying a few days camping. Doc. sat down on a log in front of the camp. About the time he was going to get up he found a sharp knot in the log and also that his trousers were not in as good condition as they were when he sat down. Paul Riston gave Doc. three or four pins and by using them to a good advantage he was able to get into the shanty where a needle and thread was furnished him. After putting in a number of stitches the physician could appear before the ladies again.

Council Meeting.

The town council held their regular monthly meeting at Thos. H. Scott's office Monday evening. Bills to the amount of $485.05 were ordered to be paid. A proposition from a DuBois man to make a new map of Reynoldsville borough, for $300.00 or $400.00 was declined. A new borough ordinance was read. It is an ordinance for "Better preservation of the public health and to prevent the spread of communicable diseases." The ordinance will receive its second reading the 1st of October.

Judge Gordon Dead.

One of Brookville's old and respectable citizens, Ex-Chief Justice I. G. Gordon, of the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania, died at his home in Brookville of catarrh of the stomach at one o'clock Monday afternoon, and will be buried in the Brookville cemetery at four o'clock this afternoon. Judge was an able jurist and a christian gentleman. He was about 72 years old. He was the father of Cad. Z. Gordon, one of Jefferson county's promising attorneys.

Re-union at Pancost.

A basket picnic and re-union will be held at Pancost on Friday, Sept. 15th, 1893, to which all the former residents of Pancost are invited to attend. J. C. Baker, Esq., of Oak Ridge, F. K. Mullen, M. J. Farrell and E. W. McMullen, of Reynoldsville, Hon. Jake Truby, of Gazzam, and F. M. Lucas, of Rathmel, are expected to address the meeting. It is hoped that all will attend and "shako" and talk over old times.

Used Shamefully.

Rev. G. R. McKinney, the evangelist who conducted a meeting in the M. E. church at this place the early part of this year, has been shamefully treated by the United States Government and some of Uncle Sam's officials. Some fellow went into Somerset county and represented himself as a U. S. officer and defrauded three applicants for an increase of pension out of fifty cents apiece. Mr. McKinney, who lived in Venango county at the time he visited Reynoldsville, afterwards moved to Oklahoma. His picture was published in a paper there and Bostwick, the Pension Examiner, saw it and concluded that it was a picture of the man who had defrauded the three Somerset men, and he telegraphed to U. S. Marshall J. O. Stevens to arrest Mr. McKinney, which he does while the latter was at the bedside of his sick wife. McKinney was taken to Guthrie where he was imprisoned in a filthy pen with 56 Indians and three train robbers. Stevens was confident he had arrested the wrong man, but the Attorney General ordered that the prisoner be taken to Pittsburg for trial. At Chicago the officer left the prisoner six hours while he attended the Fair, and would have sent McKinney to Pittsburg alone, but learned at the Windy City that he would not get his pay if he did not bring his man to Pittsburg. From Chicago Stevens bought a round trip ticket for himself on one road and bought a half fare ticket for the Evangelist over another. When the prisoner was turned over to the authorities at Pittsburg, Marshall Stevens drew full fare for both of them. It cost three hundred dollars to get Mr. McKinney to Pittsburg. The case was tried in the United States Court Tuesday and the three witnesses testified that Rev. McKinney was not the man who had defrauded them. The Government then turned the prisoner into the streets penniless almost one thousand miles away from his family. While some people did not take to Rev. McKinney while here, yet there were many who liked him. One widow lady of town, when she read of his trouble, said she would send him ten dollars if she knew his address.

When the Government saw signs of a suit for damage, it decided to send Rev. McKinney back to Oklahoma at Uncle Sam's expense. A Mine Horror. One of the saddest calamities that has ever happened in the mines of Jefferson county was the one in which Moses Hughes and his two sons met their death at Horatio mine last week. Tom Windle and John Lowther, of this place, drove to Horatio Friday night and were at the mine when the three bodies were found. From these gentlemen we received the facts as given below. Twenty-three men, a trapper and driver, went to work in the Berwind-White slope No. 6, at Horatio Thursday evening. Shortly after 12 o'clock the driver had taken a loaded car from Moses Hughes' room, and before 1:00 o'clock the driver discovered the fire in the mine. He left his mule with the trapper and he quickly and bravely made his way through the smoke and, being familiar with the mine, he succeeded in having twenty of the men follow him through the danger to safety. Mr. Hughes and his two sons were nearest the main entrance, but they failed to get out. The only reason assigned for this is that they were not familiar with the mine. Every possible effort was made to reach the men, but the attempts were fruitless until after their spirits had left the bodies. It was near 1:00 o'clock Saturday morning when the dead men were found. The bodies could not be lifted without oil cloth under them as the flesh dropped off the bones whenever touched. One of the boys was lying down with his face between his hands.

How the fire caught in the mines, which is still burning, is a mystery that seems insolvable. A widow and several small children are the great losers in the sad calamity. Dynamite Under His Bed. George Jones has opened a shooting gallery in the rear of H. M. Iseman's restaurant. George boards at the Ross House, but has a bunk fixed up in the restaurant where he sleeps part of the time. Wednesday morning when he got up he found a large stick of dynamite on the step at the back door and one under the building just below where his bed was standing. A long piece of fuse was attached to the dynamite and cotton cord from that to the alley. The above is the story as told by Mr. Jones to a representative of the STAR, but when investigated it turned out to be a false report. Several fellows, for a joke, fixed up a suspicious looking package, tied a string to it and put it on the back steps. Jones threw that away and sent Roy Scott up town to buy a genuine stick of dynamite and some fuse, which he showed to people as he told of his narrow escape. A Close Call. R. V. Pratt, an assistant civil engineer for the B., L. & Y. C. M. Co., had a close call while doing some work in the Big Soldier mine one day last week. He just stepped aside from where he had been standing when five or six tons of the roof fell down. It was almost a miraculous escape. Children's high cut school shoes at Robinson's.
