

Libby Prison in 1863. I have been a sufferer from chronic diarrhoea ever since I came out of Libby Prison in 1863 and at times it was very severe and my last attack of it lasted me over six weeks during which time I tried all the remedies I had previously used and had several doctors treat me for the same but nothing would stop it. I was induced to try a bottle of Thurston's Blackberry Cordial and after using less than half a bottle was relieved and am once more regular. Thanks to your Cordial, I cheerfully recommend it to all the "old boys" who are troubled with that dreaded disease or anyone else for summer complaints. This testimony is solicited—Yours truly, J. L. Stryon, Traveling Salesman.

Thurston's Blackberry Cordial is prepared by Thurston Chemical Co., Grand Rapids, Ohio.

A San Francisco "doctor" produces dimples for $3 apiece.

There is more "carrh" in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a form of cancer, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly falling to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven carrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hull's Starbuck Cure, manufactured by E. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous tissues of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials free. Address: E. J. ### TRADE INCREASING.

A Gradual Recovery in All Lines of Business, With Exports Exceeding Imports. Many Manufacturing Resuming.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says:

Some increase is seen both in production and in distribution of products. True, it is small as yet, but after the worst financial blizzard of 20 years, it is not to be expected that all roads can be cleared in a day. But all conditions, except at Washington, favor gradual recovery. Business goes on in a questionable confidence that the general desire of the people will in some way prevail.

Money has become abundant and easy to get here on call and stagnant speculation fortunately favors greater freedom in commercial loans. Stocks and products are dull without serious fall in prices, and the industries are rapidly rallying to make good the scarcity of supplies caused by weeks of inaction. The vitality of the demand for goods shows that the wonderful consuming power of the people, if lessened for a time has not ceased, and the shrinkage in the record of commercial disease and mortality shows progress toward health.

Exports of principal products in August were $4,795,025, or $3,494,846 more than in year, which, with the known decrease in imports here, indicates a small excess of exports. For three weeks of September the increase in exports has been $4,800,000 and the decrease in imports $4,500,000, promising a larger excess of exports this month. The receipts of wheat fall behind last year's, being 5,655,904 bushels for the week, against 8,581,405 for the same week last year, and in three weeks 14,170,533 bushels, against 23,027,712 last year.

The industries are giving strong proof that the consumption of goods was not as much arrested as many feared when the collapse of trade manufactures came. While many manufacturers show extreme caution and decline to start work without orders, improve financial conditions as a condition to accept many orders, which would have been refused weeks ago, and actual order rendered frequent by the exhaustion of retail supplies in many directions. The number of works resuming this week have been at least 50.

The failures for the week number 319 in the United States against 185 last year, and in Canada 40 against 23 last year. Only five failures were for over $100,000 each. Total liabilities in failures for the second week in September were but $5,012,129 against $8,319,068 the first week.

PRACTICAL JOKES.

Usually Silly or Malignant and Sometimes Fatal.

Innocent and hilarious fun is all right when it is not carried beyond the bounds of respect for the feelings of others, but when it oversteps this limit and disregards personal rights, comfort, and even safety, it is time to call a halt. The practical joker is, under almost all circumstances, an undisciplined nuisance. So long as he gets his little joke on somebody nothing more is required. Whether it's agreeable or taken in good part matters not in the least. If the victim is merely angry the joker puts on a most contemptuously lofty air and calls upon the members of the community to observe the surliness of the individual who can't take a joke. That it was only intended as such appears to cover not only a multitude of sins, but a multitude of idiotic performances that nobody but himself or those of his ilk seems able and willing to appreciate. If there are serious or possibly fatal consequences, there are tears, protestations, any amount of affected grief and regret—"So sorry, but hadn't the least idea that anything wrong would come of it."

The recent drowning of a promising young girl who was put under water for a joke, the disgusting life of a young man by the explosion of a cartridge, when somebody didn't mean anything, and scores of like instances conclusively prove that human nature has some alarmingly weak spots in it and that there are yet in the world, in spite of all the newspapers and other enlightening influences, very many extremely foolish persons, and that there is still great need of radical reforms in many of the current ideas of what is meant by having a good time.

Nothing should be looked upon as a pleasure that gives pain or anxiety to other people. Sensational scares, the idea of a gigantic hoax, the notion that to get ahead of somebody else it is necessary or proper to do something to mislead, is one of the whims that it would be an excellent thing to breed out of humanity by easy and persuasive measures if possible, if not by the most vigorous and peremptory treatment.

There is plenty of rational amusement to be had in the world without resorting to such a very questionable form of entertainment as the practicable joke.

Oh, the Pity of It!

If anybody has any advice he isn't using he might send some to this unfortunate young man who writes as follows to the San Francisco Examiner:

"I am a fairly good-looking young man, twenty-five years of age, not very large or very strong. I teach a mountain school eight months in the year for $50 a month. During the summer vacation I pick berries for 4 cents a box. I am thirty-five miles from a railroad or postoffice, and it is out of season. I see a paper of your kind."

"I board with the trustee of the district, a grass widow forty years old, with a family of ten children, she is determined to marry me, but wants me to pay $25 for the divorce. As the other trustees are afraid of her she has things her own way, and I feel that if I absolutely refuse to comply with her request I shall lose my position and suffer physically also, as she scalded one man who refused her."

"She is a type of the coming woman—6 feet tall, weighs 200 pounds, plows her own potato-field, breaks her own horses and mules and chops her own wood. Were I once hers all these duties would fall to my lot. She says that at the end of the year she can sell her potatoes for $500, and that if I dig them I can have 150 (minus $25 for the divorce)."

"All the articles in the Examiner give advice to young ladies. Can't some one advise an unassuming young man and solve the weighty problem, shall he work or shall he wed and work?"

Those Wooden Nutmegs.

There may possibly have been an original incident among the many peddlers from Connecticut, of one who cheated by selling wooden nutmegs to his customers, but probably not, says the Hartford Times. The cost in time and labor of making such artistic frauds would more than balance the receipts. Doubtless the wooden nutmeg must go with the basswood hams.

All the same, the joke has served the purpose of giving the old-time tin peddlers and clock peddlers from Connecticut a bad name for superior cunning and trickishness. It served at least one good purpose in giving birth to one of the best toasts ever offered at a dinner—old now and well known but perfect in its way—"The Nutmeg State: Where Car We Find a Greater?"

"WHAT city has the largest floating population?" inquired the teacher. "Cork!" answered the bright little boy at the foot of the class.—Chicago Tribune.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

An Amphibious Boat.
A new Canadian invention for use in the lumber districts is coming into general use in Northern Ontario. It is called a steam warping tug. It propels itself on land as well as on water, and is used by lumbermen whose operations are carried on among small lakes connected by streams of uncertain navigation.

The vessel has proved not only a success, but a great boon to the lumber trade. Six of these unique crafts have been built by the inventors during the past season, four completed at their yard in Ottawa, and two shipped, ready to be put together at their destination in the Nipissing district.

They are built in scow shape, with steel-shod runners for moving overland; are thirty-seven feet long, ten feet beam, decked all over, and have sleeping-room for four men in the bow; the bottom and up the bow is covered with steel boiler plate. An engine twenty-two horse power furnishes steam for ten hours' work, with three quarters of a cord of wood.

In the water it moves six miles an hour forward or backward, as required, propelled by side wheels.

On land it is propelled by having a cable drum on which is coiled five-eighths of a mile of steel wire cable, which is fastened with pulleys to a tree or some object in front, the boat moving as the wire is coiled up. The boiler is hung on an axle in the center, and a screw arranged on the front enables the firemen to tip it forward or back, and keep it level going up or down hill.

It will move over an elevation of one foot in three on land, and draws about twenty-eight inches in the water.

An Artist in Sand.
A curious stunt in the streets of Tokio is to see an old man seated on a smooth piece of ground having round him little piles of sand of different colors, red, blue, yellow, black, etc. Placing a pinch from each pile in his right hand, he will draw on the smooth ground the figure of a man or woman, the dress all properly colored, by the sand trickling through his fingers. It is done with great rapidity and shows remarkable dexterity.
