

An independent local paper, published every Wednesday at Reynoldsville, Jefferson Co., Pa., devoted to the interests of Reynoldsville and Jefferson county. Non-political, will treat all with fairness, and will be especially friendly towards the laboring class.

The political pot is boiling almost to a running over point now.

If men were as ungalant during courtship as they are after marriage, it is doubtful if more than one in ten thousand could ever get a wife.

Now that the World's Fair has closed, officially, are you sorry you did not go to see it? The grand total of the attendance at the World's Fair was 21,472,260.

Inactive people are sometimes prone to complain because busy people seem to want to control everything. If you find yourself disposed to criticize somebody who works well in the lead, but who seems to you unwilling to work any where else, you ought at once to examine yourself, and see if you are not a bulky horse, or one who refuses to wear the harness of faithful work, or to pull steadily in any part of the team.

It is a curious fact that although Eugene Field has written over five hundred poems, he has never written a single love-song. "I don't know exactly why it is," said the Western poet recently in explanation, "except that I was married when quite young, and I did not begin to write poetry until after my marriage." Mr. Field has now written his first love-poem, which he calls "Will You be My Sweetheart?" and has given it to The Ladies Home Journal for publication.

The happiest man in the land to-day, says an exchange, is the successful farmer. He sits contentedly under his own vine and fig tree undisturbed by the maddening noise of the city. Banks fail, railroads go into the hands of receivers, booming towns collapse, and all business stagnates, but the wise farmer can snap his fingers at all these things. He is the monarch of all he surveys on his broad acres. And the honesty of his boys and the purity of his girls is guarded against temptation, and in them he is giving the country its manhood and womanhood. The farmer is to be envied, and if he is not content with his lot he is lacking in wisdom.

The assassination of Carter H. Harrison, Mayor of Chicago, Saturday evening by Eugene Patrick Prendergast, changed the program for the closing day, Oct. 30th, of the World's Fair. Mayor Harrison, although 68 years old, was to have been married to Miss Annie Howard, one of the wealthiest and most popular young ladies of New Orleans, on the 7th of this month. He was married three times. In an account of his career published in the Pittsburg Times Monday, the statement was made that Carter Harrison was elected World's Fair Mayor of Chicago last spring by a combination of the worst element in the city, as his platform was "that everything was to go," and that he lived up to this and Chicago during the Fair was "wide open," as the phrase goes.

Those who go to the country in June and leave it in September miss many of its most exquisite charms. The first frosts of autumn produce a change in the foliage as if it had been touched by the wand of a magician. One who rides up and down through the country at this season of the year, and witnesses the variety and beauty of the tints that deck the mountains and valleys, must be filled with admiration and wonder. In some localities the gorgeous and variegated forests present a spectacle which almost oppresses the beholder with its glory. And if he does not learn lessons of wisdom from this display of nature's grandeur he must be a dull scholar. In landscape gardening artists sometimes work out significant designs with plants and flowers. A star, an anchor, a shield, a conqueror on his charger, may be seen growing out of the ground. In the ample and magnificent grounds near Monterey, Cal., in the midst of which stands the Hotel del Monte, stanzas of poetry are seen growing up amid fragrant flowers and beautiful lawns. The traveler who tarries a day at this famous resort needs but little intelligence to enable him to spell out the thought which was in the mind of the designer. The thought of the Creator who planted the forest and gave innumerable and indescribable tints to the foliage is intelligible to the thoughtful. But the lessons of the leaves and of the autumn are many. They tell of GOD, and of life and of death, and awaken inquiries concerning the future which only find a satisfactory answer in Him who "hath abolished death, and brought life and immortality to light through the Gospel."

Got His Pension Back.

[Brookwayville Record.] Augustus Abel, of Beechtree, was in the village on Monday. His mission was to get his pension voucher executed, which called for six months' pay instead of three, as the others did. Mr. Abel was one of the veterans whose pension had been discontinued by the investigating committee of the new administration until the pensioner could show cause why it should be continued. The cause was shown by Mr. Abel, and it was so conclusive that he received word that his claim would be allowed, and a few days later the voucher arrived for the six months' pay which had been withheld.

"Fire! Fire! Fire!"

REYNOLDSVILLE, PA., July 5, 1893. To all whom it may concern: My dwelling house on Hill street, Reynoldsville, Pa., was struck by lightning on June 25th and was insured in N. G. Pinney's agency, Brookville, Pa., by Walter Spry, solicitor. The loss was paid Thursday and I can recommend Pinney's agency as prompt and reliable.—10-6. JOHN WILLIAMS.

An English admiral who was once visiting a French flagship laid down his quid on a convenient bulkhead before entering the officers' quarters. When he came out again, he was astonished to find the quid in the place where he had left it.

"Poo!" said he, in the hearing of some of the sailors, "you Frenchmen will never be true sea dogs. No English blue-jacket, now, would ever have left an admiral's quid alone."

Whereupon one of the French sailors stepped up, touched his cap and said: "Beg pardon, admiral. I was chewing your quid while you was in there, but I put it back, you know, when I heard you coming out."—Chicago Post.

Fontenelle's Presence of Mind.

The distinguished French author, Fontenelle, was fond of asparagus cooked in butter. Cardinal Dubois was equally in love with the vegetable served with white sauce.

Being once invited to dine together at the house of a friend the effort was made to gratify the palates of both by preparing half the asparagus with butter and half with white sauce.

While the preparations were in progress the news was brought in that the cardinal was dead.

Fontenelle did not wait a moment. Rushing to the door of the kitchen, he cried to the chef: "Jean! Jean! You may cook all the asparagus in butter."—New York Recorder.

A Polyglot Menagerie.

A tolerably well practiced linguist is required for Mme. Scalchi's family of pet animals. Of her 11 parrots, 10 understand French and 1 English, while one of her pugs comprehends only Italian and one English. She has five other dogs whom she addresses in l'abbelle langue. All these are in her pleasant villa in the suburbs of Turin, where her husband, Signor Lolli, makes wine from the grapes of his own vineyard and the great singer wanders in her woods early in morning gathering mushrooms for her breakfast. She considers all green garden vegetables good for the voice.—Harper's Bazar.

Speaks For Itself.

Gaswell—I tell you the phonograph is a great invention. Larimer—Yes; it speaks for itself. —London Tit-Bits.

And Dick Said Nothing.

Mrs. Newed—Dick, dear, I'm glad you don't forget to execute any order I give you. The other day I told you to order some kindling wood, and you must have thought of it constantly, poor boy, for that night you kept saying in your sleep, "Give me a dollar's worth of chips!"—Music and Drama.
