The Christmas scene in W. H. Bell's clothing store display window is unique and attractive.

The Marienville Express began its fourth year last week. The Express is a good local paper.

Prof. John Ballentine, of Clarion, Pa., will preach in the Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening.

Many of the store windows of town are doing more sweating at this season of the year than the clerks are doing.

The "Country Girl" was greeted by a small crowd at the opera house Wednes day night. Those who did attend say the crowd was as large as the show deserved to have.

Rev. F. S. Neigh, of Summerville, will give a talk in the M. E. church at

John A. Barshor and Miss Emma Grix were married at the home of the bride's parents in this place at 6.15 Monday morning. Rev P. J. Slattery performed the marriage ceremony. The young couple left on the 7.40 A. M train for Pittsburg on a wedding tour.

An exchange sayt: Take of "good nature," one ounce; mix with a little 'charity for others" and two or three sprigs of "keep your tongue between your teeth;" simmer them together in vessel called "circumspection" for a short time and you will have a sure cure for scandal.

The station agent at Wildwood, on the A. V. R'y, had a masked visitor last Friday night who persuaded the agent, with a revolver thrust in his face, to allow him to ransack the money drawer and safe. The robber carried more "boodle" away with him than the parties done at Red Bank the Friday before.

Last week's issue closed the eighth year of John T. Earl's work as editor and publisher of the Driftwood Gazette. The standard of the journal has not been lowered any since Bro. Earl, who eight years ago was a youthful journalist, took charge of it. We wish Justice of the Peace John Thomas Earl continued success as editor of the Gazette, Thos. Black lost his pocket-book containing $15.85 and a few receipts last Friday between Pleasant avenue mine and Hotel McConnell. On Saturday $15.30 and a certificate of deposit of Mr. Black's were found on another street from that which Mr. Black had traveled, and his pocket-book with all his papers was found inside a lot in another section entirely.

John Temple Graves will lecture in Centennial hall on Friday evening, Dec. 29th. The New York World. editorally, says: "Georgia has produced many silvery-tongued orators, but not even the lamented Grady was more captivating and effective than John Temple Graves, whose eloquence and brilliant wit have charmed the metropolis."

The officers for the Jefferson County Agricultural Association were elected at a meeting held at Brookville last week to serve for the ensuing year, and are as follows: President, E. B. Henderson; Vice President, Edward Me-Laughlin; Treasurer, William Kelso; Secretary, A. D. Long; Directors, E. B. Henderson, S. A. Hunter, S. H. Whitehill, Edward W. K. Fetzer; Auditors, Alexander Kennedy, H. J. Weaver and C. S. Irvin.

Russell, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Strouse, died at 11.30 Saturday evening, after two days' illness. Croup was what robbed this home of the pet of the household. One year ago the Strouse family number seven, including the parents, and the youngest was about thirteen years old, but on New Years day Russell entered the home where he occupied a prominent place during his short stay. The little remains were placed beneath the sod at the Syprit cemetery yesterday forenoon.

The way it is done in a hamlet hardby Reynoldsville. A gentleman discovered that the corn in his crib was disappearing mysteriously. He drove pieces of wood in the ends of the cobs and after the next corn disappeared the old man Rathmel Thursday evening, Dec. 21. visited his neighbor's barn and found Admission, adults 15, children 10c. the cobs, minus the corn, in the horse's trough. The trap was set again and the cobs with the wood driven in the ends were found in his neighbor's barn. When taken to task for stealing corn the neighbor claimed that some person had put the cobs there to ruin his reputation. It was a mean trick-to steal the old man's corn.

Excursion Tickets

The A. V. R'y Co. will sell excursion tickets on Dec. 23rd, 24th, 25th, 30th, 31st, 1893, and on Jan. 1st, 1894, good for return trip until Jan. 3rd, inclusive. Twelve Toes.

Mrs. John McGinnis, of Prescottville, who has been the mother of twenty-two children, has a baby now that has twelve well developed toes, six on each foot.

Two Ribs Broken.

E. W. McMillen, who owns a team of fiery steeds, had one of his horses in town last Friday to get new shoes put on the nag. He was leading the animal to the blacksmith shop with only a halter on it and he gave it too much strap and the horse whirled and kicked Mr. McMillen in the right side and broke two of his ribs.

Nine Deer and Four Bears.

F. P. Elder, of Pancoast, and Ed. Lewis, of this place, returned this week from their annual hunting expediton in the wilds of Elk county. The two gentlemen are expert nimrods and do not come home without game. They brought five deer to town yesterday. Their entire game this time was nine deer, four bears, three wild cats and ten coons. One of the deer weighed 2024 pounds.

Only Talk.

There is some talk of having two rooms fitted up in the Reynolds brick block for school purposes to accommodate small scholars from the overcrowded borough school. It is only talk yet, as the school directors have not taken any action in the matter. The present crowded condition of our schools in deplorable and if the rooms # can be secured and fitted up it should be done at once.

New S. S. Officers.

The Sunday school board of the M. E. church met Monday evening and elected the following officers for 1894: Superintendent, C. A. Stephenson: assistant supt., M. E. McKeon; secretary, A. T. Bing; assistant secretary, Port Harries; treasurer, Jacob Sutter; librarian, Verna Bing; chorister, Sam'l Lowther; organist, Maggie Lattimer; assistant organist, Lou Foust; superintendent infant department, Philip Koehler; chorister and organist infant department Louisa Kochler.

Unique Windows.

W. H. Bell, jr., the clothier, has three windows to decorate in his mammoth store, but he and his clerks are equal for the emergency. Mr. Bell is a genius for fixing windows up in an attractive style. One window presents a very pretty Christmas scene where Santa Claus is on the roof of a house ready to go down a large brick chimney with a pack on his back. Another window represents a room of a young man who is inclined to be a trifle untidy. The third window is nicely arranged with the "latest" in gents furnishing goods.

An Accident.

John Crawford, of Beechwoods, who is not "as young as he use to be," was in Reynoldsville last Thursday and met with a mishap which might have proven serious with the old man. Thomas Tapper was driving up Main street with a horse and sleigh at a pretty fast gait and old man Crawford attempted to

Memorial Home.

The Memorial Home at Brookville has been receiving press notices for sometime which have not been flattering to the management of that institution, and the Woman's Relief Corps of this place decided to make an investigation and learn, if possible, if there was any truth in the rumors concerning the cruelty the inmates of the Home were compelled to suffer. Mrs. E. Neff was appointed by the corps to go to Brookville last Thursday and meet with the directors and visit the home. Mrs. Neff was interviewed by a representative of this paper and she is fully convinced that the management of the Home has been shamefully lied on. Mrs. Neff says she spent several hours alone with the inmates, and even ventured to condemn the Matron as she talked to the boys and girls, and older ones also, confidentially, but they all claimed that the Matron is kind to them. It would seem if the Matron was such a terror as reports make her out to be that some of the inmates could be confidentially persuaded to give some pointers as to the truthfulness of the rumors, unless they had been threatened with severe punishment if they betrayed any of the secrets of the Home. For the reputation of the Home and its management, if there is no truth in the stories, it would be well to gather the host of witnesses, as is claimed there are, and let them do a little swearing. If the reports are false the witnesses, when it comes to stating on oath what they know, will be few. If the bottom of the trouble was reached it might expose the moral leprosy of a few people who are seeking revenge.

Don't Ask it.

When we launched this paper on the sea of journalism we said: "THE STAR is, and will continue to be, an independent newspaper. It is not published in the interest of any corporation, sect. or party. While attempting to present all sides of every question of interest within its province, it shall be our aim to make the paper purely unbiased." We quote the above from our salutation at this time because we have been informed since our last issue that we are afraid to advocate certain things and that we have no business to publish certain items. An outsider has no conception of the ideas some people get and give gratuitously to the editor, fully expecting mentioned to be made of their suggestions. Some people have personal grievances that they think a newspaper should take up for them. "Give the Republicans a send off about this," and "give the Democrats a send off about that," &c., are not uncommon expressions for an editor to hear. If we catered to such people this paper would be neither independent nor political, but an utter failure. We claim the right to reject all objectionable items and publish any communication or item that is not objectionable when properly signed. It is unjust for any person or persons to try and place a newspaper in such a position that it is compelled to take issues with one side or the other. We expect to deal justly with all people and expect as much in return.

Diphtheria and Croup.

As there seems to be some doubt with the public regarding croup, we quote the following from "System of Practical Therapeutics," edited by Prof. H. A. Hare: "Diphtheria and croup are identical. Though their identity has not yet been proven scientifically, yet clinically and practically the balance of evidence is in favor of this view. Those physicians who believe that true croup is diphtheria and contageous, and who base their treatment upon this belief, will succeed in saving life and limiting the spread of disease, when those will fail who soothe their own consciences and comfort anxious relatives and friends with the doctrine that croup is a local inflamma tory and non-contagious disease, and neglect isolation and disinfection ac cordingly."

ON THE RAIL.

Samuel Lauck and Frank Richardson, of the A. V. R'y, Interviewed.

Samuel Lauck, passenger conductor, and Frank Richardson, passenger engineer, two trusted employees of the A. V. R'y, were interviewed recently and a little of their experience we give as follows:

Mr. Lauck has been in the employ of the A. V. R'y for twenty-five years, having worked on the River Division before the Low Grade was built. His first narrow escape and his first laughable experience on the Low Grade Div. occurred at Broken Rock, between New Bethlehem and Red Bank, a score of years ago. It was before a regular passenger train was put on the road and a mixed freight hauled passengers between Reynoldsville and Red Bank, that Mr. Lauck was going over the train to the baggage car when he fell between two box cars. The baggagemaster saw him fall and had the train stopped while Mr. Lauck clung to life with one hand on a drawhead. Had his perilous position not been discovered when it was, his life's book would have closed then. Not long after that the train stopped at Broken Rock to let a lusty female passenger get off, and Mr. Lauck, who was then a brakeman, politely tried to help her off, but there was no platform there and as the track was high the old lady made the most impressing "mash" on Lauck of his railroad experience as she fell off the steps upon him. It was as "good as a circus" to the few passengers however, who were spending a day getting from Red Bank to Reynoldsville.

In the seventies, when A. V. trains run to Renovo, Lauck and Wm. Cunningham, with engine 62, hauled a fire engine from Renovo to Driftwood, a distance of 28 miles and made one stop, in thirty-two minutes. Lauck has a P. & E. train order, as a memento, issued to he and Pat Horn Dec. 8, 1875.

Mr. Lauck is a very pleasant accom modating conductor who looks to the comfort of those who ride on his train, and he also looks well after the railroad company's interests. Next to an editor, there are few people who have their patience tried so severely as a passenger conductor, as cranks of all kinds ride on trains daily. Mr. Lauck says his thirteen years experience as conductor on a passenger train has been a good school in which to study human nature. It don't take him long to read a man.

Frank Richardson, the non-excitable engineer who hauls Mr. Lauck, can get a passenger train over the road on time with as much case as any man that ever pulled a throttle. Mr. Richardson, who has been running an engine on the Low Grade since it was first built, has had his share of experience in railroading and is noted for being cool in the midst of danger, which is one of the essential requirements of a passenger engineer who has so many lives entrusted to his cool-headedness. The traveling public, generally speaking, give little thought of the man who controls the iron-horse Most of these men feel the responsibility and it is a constant strain upon their nerves while they are on duty. Four or five years ago Richardson was making a fast run from Red Bank to New Bethlehem and when engine No. 2 struck the sharp curve near Anthony tunnel the engine jumped the track and rolled down the steep embankment to the creek. Richardson jumped off but the fireman. Wilson Hoffman, who could not get of went down with the engine, which landed at the bottom upside down. How the the fireman escaped alive is a mystery, as the hot steam was escaping all around him when he crawled out of the demolished cab. A defective drawhead was all that kept the train from following the engine. Conductor Lauck ran down the embankment with a sad heart, because he thought Richardson was under the engine, but he heard him call and looking up he saw the engineer standing on the railroad. When Lauck got the fireman up the hill and was congratulating Richardson on his escape, Frank pulled a long toble out of his pocket, bit the end off and unconcernedly asked him for a match. Richardson has had other narrow escapes.

PERSONALS.

John Hess moved to Curwensville this veek.

W. D. Reynolds spent Sunday at Brookville.

W. T. Ross, of DuBois, commissionerelect of Clearfield county, was in Reynoldsville last Thursday.

Charles Davis, son of Lawyer M. M. Davis, who attends school at Bethlehem, Pa., is at home on a vacation.

Mrs. C. A. Stephenson left Reynoldsville Friday to visit relatives at St. Marys, Lock Haven and Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Catheart, of Sharon, Pa., are visiting their daughter, Mrs. Rev. H. R. Johnson, in this place.

J. A. Gigel, of Oil City, who has been in Reynoldsville two months in the employ of the gas company, returned home yesterday morning.

J. A. Welsh, the groceryman, was at Crates, Clarion county, last week after his wife who had been visiting her parents there several weeks.

O. H. Johnson, principal of the West Reynoldsville schools, is indisposed this week, consequently the scholars of his room are enjoying a vacation.

S. B. Rumsey, superintendent Low Grade Div. A. V. R'y, laid aside the cares of railroad life and attended the farmers' institute at Sandy Valley yesterday afternoon.

S. T. Hoover and wife, of Winslow, Pa., Mrs. Frederick Walker and son, James, of Trade City, Thos. Walker and wife, of Punxsutawney, Mrs. Wm. Ralston and Misses Inez and Mertie Boyles, of DuBois, were here yesterday attending the funeral of Ruth Hoover.

Farmers' Institute.

The farmers' institute held at Sandy Valley on Monday and Tuesday of this week was well attended, and interesting and profitable to those who were present. With the exception of Mrs. Noah Strouse, John A. Smith and Levi Schugarts all who were on the program were at the institute well prepared to take part in the program, which was as follows:

The address of welcome was delivered by Robert Waite, of Sandy Valley, and responded to by M. H. Smith, of Grove amit. T. B. Terry, of Ohio, followed with a talk on the "Value of Clover." Afternoon session :--- The first on the program was a speech from James S. Smith, of Pancoast, on "Clearing land in Jefferson county by the pioneers." James McGhee, of Sandy Valley, told the institute of the "Farmers grievances and their remedy." Mrs. Maggie Allen, of Allens Mills, read a paper on "A mother's responsibility," Archie McCullough, of Grove Summit handled the "poultry" question, and Mr. Terry gave the farmers a few pointers on 'manure saving." Monday evening:-The first subject taken up was "Commercial fertilizers," by W. C. Smith, of Rockdale; recitation, Miss Jennie Waite, of Sandy Valley. For one hour and a quarter Mr. Terry lectured on "The wife's share." Mr. Terry is an eloquent and fluent talker. His lecture pleased the large crowd present, but more especially the ladies. His views are sound on giving the wife her share.

For the benefit of the church.

The Jefferson County Union of the Y. P. S. C. E. will hold a convention in the Reynoldsville Presbyterian church on Thursday, Dec. 28th. A good program has been prepared for the occasion.

Mrs. Polly Flenner, of Rathmel, who reached the three-score and ten mark in life's pathway, died last Wednesday evening. Her remains were taken to Kittanning on the train Friday morning for interment.

Ira C. Fuller, of Brookville, slipped and fell week before last and broke three of his ribs. As Mr. Fuller is chasing his 70th birthday very close the injury is likely to prove more serious with him than if he were younger.

Rev. Slattery, pastor of the M. E. church, preached a plain sermon to his congregation Sunday morning from the following text: "I have put off my coat, how shall I put it on? I have washed my feet, how shall I defile them?"

Francis M. Carlin, matron of the Memorial Home at Brookville, had a sworn statement in the Brookville Republican last week denying the allegations of cruelty enacted on the inmates of the Home, as set forth in an article published not long ago.

The phonograph at Centennial hall Saturday night did not draw a large crowd. Talking machines that reproduce what has been said are too common now days. The phonograph surpasses the human machine in as much as it only tolls what was actually said.

In accordance with its usual custom the Buffalo, Rochester & Pittsburg R'y will this year issue excursion tickets for the Christmas and New Year holidays at one and one-third the regular fare one way for the round trip, with minimum rate of 25c. Tickets will be sold only on Dec. 23d, 24th, 25th, 30th and 31, 1893, and Jan. 1st, 1894, limited for return passage until and including Jan. 2d, 1893.

The people of Allens Mills do not propose to be behind the times and, therefore, the young element intends organizing a brass band to make the welkin ring in that neighborhood when an occasion demands it or they feel like being enlivened by a brass band. It will require filthy lucre to purchase the horns and an oyster supper will be given at Allens Mills on Thursday evening, Dec. 14th, proceeds to be utilized for benefit of the band. All the old and young, big and little, pretty and homely of the neighborhood should attend the oyster supper, especially should the lads and lassies help the band boys along as there may be an event in their lives when the band will be expected to serenade them.

Isaiah Johns, John Thompson, Geo. Van Vleit, J. G. Colwell and David Eason, of Brookville, who had been appointed by the court as viewers in the case of the Reynoldsville Water Co. and others, were in Reynoldsville about the first of October and looked over the ground, made there report a few days ago. The Water Co. entered onto the land of the parties mentioned blow for the purpose of using the water on said land, and the viewers allow the land owners damage as follows: Central Land and Mining Co., $2,076; Bell, Lewis & Yates C. M. Co., $639; Tom Reynolds and Maggie Gorsline, $771.00; Chas. H. Prescott, $490; Robert Muir, $5.00; E. Sharp, $5.00. The whole thing amounts to $3,991.00. The Water Company thinks that is an outrageous sum for use of the water off these lands and will not pay it. This being the case it is probable that a law suit will be the result.

ross the street in front of the horse. Mr. Tapper could not stop his horse in time to avoid an accident, and the old man was knocked down and dragged ten or fifteen feet. He was cut on the head and bruised over the body considerably. The man was carried into Dr. J. B. Neale's office, near where the accident occurred, and from there to Hotel

Belnap, where he remained until Friday noon and Mr. Tapper took him home. Mr. Crawford is eighty-four years old and consequently the accident was more serious with him than it would have been with one of tender years. Main street, in the condition it was in last week, is a great temptation for fast driving, but it is not safe to indulge in such sport on a busy street.

Joined the Angels,

Cecil Ruth, the bright little flaxenhaired daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Hoover, died at 9.00 A. M. Sunday, Dec. 10th, of croup, after a short illness. Ruth was out coasting Thursday and did not feel well Friday and Saturday, but the parents were not sufficiently alarmed about her to send for a doctor until Saturday evening. She was restless all night and about six o'clock Sunday morning took worse and died in three hours afterwards. The little "tot" was our next door neighbor and we were well acquainted with her. She had a winning way which made her many friends who will miss her prattle. The ruthless messenger of death is not loath to pluck the beautiful human buds. The deceased would have been four years old the sixteenth of next month. Her remains were buried in the Pleasant Avenue cometery Tuesday morning. No one but a parent, who has loved as only parents can, who has been bereaved of a darling child can really sympathize with Dr. and Mrs. Hoover in their sorrow. Two beautiful wreaths of natural flowers, one from Dr. W. B. Alexander and the other from A. M. Woodward and Henry A. Reed, were laid on the little casket.

School Report.

Following is the report of the Best school, Winslow township, for second month, ending Dec. 5, 1893. Number of pupils enrolled, males 33, females 27, total 60; per cent. of attendance, males 75, females 80; average attendance 44. The following are the names of those present every day: Calven Doney, Cleveland Deemer, Lee Schugars, Cora Schugars, Myrtle Deemer, Euls Deemer Esther Snder and Della Snyder. B. G. WOODWARD, Teacher.

Card of Thanks.

The members of Reynoldsville Fire Co. No. 1, desire to acknowledge their thanks to the ladies and gentlemen who so kindly assisted at the festival, to the musicians who generously furnished music for the ball and lastly to the citizens in general who by their liberal patronage made the affair a social and financial success, and the public may rest assured that the Fire Co. will re ciprocate by prompt action when called upon to protect the lives and property of the citizens of our town.

Lambs wool slipper soles 25 cents at Robinson's

A very desirable farm of 80 acres one mile west of Reynoldsville for sale. For particulars inquire of Mrs. M. E. Weed or Mrs. A. J. Burris.

The Local Newspaper. [Punxsutawney Spirit.]

How many country newspapers are there that could live six months if they had to depend upon the income derived from subscriptions? Very few of them would make expenses. They must depend upon their advertising and job work. Yet some people are unreasonable enough to complain that "there are too many advertisements in the paper," and others care so little for the local papers as to send their job printing out of town. What is a local newspaper? It is a board of trade, a trumpeter of the town's advantages, a history. It is a policeman, a chaperon, a de fender of your rights, and a board of health. It is an honest advisor. It warns you against frauds, and tells you the best places to buy goods. It rejoices with you when you are glad and mourns with you when you need a comforter. It is the guardian angel of your moral, intellectual and physical health. It sticketh closer than a brother. Therefore remember it, and go not in pursuit of strange gods.

Henry A. Reed, the shoe man, just received a shipment of new style holiday slippers.

Tuesday morning:-Joseph Hunter, of Rockdale, explained the "use of tannery ashes," and J. T. Coax, Esq., of Sandy Valley, talked on drainage. "Spraying potatoes for blight," was Mr. Terr'y subject.

Tuesday afternoon: - "Diversified farming," Henry Stevenson, Sandy Valley; "Potato culture," Jas. Breakey, jr., Stanton, Pa.; "Strawberries," W. J. Boner. Sandy Valley, recitation, Ella McClure, Pancoast; "Intelligence in farming," Thomas Hutchison, Pancoast,

A Horrible Railroad Accident

Is a daily chronicle in our papers; also the death of some dear friend, who has died with Consumption, whereas, if he or she had taken Ott's Cure for Throat and Lung diseases in time, life would have been rendered happier and perhaps saved. Heed the warning! If you have a cough or any affection of the Throat and Lungs call on W. B. Alexander sole agent, and get a trial bottle free. Large size 25 and 50 cents.
