"Folks is always makin' fun of de fellers dat de worl' calls 'has beens,' " said Uncle Mose, "but it looks to me lak it am a heap better for a man to be a 'has been' dan to be a 'nebber was'."-Indianapolis Journal.

What is worse in this world than a bad woman, or better than a good, pure woman? The devil would be almost ashamed to own the former as one o his co-workers, while angels would associate with a noble woman.

The "ribbon craze" and similar crazes strike the young ladies of our land occasionally, but just now the most prominent craze of the day is the "coupon craze" that has struck most every daily now published. Some papers are not content with one coupon a day but offer their readers two and devote considerable space to tell what a liberal offer they are making. One coupon a day is all right, but two is crowding the business a trifle.

Ella Wheeler Wilcox does not have much faith in the idea of a woman marrying a man with the hope of reforming him afterwards. She says: "It is my belief that a man who has not the self-respect to save himself will not respect any woman enough to be saved by her. I do not think any man should marry until he is thirty, and if he has not reformed at that age it is a very unsafe experiment for any woman to attempt to reform him. His moral vision is very limited if he has not discovered by that time that there is nothing in dissipation but degredation and death."

How apt we all are to want to attend to agreeable duties first and leave the disagreeable duties until the last, and if possible leave them undone. With this frailty of humanity in view Henry Ward Beecher gave the following advice: "Take good care of disagreeable duties. Attend to these first. Never select the things that you want to do, and shirk upon others the things that you do not want to do. Wherever you are, choose the disagreeable things. You will get your pay in your manhood. You cannot grow in any other way so fast. You may be angry with some shiftless man who is willing to put on you work that he ought to do, you may feel that there is injustice in it, but you cannot afford to be unfaithful because somebody else is."

One of the great failings of the human family is thoughtlessness in speech, especially is this noticeable with the gentler sex, generally speaking. A writer who has given it considerable thought says: "The great lesson that woman has yet to learn is to think before she speaks. In comparison with the thoughtless tongue the pen in a woman's hand is as harmless as a dove. All too prevalent in these days is the spirit of cruel and thoughtless criticism among women. Thoughtlessness of speech has done more to injure woman than any single element in her of 1.187 over 50 percent of the employes. life. It has laid her open to the charge There were 488 deaths and 22,843 cases of being unreliable-and oftimes justly so. It has kept from her confidences that were hers by right; it has stood in the way of her progress; it has placed her innumerable times in false positions; it has judged her as being cold where she was in reality affectionate; cruel where she was gentle. It is the one inconsistency in woman's nature that has baffled many a one anxious to believe in

A great problem which the next century will have seriously to take in hand and finally solve is this: Are rich men fikely to prove of any real social use, or will it be better to abolish the institution? The day may come when the world will have agreed to abolish rich men altogether as an absolete institution. And certainly no anarchist or communist is working so desperately to hurry on that day as are the rich men themselves. During the whole of antiquity the entire art education of the people, and their amusements, spectacles and luxuries, were provided for them freely by the wealthy. During the whole of the mediæval period vast ources were spent for the public benefit in the way of churches, religious offerings, ecclesiastical and academic endowment. The cathedrals, ministers, churches were the gifts of the rich and were themselves free museums, galleries of art, music halls and even theatres. When the mediaval world ended, much was done of the same kind, but in less noble and munificent ways, by the kings, princesses, courtlers and grandoes. In our age the possessors of hereditary wealth are mostly inclined to spend it on themselves and their per-sonal friends.—Frederick Harrston, in

Low Rate Excursions to Washington, D. C. VIN P. R. P.

Two special excursions will be run to the National Capital fom Pittsburg and other points on the Pennsylvania railroad, as mentioned below, at remarkably low rates. The dates selected are March 22nd, and April 19th. Tickets for these trips will be good on any of the regular trains except the Pennsylvania Limited or on the special train to be run on the schedule herewith, on the days designated, and will admit of a stay of ten days in Washington. Stopover at Baltimore may be made in either direction within limit.

These trips are especially appropriate and attractive during the present season. when the most beautiful city in America may be seen at its best. The historic and contemporaneous interest always attaching itself to Washington, and the magnificent architectural sights, will amply repay a visit, and when the extremely low rates are considered no better trip could well be devised.

Auditor General Gregg says that in accordance with recent decisions of the Supreme Court, dealers in live stock and butchers who sell meat of animals they have slaughtered, are exempt from payment of mercantile license, but butchers who purchase cattle killed and dressed and sell the meat, such sales exceeding $1,000 per year, are liable to the payment of a mercantile tax. This has been a vexed question for years past, and this authorative decision should settle it.—Brookville Republican.

Figs and Thistles. [Ram's Horn.]

One of the most foolish of all fee things is fooling with sin. Sin would not be so deadly if devil could not wear a mask.

If the world likes you right well, it is a sure sign that you are like the world. The kind of righteousness that takes people to heaven is not the kind that rags on itself.

Those who would know the Lord well must not mingle too much with the concerns of the world.

Some preachers never seem to think it worth while to work at their trade in it worth while to work at their trade in the middle of the week.

It may be set down as a fact that nudity in art is from the devil, because it does the devil's work.

A good many boys have turned out badly because they had fathers who made them work with a dull hoe.

For the heart to consent that any kind of a wrong shall live, is a vote for the devil to be prince of this world.

One reason why there is not more good being done is because so many people want to wait until to-morrow to begin.
