Dr. James Buchanan Neale has not been standing as erect and walking around as gracefully the past week as he usually does, simply because a carbuncle seen fit to perch itself on the back of his neck. A carbuncle has no more mercy for a doctor than it has for any other mortal.

The lecture last evening by Hon. R. G. Horr, in the People's Lecture Course, was of the most pleasing and attractive character. The lecturer is an eloquent and convincing speaker, clear in the expression of his ideas, and always attractive.—Daily Bulletin, Bloomington, Ill. At Centennial Hall to-night.

Ridgway has a new postmaster, Thomas B. Gillouly, and the Democrat says the postoffice has been moved into another building and that a new outfit that would be a credit to a larger place than Ridgway, has been provided. It is about time, for the old postoffice was a poor excuse for even a small country town.

License for Hotel America, Burns House, Hotel Belnap, Hotel Dillman, City Hotel, Hotel McConnell and Commercial Hotel, of this borough, and the Ross House and Moore House of West Reynoldsville, were granted by Judge Clark last week. These hotels all had license last year. H. S. Belnap's wholesale license was also renewed.

Through the kindness of Roman E. Koehler, foreman of this office, we have a paper weight which is not only odd and pretty, but is also a memento of the big fire at this place Wednesday evening, Dec. 13th, 1893, when the tannery went up in smoke. The paper weight, which was found in the ruins, is brass either from a valve or brass pipe.

Dr. J. W. Foust was suffering with neuralgia in his head one night last week and he got out of bed and went to the kitchen for some hot water. When pouring water out of the kettle the Doctor missed the vessel and his bare feet were directly under the vessel. He has since had a time caring for a foot that is skinless and tender.

Harry Wilson, of Winterburn, was killed on the B. R. & P. R'y between DuBois and Falls Creek a little before ten o'clock Thursday night. He had been drinking during the day at DuBois and in wandering around at night had got onto the line of the above named road and stepped in front of a freight train. He leaves a wife and three children.

Young people of the Lutheran church at DuBois, to the number of about seventy, drove to Reynoldsville last Wednesday night. They did not arrive here until after ten o'clock and then, without any previous notice, asked John C. Dillman, proprietor of Hotel Dillman, to serve supper for them, which he done in good style for such a short notice.

The Presbyterian church of Brookville, Rev. Dr. Conway pastor, in response to a call from the destitute of Danville, Virginia, Oklahoma City, Ok. Ter., and Marshfield, Wood county, Wis., forwarded by rail on Monday of this week, packages of wearing apparel to said places, amounting, at a low estimate, to $555.80. Also cash, $75 to same place.—Brookville Democrat.

From midnight Thursday until 9.30 A. M. Friday there was no liquor license in Jefferson county. There were a number of thirsty people at Brookville who were attending court, and some who had gone there that day on account of the granting of licenses, that really surprised their stomachs by drinking Brookville water. Others who were more thoughtful of the day before had a private bottle.

Mr. Horr's great success on the platform is his ability to entertain people while he instructs them. He spoke for two hours, and yet all wished he would go on. His terse, homely sentences, composed of simple Saxon words, and his apt and quaint illustrations, are peculiarly his own. His power of handling abstruse and difficult questions, so as to make them clear and lucid, is something remarkable. Few equal him and none surpass him in this gift.—Evansville Journal. Will Lecture at Centennial Hall to-night, Feb. 21st.

This week we publish the announcement of John W. Walker, of Brookville, candidate for District Attorney, subject to the action of the Republican voters of this county at the primary election, June 16th. Mr. Walker has lived in Brookville since 1865, where he was numbered with the school teachers of that town at one time. He studied law and was admitted to the bar in 1876. He has also served as Justice of the Peace. The Brookville Republican, in speaking of him, says: "In addition to other qualifications Mr. Walker rendered efficient services to his country during the War for the Union, and he to-day is a great sufferer from an unhealing wound received while defending the flag of his country."

The sale of horrid valentines in Reynoldsville was not as large last Wednesday as it has been in other years. The sending of valentines is largely confined to boys and girls, but occasionally people who would be ashamed to have the public know it, take this method of relieving themselves of a little of the malice lurking in their hearts against people who have wronged them sometime. It may be all right for boys and girls to resort to that kind of revenge, but it is cowardly for men and women to indulge in sending contemptible valentines with a view of hurting the person's feelings to whom they are sent. This practice should become a thing of the past, or at least confined to children only.

Their Names Not There.

A number of the voters of this borough, who have been voting here for many years, had to answer a number of questions, sign their names to a document provided, swear to the questions they had answered and then have some one identify them before they could vote yesterday. The cause thereof was because their names had been left off the register book in some manner. The initials of many of the voters appeared on the register wrong, but those persons were permitted to vote.

Revival Closed.

The revival services in the M. E. church at this place, which had been in progress even weeks, closed last Sunday night. One hundred and seventy-two were at the altar and one hundred and sixty-one of that number joined the church on probation. A few joined other churches in town. This was the biggest revival the Methodists have had at this place since the winter of 1885, when Rev. C. Peters had such a large revival that an addition had to be built onto the church.

Give it Your Patronage.

The Sons of Temperance will give an entertainment in Centennial on Saturday evening, Feb. 24th, which will consist of songs, recitations, &c. The proceeds will be given to parties who are in need. Admission 10 and 15 cents. The parties who have charge of the entertainment can and will get a good program for the occasion. As the admission is low and the money is to be applied to a good purpose our people should turn out and enjoy the entertainment and also give bread to others.

Prohibition Postmaster.

Punxsutawney has a new postmaster, Chas. A. Jenks, nephew of Hon. Geo. A. Jenks, has received the appointment. It is said that he is a young man thoroughly competent for the position, but he is a Prohibitionist. This is the first man of that political persuasion that has been honored with a postoffice from Uncle Sam, especially an office like Punxsutawney. He was not the only applicant for the office, oh, no! Five or six Democrats were willing to take care of the Punxsutawney postoffice.

Stopped the Wrong Party.

A number of the members of the Presbyterian Endeavor Society, of this place, drove to DuBois in sleighs last Friday evening and took supper at that place. Just as they were leaving the town two men stopped the party and accused them of stealing an overcoat. The young people were greatly astonished at such an accusation, but as they were perfectly innocent it did not take long for them to start on their way again. The Christian Endeavor party thought the men could have made their business known in a more genteel manner.

Threats Didn't Count.

Two men, who claimed to be from Glen Hazel, were in Reynoldsville last Wednesday soliciting aid for the miners of that section. At several business places where they asked for money and were informed that Reynoldsville had enough to do to take care of our own people, they made threats as to what they would do if the persons asked did not respond. One place they said they would boycott the proprietor, and at another place they said the names of all who refused to give would be published and would injure the man's business. The threats, however, had an opposite effect from what the parties who made them thought they would have.

Had their Pictures Taken.

William Cole, of Punxsutawney, and Miss Agnes Sykes, of Sykesville, daughter of J. B. Sykes, were married at the home of the bride's parents at 7.00 P. M., Wednesday, Feb. 14th. Rev. J. D. Dean, Baptist minister who resides near Rathmel, performed the ceremony. The couple went to Rochester, N. Y., on a wedding trip and to buy furniture to go to housekeeping. Mr. Cole is paymaster for the Helvetia Coal Co. The bride is a niece of G. W. Sykes, of this place. G. J. Corwin, the photographer of Reynoldsville, went to Sykesville and took a picture of the bridal party Wednesday afternoon, which consisted of the bride and groom, three bridesmaids and three bridesmen.

Acorn Club's Visit.

The Acorn Club of DuBois drove to Reynoldsville last Wednesday evening. There were sixty couples in the party. The visitors took a midnight supper at Hotel McConnell and danced in S. T. Reynolds's new brick. Mine Host Black managed the hall and supper satisfactorily for them. The Courier said: "Word had been sent to Frank J. Black, proprietor of the McConnell hotel, and he notified it was going to be necessary to shake himself lively to prepare to accommodate the large party which he was informed he might expect. He was equal to the demands and was prepared to do more than the Acorn club and friends were looking for. His reserve resources were brought out and a large company of visitors were never taken care of better in Reynoldsville. Black even canceled a business engagement at Pittsburg and drove out among the poultry raisers to select personally the finest and fattest spring chickens in the parish."

A Little Off.

Austin Quigley and wife, Chas. Banger and lady, and Mr. Carpenter and lady, of Falls Creek, drove to Reynoldsville last Friday night. Mr. Quigley joined the party at Pancoast on their way to this place. The night was a cold one and when Mr. Quigley got into the sleigh the horses were covered with frost so that it was hard to tell whether they were white, black or bay horses. They left this place about eleven o'clock for home and when they got to Sandy Valley Mr. Quigley made the discovery that they had the wrong team. The horses driven to Reynoldsville were white and now they were homeward bound with a team of another color. They turned round and drove back to Hotel McConnell, a distance of two miles, to find out whether they were the right party, or if they had their own rig, or what was the matter with them? After being convinced that they were the Falls Creek party and had the team that hauled them here, they made another start for home.

Stole an Overcoat.

A sleighing party from this place went to DuBois last Friday night and stopped at the Central Hotel. About the time they were ready to start for home one of the party, who is not far advanced in his teens, stole the proprietor's overcoat and brought it to Reynoldsville with him. On Saturday T. F. Casey, proprietor of the hotel, came to this place in search of his overcoat, and was not long in finding out who had stolen it. As the boy's parents are respectable people a warrant was not issued for him, but an officer accompanied Mr. Casey to the boy's home and got the coat and money enough to pay expenses of coming to Reynoldsville. It behooves that father to impress his offspring in a very forcible manner that he must not steal other people's property.

All Wanted "a Offs."

The stockholders of the Reynoldsville Building and Loan Association held their annual election on Monday evening to elect five directors and one auditor. There was more interest taken in this election and more votes cast than at any previous election. It was as lively as a political election. There were very few shares not voted. Those who could not attend the election themselves were there by proxy. The candidates for directors were: Dr. S. Reynolds, W. B. Alexander, A. A. Kleinhans, Jos. S. Morrow, M. E. Weed, H. C. Deible, T. E. Evans, John H. Kaucher, Chas. Herpel, T. J. Davis and David Wheeler. The first five named above were elected directors. Dr. B. E. Hoover and Lawrence J. McEntire were the candidates for auditor. Dr. Hoover was elected.

Went in a Sleigh.

Dr. Veno wanted to go to Clearfield last Thursday and had his baggage taken to the A. V. R'y station for the 1.00 P. M. train. The Doctor had a number of pieces of heavy baggage and for some reason it was not put on the train. The baggage master said it was not down in time for him to handle it, as there was so much other baggage that day. The train pulled out without Veno and the only thing left for him to do was to hire two rigs, one to haul himself and wife and the other to haul his baggage, and go to Clearfield by overland route through the storm. It is needless to add that the doctor was not in a very good humor about it. "It is an ill wind, &c.," for Mr. Tapper, the liveryman, profited by it.

Given a Call.

Rev. E. Lewis Kelley, who has filled the pulpit in the Baptist church at this place the past two Sundays and who is holding services in the same church every evening this week, has been given a unanimous call to become the regular pastor of that church. Rev. Kelley is a young man who is now attending school at Rochester, N. Y. He will not be through with his school until May. His parents live in Illinois. He has not given the congregation here an answer yet as to whether he will accept the call or not, but it is believed he will accept. If he does, though, he will only preach here part of the time until he gets through school. He will preach next Sunday at Reynoldsville.

An Expert.

One of the parties who helped rob Robinson's shoe store at this place in January, is not a resident of Reynoldsville, but travels from place to place doing special jobs in his profession—robbery. Runyon and Singlebaugh were arrested on the 6th of this month and on that night, or the following night, the "specialist" was to have again visited Reynoldsville and rob David B. Stauffer's grocery store, but he "smelled a mouse" a few days before and gave up his engagement at this place. Addlesperger was watching for the "specialist."

The Work Progressing.

The work of rebuilding the tannery is progressing nicely. Two-thirds of the lumber for the entire plant is now on the ground. About fifty men are at work on the new structures. Seven or eight different contractors have the contract for as many different buildings, and there are two to be let yet. The plant will be one of the best and most modern tanneries in this section.

Result of Election.

As we have previously given the names of all the candidates for office in this borough, West Reynoldsville and Winslow township, and the list is very long, we only publish the names of those elected yesterday:

REYNOLDSVILLE BOROUGH. Burgess, Sam'l Lattimer, R.; town council, Jerry Heckman, R., A. F. Yost, R., Thos. Shields, R., Dr. S. Reynolds, R.; school directors, Jos. Pentz, R., M. M. Punxsy's Y. M. C. A.

We were at Punxsutawney last Thursday and having a little leisure time, Hon. W. O. Smith invited us to take a look through the Young Men's Christian Association of that place. We entered the reading room on the second floor which was well supplied with papers, magazines and books, also different kinds of games. Adjoining this room is a parlor nicely furnished. Folding doors from this room opened into a large room for holding religious services on Sunday. In the rear of the building is a bath room. The gymnasium is on the first floor. This part of the building was just being made ready for the boys to use the day we visited the place. The building, for which the B. R. & P. R'y Co. pays the first year's rent, is nicely finished throughout and well arranged for such an association. R. L. Watson, the general secretary of the Y. M. C. A., is a very polite and accommodating gentleman. The Association now has 245 members. The reading room is free to any person who wants to frequent it, but it costs five dollars a year for the privileges of the bath room and gymnasium. Last Wednesday was known as "book day" and about 300 volumes were given to the Association. The books were not of a trashy line, but the best books by the best authors.

If Punxsutawney can have a Y. M. C. A., what is there to prevent Reynoldsville from having one too? What do you say, will we have one? If we had such an institution in our town the young people would be greatly benefited by it, and there would be less "yellow-backed" literature devoured here. The influence of a Y. M. C. A. tends to embolden the boys and young men of any community where it is found.

A Pointer for the Courier.

On Saturday afternoon a number of men and boys carried on a regular fusillade of snowballing at the intersection of the B. R. & P. R'y and Long avenue. The Express is in receipt of a number of complaints from persons who witnessed the affair. Every sleigh that passed was a target for shots. Those that contained women and children were not excepted. Several persons who wanted to pass went around by the side streets in order to avoid being hit. The affair lasted over an hour and during a portion of the time was witnessed by a borough officer. No arrests were made.—DuBois Express.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fulton, of Foxburg, who were at Sykesville attending the Cole-Sykes wedding, returned to their home Saturday afternoon. They spent a few hours at G. G. Sprague's in this place, while waiting for the train. Mrs. Fulton is a sister of Dr. and John W. Philippi.

Trains Discontinued.

A change has been made in running passenger trains on the B. R. & P. R'y. The morning train from Punxsutawney, which arrived at Falls Creek in time to connect with the 7.20 A. M. train on the A. V. R'y, and the evening train leaving Falls Creek at 7.30 for Punxsutawney, have been discontinued. On the former the Punxsutawney people could leave home in the morning, get to Brookville about 8.50 A. M. and return home in the evening, but now, alas, how can they? The B. R. & P. discontinued the trains because they did not pay, regardless of the inconvenience it might be to Truitt, Fairmain, St. Clair and a few other people of the village of Punxsutawney. The Sunday train between Punxsy and Johnsonburg was taken off. This train was an unnecessary convenience anyhow.

Found Guilty.

Robt. Runyon, whom we mentioned last week as being found guilty of burglary and larceny in the Robinson shoe store case, was also found guilty of stealing J. C. Miller's watch. Mike Singlebaugh was found guilty of concealing stolen goods. J. Y. Snyder, who lived in a shanty near Prescottville, who the white caps visited in January, was found guilty of selling whiskey on Sunday. Judge Clark has not given sentence in the above cases yet. The court could give Runyon fourteen years in the "pen" if so disposed.

An exchange says that the palmistry fad is the latest thing in society circles, and the young lady to be strictly in it must be able to tell a young man's fortune by reading the lines on the palm of his hand. As there is a great deal of "holding hands" connected with the affair, it is not probable that the young men will discourage the craze to any extent.
