Everywhere about the valleys of Everywhere about the valleys of New Mexico, invariably upon eminen-ces, and usually upon high flat-topped mesas on table hills, are the ruins of houses of the ancient semi-civilized Indian population that lived here and tilled the soil before the coming of the Snaniards four conturies ago. The Spaniards, four centuries ago. The numbers of this old population can be only vaguely inferred by the numer-ous cobblestone foundations of their houses, still well defined above the surface of the ground, and by the debris of the failen walls which constitute hillocks, grass-grown and intermixed billocks, grass-grown and intermixed with occasional old stone utensils and countless fragments of pottery. This pottery when turned up by the spade is found to be handsome and varied in color, and as fresh of tint as it could have been when the village was de-stroyed or abandoned and every tradi-tion of its existence, load in the varied tion of its existence lost in the prehis toric past.

DEATH ON CHOLERA GERMS. Tobacco Soon Destroys the Bacilii of the Deadly Oriental Plague

Some interesting investigations have been made on the vitality of cholera organisms on tobacco by Wernicke, says Nature. Small pieces of linen soaked in cholera-broth cultures were rolled up in various kinds of tobacco, and the latter were made into cigars. At the end of twentyfour hours only a few bacilli were found on the linen, and none on the leaf. On sterile and dry tobacco leaves, the bacilli disappeared in onehalf to three hours after inoculation. On moist, unsterilized leaves they disappeared in from one to three days, but on moist and sterile leaves in from two to four days. When introduced into a 5 per cent. tobacco infusion (ten grams of leaves to 200 grams of water), however, they retained their vitality up to thirtythree days, but in a more concentrated infusion (one gram of leaves to two grams of water) they suc-cumbed in twenty four hours. When When enveloped in tobacco smoke they were destroyed, in broth cultures, a well as in sterilized and unsterilize1 saliva, in five minutes. Another authority describes a series of experiments in which he prepared broth cultures of different pathogenic microbes, and conducted through them investigations, in only three were But in actual experience the apparent antiseptic properties of to-bacco have not frequently been met with; thus, during the influenza epidemic in 1889, Visalli mentions the remarkable immunity from this discase which characterized the operatives in tobacco manufactories; that in Genoa. for example, out of 1,200 work people thus engaged, not one was attacked; while in Rome the number was so insignificant that the works were never stopped, and no precautions were considered necessary. Muen Made. Money stringency is not the only cause of hard times, and it takes very little money to make a good deal of happiness, as the following shows Mr. R. B. Kyle, Tower Hill, Appomattox County, Va., writes that he was afflicted with rheumatism for several years, and physicians gave him no relief. Finally he was rubbed all over with St. Jacobs Oil and it cured. During his illness he had spasms and was not expected to live. This points a way to many who think times hard. but who can find an easy way out of their troubles, Pictures by an Armiess Painter. A remarkable art exhibition is announced at Bristol. It is an exhibi-tion of thirty paintings by Mr. Bartram Hiles, an artist who, while quite boy, met with an accident by which he lost both arms. Having from childhood shown a strong dispositian and love for drawing, he was taken in hand by some artistic friends and taught to draw, holding the pencil in his mouth. After a he became a student at the time Merchant Venturers' Schools, and studied so assiduously that he won a National Scholarship, value £104, which also carries the privilege of studying at the National Art Training School at South Kensington for two years, during which time he also won one national silver medal and two national bronze medals. In consideration of his having won these honors, the authorities at South Kensington sent him to Paris for some months to study at the museums, paying all his expenses. The armless painter at Antwerp is well known; but it will be news to many people to hear of an English artist contending with the same disability .- St. James Gazette.

Two STUDENTS of Princeton College were lately fined $50 for ill-treat-ing a Chinaman. What spoils the good effect of this action is the incomprehensible remarks of the judge when the students were brought before him. He objected to the consideration of such cases, and said that the college authorities ought to have punished the students without calling in the aid of the law. It is just this idea that college students are not like other citizens amenable to civil laws that has been a prolific source of demoralization in cities where colleges are found. Nobody should be above obedience to law and nobody should be beneath its protecting shield.
