Rev. W. P. Murray, Ph. D., of Omaha, Neb., will lecture in the P. O. S. of A. hall at Rathmel on Wednesday evening, April 4th, 1894, at 7:30. Subject, "Abraham Lincoln." Admission 25 cents; children 15 cents. All who attend this lecture will certainly enjoy it, as the speaker is a fluent talker.

The following news is a trifle late in getting into print, but as it is not generally known, we give space to it this week. Grant Pierce, of this place, and Miss Nannie Fetterhoff, of Trade City, Pa., were married at Brookville on Thursday, March 8th, 1894. They expect to go to housekeeping here soon.

Brookwayville has not been sighted in the way of burglars in the year of our Lord eighteen hundred and ninety-four. The jewelry store of E. B. Covill, formerly of this place, was entered last Thursday night and relieved of some of its contents. The night watchman discovered the thief before he had time to carry off much of Mr. Covill's store.

We were at Falls Creek a few days ago and Mr. J. H. Lahey, proprietor of the Evergreen House, showed us through his new hotel, and we are frank to confess that when entirely finished it will be an excellent hotel. It contains 32 bed-rooms, besides the other rooms necessary for a first class hotel. It is four stories high, heated with steam and is supplied with hot and cold water.

Joseph S. Morrow and daughter, Miss Amelia, returned from Allegheny last Wednesday, where they had been called by the death of Samuel Morrow, father of our townsman. Mr. Morrow died on Friday morning, March 16th, aged 75 years, 4 months and 12 days. Two years ago last January he had an attack of the la grippe from which he never fully recovered, and for over a year before his death Mr. Morrow had been an invalid.

In this issue will be found the announcement of James V. Murray, of Lindsey, for District Attorney, subject to the action of Republican voters of Jefferson county at the June primaries. Mr. Murray is a lawyer and esteemed citizen of that town and has the qualifications to fill this important office with honor and credit to himself and to the best interests of the people of our county. He asks a careful consideration on the part of all voters in regard to their choice as to the seeker of this nomination and election.

Stabbed in the Arm. A few Italians were having what they called a "good time" at Prescottville last Sunday. Beer flowed freely. The ending of the good time was marked with a fight in which one Italian was stabbed in the right arm below the elbow. The radial artery was severed and the knife ran almost through his arm.

Lecture on Lincoln. Rev. W. P. Murray, of Omaha, Neb., formerly pastor of the Reynoldsville M. E. church, will lecture in Centennial Hall on Monday evening, April 2nd, under the auspices of the G. A. R. and W. R. C. Subject: "Lincoln." Rev. Murray is an eloquent speaker and he has the ability to dish up a lecture in excellent style. We bespeak for him a large crowd.

Third Annual. The third annual hall of the C. T. A. U. of A., which was held in the Reynolds block Monday evening, March 26th, was not as well attended as was expected, but the trippers of the "light fantastic" who attended were well pleased. The dancing hall was elaborately decorated. Supper was served in the Nolan block, over the First National, by the Rosary Society of the Catholic church.

Death of James Frantz. James Clinton Frantz died at 1:00 A. M. Sunday, March 25th, 1894, of typhoid fever. His remains were buried in the cemetery near B. Yohe's farm in Paradise Monday forenoon. Rev. J. C. McEntire conducted the services. The deceased was thirty years old. He leaves a wife and three children. Mr. Frantz worked when he should have been in bed. He worked the Monday before he died.

Easter at Rathmel. The Union Sunday School at Rathmel, composed principally of Methodists, Presbyterians and Baptists, held an interesting Easter service last Sunday afternoon. Their program included special music, recitations and addresses. The church was tastefully decorated and the attendance large. The zeal and harmony of this school is worthy of imitation by some schools that have greater advantages than it has.

A Special Train. Arrangements have been made with the A. V. R'y Co. to run a special train to DuBois next Saturday evening to hear Hon. Geo. R. Wendling lecture on "Saul of Tarsus." The train will leave here at 7:10 P. M., and return after the lecture. The railroad fare will be 35 cents for round trip. Tickets to lecture 25 cents. All who want to go had better hand in their names by noon Friday so that the number of seats wanted can be saved for the Reynoldsville people.

"Five and Costs." A fight occurred in West Reynoldsville Monday afternoon and several of the participants were taken before Burgess Herpel, who fined them five dollars a piece. He forgot to add "and costs" this time, but he will not forget to say "five dollars and costs" next time. Because there is no lock-up in West Reynoldsville is no reason prisoners will be given their liberty in that borough. Arrangements have been made to use the Reynoldsville lock-up until one is built in the new borough.

Sent him Home. The Polanders who asked the poor overseers of West Reynoldsville to support him, was sent to his native land Monday. The poor overseers gave him six dollars in cash, bought a railroad ticket to New York, $10.50, bought a steamboat ticket from New York across the sea, tied a string around the man's neck with a shipping card attached thereto which was stuck into his vest pocket on which was written the man's desired destination and the Polanders left here on the evening train Monday for New York. He claimed to be almost blind.

Don't all Belong. There are twenty-five secret societies in Reynoldsville, which would lead one to think that most everybody in the town belongs to some one of these societies. We are unable to say how many men in town do not belong to lodges, but we are sure of one fellow who does not belong to any lodge, strange as it may seem, and that is ye editor. There are men in town who are members of three or four different lodges and by this doubling up process the lodges all have large memberships. It is not that we are opposed to secret societies that we are not now a member of any of them, for their are some splendid lodges in this town.

"Advokaten." The Ridgway Publishing Co. will start a new paper early in April which will be published in the interest of the Swedish people. It will be called "Ridgway Advokaten," a Sveucik polittisk tidning for vestra Pennsylvania, vestra New York och Ostra Ohio. Published at Ridgway, Elk County, Pa. Four pages of the "Advokaten" will be printed in English and the other four pages in Swedish language. This will give the entire household what they want, and besides it will be the means of the older people learning to read English and give the children a chance to learn to read the language of their parents.

Murder at DuBois. It was rumored on our streets last Wednesday that a man had been murdered at what was called the "Miners' Home" in DuBois that afternoon. The terrible tragedy proved too true. The bloody deed was committed by William McClelland, proprietor of the "Miners' Home." McClelland stabbed his victim, John Danver, twice in the right breast, with a pocket knife, and stabbed Mrs. McClelland twice under the left shoulder. Danver staggered out of the house and died on the sidewalk in a few minutes. McClelland said he meant to kill Danver and tried to kill his wife. He was taken to Clearfield jail the afternoon the murder was committed. The details leading up to the murder, as published in the DuBois Express are as follows:

"John Danver, alias Joe Brown, alias Joe Daley, alias Joe Williams or Wick arrived in town on Monday. He is believed to have been the leader of a gang that committed several robberies in this vicinity just after the big fire. He is also said to have just completed a 3 year term for robbing a safe in Clarion county. Yesterday morning he paid for two quarts of peach brandy and other liquor and came up town with Homer C. Dawson and deposited $170.00 in the bank of DuBois. After taking his dinner he complained of being tired and went to his bed room. Mrs. McClelland went up stairs shortly afterwards. Mr. McClelland was out on the stoop at this time and in a few minutes came in and asked for his wife. He went upstairs and is said to have found her in bed with Danver. He drew his knife and stabbed them both in the bedroom and called for his daughter. She ran up stairs and found them all in the bedroom."

Easter Sunday. While Easter Sunday marks an anniversary of great importance to the human family, it has also become noted for a day of millinery exhibitions and show of finery. The display of new dresses, bonnets, hats and suits, is not in honor of the resurrection of the Savior of the World, but it has become a custom that is the offspring of pride. Last Sunday was not much of a day for fine toggery of summer weight. The day was chilly with a little of the beautiful fluttering in the breeze occasionally.

The Presbyterian and Catholic churches were the only ones in town that made any special efforts to observe the day. The altar of the Presbyterian church was filled with potted plants and Rev. Johnson preached an appropriate sermon. There was a fine display of flowers at the Catholic church and special music was furnished. The attendance at this church was very large.

"Sour Grapes." George P. Miller, editor of the Big Run Tidings, whom we mentioned last week was going to move his print shop to New Bethlehem, made the announcement of his discontinuance of journalism in Big Run in his issue of March 22nd. In his farewell to his patrons Bro. Miller says: "It is not on account of lack of business that we are seeking new friends, by any means, nor is it on account of the citizens (figuratively speaking), but the impurity of the air, generating from the various stagnant pools that almost surround your little village. You may think this is a rather delicate excuse, but dear reader, it has more to do with our leaving than anything else. Of course we have our enemies and our critics, and educational cranks, and so on, but life is too short to take the time to study up a device for such differently constituted citizens; we never expect to live without them."

Resumed Monday. Eight colliers that have been idle at and near Patton, Pa., for eight weeks resumed work Monday. The cause of the idleness was the disagreement of the manner of paying. The operators wanted to adopt the monthly pay again, which the men were willing to accept if a limit was made to the length of time the monthly pay would be carried on. The operators refused to limit the time and hence the idleness. The men accepted a reduction from 45 to 40 cents and semi-monthly pay and resumed work.

It is not uncommon to find people now-a-days who are in need of the necessities of life, we have them in Reynoldsville, but any person who would take advantage of the present times and claim to be in want when they are not, are deserving of the utmost contempt. It is claimed this scheme has been worked on some of the kind hearted people of our town recently.

"What's in a name?" Well, that depends. For instance, the name of "Ayer's" is sufficient guarantee that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a genuine, scientific blood-purifier, and not a sham, like so much that goes by the name of "sarsaparilla." Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the standard.

The law requires every borough and township to publish the annual statement of the district auditors in a county paper. One-half the districts in the county evade this law.

OUR NEW POSTMASTER.

Some Good Improvements to be made in the Postoffice.

There were a number of applicants for the Reynoldsville postoffice and although Judge Foust's time expired the 11th of last February yet President Cleveland did not name the new postmaster until last Thursday and then Evan Trego McGaw was the winner. It is customary when a man runs for or gets a public office of importance to give a little sketch of his life. Evan Trego McGaw was born in Juniata county, Pa., April 30th 1855. When an orphan boy fourteen years of age he started out to meet the stubborn realities of this world. Nineteen years ago the 17th of this month he wandered into Reynoldsville where he has since resided. He got acquainted with Miss Mary Elizabeth Hunter, of Beechwoods, to whom he was married in 1876. Mr. McGaw's first ballot was cast for a Democratic President and from that time on he has been of the same political opinion. He has held several offices in this borough, the most important being Justice of the Peace. While the people may not all be satisfied with Mr. Cleveland's choice, yet Mr. McGaw is well pleased, and we believe he will make a good postmaster.

We have been informed by Mr. McGaw that he expects to make some changes in the postoffice in the way of improvements. The interior of the office will be repapered and painted, the case now used will be removed and new boxes and a new case of the most modern style will be put in. The case will be put back further in the building to give more room in the front part of the office. No loafing or rowdiness will be allowed in the office. Mr. McGaw proposes, if possible, to stop smoking in the office, especially if there are ladies in. It is not supposed that a gentleman will smoke in the presence of ladies unless he gets their permission to do so. Mr. McGaw was at Ridgway last Friday to look at the new office in that town and get an idea of what he wants.

If our new postmaster carries out the plan he has mapped out we will have a first class postoffice in Reynoldsville. A number of the present lock boxes can be opened with one key. The case now used has been passing from the hands of one postmaster to another for some time, and while we do not want any person to lose money on the present case, yet we believe it is time for us to put on a little more city style in the interior of our postoffice.

Judge Foust retires from the postmastership with deserved credit. His health the past year has not permitted him to devote as much of his time to the office as he otherwise would have done, yet he has had an excellent assistant in the person of his daughter, Miss Lula Foust, who is a very accommodating young lady.

The Dear Girls.

Girls are of few days and full of mischief, and whosoever is deceived thereby is not wise. When the fair young girl chews her gum with great haste and stampeth her pretty foot, do thou look out. She cometh forth in the evening in low neck and short sleeves; but in the morning she lieth in bed while her mother hustleth. When the sleigh-bells tinketh she standeth at the window and yearneth for a beau, and when he cometh she doeth up his purse. He wrappeth the buffalo about her and huggeth her much and stayeth out beyond his time, and the liverman addeth four good dollars to his bill. In the evening he bieth himself to her father's mansion. He goeth in and sitteth by the fire, and ere he leaveth he poppeth the question and she jumpeth at the chance. When the cock croweth he taketh his departure, and compareth himself to an ass, yea, verily. He getteth his license and goeth forth in the morning of his wedding, and employeth a Godly man to do the job, and when the sun setteth he findeth himself a married man.—Clearfield Journal.

To Avoid Dead Letters.

The following notice which has been sent out by the postoffice department, signed by the first postmaster general, if adhered to would entirely do away with the dead letter office. The notice reads as follows:

"Don't mail your letter or package without having your own address written or printed upon the upper corner. This will insure its return to you if not delivered and will prevent its being sent to and opened at the dead letter office."

The foregoing notice is not compulsory, yet people can see the advantage of complying with the request. Especially should business men have a card on the corner of their envelopes when they can get them printed so cheap. Call at this office and get good envelopes, neat work and cheap rates.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our many kind friends and neighbors, both in Rathmel and Reynoldsville, for their kind assistance and attention during the sickness and death of our beloved wife and mother. We will ever cherish and hold in fond remembrance their kind deeds and sympathetic and consoling expressions in the time of our great sorrow and affliction.

C. N. LEWIS, Reynoldsville Pa.

One of the rare things in the 19th century, and especially at the present time, is for a minister to ask for a collection for a branch of church work and for the people to respond so liberal that the minister requests them not to give any more for that branch of the work. James Campbell says that Rev. Johnson, pastor of the Presbyterian church, has been having just such an experience.
