An independent local paper, published every Wednesday at Reynoldsville, Jefferson Co., Pa. Devoted to the interests of Reynoldsville and Jefferson county. Non-political, will treat all with fairness, and will be especially friendly towards the laboring class.

The Republican State Convention was held at Harrisburg last Wednesday and the following ticket was nominated: Governor, Gen. D. H. Hastings, Bellefonte; Lieutenant Governor, Walter Lyon, Pittsburg; Auditor General, Amos H. Mylin, Lancaster; Secretary of Internal Affairs, Gen. James Latta, Philadelphia; Congressmen-at-Large, Galusha A. Grow, Glenwood; Geo. Huff, Greensburg.

Don't smoke, my boy, remarks Robert Burdette. It makes you stupid, so it doesn't advance you in athletic sports. It makes you nervous, so it doesn't make you a better shot. It makes you smell like a taproom, so it doesn't make you pleasant company.

Wreaths and flowers wither upon the graves of those heroes who died in defense of the Union or who lived to see a healing of sectional differences, the result of their patriotism and valor. Quick to respond to their country's call, these men marched to the front, many of them never to return to their homes, and how beautiful are those memories which entwine about each recurring Memorial day, when their sorrowing comrades throw aside the cares of daily life to strew the mounds with flowers and offer up their prayers of joy that peace reigns o'er the land!

We live in an age when many people are ever and anon grasping for the almighty dollar and selfish interests, regardless of who goes down so they accomplish their ends. We often find in business affairs that one man is willing, yea even glad, to prosper on the failure and ruin of another man's efforts to succeed. People who are not in business are anxious for revenge some times and they are willing to manufacture a lie and send it afloat to injure the business of some man who is trying to make an honest living.

Governor Robt. E. Pattison and Adjutant General Greenleaf visited Houtzdale Saturday and the Governor addressed a meeting of miners in the opera house Saturday night. The Governor referred to the decorations on the interior of the opera house, which had been prepared for Memorial Sunday, explained their object, recited the first paragraph of the preamble to the Constitution of the United States, and declared that the principle of individual liberty which had caused our forefathers to sacrifice their lives would prompt hundreds of citizens at this time to make the same sacrifice if necessary.

Bible Convention. The Western Division of the Bible School Convention of the Clearfield Baptist Association met with the Gethsemane Baptist church at Allens Mills, Jefferson county, Pa., May 22nd, 1894, at 10.30 A. M., with moderator, J. L. Long, in the chair. All the schools of the Division were represented by one or more delegates except two. Three sessions were held. There was a good attendance at all the sessions, the people of the place and vicinity turned out well. The different denominations were represented and apparently enjoyed the meetings. Mr. Wm. Buchanan, of the Presbyterian church, gave us a very interesting, practical talk upon the topics discussed. Taking the convention throughout, we believe it was profitable to those in attendance. Our next convention will be held with the West Liberty church on Thursday, Sept. 6th.

Allens Mills is a small village about eight miles north of Reynoldsville. It has a flouring and, I think, a saw mill, one general store, postoffice, Methodist and Baptist churches. Have no licensed hotel, neither do they need one. No person need go hungry or shelterless if it is known. I can remember of living in the Beechwoods fifty years ago. Most all the old people who were living there then have long since passed away. Quite a number of the young people of those days are living yet and are looked upon by the young people of to-day as old folks, but we think they are mistaken. While possibly the majority of the old residents that are still living reside there, some have gone to other parts. I can mention the names of several who are now residents of Reynoldsville who were schoolmates: Mr. and Mrs. Ninian Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Morrison, Mrs. Best, and perhaps others whose names I can't recall at present. Also the Stevensons, Mrs. Ruben Thompson, Mrs. Hughes and others of BuBois. In closing will say though it is true that most of the people living there now are comparatively young, they have not forgotten, nor have they forsaken, the old ways—that kind hospitable feeling still exists.

ROBT. L. MILES. Give Her a Vacation.

In many cases the wife stays at home from one year's end to another and looks after home affairs, and no matter how faithfully she discharges those duties, her work is too often lightly esteemed and not even appreciated. It is always expected that the meals will be ready at the proper time, the house kept in proper order and the clothing kept clean and ready for use at any time. Some men are suddenly awakened to the realization of how thoughtful and careful their wives were when death has invaded the home and robbed it of wife and mother. Then it is too late to be kind to her. The better plan to fully appreciate the woman's position in the home, and then profit by the lesson, is to give them a vacation of a month some time this summer and allow them to visit their mother or some friend. Of course you hardly know how you can spare them, and then they have not been accustomed to visiting and why commence it now? Suppose death stops at your door and without your consent takes the wife from you, then can you spare her? The faithful woman needs a rest once in awhile and should have it. A Reynoldsville man, whose wife has not been away from home for years, is now fully appreciating what a good wife he has and how much pleasanter home is with her than without her, and the reason thereof is because she is away on a visit. If you don't believe it, try it.

One result of the strike of the bituminous coal miners has been to create a small boom in the anthracite coal trade. The Renovo News says the Pennsylvania railroad has ordered eight hundred car loads of this fuel to be distributed on the Sunbury division of the P. & E. Both the latter road and the Northern Central, have been experimenting with hard coal lately, and both roads are using it to a limited extent in their engines. The News is also authority for the statement that six locomotives have been sent from Renovo to Sunbury to have their fire boxes changed so as to burn anthracite coal.

Attention, Farmers. Agricultural salt, five dollars per ton, cheapest fertilizer on earth for gardeners. 200 pound sacks 50 cents at J. C. KING & Co.'s.

For Sale. One lot and two houses on tannery street, West Reynoldsville, formerly property of Frank Ishman, will be sold at a bargain. Inquire of Henry Rhoden, Reynoldsville, Pa.

Two for One.
