The Republican contest for nomination for Congress and District Attorney is getting warm just about this time.

An exchange propounds the following question: If Bob Ingersol insists that there is no hell, will he please state what becomes of a man who takes a paper three or four years without paying for it, and then tells the postmaster to inform the publisher that he don't want it?

As the bosom of earth blooms again and again, having buried out of sight the dead leaves of autumn, and loosed the frosty bands of winter, so does the heart, in spite of all that melancholy poets write, feel many renewed springs and summers. It is a beautiful and a blessed world we live in, and whilst that life lasts, to lose the enjoyment of it is sin.—Ex.

We received a pamphlet from Ryland & Clark, of Big Run, on "Some Straight Shots at Some Secret Sins." It is a sermon preached by special appointment before the Presbytery of Clarion in session at Sligo, Pa., April 18th, 1894, and published by request of Presbytery. The pamphlet is neatly printed contains 32 pages and sells for the small sum of ten cents.

A new invention which will be welcomed by railway travelers is a "station indicator." It is fixed to the roof of the coach and records the name of the coming station, an electric bell notifying the passengers of each alteration. The present system of announcing stations is unsatisfactory because of the indistinct utterance of the brakeman or the defective lighting of the station.

There are nine kinds of kisses mentioned in the Bible: The kiss of salutation, Samuel xx.; valediction, Ruth ii.; reconciliation, Samuel xiv.; subjection, Psalms ii.; approbation, Proverbs ii.; adoration, Kings xix.; betrayal, Matthew xxvi.; brotherly love, I Corinthians, xvi., 21; affection, Genesis xiv. "Jacob kissed Rachel and lifted up his voice and wept." What he cried for has never been explained.

The Prohibition state convention held at Williamsport on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week, was the most enthusiastic and successful convention ever held by the Prohibitionists. There were about 500 delegates in attendance. Fine street parade of cold water gentlemen took place Tuesday evening. There were 1000 men in the parade on horses, in carriages, on bicycles, and on foot. The following ticket was nominated: For Governor Charles L. Hawley, of Scranton; Lieutenant Governor, Homer L. Castle, of Pittsburg; Auditor General, Chas. Palmer, of Delaware Co.; Secretary of Internal Affairs, L. R. Gleason, of Bradford Co.; Congressmen at large, Elisha Kent Kane, of Kane, and L. G. Jordan, of Philadelphia.

A communication appeared in the Punxsutawney Spirit last week signed by a "Citizen" that contains some plain facts that no one can deny. The article reads thus: "I do not believe in lawlessness of any kind, and think that the true policy for the miners is to keep the peace and obey the laws of the commonwealth at all hazards. But I do not think the observance of these laws should stop with the workingmen. The coal operators should also take an occasional turn at respecting the various acts of assembly. The anti-company store law, and the general mining law, is violated by them every day, and I don't see the newspapers or the people in general rising up in their righteous wrath and demanding that the laws of this Commonwealth must and shall be respected. But let a body of half starved miners march peaceably over a public highway, and it is at once denounced as anarchy. It seems to make a difference whether the law is violated artistically and politely, or whether it is done crudely and without any attempt at aesthetic effects."

Just now we are hearing much about the miners in some sections becoming so lawless that the militia is called to control them or shoot them down, and those who are in authority give the operators the protection they ask for, which is perfectly right. When men resort to deeds of desperation then they should be dealt with according to law, but that don't excuse the capitalists or give them the privilege of disregarding the law. The laws broken by the operators is just as important to the miners, all things considered, as the laws broken by the miners are to the operators. Over in Elk county last week sixty miners were arrested and taken to jail for walking to near the Shawmut company's works.

Roped in for One Dollar Each.

A man who claims to be a photographer from Pittsburg has been travelling over this section roping in people for a dollar each. The man carries a camera and agrees to send his victims a dozen photographs for one dollar. He stops at country houses and in small towns where he persuades the residents that he can give them good photographs for the price named and in most cases induces them to sit for a negative. He then demands the dollar, promising to send the pictures at an early date. It is needless to say that that is the last ever heard of him or the money. It would seem that he would not be able to find many victims, as almost any person ought to know that a good negative cannot be taken by any photographer in an ordinary sitting room, and most people are too cautious to give good money to a stranger who can produce no credentials. This fellow however, appears to find plenty of people who want pictures for a dollar a dozen, and it is said that in Beechtree last week he gathered in at least one hundred dollars.—DuBois Courier.
