One thought before an action is often more valuable than many thoughts after it.

An exchange truthfully says that the human race is divided into two classes -those who go ahead and do something. and those who sit still and enquire why it was not done the other way.

An Irishman on visiting a cemetery, noticed on a tombstone the following inscription: "Sacred to the memory of a lawyer and an honest man." "By the powers," said Mike, "that's a strange custom, to bury two men in one grave?"

An exchange thinks that the ringing of church bells should be done away with. It says "People can go to church services and prayer meetings on time as easily as they can go to a show, theatre, concert or circus. In these days of a multitude of watches and clocks an ear piercing, clanging bell is no more necessary than a fifth wheel to a wagon."

It is astonishing how much money in the shape of fireworks one can send up. into the air in a very little time. An authority on the subject estimates that $1,500,000 worth of fireworks alone are imported into the United States each year. Three-quarters of them are used on the Fourth of July and thereabouts: the other quarter pop and bang and raise the mischief in the southern states during the Christmas holidays and around Mardi Gras time.

Don't try to wear a shoe that is too small for the foot in hot weather, says an exchange. This is flying in the face of common sense. The feet require a little humoring in the summer; they get irritable and excited under the least provocation. Even the iron rails on street car lines swell under the fierce rays of the sun; and what can be expected of flesh and blood? Wear a size, or at least half a size, larger shoe during the summer than you do in the winter.

A young man does not always find it easy to get on in this world without education, or family influence, or personal property, or health; but he will find, in the long run, that it is far easier for him to make his way among men without any or all of these advantages than to make substantial progress in the world without the reputation of a good character, even though he has all other possessions. Character stands for something everywhere, in spite of its frequent slightings.

One woman, with a loose tongue and evil mind, can do more harm to another woman's reputation in five minutes than can be undone in all the time between eternity. Feeling corrupt and despiciable at heart, such a woman seems to take a delight in opening the flood gates of her vile heart and spitting out the venom that penetrates all the safeguards an innocent and pure woman can surround horself with. Every community has one or more irresponsible and unreliable characters of this kind, and for their benefit a law should be enacted providing for a ducking pond for her and her associates.

Say a Good Word.

Always encourage home talent when it stands ready to establish an enterprise that will build up a town. Never attempt to raise more money to secure new enterprises that the town can afford to part with. Always look on the bright side of the town's outlook. Never predict anything but prosperity. Well men often die because they believe they are suffering from some imaginary ailment, and a good town sometimes retrogrades simply because of the croaking of calamity howlers. Say nothing if you cannot say a good word for the town, but keep on sawing the town's wood.

How to Cure a Cold.

Simply take Otto's Cure. We know of its astonishing cures and that it will stop a cough quicker than any known remedy. If you have Asthma, Bronchitis, Consumption or any disease of the throat and lungs, a few doses of this great guranteed remedy will surprise you. If you wish to try call at our store, and we will be pleased to furnish you a bottle free of cost, and that will prove our assertion.

Strange as it may seem, in the face of hard times and many men out of employment, complaints are heard from some of the farming districts that farm laborers are scarce, and this is one of the few ordinary occupations in life where wages have not been reduced, but, on the other hand, they have actually advanced at some places. Some years ago the prevaling rate of wages on many farms was fifty and seventy-five cents a day, while the best hands received more. During having and harvesting nowadays men receive $1.50 a day and board and extra good hands receive as high as $2 a day.-Ex.

The expression "keep it out of the papers" is a request often made to editors. Frequently it comes as a demand, and the editor, if he has proper selfrespect and the right conception of the province of a newspaper, resents. Ten to one the very person who wants the editor to draw the veil over an unpleasant or disagreeable affair in which he was concerned will next week wonder why the newspaper doesn't do its duty by holding up to public gaze the meanness and short-comings of his neighbor. If you have done anything that you are ashamed of you have no reason to ask the editor to suppress it. He may do so, and he usually does, unless he believes it may subserve some good purpose to publish it. Do not think the editor malicious because he publishes facts which may reflect upon you, and stupid and cowardly because he does not lash somebody else whom you think serves it .- Millerstown Herald.

Card of Thanks.

We, the miners of Anita, take the opportunity of thanking the farmers and business men of this county and other counties for the way they have given us relief ir our present struggle for living wages, and especially the miners of Reynoldsville, Rathmel and Eleanors, who responded so heartily to our call for aid, remembering that an injury to our cause is the concern of all, and may God bless you to give heartily and liberally until this fight is finished, and we have taught these tyrannical corporations a lesson they may never forget.
