Several fellows participated in a fracas in West Reynoldsville last Friday night. After the battle was over one of the pugilists had to look for a doctor to dress a 1 1/2 inch wound on the back of his head which he received either from a bottle being broken on his head or from falling on some sharp obstacle. It was reported that the man had been stabbed but the report was false.

When the Brink boy was killed last Friday it was first thought he was a son of a Polander who lived nearby and some one told the Polander woman that her son had been killed and the woman was almost frantic with grief until she found out that it was not her boy that had been mangled beneath the iron horse. The woman's sorrow was awful while it did last. She walked back and forth through the yard wailing pitifully.

Frank is a genial host, and knows how to make his guests feel sorry that they could not get around his way oftener. A Free Hack. The business men of Reynoldsville have decided to try the experiment of running a free hack between Reynoldsville and Rathmel every day, except Sunday, to give the people of that hamlet an opportunity to come to Reynoldsville to do their trading. The hack will be put on next Saturday.

Save The Water. We have been instructed by Mr. Sterley, manager of the Water Co., to again request the people to use as little water as possible for sprinkling lawns, &c., this week at least on account of the supply being limited. The company is adding a new spring to the supply but they will not be ready to run the water from this source into the dam until next week.

Tame Squirrel. A week ago a squirrel took up its abode on one of the shade trees in front of Hotel McConnell where it "struck it rich," for landlord Black fastened a cigar box up in the tree and in one corner of the box is a small vessel of water and the other corner is kept full of nuts. The little rascal will come down and sit beside the box and crack and eat nuts unmindful of the gabbling crowd in front of the hotel.

Collar Bone Broken. It is an uncommon thing to see a bicycle speeding up and down Main street with either a little boy or girl standing on the bicycle in front of the rider. It is certainly a dangerous practice and yet the first accident to occur from that sport happened last Thursday evening and it resulted in a broken collar bone for Bert Hoffman, little son of Frank Hoffman. Bert was on a bicycle with Norvin Corbett and while making fast time in front of Tapper's livery stable Bert lost his equilibrium and took a tumble.

Who Can Explain It? According to the figures given in the Dubois Courier the morning after the firemen's big day in that town, the Curwensville Rescue Hook and Ladder Co. had 30 members in the parade and Reynoldsville Fire Co. No. 1 had 42 members in the parade, and yet the Curwensville company took the prize, a $50.00 picture, for turning out the largest number of any single company. Now who can explain the whyfore of it? A number of members of Fire Co. No. 1 were in the Keystone band and were not counted in with the firemen.

Business Change. The partnership heretofore existing between Lawrence J. McEntire and Thomas E. Evans, who were conducting a grocery business in the Bee Hive building under the firm name of L. J. McEntire & Co., has been dissolved. Mr. Evans has sold his interest to Jasper McEntire, brother of L. J. McEntire, who is now helping to wait on the numerous customers of that establishment. The old firm kept a neat and first-class grocery store and there is no doubt but that the two brothers will continue to run a good store.

Local Court. Eq. E. Neff's court of justice was occupied two full days last week trying two trespass cases, James McGee, of Sandy Valley, being plaintiff in both cases. Mr. McGee owns an oats and corn field and a truck patch on which he claimed that Jos. Hutchison's stock had trespassed to the extent of $25.00 damage. The court gave him judgment to the amount of $2.60. Mr. McGee's second case was with Nancy Cox; he claimed her cattle had trespassed on the aforementioned oats, corn and truck patch to the extent of $50.00 damage. In this case the court allowed the plaintiff damage to the amount of six dollars.

Undeserving of Aid. An unkempt Irish woman has been "doing" the town the past week soliciting aid and frightening timid women. The dilapidated creature claims she has a son near Luthersburg whom she wants to visit, but on account of a crippled foot she cannot walk to her destination, and consequently goes from house to house asking for aid to help her on the journey. Where the people refuse to give her any assistance she uses vile and abusive language. The woman is unworthy of aid but is deserving the attention of our borough officers as a public nuisance. She is a contemptible impostor who spends what money is given to her for beer and whiskey.

Out for a Good Time. A peaceable and fine looking crowd of matrimonial candidates from Penfield, the town that has become noted on account of the alicia spring at that place, invaded this city last Thursday and proceeded to take full possession of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. McDonald's home. The young people started out for a picnic and landed in this town. They came over on the morning train and returned in the evening. The party was composed of the following persons: Misses May Bird, Jennie Dally, Jennie Lewis, Libbie Froeland, Maggie Dally, Etta Miller, Clara Shugart, Effie Kline, Saddle Miller, Mabel Hewett, Messers: Mat Johnson, Ralph Johnson, Wm. Dally, C. C. Froeland, Wood Miller, and Rev. J. T. Speer. Mrs. J. L. Schofield, of DuBois, formerly of Penfield, was with the party.

A Home Without A Mother. On Thursday, Aug. 23rd, Mrs. John Bennett, whose maiden name was Emma Rieckard, died at her home on Jackson street. She had been an invalid for about eight years, five years of which she was unable to perform the duties of life. The last eight weeks of her earthly existence she was confined to her bed. She deceased was born in Harrowbarrow, Cornwall, England, October 11, 1842, and was 51 years, 10 months and 15 days old at time of death. In 1864 she was married to John Bennett and unto them eight children were born, four sons and four daughters, four of whom, with the father, survive her. One son and three daughters preceded her into the Great Beyond. In 1878 the family emigrated to America and settled in Tioga county, New York state where they lived for eight years and then moved to Reynoldsville. Mrs. Bennett united with the Wesleyan church early in life and was a consistent christian until called to her reward. The funeral services were held in the M. E. church Saturday afternoon, conducted by Rev. P. J. Slattery, pastor of the church. Forty members of the sons of St. George, of which order Mr. Bennett is a member, turned out in a body to attend the funeral. The interment took place in Beulah cemetery.

School Notice. All primary pupils who reside west of 7th (Russ) st. are requested to attend school in the Reynolds block where four rooms have been fitted up for their accommodation, and for the accommodation of those residing east of Russ st. who will volunteer to attend school in this building. Seventy-five or more volunteers are asked for. If it is convenient for you, attend here; if you have no preference, attend here. This is meant to include only those pupils who, at the close of last term were in rooms Nos. 7 and 8, also those who have not been attending school here, who are in the 2nd or 3rd school year. All pupils who have been attending here in rooms from No. 1 to No. 6, inclusive, are requested to report in the same room in which they were at the close of the last school term. If it is deemed necessary to make any changes they will be made by the principal. Pupils above the third school year who have been attending school elsewhere will please consult the principal or assistant principal.

Killed by the Cars. John, eleven-year-old son of Lucinda Brink, a widow, was killed in the A. V. R'y yard at this place last Friday morning. Local freight was shifting cars near the freight house and the boy attempted to cross the track in front of the moving cars. A brakeman who was riding on the front box car warned the boy not to make the attempt and thought the boy had not tried to cross the track but he had tried it and two cars and the engine ran over him before any person knew the accident had happened. The boy was terribly mangled and was unconscious when picked up. He lived about ten minutes. Mrs. Brink is a charge on the borough and the overseers of the poor had to bury the boy. The railroad company furnished the coffin. Rev. J. C. McEntire conducted the funeral services at the house of the widow Saturday morning and the interment took place in Beulah cemetery.

Too Fast for Bicycle. On Saturday evening, the 11th inst., three gentlemen from this place, in company with Dr. Bennett of Brookville, were driving to the latter place and when near Emrickville were overtaken by a young man on a bicycle, who attempted to pass them. The man on the wheel would not ask to be allowed to pass, and after several attempts did succeed in riding by the two buggies, and after making some insulting remarks started on at a lively gallop down the road. Although Mr. Bennett is the oldest doctor in the county and drives a sixteen-year-old colt, this was too much for him, and he decided to give the bicycle a race. He gathered up the lines, applied the "persuader" and his colt soon "struck a gait" that was too fast for the man on the wheel, who was again compelled to ride in the dust stirred up by Dr. Bennett's nag.

Will Pay For Feast. Six or seven young men of Driftwood longed for a water-melon feast but there was no melon patch to raid and their desire was not a thing of abundance, consequently to satisfy their desire for water-melon some plan other than paying for the fruit must be devised. The A. V. R'y was hauling melons through that town by the car load, and who would ever find it out if they helped themselves to a few water-melons, reasoned the boys. They did help themselves to the number of 120 water-melons. Adlesperger, the little wiry detective of this place, was notified of the shortage in melons and he visited Driftwood several times. Last Saturday he arrested six Driftwood young men for taking water-melons that did not belong to them.

False Report. Some person started a story in town Friday that Henry Stevenson, a farmer living near Sandy Valley, had dropped dead that morning. Mr. Stevenson is well known and highly respected in Reynoldsville and many of his friends were greatly exercised over his sudden demise but when the gentleman came into town Saturday morning looking as lively and healthy as ever, then they knew the story had been a base fabrication manufactured without any foundation. Mr. Stevenson's friends were glad it was a false report.

Will go to Dubois. Local Union No. 542 at their regular meeting, Aug. 25th, decided to attend Dubois Labor Day celebration in a body on Saturday, Sept. 1st, 1894.

School Begins Monday. Next Monday the public schools of this borough will begin the winter term. This year twelve rooms will be open to dispense knowledge to the youth of our town. Heretofore the scholars have been laboring under a disadvantage by being crowded into eight rooms. If all the children of the town who should be in school would attend twelve rooms would not accommodate them. There is no secret about the fact that there are boys and girls in our town—too many of them—who do not like to attend school and they offer all manner of excuses to get staying out of the school room and, too often, the parents are not as strict along this line as they should be. The boys and girls do not always appreciate and embrace the opportunities afforded them to get a good common school education and it becomes the duty of the parents to exercise their authority in the matter. Many a boy is now drifting in the sea of life a regular numskull simply because the parents were too easy with him when he was foolish enough to rather work or do anything else than go to school. When a boy gets past school days then he regrets his folly and neglect, but, alas, too late. The school room may lack the attraction pupils long for and books may be dry and hard to master, but the boy or girl who picks up a book with a determination to master it will find the work pleasanter and much easier to accomplish than the boy or girl who takes it up just because they are compelled to. Education is not a matter of pleasure but it is a necessary duty and no excuses should be accepted for neglect of this duty. When school commences next Monday every boy and girl who is going to attend the term should be present on the first day, and not get an absent mark during the term unless for sickness. This not only gives the scholar a chance but it also gives the teacher an opportunity to help the pupil. The scholar that is absent one or two days each week will not be much of a credit to himself, teacher or any one else. Make this an exceptional year for faithful attendance at school. The parents should earnestly co-operate with the teachers in knocking "hooky" entirely out of the Reynoldsville schools.

An Old Lady Gone. Another one of the old settlers of Beechwoods has been placed beneath the sod of the Beechwoods cemetery. On Wednesday, Aug. 23, the pale horse and its rider called for Mrs. Jane Smith, relict of Andrew Smith who passed through the portals of death some twelve years ago. She was born in county Derry, Ireland, in September, 1807; came to America in 1822. Her maiden name was McIntosh. The funeral services were held in the Beechwoods Presbyterian church on Friday, conducted by the pastor, Rev. Geo. H. Hill, assisted by Rev. D. A. Platt, pastor of the Beechtree M. E. church. The funeral was largely attended, as old "sautie" Smith was known for many miles around. She breathed her last at the homestead where she had raised seven children who survive her. The Brookwayville Record says: "Mrs. Smith was a member of the Presbyterian church, and an active communicant until the feebleness of old age prevented her attendance. Hers was a domestic nature, yet her home duties did not prevent her from taking a deep, neighborly interest in the community around her. Mr. Smith was a sociable man who enjoyed the society of his neighbors, and the hospitality of himself and wife became noted. The latch string of the Smith homestead was always out, and few neighbors passed without an invitation to enter."

Ninian Cooper, of this place, attended the funeral. He had known the woman from his infancy, for she was the first person to hold him in her arms when he was born into this world 68 years ago. At that time there were only three little log cabins in the Beechwoods and they were close together, and the nearest dwelling to them was ten miles away.

Barn Burned. Joseph Spears' barn, which was filled with hay, burned about eight o'clock last evening. Two horses were in the barn when fire was discovered and one was badly burned before it got out of the barn. The origin of the fire is unknown. The members of Hose Co. No. 2 were holding a meeting at King & Co.'s store when the alarm was given and they were soon at the fire. Fire Co. No. 1 responded but their service was not needed.

A Musical Feast. The Keystone band will give a musical feast in Centennial Hall Friday evening, August 31st, consisting of vocal and instrumental music. A fine overture, solos, duets, and quartettes. A program has been arranged that will please and edify all. Do not forget the date and place. Admission 25 cents. Doors open 7:30. Performance 8:00 sharp.

It Has Not Come Yet. Our Own Albert Reynolds, the big notary public of Reynoldsville, was the tallest freeman in the parade at Dubois last week and is entitled to the prize offered. Albert has not received the prize nor has he heard anything concerning it, therefore we cannot say what it will be.

Dance Monday Night. A dance will be held in Reynolds block next Monday evening, Sept. 3rd. HOSE CO. NO. 2.

Devere King, one of our real nice young men, visited several weeks with friends in DuBois recently and the Courier seemed anxious to have the young man return home, judging from the personal that paper gave him in three consecutive issues. On the 21st the Courier said: "De Vera King returned yesterday to his home in Reynoldsville after a visit of several weeks at Heidrick's." On 22nd the same item appeared, and on the 23rd it was made to read: "Devere King, of Reynoldsville, returned home yesterday."
