We Want One Too.
A new station is to be built at the Market street station, Clearfield, on the C. & M. R'y. What's the reason a new depot is not built at the Main street station, Reynoldsville?

More Trouble.
The drivers in the Hamilton and Big Soldier mines struck Monday because Supt. Bell put Pat. Madden on as boss mule driver. Mr. Madden held the same position a few years ago and the men refuse to work under him.

Boys Mistaken.
Wm. Fairman, Punxsutawney's red-headed, eccentric law expounder, was in Reynoldsville last Friday and was taken for "Old Farmer Hopkins" by some of the small boys of this place. The "old farmer" was booked for this place Saturday and the young urchins thought he had come a day a head of his time.

Veterans Reunion.
We received the following notice from John E. Barr, of Brookville: "The reunion of the 105th regiment, P. V. V., will be held in Brookville Oct. 10th. Special rates have been secured at the hotels for the accommodation of all who attend, and arrangements have been made for a good old time reunion. It is hoped all the old wild cats of the 105th will be on hand at that time."

Come Out Orderly.
The scholars in the four rooms in the Reynolds block come out very orderly. One room is let out at a time and the scholars march down the stairs in single file and keep close to the wall on the left side. One teacher stands at the bottom of the stairs and another one stands at the head of the stairs to see that they go down with some decorum. This is a good act on the part of the teachers. If it was not for that manner of letting the children out they would come down stairs jumping and yelling like a lot of street arabs.

Thrown Out of a Buggy.
Thomas S. McCraight, one of the old and highly respected farmers of Paradise Settlement, was badly shaken up last Thursday by being thrown out of a buggy. Mr. McCraight was driving to his home and when near the residence of Thomas Reynolds, Jr., his horse got frightened at some sheep that jumped out of a fence corner. The horse turned quickly and threw Mr. McCraight out and then ran back to the grist mill at Prescotville and there ran against a post and smashed the buggy up. Mr. McCraight had been on the sick list for some time and was convalescing when the accident happened.

Slaughtered Turkeys.
Ed. D. Seeley owned a nice flock of twenty-six young turkeys which he expected to sell by and for a fair price, but alas, sixteen of the turkeys met an untimely and cruel death at the hands of several small boys. The turkeys were in a field above Mr. Seeley's house and the boys trespassed in the field one day recently and caught and broke the legs of sixteen of the turkeys and piled them up together and on the following day returned and cut the heads off the turkeys and threw them behind a stump. When Mr. Seeley's family came to look for the young fowls that is the condition they were found in. One of the boys acknowledged to the deed.

Fracas at Sandy Valley.
There was a lively time at Sandy Valley last Friday evening. A festival was being held in the Union church at that place when Charley McGhee and J. Brown got into a heated dispute and Brown hit McGhee on the head with a poker cutting a gash four inches long. McGhee picked up a chair and hit Brown with it and knocked him on to his knees and at the same time a revolver was discharged and the ball entered the front part of Brown's right leg, just below the hip, passed clear through his leg and fell onto the church floor. Brown was the only man seen with a revolver and it is supposed as he was falling his own revolver went off and shot him in the leg. A young man was sent to Reynoldsville for a doctor and could not get any of them to go and had to go to Falls Creek for a doctor. The Falls Creek doctor dressed Brown's wound and put three stitches in McGhee's head.

Murder at Lock Haven.
Last Wednesday afternoon Amasa Winchester stabbed Wm. Reeder to death in a pool room at Lock Haven. The two above named and Joseph Moore were in company and had been drinking. Winchester accused Moore of stealing five dollars from him which Moore resented and struck Winchester in the face. He drew a hunting knife with a five inch blade and slashed Moore on the arm. Moore started to run and his antagonist cut him an ugly gash in the back. Wm. Reeder stepped up as peacemaker and Winchester turned on him and cut a gash above the left temple, another along the right side of the neck, and struck him in the throat, cutting the wind-pipe about two-thirds off and severing the jugular vein, and stabbed him in the back. Reeder expired instantly Winchester was caught and placed in the steel cage in the jail. And now Clinton county has a murder case to dispose of.

Killed in the Mine.
J. C. Carberry, son of Wm. Carberry, met a sudden and untimely death in the Hamilton mine last Saturday morning. He was employed as a driver in Big Soldier but as that mine was idle Saturday the young man went to the Hamilton to help his father, who is a miner. Cal. was standing leaning on an empty car talking to Herbert Jones, a driver, when a trip of loaded cars was coming out on another track at a good speed. Jones noticed the mules were coming fast and they were standing near a curve, at which place there is danger of cars jumping if going fast, and he said to his companion: "Lookout for yourself, Cal!" The young man stepped in front of the empty car just as the loaded train struck the curve and a car jumped the track and pinned Carberry between the empty car and pillar of the mine. He was caught in the right breast and never spoke. He looked at Jones and waved his hand as much as to say "good bye, I am killed." The young man was about twenty years old and unmarried. He was pleasant and companionable, and was a quiet young man.

Funeral services were held at the home of the parents on Pleasant Avenue Monday afternoon, conducted by Rev. E. Lewis Kelley, Baptist minister, and the interment took place in Boulah cemetery. The deceased was a member of the K. G. E. lodge and 97 members of that order turned out through the inclement weather to the funeral to pay their last tribute of respect to a highly respected and well beloved brother.

The Tannery Odor.
A couple of Reynoldsville gentlemen "jumped onto" the editors of the Volunteer and The Star yesterday and gave them a "racket" for being, as one of them asserted, afraid to give the tannery company "thunder" for allowing the liquor from the tannery to flow into the creek and make it a cess-pool in the dry season. The aroma that is wafted through town on the evening breeze from the creek is simply awful. It is so "loud" that it disturbs the peace of many of our citizens, especially those who live near the creek. It does not enhance the value of real estate in the vicinity of the stream, and by all means something should be done to put an end to the stench that arises from that source. But why need the citizens tolerate the nuisance and wait for the newspapers to raise "merry-ned" about it? There is certainly some way of preventing this and the tannery company should be willing to take the necessary steps without being forced into it. When the water was low the smell was so terrible sometimes people would have to hold their nose when walking over the bridge.

Wedding Bells.
The wedding bells are sounding in Beechwoods. There are weddings and rumors of weddings up there. On Wednesday, Sept. 5th, Wm. Sterrett and Miss Jennie, daughter of Wm. Britton, allowed Rev. Geo. H. Hill, Presbyterian preacher, to hook them up in the matrimonial harness. Yesterday, Sept. 11th, William Brenholts and Miss Jane Buchanan were united in the bonds of wedlock by Rev. Hill. Since Beechwoods has become able to own a brass band a wedding in that section of the county is always followed by the contracting parties being honored with a delightful serenade. The two weddings above mentioned were no exception and manipulators of the brass instruments "blowed" themselves laurels by their fine music. Rev. Hill has married so many young people, and has heard of more to follow, that he has decided that it is not good for man to live alone and he will, according to reports, soon take unto himself a helpmate.

The Same in Reynoldsville.
Speaking of dogs, this is perhaps the greatest town for dogs on this side of Damascus. We have them here of all sizes, colors, breeds and conditions, from the snippy little terrier to the lubbry mastiff. And they are, taken as a whole, perhaps the most utterly worthless collection of canines on earth. They travel in squads and battalions, and we doubt if three hundred out of the whole lot have had their taxes paid. If the County Commissioners are not receiving $2,000 a year dog tax out of this town they are being shamefully imposed upon. Dogs! Why, this town is infested with them. They are especially interesting at night when you are a little nervous, and want to sleep.

Punxsutawney Spirit. Don't travel to Damascus, Bro. Smith, to find a town that has as many, if not more, worthless dogs in than Punxsutawney has. Come to Reynoldsville.

Some time ago we made mention of the experience of several Paradise people with what they thought was a panther. Last week the panther came to the front again in that neighborhood. A Reynoldsville gentleman who "blows a horn" to get people out to buy his line of goods, had business in Paradise last Friday and one lady told him the excitement they were having with panthers and that a gentleman had shot one of the panthers the night before. The Reynoldsville man learned before leaving that neighborhood that the panther shot was an opossum.

Cash is the motto. Closer profits and cheaper goods to the consumer. It is an absolute necessity to ourselves and the town, as many are going away for their goods. For prices call and see our goods. J. C. K. & Co.

Shooting Affair.
We mentioned last week that it was reported as we were going to press that J. Van Reed had shot S. E. Brewer that morning. The report was too true. For several months Dame Rumor had been insinuating that there was an intimacy between Mr. Reed and Mrs. M. B. Wynkup other than mere friendship. Several weeks before the shooting a story was told openly that Mr. Brewer, Geo. Bliss and two or three other fellows had laid in wait and caught Mr. Reed in the woods above Wynkup's house between nine and ten o'clock at night. This report and the insinuations of the intimacy between the two, was carried to Mr. Reed and he got indignant about the story and started out to sift it to the bottom. He wanted the men, whom it was alleged saw him in the woods, to sign a paper vindicating him from being the man whom they had seen. It was claimed Brewer had talked with Reed in the woods on the night mentioned and Mr. Reed was anxious to get Mr. Brewer's signature to the paper for publication, but Brewer refused to sign it and on the morning the shooting occurred Reed went to the tannery to insist on Brewer signing the paper. Because Brewer would not sign Reed drew a 32 calibre revolver out of his hip pocket and began shooting at him. Brewer was trying to defend himself by throwing stones and was stooping for a stone when the third shot caught him on the front part of his right leg, just below the hip, and passed through the fleshy part of the leg and was easily removed by Dr. S. Reynolds, the physician called. Reed fired four shots. After the shooting he walked over town and was arrested by Adlesperger in front of Centennial hall. In the afternoon he was placed under $1,000 bail. There are so many rumors and rumors of rumors and prevarications pro and con concerning the affair that it is hard to tell sometimes just what to believe.

In the Courier's article about the affair it was claimed that Brewer and Reed are both members of the M. E. church, which is not correct. Brewer is not a member of any church.

Afraid to Come.
The Reynoldsville ball club went to New Bethlehem last week and played two games with the club at that place, with the understanding that the New Bethlehem club was to come to Reynoldsville to play. Our boys have set two or three days for the game at this place, but the New Bethlehem club has failed to come and it now looks as if they would not come at all. The impression is that the club is afraid to come here after the manner in which our boys were "roasted" while at New Bethlehem, but they need not be alarmed for they would be used alright at this place. The New Bethlehem Indicator says:

The Reynoldsville ball club are not pleased with the roasting they received at this place. We always supposed that ball players delighted in being yelled at and hooted, called big head, ape and every other term in the vocabulary of slang, but it appears that these boys are not.

Drowned Monday.
A three-year-old son of Anthony Chase, of Dubois, was drowned in a well at that place on Monday. The Courier says: "Jas. Foley, who is a neighbor of the Chase family, had been digging a well on his property and had an excavation of about six feet made. When the heavy storm came up during the afternoon he left the hole to wait for the storm to pass over and when he returned he found it filled with water and in it was the body of the 3-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chase. No one saw the child fall into the water, and it is presumed the little fellow ran out from his home after the storm and seeing the water stepped into it, thinking it only a pool. He sank to the bottom and there was no one near to rescue him. The drowning is one of the saddest accidents that has occurred in the town for many days."

Partial Eclipse.
There will be a partial eclipse of the moon next Friday, September 14th, which will be visible in these parts. The moon will enter the earth's shadow on Friday night at 10.29 o'clock; the middle of the eclipse will be at 11.25 o'clock, and the moon will leave the earth's shadow twenty-one minutes after midnight. The magnitude of the eclipse will be a trifle less than one-fourth of the moon's diameter on the northern limb. The point of the first contact with the shadow will be the north point of the moon's limb.
