ranks second in batting. Few of the players who betrayed the Players' League have had any luck since and most of them have drifted into obscurity. This season Ewing, Clark-son and Glasscock received their reward. These is a movement among the respecta-ble baseball players against being compelled to associate with the rowdy element in the profession, and the League at its next annual meeting will undoubtedfy be called upon to take some radical legislation on the subject.

This has been a great baseball year in Baltimore. Interest has been maintained there as it has in no other League city, with the possible exception of New York, and to-day is at a higher pitch than it has been since the team left for its Southern practice trip in March.

A PECULIAR accident happened to Ernest Woods, the eighteen-year-old pitcher of the Whitestone Athletic Club, at Waitestone, N. Y. Woods delivered a swift ball, and immediately his arm fell limp to his sele. An examination developed the fact that his arm was broken above the elbow.

STIVET'S bleeps measure seventeen inches. His arm is a muscular monstrosity and physicians who have examine i him say he will last longer than any pitcher in the history of the game. The Boston pitcher, however, is not in love with his work. He says he prefers playing the outfield.

When the baseball sharp begins to size up the surprises of the season of 1894 he won't be impressed so much by the superb show-ing of Baitimore as he will by the unex-pected drop of Cleveland and Pittsburg. On their 1893 form it wasn't apparent how they could fail to be among the first three in 1894, and yet Pittsburg will have to hustle to get into the first division.

The contrast is sudden, solemn and grand, and something of the deep mystery of Oriental life is all at once made clear to you. In the cool shadows Mussulmans of all ages are prostrating themselves before the Mihrab—the small shrine which in every moscue shows the exa. t directions of the shadows the exa. t directions are supported in the shadows the exa. t directions of the shadows the exa. every mosque shows the exact direction of Mecca-or before the sacred tion of Mecca—or before the sacred writings in other parts of the wall. It is indeed impossible to spend much time among Mussulmans without acquiring the certainty that they are profoundly in earnest inreligious matters, and that the un'urling of the standard of the prophet, which is occasionally hinted at as a vague possibility, would be productive of results not dreamed of in the philosophy of Europe.

The Exaltation of the Peanut.

Next to Debs and Huntington, the peanut has come in for more comment during the past few months than anything else, human, diabolical or divine. There seems to be a peanut oom of large dimensions sweeping the country, and it is made very clear by its advocates that the peanut is about the only thing fit for food that is produced anywhere in the world. Alleged chemical analyses set forth with mathematical accuracy how many Daniel Websters or Sandows there are in a ton of peanuts, and how much money should be made in producing them. It is quite likely that much of such stuff is bosh, and quite likely also that the table given below, showing the relative nutrient values of different substances, is of the same type; still we give it for

Ir is quite a question whether there was ever crowded into two consecutive weeks as much clock business as has been done in New York City during the past fortnight.

Some Wonderful Records Made by French-practiced but little in this country, says the New York Herald. Within the last five years, however, it has been taken up by some as a pastime. Prior to the war pistol practice was by no means uncommon, but the rifle supplanted the smaller weapon to a large extent when hostilities began. Now pistol shooting, or rather revolver shooting is growing in favor again. In France it is claimed that there are more expert pistol shots than in any other country. This is open to dispute, particularly by Amercans, but it is pretty safe to assert that there is more target pistol shooting and more interest in it in France than in any other land. At the last annual tournament, held at the gallery of Gastinne Renette. 17 Avenue d'Antin, Paris, there was plenty of evidence of the Frenchmen's skill with the pistol. The scores were probably the best ever made in France. These tournaments continue about a month, and are participated in by the best amateur pistol shots in a great honor. At the last tourna-ment, recently concluded, the premier prize was won by Monsieur H. Bonzon. This gentleman is considered to be the peer of all the pistol shots in Paris. His remarkable performance was accomplished at a distance of sixteen metres (fifty-two and onehalf feet) and the bull's-eye was one and one-eighth inches in diameter. For the first time in the history of this famous gallery—the oldest in Europe—the use of revolvers was permitted, and it will be a source of price to America to know that M Bon on used a revolver of American It carried a 44-callber hall.

target. Not only did each strike the buil's-eye, but each took off a portion of the carton, the small white disk in the center, which is only threeeighths of an inch in diameter. For this wonderful bit of marksmanship M. Bonzon was awarded the grand medal of honor, a prize greatly cov-eted, but seldom won. The second prize at this tournament was won by M. Molinie-Paget, who scored fortyeight points by sending six out of seven builets square into the bull'seye. Several competitors scored forty-seven points. The illustration, which shows the work of M. G. Kohn, in firing at the word of command, gives a further idea of the prowess of the Frenchmen with a pistol, as does also the one showing the steadiness of M. Bonzon in perforating the target, scoring tifty points. The firearm generally used in these competitions is very similar in size, shape and weight to the old dueling pistol. It is breech-loading, is about ten inches long and carries a 38-caliber ball. A new French powder was tried in the last tournament and was universally commended. It made but little noise and produced scarcely visible fugitive smoke that vanished
