Did the election result just as you expected?

The Swiss are putting phonographs into their repeating watches, so that the hour and minute are spoken, instead of struck.

In almost every city at present there is more or less diphtheria. Philadelphia is suffering considerably, also New York; and the latter city, through Dr. Cyrus Edson, is importing the new cure from Europe—the inoculation of serum.

Dr. Brewer, for many years physician at St. Vincent's Insane Asylum, says: "I chadly state that the boy who smokes at 7 will drink at 14, take to morphine at 20 or 25 and wind up with cocaine and the rest of the narcotics at 30 or later on." Think of it, boys.

After December 1st mail will be carried from the Pittsburgh postoffice to the East End on the cars of the Duquesne Traction company. The street cars carrying mail will be designated by a red flag bearing the letters "U. S. M." in white letters. The motormen and conductors of such cars will be sworn into the mail service.

Money, which is the "root of all evil," is perhaps used less and less every year. Checks, bills of exchange, etc., are gradually taking its place, to a considerable extent. Vast amounts of money are thus transferred from one pocket to another, and from one part of the world to another, without a single genuine dollar leaving its place.

An observant man says: The man who uses his brain makes little noise. 'Tis the brass that is sonorous; and when a man is a kettledrum you may know the noise he makes is largely echoes from cavities in his cranium. There are men passed on the streets every day unnoticed, who think deeper and better, and who forget more every year, than others who are leaders in society.

Lord Lytton says he has read somewhere of an enchanted land where the inmates walked among voluptuous gardens, and built palaces, and heard music, and made merry, while around and within the land were deep caverns where fiends dwelt, and ever and anon their groans and the sound of their ghastly revels traveled to the upper air. This he claims to be a picture of a human life.

The African leopard catches and destroys the antelope through an appeal to this animal's curiosity. Concealing himself in the long grass among the leaves of green branches fallen or trailing on the ground, he awaits the approach of his intended victim. He knows that curiosity is a weakness of antelope; and when the graceful creature comes near the cunning foe he stirs the green covering which attracts the closer inspection of the antelope. In another moment the leopard springs upon the incautious visitor and lays the bleeding carcass at his feet. So often folly and ruin is wrought among men by unbridled, morbid curiosity.

The most attractive age of a woman's life is the period when she is still young enough to be pretty and old enough to be sympathetic, says Octave Thonet. For as grace is a woman's greatest beauty so sympathy is her greatest charm. A graceful and sympathetic woman is bound to be attractive to the end of her days. If she adds a taste in dress and some sense to her equipment for pleasing, and does not grow deaf, I see no reason why she should not be fascinating in her old age. Since the question, however, concerns itself only with the most attractive age of woman I must give the answer in my first sentence. What that age as measured by years may be, ought to vary with the individual.

Great results may spring from small beginnings. Chantrey, the famous sculptor, when a boy was observed by a gentleman cutting a stick with a pen-knife. When asked what he was doing he replied, "I am cutting old Fox's head." Fox was the village schoolmaster. The gentleman examined the work, praised it greatly, and gave the youth a sixpence. Don't despise the first attempts of a boy when he shows you his work. The river rolling its accumulated waters to the ocean was once but an oozing rill, trickling down some moss covered rock and winding like a silver thread between the banks to which it imparted verdure. The tree that sweeps the air with its hundred branches and mooks at the howling of the tempest was once a little seed trodden under foot.

Carl Brehm's big spectacular new version of "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" appears at the Opera House Monday evening, Nov. 12th. The show evidently pleases the people as the press where they have appeared are giving commendable notices. We clip the following:

Carl Brehm's "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" was greeted by a full house at Clark's opera last night. The company gave a "tip-top" show throughout, which was highly appreciated, as the continued applause would denote.—Toronto (O.) Tribune Sept. 22, 1874.

Old Abe the War Eagle.

One of the most marvelous sights of the late war was the great eagle, affectionately christened by the soldiers, "Old Abe," which hovered over the Union Army on many bloody battle fields. Notwithstanding her name "Abe" was after all a female as she proved by laying a large egg after the war was over. A complete history of this historic bird with many anecdotes and illustrations is to be published in the current volume of the Youth's Tribune, (Pottsville, Pa.) Another war story to be published in the same magazine entitled "A Babe in the War," is said to be one of the most tender and touching stories ever told in connection with our great civil strife. A series of articles of special interest to musicians will be begun in January entitled "Famous Boy Choirs of America," finely illustrated.

The Youth's Tribune is a temperance and literary journal and while its articles and illustrations are of the very best, it contains nothing calculated to give a false view of life or suggest an impure thought. It is to be published twice a month and its price has been fixed not at $4.00 a year nor $2.00 but only $1.00 for a whole year.

The magazine is illustrated by the best American artists. Over two hundred and fifty serial and short stories are to be published during the coming year. Every one subscribing now will receive the numbers for November and December free.

To every one sending one dollar for a year's subscription at once the publishers propose sending a neat Christmas present. The price of a sample copy is eight cents but no one can do better than to accept the liberal offer of the publishers to those who send a year's subscription now. Address simply, THE YOUTH'S TRIBUNE, Pottsville, Pa.

Death of Mrs. Lyons.

Mrs. Hannah Lyons, who was well known in Rathmel and Reynoldsville, died at her home in Rathmel Tuesday morning, Oct. 30th, at about 8.00 o'clock. The subject of this notice was born in the state of New York in the year 1826. She came to Pennsylvania with her parents, Samuel and Hannah Sprague, when she was about eight years old, and was married to Clark Lyons in 1843. She was the mother of twelve children, seven daughters and five sons. She leaves to mourn for her husband, three daughters and two sons: John, of Rathmel; George, of Sycosville; Mrs. Gordon Clark, of Big Soldier Run Mines; Mrs. G. M. Henry and Mrs. Samuel Koehler, of Rathmel. She has thirty grandchildren, four great-grandchildren and one brother, Geo. Sprague, of Reynoldsville. She had been a Christian for about thirty years. For the last six years she has been a member of the Church of God. The funeral services were held in the Church of God Thursday, Nov. 1st, at 10.00 o'clock, conducted by Elder A. J. Peacock. Text, Revelations 14:13: "Blessed are they which die in the Lord." The remains were interred in the Prospect cemetery. The large concourse of people who attended her funeral showed that she was respected and held in high esteem by many. May God help those of her family who yet survive her to so live in the fear of the Lord that they may meet beyond the river death. Mrs. Lyons was a Christian lady and a kind and sympathizing mother.
