The W. C. T. U. will meet next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock at Mrs. J. M. Hays'. A full attendance is requested on account of important business.
Last Wednesday night Jim Donahue was accidentally shot in the left hip from a revolver in the hands of a boy from Snyderstown. The ball made a small flesh wound.
Every girl and boy should keep a scrap book. There are many gems of literature in the papers that are seen in print but once, and if they are not culled at the time they are lost forever.
There will be preaching services in the Lutheran church at 10.30 A. M. next Sunday, conducted by Rev. J. H. Ritter. All members of the church are requested to be present, as there are special arrangements to be made at the close of the services.

J. Van. Reed slipped and fell on the sidewalk last Wednesday night and carried a black eye for a few days afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam'l Holt, of Jackson street, who have been spending the winter at Snow Shoe, buried their baby last Sunday.

Meals at all hours at Mrs. E. Armagost's restaurant next door to the post-office. She also handles a line of fresh groceries bought direct from the city, not an old stock.

The Canadian Jubilee Singers Co. composed of ten colored people, will give an entertainment in Centennial Hall on Tuesday, April 16th. Best company on the road to-day.

Fred. Koehn, a miner, was injured in Big Soldier Monday by a fall of roofing. His right shoulder and elbow, and left hand and knee were badly bruised, but there were no bones broken.

Mrs. F. M. Brown gave a dinner party at 3.00 P. M. last Wednesday to a number of lady friends, and Mrs. E. Neff gave a dinner party on Friday to a number of ladies and their husbands.

A number of citizens mistook Mr. Cox, advance agent for the Canadian Jubilee Singers Co., who was here on Monday, for Mr. Parrott, the man who is to come to Reynoldsville to see the sight for the much talked of pig iron furnace.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the Presbyterian church will hold a dimc social at the home of Miss Maud Riston, Friday evening, March 15th. Ice cream and cake will be served. A cordial invitation is extended to all friends of the Endeavor.

The Clarion Republican says: "One million, six hundred thousand cubic feet of hemlock square timber has been put into the Clarion this winter, ready for shipment on the spring rise. This is about 200,000 feet more than was rafted at the same time last year."

American Protestant Ladies' Association will give a supper and entertainment in the G. A. R. Hall Saturday evening, March 16th. Price of supper 25 cents, 15 for children. Ice cream and cake will be served. Everybody is cordially invited. Supper from five until ten o'clock.

The revival meetings which have been in progress in the M. E. church, Punksutawney, for some weeks past, have closed. About fifty persons, mostly young men and women, professed conversion. Rev. J. W. Blaisdell, formerly of Brookville, is pastor of the Punksutawney M. E. church.

The entertainment given in Centennial Hall last Friday evening by the Hotchkiss Sisters was attended by a large crowd. The ladies are exceedingly clever bell ringers, and evinced decided talents in the use of the many musical instruments used in their concert. The audience was enthusiastic, and occasionally very demonstrative.

The silver cup to be given to the person who guesses the number, or nearest the number, of books given to the borough schools next Friday can be seen in one of the display windows in Stoke's drug store. It is certain that all the guessers cannot get the cup; however, they can make the attempt. Only those who give a book are entitled to a guess.

About thirty-five people from the neighborhood of Emerickville came into West Reynoldsville Saturday to see their old friend, J. W. Dempsey, who has not recovered from the accident at the tannery Jan. 12th. They brought their baskets well filled with good things and took dinner at Mr. Dempsey's home. The old gentleman enjoyed and appreciated the visit.

D. B. McConnell, a well-to-do farmer who lives near Allen's Mills, and Mrs. Annie Swisher, of Warsaw, were married at the Hyde House, Ridgway, last Wednesday by Rev. W. H. Baker, pastor of the Brookwayville Presbyterian church. The Allen's Mills cornet band serenaded the newly wedded pair on Friday evening. THE STAR joins with their numerous friends in wishing them happiness and success in life's journey.

Before many weeks a public meeting will be called to take some steps towards getting a Y. M. C. A. in Reynoldsville. A. D. Deemer, owner of the Arnold block, has been interviewed in regard to renting the second story of the Arnold block for a Y. M. C. A., and he talks very favorably of the scheme. It would be much better to start out right and erect a building expressly for the Association, but if this cannot be done the next best step will be to rent good rooms. The Associations at Punksutawney and Dubois are both occupying rented rooms.

The school board committee offered Mrs. George Rhoads $2,500 for eight lots for a school site, which includes her dwelling house. This is entirely too low a price to offer for that amount of property. She is a widow, it is her home, she has made improvements that will increase the value of the property to her each year, and it is but right that she should get a fair price for it. In justice to the school board we would say it is not their intention to take the property from her at the above offer. They will either look for another site or have the court appoint a committee to appraise the property.

Leg Broken.

John Ortiz, a dumper on the tippie at Big Soldier mine, had his left leg broken one day last week while at work. He was pushing a car off the scales when another car was dropped down and Ortiz's leg was caught between the bumpers of the cars and was broken below the knee.

Sparrows Gone.

During the real cold snap this winter the sparrows were either all frozen or frightened out of Reynoldsville. Have you noticed how conspicuous they are by their absence? They are very saucy and independent birds, and for aught we know the town is just as well off without them.

Fined for Snow-halling.

The parents of five real nice lads increased the borough treasury last Thursday evening. The reason thereof was because Burgess Lattimer caught the boys throwing snow-balls. It will be well for all boys to remember that the Burgess proposes to make every person caught snow-halling pay a fine.

Invited to see Plans.

For a few days after the 18th of this month preliminary plans for the new school building, sketched by different architects for the school board, can be seen at the office of M. M. Davis, Esq. The secretary of the board will show these plans to any citizen interested in the kind of school building to be erected in Reynoldsville. Call and see the plans.

Presbyterian Social.

The members and friends of the Presbyterian congregation held a reception in the Grand Army Hall last evening. The object, as we understand, was to have a pleasant time and get better acquainted with each other, which is a good step for any church to take. The participants in the social carried edibles with them and the N. T. L. Society took charge of the affair and served the people when they gathered around the tables.

Swallowed a Screw.

A twelve-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Jos. Hamblet swallowed a 1 1/2 inch screw on Sunday. The child was lying on its back on the floor and it got the screw into its mouth and swallowed it. The child choked and a doctor was summoned. He ran his finger down the child's throat and thought he felt the screw but could not get it out. The child passed the screw Monday evening. Parents should be very careful about what their babies play with.

An old Patriarch Gone.

At nine o'clock Tuesday evening, March 5th, Rev. Samuel Miles, the veteran minister of the Baptist church of Ansonville, Clearfield county, severed his connection with the church militant and joined the church triumphant. For sixty-one years he had on the gospel harness proclaiming the "glad tidings of great joy." Seventeen years he was pastor of the Prescottville Baptist church. Seventeen years ago he moved to Ansonville where he continued in the regular service until about one year ago. He was eighty-eight years old last November. Over eight hundred people attended his funeral at Ansonville. The deceased was the father of Robt. Miles and Mrs. David Reynolds of Reynoldsville.

Will Move April 1st.

Glenn A. Milliren, the young clothing merchant, has rented one of the large store rooms in the Reynolds block and will move his store into it about the first of April. He is now in the eastern cities buying an immense line of clothing and gents' furnishing goods. With the competition to be met nowadays it takes energy and push to make a success of business, and Glenn has proven himself to be a successful merchant, as he has done a nice business in the rooms he now occupies. In his new location the room will be much larger and he can show his goods off to a better advantage than he could in the room soon to be vacated. Glenn expects to run a first-class store and sell his goods at prices to compete with any of the stores of this or surrounding towns. His success of the past is not due to large profits, but by discounting his bills.

Did You Ever See One?

Driftwood is a small, live town situated at the base of towering mountains. 'Squire John T. Earl publishes an excellent paper in that village. Notwithstanding its mountainous surroundings the town, according to remarks of "Mose Carpenter" in the Gazette, has a large number of a class of people that Reynoldsville is cursed or blessed with, as the case may be, and that is critics. Oh! yes, we have them, and they are here to stay. We meet them every Friday. "Mose" says: "There are a great many sharp-eyed critics at our very doors. They are as numerous as the snow birds just before a blizzard. They meet us at every turn and corner. Some are tall and some are short; some are lean and some are fat; some are elegantly dressed and move up and down our streets with rare dignity and the most faultless gracefulness. Others wear slouch hats and coarse trousers, and knit shirts and give infallible signs of a neglected toilet."

Victim of Consumption.

At 7.30 A. M. on Wednesday, March 6th, 1895, Mrs. John Brennan, of Reynoldsville, peacefully passed from the confines of time into the Great Beyond. For fourteen years her vitality was being sapped away by that slow but sure foe to humanity—consumption. She was able to be about the house up until three weeks before her death, when she was attacked by a severe coughing spell and from that time on it was evident that her life would soon come to an end. Her funeral services were held in the Catholic church Friday morning and were largely attended by relatives and friends. Father Brady performed High Mass. He spoke in high praise of the departed lady, who was a faithful and consistent member of the church. The remains were buried in the Catholic cemetery.

Sarah A. Gilfoyl was born in Dublin, Ireland, in 1845. She came to America with her parents in early life. She graduated at St. Aloysius Academy, Loretto, June 28, 1869, and taught school in Jefferson and Clarion counties. She was a very bright woman. July 7th, 1875, John Brennan and Sarah Gilfoyl were married at Brookville by Rev. Weinker, and in several months afterwards moved to Reynoldsville, where they have since resided. A husband, five children and an aged mother survive the deceased.

Mrs. Brennan's mother, who was 85 years old the second of last month, has made her home at this place with her daughter for twenty years. She is getting very feeble now and says she expects to soon meet her daughter "on the other shores."

Very Little Poor Tax.

Poor overseer Bryant is authority for the statement that a borough poor tax levy will have to be made this year as the calls upon the public bounty have been so great that the funds on hand have become exhausted. Ever since Brookwayville was incorporated into a borough very little poor tax has been necessary. The last levy was made when the borough waif was left for the public to care for. This was about four years ago, and the surplus accrued by that levy has been sufficient to meet all calls until the present. More calls have been made during the past winter than ever before, but the most of them have been transient and due to unexpected misfortune and sickness rather than long continued poverty.—Brookwayville Record.

Don't Forget It.

Next Friday will be "book reception day" in the borough schools. On that day all the parents of Reynoldsville and friends of education are invited to attend the schools, both in the public school building and in the Reynolds block, to see the work that has been done by the schools and the progress made therein. Those who visit the public building are requested to carry a book with them to contribute to the school library if they are so disposed, but whether they take a book or not they will be welcome and are cordially invited to visit the schools. This is a grand step and should be encouraged by the parents by their presence on that day and by donating a book to the library.

Rodgers' Bond.

According to an act of Assembly the borough is compelled to require the high constable to give a bond, not because he is entrusted with borough money, but as a guarantee that he will perform his duties faithfully. The bond is generally put at one hundred dollars, but the council saw fit to require a ten dollar bond from Aaron Rodgers, who was sworn into the office of high constable last Friday. Mr. Rodgers' ten dollar bond was signed by the following gentlemen, whom the council will doubtless accept for that amount at its next regular meeting: E. Neff, Dr. J. W. Foust, Ezra D. Hartman, David Hartman, C. C. Gibson and F. K. Arnold.

Public Reception.

The West Reynoldsville borough schools closed the winter term yesterday. Under the principalship of Prof. Lex N. Mitchell and efficient assistance of Misses Jennie White and Maggie Butler, the term was a success and the schools closed in a prosperous condition. To show an appreciation of the work done by the teachers, the parents and friends of the schools will hold a reception in the city hall of that borough this evening in honor of the teachers above named.

Did you see it?

There was a total eclipse of the moon Sunday evening. The first signs of the phenomenon was noticed about 9.00. At that time it was difficult to see the orb of night for clouds, but by the time the eclipse was on the clouds had rolled by and those who thought of it had a good view of the eclipse.

Special to the Ladies.

On Friday, March 22nd, we are going to have special sale day of lace curtains. Will offer some big bargains. Wait for it.

Falsely Accused.

Some of the good people of West Reynoldsville took exceptions to the article published in THE STAR last week concerning the trouble between a couple of borough officials and a picture agent, and went so far as to accuse the editor falsely, claiming that the paper published the article in question, dictated by the agent, with the understanding that the agent was to buy one dollar's worth of papers; also that the paper should stand by the borough instead of a stranger that is here to-day and away to-morrow, and that the case cited at Titusville was a farmer who sold produce, and not a picture agent. We do not know who started the accusation against THE STAR, nor how extensively it has been circulated, but do know that we were informed as above stated, and believe it nothing more than proper that we place THE STAR in the proper light.

In the first place THE STAR has nothing against West Reynoldsville borough, or any of its officials, or any individual citizen. Any man who thinks this paper can be bought for a dollar, or any other sum, all he has to do is to try and see. The attempt has been made four or five times in the past three years. Not one line of the article published last week was dictated by the picture agent, nor was it published at his request. The facts in the article concerning the papers being sent to Brookville were received from the agent's attorney, and the Titusville case cited was gleaned from the decision of the United States Supreme Court in the case. As for this paper standing by the two boroughs, no man can bring any charge against THE STAR for going back on them. We are interested in both boroughs. The paper always has, and always will, so long as it is under the present management, claim the right to express an opinion even on the borough ordinances, and does not propose to stand by anything if it is unconstitutional. The ordinances in this borough and West Reynoldsville, "regulating hawkers and peddlers," will hardly stand the test. This borough has declared the ordinance unconstitutional and will strike it off the statute book and will frame a new ordinance to take its place. An ordinance can be framed that will protect the business men of the town to a certain extent. There is no one more anxious to have the business men protected from the installment plan agents, &c., than the editor of this paper. We believe a man who lives in a town and spends his money in it is deserving of the patronage of the people, and should be protected in some manner. We want a law that will not get the borough into trouble if it is enforced.

Book Reception.

We are very anxious to have the patrons and friends visit us on Friday, March 15, in order that they may examine the work that is being done in the school.

Those having children attending in the Reynolds building are requested to go there first where they will be received by Miss Fuller and the work will be arranged for examination. After they have seen the work there, we would like very much to have them come to the building up town. Those bringing books to the Reynolds building and not wishing to go to the upper building, if they have any books for the school library, can present them to Miss Fuller. We prefer having the books brought to the upper building, as we desire to number the books at four o'clock. Those desiring good books for the library will find them at Reynolds' drug store and also at Stoke's drug store, as each of these parties has bought between three hundred and five hundred books for this occasion.
T. R. HILLARD.

Fatal Accident at Walston.

Robert Quigley, a driver in the slope at Walston, met with a frightful accident on Monday which resulted in his death on Tuesday. The mine cars were hauled by mules to a certain point in the slope and then they are unhitched and the cars run down an incline by gravity. When Quigley unhitched the mules from the cars, the cars started before he could get out of their way and he was thus struck and knocked down. He was dragged a considerable distance when one of his legs caught on a projecting rail and this member was nearly torn off. He was taken to Adrian Hospital, but he never rallied from the shock and died the next day. He leaves a wife and family of two children.—Punksutawney News.

Auction! Auction! Auction!

Commencing Saturday, March 16th, at 2.00 P. M., in the opera house block, I will close out my stock consisting of hats, caps and shoes and a general line of gents' furnishing goods, dry goods and notions, to make room for new goods.
J. S. MORROW.

David Wheeler returned last Thursday from Illinois with a car load of mules.

J. W. Riggs is in the neighborhood of Brookwayville this week inspecting lumber.

Miss Minnie McKernan, of Ellipticville, N. Y., is visiting her aunt, Miss M. E. Moore.

Mrs. Andrew T. Bing is in DuBois, being called there by the illness of a little nephew.

Reid Wilson returned last week from Philadelphia where he was attending a Dental College.

John L. Siffer, who has been at Lock Haven for several months, has returned to Reynoldsville.

Miss Martha Payne and Miss Edith Lenhart, of DuBois, were the guests of Miss Mary Burge last week.

Mrs. W. C. Helmbold and daughter, of Curwensville, were the guests of Mrs. W. B. Alexander last Thursday.

John Thomas, who went to Johnsonburg last month with Wallace Lowther to start a new barbershop, has returned to Reynoldsville.

Prof. A. J. Linn, of New Brighton, Pa., is the guest this week of his brother-in-law, Prof. Edgar A. Po-Etic W. J. Weaver, in Reynoldsville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. L. Miles, Mr. and Mrs. David Reynolds and sons, Wood and Frank, were at Ansonville last week attending the funeral of Rev. Samuel Miles.

Mrs. R. M. Alexander returned Saturday from the city where she has been attending the spring openings and purchasing her stock of spring and summer millinery.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Smith went to Buffalo, N. Y., Monday morning, where they will remain for a month. Mrs. Smith will receive treatment at one of the hospitals in that city.

Dr. W. B. Alexander and wife went to Clearfield yesterday to attend the funeral of the former's aunt, Mrs. Wright, relict of Judge Wright. The old lady was almost ninety years old.

Rev. G. H. Hill, pastor of the Beechwoods Presbyterian church, assisted Rev. Johnson hold preparatory communion services in the Reynoldsville Presbyterian church last Thursday and Friday evenings.

James Cooper, one of the thrifty and enterprising farmers of near Warsaw, this county, was in Reynoldsville several days last week to visit his father, Niran Cooper, and while in town he called at this office and renewed his subscription to THE STAR for another year.

Milton J. Schlabbig was called to New Millport, Pa., last Thursday by the death of his father, Christopher Schlabbig, who was 87 years old. Mrs. Schlabbig and Harry L., her son, went to New Millport Friday to attend the funeral. The deceased was one of the old inhabitants of Clearfield county.

Chas. B. French, the insurance agent, was in Pittsburg last week attending a banquet at Duquesne Hotel given by the New York Equitable Life Assurance agents. These gentlemen are making it a regular thing to enjoy a banquet in the "Smoky City" annually. Prizes were given to the agents for the largest amount of work done in a year in each class. Mr. French was one of the hustlers and he brought a prize home with him.

John C. Hirst, who has been living at Mahoning, Pa., has moved his family back to Reynoldsville. The family arrived last Friday. The big ice gorge in the Allegheny river hastened the moving. When big cakes of ice began piling up near their dwelling house Mr. Hirst thought it high time to move his family to a place where ice is not so familiar. Some places along the river the big cakes of ice would plunge through the side of a house.

Choragymen, lawyers, public speakers, singers and actors, all recognize the virtues of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. One of our most eminent public men says: "It is the best remedy that can be prepared for all affections of the vocal organs, throat and lungs."
