In the list of new officers elected by the directors of the Reynoldsville Building and Loan Association, published last week, we unintentionally omitted the name of M. M. Davis, Esq., who was elected solicitor.

This week we publish a genealogy of the Arnolds for many generations, a picture of F. K. Arnold and a sketch of his life. We expect to publish pictures and sketches of the lives of other citizens from time to time.

We received a neat invitation from the I. O. O. F. executive committee last week to attend the 76th anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America to be held at Punxsutawney April 26th. Past Grand Master David Craft will be the orator of the day. Preparations are being made for this anniversary to be a great success.

A number of marksmen from Luthersburg, DuBois, Reynoldsville and vicinity tried their skill in this town Saturday at Alex. Riston's and F. J. Black's shooting matches. L. J. Kerr, of DuBois, won the prize of a shot-gun at the Riston contest, and D. W. Crawford, of the same town, won the prize of a rifle in Black's shooting gallery.

It is said there is "nothing new under the sun," which seems to be quite true in regard to the present monstrosities in the line of ladies' dress sleeves. By referring to Ezekiel 13:18 it will be discovered that big sleeves were in style 2,500 years ago. Ezekiel says: "Woe to the women that sew pillows to all arm-holes." See a picture of the latest in sleeves on an inside page of this issue.

A citizen of this borough was arrested last Thursday and taken before the Mayor to answer for the charge of refusing to pay for neglecting to clean the snow off his sidewalk last winter. The gentleman was willing to pay the borough for having the snow removed, but objected to the fine imposed on him for the neglect. He paid the fine and costs. Out of the ninety who allowed the borough to remove the snow from their sidewalks all but four or five have paid their fines and costs. The others will be collected.

The "blowout" given by the old soldiers in their lodge room last evening to wives, sons and daughters of old soldiers, was done up in grand style by the dear old boys in blue. Speeches, songs, recitations, army stories, oysters, &c., was the program for the evening.

One Result. As a result of the borough compelling owners to see that the snow and ice be kept off the sidewalks in front of their properties, some of the lessees of Reynoldsville have had leases printed so that the lessor will comply with all the ordinances "relating to accumulation of snow and ice on sidewalks, health and nuisances," of this borough.

Any More, Furbay? Rev. Furbay, of Tyrone, has just recently had the degree of Doctor of Philosophy conferred upon him by the faculty of the Ohio University of Athens, Ohio. He has name enough now, with all its handles, to insure him success, if name is worth anything for that purpose. It is now Harvey Graeme Furbay A. B., A. M., Ph. D., if you please.

Another Information. Lewis Wagner, of Rathmel, appeared before Squire E. Neff in this place on Wednesday of last week and made information, under oath, that G. W. Johnston, Jr., did on the 23rd day of March, and divers other days, unlawfully and maliciously carry concealed and deadly weapons to do injury to L. Thos. Kuntz and others, which he expects to be able to prove at the trial of the case. Johnston was placed under $800.00 bail for his appearance at court.

Two Lamps Fell. Glenn A. Milliren uses large oil lamps to light his clothing store. The lamps are arranged with heavy bell cord and pulleys so that two lamps are on the same cord and the weight of one will hold the other up. One evening last week the cord attached to one of the lamps caught fire and broke and both lamps fell to the floor with a crash. Fortunately the fall extinguished the lights in both lamps and thereby saved any excitement that might have followed by a fire.

Small Blaze. A little after eleven o'clock last Wednesday forenoon there was considerable excitement in West Reynoldsville for a few minutes over a threatened conflagration, but the fire fiend was discovered in time to avert much damage. The West Reynoldsville fire company responded promptly and soon had a stream of water on the building. The Reynoldsville fire companies also responded, but were not needed. The fire was on the roof of the building in which Wm. Burge has his store. The fire caught from burning paper out of the chimney.

Surprise Party. A number of young Misses, ranging in age from ten to fifteen got up a surprise party Wednesday evening on Misses Eva and Kittle Shiek, daughters of Sam'l V. Shiek, merchant in the Arnold block. The two girls were invited out for supper and when they returned home the house was full of girls. The self-invited guests did not go empty handed, but carried with them dainties from their mamma's culinary departments. In due time the girls devoured the good things. They had a good time and were somewhat disappointed because a threatening storm droye them home about twelve o'clock.

Building an Iron-clad. M. M. Fisher, the saddler, who purchased the Whitmore property on Main street opposite Thos. Tapper's livery stable, has moved the building back thirty feet and will build that much of an addition onto it for a store room and saddler shop. Mr. Fisher's business has increased so that he needs more room for his shop and he must vacate the room he now occupies as John H. Corbett's son-in-law expects to open a photograph gallery in that building when Mr. Fisher moves out. The building was erected a few years ago by J. C. Williams especially for a photograph gallery. Mr. Fisher's new building will be iron-clad.

Died from Consumption. At twelve o'clock Thursday night, March 29th, William B. Deemer died at his home in Winslow township from consumption. Two years ago the disease began to assert itself. Last fall Mr. Deemer moved his family from Brookville to Winslow township and was confined to the house from that time on. He was 37 years old. He leaves a wife and three children. The deceased was a brother of A. D. Deemer, of Brookville, Jonathan Deemer, Jr., of Winslow township, and Miss Barbara Deemer, of Reynoldsville. Funeral services were held in the M. E. church at Emerickville at 10.00 A. M. Sunday, conducted by Rev. Gearheart.

Bound Over to Court. There was considerable boisterousness in Reynoldsville Saturday night and Policeman L. A. Stiles, in trying to get an intoxicated man to move on home without so much noise, got into a peck of trouble and had to call on several citizens for assistance, who happened to be coming along, or he would have been badly used up. Joshua Reed, David McPherson and Thomas McPherson were landed in the cooler where they remained until Monday for disorderly conduct and were then taken before Squire Neff on the charge of interfering with and assaulting a borough officer, &c. The three men were bound over to May term of court in the sum of three hundred dollars apiece.

Going to Butler Co. Prof. T. J. Hillard, the principal of our schools who has done such efficient work in the schools during the term that will close next Monday, received a call to take the position as principal of the Academy at Prospect, Butler county, for a term of twelve weeks. The term was to have been opened April 2nd, but on account of the schools not closing here until the 8th and the faculty of the Academy being so anxious to secure Prof. Hillard's service, the opening was postponed until the 10th of April. This will not give Prof. any rest, which he needs after his term in this place. We believe in the old saying, "when you get a good thing, save it," and for that reason it would be well for our school directors to make arrangements with Prof. Hillard for another term before he gets out of their reach. The directors deserve praise for the selection of teachers they provided for the schools this term. The Reynoldsville correspondent to the Brookville Democrat is speaking of the schools and teachers says:

"Our school term is nearing its close, and the majority of the pupils regret it, as under the skillful management of Prof. Hillard and his able corps of assistants they have advanced rapidly. The schools have prospered beyond the most sanguine expectations of our people. Specimens of class work, silent but accurate witnesses, mutely testify to the patrons of the untiring labor and energy of the able principal and his staff. It is sincerely hoped that Prof. Hillard will sway the sceptre at the head of our schools for many years to come."

All Talk Yet. Several efforts have been made to have a branch railroad built from the A. V. R'y to Brookville, a distance of one mile, but it has always ended in talk. The project is being agitated again and David McCargo, general superintendent of the A. V. R'y, came to Brookville Saturday in his private car to look over the proposed line and hear the proposition the Brookville people were willing to offer as an inducement for building and operating the road. The railroad company will give an answer inside of ten days. Mr. Rumsey, supt. of the Low Grade Div., on whose branch the new line would be built, was interviewed by the editor of this paper as to the prospects of the branch being built, but he was reticent on the subject and said he did not know. Some of the Brookville people have it settled definitely and are already running the passenger trains up to the town—in their minds. It would certainly be a good thing for Brookville to have the road built and would be much more convenient for the traveling public if trains were run up to the town. Brookville has suffered long enough for the mistake that was made by the property owners when the A. V. R'y was first built. We hope the railroad company and Brookville people can come to terms so that the branch will be built.

Will be Settled Friday. The Board of Trade met on Friday evening to hear the report of the committee that had been appointed to solicit stock for the proposed wire glass works in Reynoldsville. The committee asked for an increase of the committee and more time. The main object for more time was to investigate the scheme and fully understand whether it would be a safe investment to place so much capital against the patent and experience offered as half the capital stock, also to get some positive assurance that Messrs Stauffer and Gregg would be released from the Falls Creek people without danger of future trouble. These two men were at the meeting and had legal papers giving them freedom from the Falls Creek people. Harvey L. Hoke, H. Alex. Stoke, J. C. Swartz, William Copping and Isaac London were added to the committee to raise the stock. The shares were put at $50.00 instead of $100.00, as was settled on at the previous meeting. The committee was given until Friday evening, April 5th, the regular meeting night of Board of Trade, to make their report on the amount of stock raised. At that meeting it will be definitely settled whether Reynoldsville is to have a glass plant or not.

Three to One. The school board was to have decided on the plan for the new school house last Monday evening, but did not. For unavoidable reasons the directors could not all be present at the meeting, only four being present. It requires four votes of the board for one plan to adopt it and out of the four directors present three voted for one plan and the other director voted for another plan, therefore they were unable to settle the matter and adjourned to meet next Monday evening.

Farmers, Look Here. I have the largest and best stock of large, small, medium, or Alske clover seed, the finest grade of timothy seed, Hungarian grass seed, orchard grass seed ever brought to town, that I will sell at the lowest figures. I always furnish a glass to examine my seed. Stop and examine for yourselves both the quality and price before purchasing elsewhere. Find me at the Reynoldsville Hardware Co. store. NINTIAN COOPER.

Special low prices on shoes Friday and Saturday. Deemer & Co.

Experience Entertainment. The experience entertainment in the Presbyterian church Friday evening swelled the exchequer of the Ladies' Church Society to about fifty dollars more than when the doors were opened. The church was not crowded, but a good sized audience paid their ten cent pieces to hear the program for the evening. Twenty-eight ladies belong to the society and when their names were called they responded by walking to the front, deposited a dollar or two on the table and told the audience how they earned the money. A few ladies were unable to be present and sent their money and experiences. Two of these, from Mrs. Alex. Riston and Mrs. H. R. Johnson, which were written in poetry, we publish as follows:

My experience is very tame, But for that I'm not to blame; For this, I the sum of 75 cents, so do To earn a dollar to help her through? Now in the city of Erie there happens to be A good old aunt who is kind to me, And so to her in a hurry I flew And asked if there was nothing to do? For which I must surely be paid in cash, And found to my joy I had done nothing rash; Her answer came in haste and speed, "Of aprons I am much in need."

To earn my dollar a dress I made; Of colors fast, it will not fade; I bought the goods, made them plain, And for my trouble have my gain. I cleared one dollar and fifteen cents Which please drop in with the other pence. And what is written here please excuse, I am not in the habit of writing the Muse, And what won't pass, just let it slip. For please remember I have the "grippe." JULIA M. HISTON.

Tramps Must Work. When the season is far enough advanced so that work can be done on the streets, Reynoldsville will not be such a resort for tramps as it has been in the past, for all such chaps who appear in town and go from house to house begging will be arrested as vagrants and will be put to work on the streets until the fine that will be imposed on them is worked out. It is high time a lot of lazy, worthless, dirty tramps were compelled to earn the bread they eat. Occasionally men who would work but can find nothing to do ask for assistance, and of course such men are deserving of a square meal. After a few tramps are compelled to work, if they don't die in the act, they will manage to spread the news and the town will not be continually overrun with such vagabonds.

Mix in Jail. Newton Mix was given a hearing before Squire John T. Earl in Driftwood Saturday afternoon for shooting Robt. Clark, of which mention was made in our last issue, and the Honorable Squire bound Newton over to court in the sum of $500.00. The bail was not forthcoming and Newton was taken to Emporium Saturday evening and lodged in jail. Mix claimed to be in some other section when the shooting occurred, but he failed to produce satisfactory evidence to that effect. It was reported that Mrs. Warren Mix, wife of the man that Clark killed a year ago, had dressed in men's clothing and followed Clark with the Winchester. Clark claims it was Newton who done the shooting and he will have to answer for the charge.

Boy and Candle. One of L. D. Rupert's small sons went into the garret Wednesday evening with a candle to look for something and the candle came in contact with a large paper of catnip or some other kind of tea his mother had hung up to dry. The paper and tea caught fire but the little fellow had presence of mind enough to pull it down and tramp out the fire. It raised quite a smoke and some one gave the fire alarm. The boy burned his hands in putting out the fire.

The following Reynoldsville school teachers were named in the Pittsburg Times' list on Monday as those being voted for to try and "take in" the trip to Europe offered by the Times: Maggie Butler, Tacy Dempsey, Mildred Fuller, and Almada Johnson. With so many candidates from this place we fear no one will be elected and it will be a useless effort.

James Irving, of Beechtree, who has been manager of the company store at that place for five years, will move his family to Reynoldsville next week and will become manager of the Bell & Lewis company store at this place. Mr. Irving will move his family in the rooms over the company store. Mr. Irving and family come to Reynoldsville highly recommended. Such people are always welcomed in this place.

Crowded with Work. The woolen mill at this place is crowded with work. Another order for 15,550 yards of muslin was received from a firm in St. Paul several days ago. The mill is running night and day. Six or eight new looms will be put in the mill to turn out the work.
