

The Star.

Subscription $1.50 per year, in advance.
 C. A. STEPHENSON, Editor and Pub.
 WEDNESDAY, APRIL 24, 1895.

An independent local paper, published every Wednesday at Reynoldsville, Jefferson Co., Pa., devoted to the interests of Reynoldsville and Jefferson county. Non-political, will treat all with fairness, and will be especially friendly towards the laboring class.
 Subscription price $1.50 per year, in advance. Communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the writer's name, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Interesting news items solicited. Advertising rates made known on application at the office in Reynoldsville, Pa.
 Entered at the postoffice at Reynoldsville, Pa., as second class mail matter.

The Democratic State Committee met at Harrisburg last Wednesday and elected Robert E. Wright, of Allentown, as State Chairman.

The bill introduced in the Legislature requiring bituminous coal to be weighed in the cars before being dumped or screened, passed second reading last Wednesday.

A bill has passed the Legislature to pension Judges at half pay. Judges get from $4,000 to $6,000 per year for terms of ten years. It is no credit to a Legislature that passes a bill to pension them.

The Bradford Era says: "Some body should now introduce a bill in the State Legislature to pension editors. The work they perform and the abuse they receive are far more wearing and debilitating than anything the judges are compelled to endure."

Fishermen will be interested in knowing that a law is now in force prohibiting them from catching brook or speckled trout for the purpose of selling them, under a penalty of $2 for each fish so sold, neither shall they be caught under five inches in length, under a penalty of $5.

Hon. W. O. Smith denies the report that country members in the Legislature have agreed to lop off the extra half million dollars a year appropriated at the last session of the Legislature for the purpose of school books. He says the country members will stand up almost as a unit against any cut in the school appropriation.

The Pittsburg Times will print every Saturday a complete exposition of the International Sunday school lesson for the day following. These papers are the fruits of the best minds in America devoted to Sabbath school work. They are broad and non-sectarian in their treatment. This new feature of the Times will commend itself strongly to that large and constantly growing class which devotes its energies to good works.

It is not generally known that according to an act of 1893 it is unlawful to kill wild ducks or any kind of web-footed fowl, except on Mondays, Wednesday and Fridays, and then only from September 1 to January 1. The penalty for violating the act is twenty-five dollars. As there have been a number of hunters killing wild ducks at all seasons of the year, this law against the practise will be news to many such violators.

The first quarterly report of General Frank Butler, secretary of commonwealth, has been made public. The fees amounted to $15,000, an increase of $4,000 over the same period four years ago. Seventy-one charters were issued last month, three of them being railroads, and the balance for manufacturing concerns. One hundred and three foreign corporations were given permission in March to open branch offices in this state. This is an unusually large number.

All honest men, whether lord or laborer, are of the same rank, and all dishonest men, whether burglars or bankers, are on the same social level. There can be no respectable knaves.—Punxsutawney Spirit. We heartily agree with the Spirit, and yet if a person is to judge by the action of the people, and even the law, there is a vast difference. In our opinion a rogue is a rogue whether he be dressed in broad cloth or rags, and one is just as deserving of punishment as the other.

The Kentucky Court of Appeals held, in the recent case of Brewer vs Hubbs, that the personal property of a wife becomes the property of the husband by virtue of marriage, especially if the same be reduced to possession; that the possession of the wife's agent or trustee is constructively the possession of the husband, and if it be the wife's general estate the husband owns it absolutely, and that the title to the notes and personal property of the wife in controversy having vested in the husband by the marriage, the transfer of them by the wife did not pay any title to the assignee, although the husband had executed a writing to the wife agreeing that she might dispose of them, there being no consideration for that agreement, and that the wife being dead, the husband was entitled to recover the notes and personal property from the persons to whom the wife transferred them, he being entitled under the statute to the whole of the deceased wife's personal estate.

 Gentlemen:—I feel it my duty to send you a letter of thanks for discovering such a wonderful medicine as your Hood's Compound Extract Celery. Before using this remedy I was so much run down from the effects of Grippe that I could not do a stroke of work, had pain in the back, no appetite, and could not sleep, but since taking six bottles of your Celery I feel like a new man. If you choose you may print this letter of testimony. JOHN COOLEY, 240 Seventh Street. Sold by Stoke, the druggist.

Now a word about our MERCHANT TAILORING DEPARTMENT. We bought our woollens by the whole piece and can make you a Strictly All-wool Suit for the small sum of $16, $17, $18, $19 and $20 and, as everyone knows, Mr. Kernott (my cutter) you can depend on a first-class fit. We use only the best trimmings. Call and look our goods over in this department, and remember that we buy all our goods of the manufacturer and not from auction houses as some of our would-be clothiers do.

Thanking you for past favors and hoping for a continuance of same, I remain
