laden with saucers full of rice, fish, vegetables, and cups of boiling tea.

The lime trees on the roadside throw light and dancing shadows on the passerby; and the chequered patterns of leaves quiver on the earth as on the backgrounds of Chinese pictures. Occasionally a Malay chief comes by, with an escort of boatmen. He walks slowly, leaning on a long staff mounted Blanket Grows Whiskers.

William H. Forbes, of Spencer Cor-ners, Fulton County, is the possessor of a very old horse blanket, which differs from its fellows in that It has a well-

Mr. Forbes first discovered this peculiarity in October last, when taking it down from the peg in the barn, where it had hung undisturbed during the summer. He was naturally greatly astonished to discover two patches of growing hair, one on either side, where it had been exposed to the light and air. The nair is of bright day color, and is now fully an inch in length. Probably the most peculiar feature of the affair, however, is the fact that the hair has spread from the two patches until it has entirely covered the blanket with a fine growth, varying in shade and color. It has not only been subjected to a critical inspection by several reputable men, but has undergone a micro scopic test by two prominent physicians, of whom Dr. Henry C. Finch, of Brodalbin, makes affidavit before Judge

Gardner "that the hair now growing on the blanket is true bair and that the roots of the same are alive and in pro-cess of development."

On first introducing this world-famed medicine to the afflicted, and for many years thereafter, it was sold under a Positive Guarantee of giving entire satisfaction in every case for which it is recommended. So uniformly successful did it prove in curing the diseases, derangements and weaknesses of women that claims for the return of money paid for it were exceedingly rare. Since its manufacturers can now point to thousands of noted cures effected by it in every part of the land, they believe its past record a sufficient guarantee of its great value as a curative agent, therefore, they now rest its claims to the confidence of the afflicted solely upon that record. Beginning of the American Industrial Union at Chicago.

ADVANCED IDEAS.

The initiative steps in the organization of the long-talked-of American Industrial Union were taken in Chicago during the past week and the organization effected. About 200 delegates took part in the proceedings and the new jorder starts out with a local membership of about 800, in Chicago, while and the new 'order starts out with a local membership of about 500, in Chicago, while it is stated that a number of independent labor organizations and unions throughout the country have signified their willingness to affiliate with the movement.

The Industrial Union is to be international in character, and the general pian of the organization is much like the American Railway Union. The preamble and constitution propose, in brief, the establishment of employment bureaus, general co-operation and the introduction of a general eight-hour work day on Sept. I, 1897. All differences between employers and employes are to be settled by arbitration, and the only thing of a political nature contained in the preamble is a declaration favoring the universal suffrage for women.

The co-operative feature is the one upon which greatest stress is laid. It is proposed to ask for the establishment of postal savings banks for the use of wage-earners, and from the funds thus accumulated the organization expects to establish industries which will absorb the unemployed and enable them to become at least self-supporting. The new Union will keep in close touch with the existing co-operative colonies, thirty-five or more of which have aircady been established, and, instead of setting aside large sins of money for strike funds and the payment of high salaries to officers, it is intended to use all the available funds of the organization for the establishment of more colonies or the increase of those now in existence. Such a thing as a strike is to be unknown to the new organization.

One of the articles of the constitution pro-crease of those now in existence. Such a thing as a strike is to be unknown to the new organization.

One of the articles of the constitution provides that no one who is addicted to drink or gambling can hold office in the organization, and any officer contracting these habits will be expelled from membership. The doors of the new organization are open to everybody except the representatives of monocolistic corporations. Farmers, mechanics, tradesmen, laborers and professional people are all invited to enlist, and no discrimination is made as to religion, sex or color. It is expressly stated that it is not the purpose of the new organization to make war on the old ones, but to aid them in every possible way. In fact, it will make a point of asking the older Unions to come into the co-operative feature of the new without losing the original identity.

It is set forth as a living principle that, with natural opportunities always open, to the unemployed, and with a general eighthour work day, there would never be any serious disputes on the question of wages, but that they would regulate themselves by the natural order of supply and demand. In order to have the opportunity always open to absorb a surplus of workers in any given place, the American Industrial Union proposes to establish near-by colonies, where any man, who is willing to work can always earn enough by his labor for self-support.

Boot and Shoemakers Union

The permanent organization of the National Boot and Shoe Workers' Union, composed of three or four National Unions representing different branches of the boot and shoe industry, which have heretolore been antagonistic and hostile toward one another, has finally been effected, the final conference of the delegates in Boston during the past week having resulted in the forming of the organization. For several days the Convenorganization. For several days the Conven-tion wrestled with a majority and minority report on a preamble and constitution, the committee having promulgated two distinct report on a preamble and cannot be recommittee having promulgated two distinct declarations of principles. The majority report was finally adopted, after a long and spirited fight. It reads as follows.

"Organization being necessary as the first step toward the amelioration of labor, and realizing that weapons of offense and defense, socially, economically and politically, are all necessary for the final emancipation of labor, we have with this end in view, organized the Boot and Shoe Makers' Unich."

The minority report was a straight out and Unich."

The minority report was a straight out and bold declaration of Socialism, to be brought about by independent political action upon the labor class lines. This report was in the hands of Mr. John F. Tobin, who fought hard for its adoption, and, although it was defeated, he was subsequently elected President of the organization, after having declared himself to be an avowed Socialist. In performing the functions of the office, Mr. Tobin will be required to do a great deal of traveling throughout the country, and estraveling throughout the country, and especially in the Eastern States, and he has announced that his intention is to sow the seed of Socialism wherever he goes. The new organization has a membership aggregating Pittsburg the Weak Spot.

Ex-President Samuel Gompers. of the American Federation of Labor, addressed a meeting of garment workers at 252 Fifth arenue. Pittsburg. He said the garment workers of Pittsburg were the weak spot in the chain of large cities where the "aweat shop" evil is met. All orther large cities are organized. In New York, he said, "aweat shop" competition has been reduced to the minimum, and the task system wiped out by organization. He said the same could be done here if the effort was made. Pittsburg garment workers, he said, were the only ones who work 14, 16 and 18 hours a day for less than 10 hours' pay.

A $25,000 Factory.

The Daugherty typewriter company has awarded contracts for a manufacturing plant to be located at Kittanning to cost $25,000. The buildings are to be completed by July 1. The main buildings will be two stories high, 40x100 feet with a wing. Fifty hands will be given employment. The citizens of Kittanning donated $4,500 and one acre of land.

The very large number of manufacturers who have during the past few days restored or partially restored the schedule of wages in force before reductions were made necessary is one of the most encouraging signs of the times. It is a significant fact that most of these advances have been made voluntarily, the general disposition on the part of the employers seeming to be to restore the wages as rapidly as the improvement in business warrants, but to resist demands of employes which are made prematurely.

Among favorable indications or the improved condition of trade, the rise in the prices of wheat is not the least in importance. That great staple has been ruling so low that the farmers had begun to fear that it was hopelessly down. With the increased activity is manufacturing came a gradual advance in wages, and comparatively small as these improvements have been as yet, their influences are gradually apreading.

THREE BURNED TO DEATH.

Two Men Caught in a Burning Building

A fire in a row of frame buildings, East End, Pittsburg, caused the death of three men and a property loss of $10,000. The origin of the fire is a mystery.

origin of the fire is a mystery.

In one of the buildings burned a man lay dying with typhoid fever; in an adjoining room was his wife, with a child but a days old. The mother and her babe were rescued. The unfortunate man was Samuel Weaver. He lived, with other families, in the building. Before an alarm could be sent in the flames had communicated to the apartments of the Weaver family. As soon as the fire appeared Mrs. Schneider, who lived in the building, ran out and told some men about the sick man and his wife. Six men rushed through the fire and at once found Mrs. Weaver and her child. She was acreaming for some one to save her child and her husband, and was wild with fright. She was picked up and carried across the street to a neighbor's house, the child going with her.

When the fire broke out among those who tried to carry Weaver out was Fred Snyder and a man named Mitchell. Why the two men did not at once pick up Weaver and save him and themselves will never be known but it is said that Mitchell shouled that Weaver had just died and he ought to be carried out in the cot. The time occupied in moving the cot toward the door of the room was fatal to both men, for with a rush the flames swept from the store, where they

The advent of the officers with the remains of the outlaws was a complete surprise to the community, as no one had been apprised of the fact that the bandits were being pursued much less that there had been a fight, and that two of them had been killed. They were brought in just as they were when killed, in full clothes, with their boots and spurs on and armed the teeth. Besides winchesters each had on a revolver and beits of cartridges for both instruments of death.

The outlaws were killed at the southwest corner or Pawnee county at the house of the Dunn brothers, near Ingalis, the old rendezvous of the outlaws, by Deputy Marshai Sam Schafer, at the head of the six other marshals.

Schafer, at the head of the six other marshals. The bandits went to Dunn's house about 8 o clock in the evening. It being moonlight, they were easily seen, and "Dynamite Dick" was killed outright, being fliled with buckshot, "Blitter Creek" made a fight, and two winchester buliets knocked him off his horse before be could pull trigger.

The two men killed are a part of the gang that held up the Rock Island train at Dover, some time ago. They had been chased ever since. Charlie Pierce, alias "Dynamite Dick" is a half-brother to "Tulsa Jack," who was killed in the Cheyene country by Deputy Marshal Dudicy Banks, The express companies have big rewards out for these outlaws.

The Church and the Young Man.

How hard and faithfully many clergy men are spending themselves to gather the young men to Christ, and in great measure spending in vain, because they labor amiss. As long as the home is negative, fruits will continue comparatively small. On the reformation of the home in this respect we should bring steady effort to bear.

"If there is to a parent one duty more sacred than anyother, for faithfulness in which more strict account will be taken, and which will more seriously affect a parent's eternal hope, it is this of raising children religiously. Its neglect not only robs God of 'a seed to praise Him,' thwarts His glory in the world, and Christ's reward for 'the travail of his soul,' but is a most unnatural crime against the child itself. Will not God requite for the deep hurt inflicted?"-Rev. W. H. Lnird.

On the Spot. "Out damned spot," was what troubled

Mrs. Macbeth; but it was something intangible that she saw. In the active season of spring and summer sports—there are spots spring and summer sports—there are spots that are not visionary, but which bring with them pain and great dissemfort. Bruises, black and blue, are the accompaniments of every active sport. They often cripple and are always a sore trouble. Come from what source they may, the thing to do on the spot is to use St. Jacobs Oii freely and promptly. There is nothing surer and it wipes out the pain as we would wipe off a slate. In like manner sudden attacks of rheumatism, to which people are liable at this senson, can be promptly cured by applying St. Jacobs Oii to the pain spot.
