

A Little of Everything.

Special election August 24th. Labor Day is the next legal holiday. Robinson's shoes are in it for style and quality. The Sons of Veterans initiated four new members Monday night. Lawyer G. M. McDonald has had a telephone placed in his office. The outcome of a courtship nowadays is largely a question of income. A number of miners are going to other places to seek employment. Stop and look in the window at C. F. Hoffman's and see the blouse sets. Rev. P. P. Womer filled the pulpit in the M. E. church Sunday morning. If you want Brussels carpet go to the Reynoldsville Hardware Co's store. A merry-go-round will be put up at the corner of Main and Fifth streets. The town was full of school teachers and would-be-teachers last Thursday. More and better shoes for your dollars at Robinson's than you get elsewhere. There was no preaching services in the Presbyterian church last Sunday. The racket store has been moved into Fisher's new iron-clad building on Main Street. The next O. U. A. M. reunion will be held in Brookville the latter part of May in 1895. A number of ladies of the W. R. C. of this place went to Sykesville yesterday and held a picnic. Big drop in flour at J. A. Welsh's. Any best Minnesota flour for $1.20. Get prices on barrel lots. Ordinances for the opening of Grant and Tenth and other streets will be found in this issue of THE STAR. A full stock, good goods and lowest possible prices tells the story of Robinson & Mundorff's immense trade. The building next door to J. A. Welsh's is being papered and fitted up for a second hand furniture store. Mrs. Wm. Britton, of the Beechwoods, fell last Monday on her way to the well and dislocated her right shoulder. There were no arrests made in Reynoldsville on the Fourth of July for drunkenness or disorderly conduct. The Clarion Assembly opens to-day and will close July 31st. The Assembly is a good place to spend a few days. The first cheap excursion for the season from this section to Niagara Falls was run over the B. R. & P. Ry Sunday. It is reported that the huckleberry crop this year will be enormous. The bulk of the berries are of the early blue variety. Two of Ed. C. Burns' small boys wrecked a buggy near S. M. Gourley's one day last week while out for a pleasure ride. According to the reports the corn crops will be large in product in most all parts of eastern and western Pennsylvania. During the past ten years, from July 10, 1885, to July 10, 1895, there have been 3,686 marriage licenses granted in Jefferson county. A Polander struck Pat Madden on the head with a car sprag Monday while at work in Big Soldier. Mr. Madden has a very sore head. The best of goods at lowest prices, strictly for cash, suits the people. This accounts for rush at Robinson & Mundorff's, Centennial building. Clarence M. Flickinger and Miss Dorothy M. Bonnet, of this place, were united in marriage on the evening of July 4th by Rev. Jas. H. Jelbart. Squire W. F. Ingraham, of Brookville, was buried at that place on Tuesday last week. Mr. Ingraham had not enjoyed good health for sometime. A valuable horse owned by Ed. C. Burns, the liveryman, died near Emerickville Saturday evening. Two young ladies were driving to Brookville. The school directors of Winslow township will meet in this place on the first Saturday in August to elect teachers for the township schools for the winter term. Wm. H. Ford, District Deputy, and Esq. E. Neff were at Sykesville on Tuesday night last week installing officers in the Jr. O. U. A. M. Council at that place. Moore & Dickinson are headquarters for the world's famous Minnehaha Flour, the highest grade patent flour made, and we guarantee every sack to give satisfaction. On Tuesday of last week the Berwind-White Co. shipped the first coal from their shaft near DuBois. It has been three years since the company started the work and a half million dollars has been expended on it. The B., R. & P. Ry will run a special excursion from Reynoldsville to Ontario Beach Saturday, July 27th. Train will leave here at 7.30 P. M. Fare for round trip $2.50. Tickets good for five days to return on regular trains.

Dr. C. N. Bell, M. B. D., will be at Hotel McConnell Monday afternoon, July 22, and Tuesday forenoon, July 23. Forty dollars per month and expenses paid good men for taking orders. Steady work. Apply Protective Nurseries, Geneva, N. Y. The members of the Pennsylvania State Editorial Association are taking their summer outing at Buffalo and Niagara Falls this week. A young man named John Smith cut his right hand very badly last Friday while at work on D. Bollinger's log job several miles west of Reynoldsville. Mrs. George Rhoads fell off a chair onto a stove last Saturday and cut a gash an inch and a half in her head and received several bruises on her body. If you get your watches repaired at C. F. Hoffman's it will be done right and don't need to be warranted. Of course we guarantee it to be done right. Miss Crawford will speak in the Centennial Hall Saturday evening, July 20th, at 8.00 o'clock, in the interest of the W. C. T. U. All are cordially invited. Dr. J. W. McKnight, one of Brookville's oldest citizens, was taken to a Philadelphia hospital the first of last week to receive treatment for mental trouble. The members of the Young Ladies' Foreign Missionary Society of the M. E. church held a grove festival near the home of Mr. Sechrist on Pleasant Avenue last evening. The Prohibition Jr. League will give a free entertainment in Centennial hall on Friday evening of this week. The program for the entertainment, which is a good one, was crowded out of this issue. On Tuesday, July 30th, the B., R. & P. will run an excursion from Reynoldsville to Niagara Falls. Train will leave Falls Creek at 1:42 P. M. Tickets for round trip $3.50. Tickets good to return until August 8th. A sewer is being put in on the north side of Main street from the corner of 4th street to the run at Sutter's blacksmith shop. The property owners furnish the sewer pipe and the borough stands the expenses of putting it in. At a meeting of the West Reynoldsville school board held on Monday evening the entire list of teachers for the borough school was elected. The teachers are as follows: C. K. Hawthorne, principal, Jennie White, Hannah Stauffer, Taey Dempsey. We received an invitation from Curwensville Council, No. 1379, Royal Arcanum, to attend a basket picnic to be held at the Pee-wees Nest, Curwensville, to-morrow, July 18th. A number of the members of that order at this place expect to attend the picnic. The Falls Creek Herald has again made its appearance on the sea of journalism as bright and newsy as ever. Bro. Bangert certainly has an abundance of pluck. We hope the Herald has gone up in smoke for the last time and that the office may remain in the town for all time. Lawyer F. R. Hindman, of Clarion, visited Esq. W. L. Johnston in West Reynoldsville several days ago. Lawyer Hindman was just returning from an overland pleasure trip to New York, Philadelphia and Harrisburg. His boys accompanied him. It took them six weeks to make the trip. Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Gourley were called to Perry township on Monday last week by the sudden death of George Gourley, S. M. Gourley's father. The deceased was an honorable and upright man, highly respected in the community where he lived. He was about three score and six years old. Heart trouble caused his sudden death. A. A. Jackson, at one time superintendent of the Low Grade Div. of the A. V. Ry and a resident of Reynoldsville, died on the evening of the 8th inst. at his home in Norwood, a suburb of Boston, Mass. His remains were buried at California, Pa., on Friday. Mr. Jackson had passed his 63rd birthday. He was an uncle of Mrs. H. Alex. Stoke of this place. The Improved Order of Red Men will observe the second anniversary of the organization of the order in Reynoldsville on Saturday evening, July 27th, by a supper and entertainment in the G. A. R. hall. Supper will be served from 5.00 to 7.00; the entertainment will begin at 7.30. Tickets 25 cents, which entitles the holder to supper and admittance to the entertainment. A new firm, to be known as the Reynoldsville Furniture Co., will open up business next week in the building next door to J. A. Welsh's grocery store. They will handle new and second hand furniture. Cash will be paid for second hand stoves, furniture, etc. This will be a great advantage to those who want to sell some of their old furniture and buy new, and to those who want to buy second hand goods. George Warnick thought one day last week his time had come to shuffle off this stage of action, judging from the way he used his lungs. George was helping put in the sewer on Main street and while working near the racket store the earth that had been thrown out of the ditch at that point rolled in on him. The men working with him had to shovel the dirt off before he could be released from his unpleasant position.

Will Get Married To-day D. F. Robinson, the shoe dealer of this place, will be married to Miss Bessie Stone at Beaver, Pa., this forenoon. Mr. Robinson will bring his bride to Reynoldsville Friday. They will occupy Mr. Robinson's beautiful home on Main street. THE STAR extends congratulations. Prof. Hillard to West Sunbury. Prof. Hillard, who was elected principal of the Reynoldsville schools, has accepted the principalship of the West Sunbury schools at a salary of $1,000 for a term of eight months. This will make it necessary for the Reynoldsville school board to elect another principal for the coming term. Examination Thursday. County Supt. J. H. Hughes held the annual examination for teachers at Reynoldsville on Thursday of last week and the class was one of the largest that has ever been examined at this place. It was composed of over sixty young gentlemen and ladies. The examination was conducted in Supt. Hughes usual fair way and the applicants worked faithfully and earnestly. Locked in a Church. Two Reynoldsville ladies were locked in the M. E. church Sunday evening, and after some difficulty succeeded in making their exit at a side door. The ladies attended League prayer-meeting and not knowing that there was no preaching, after League meeting, they went from the lecture room to the auditorium of the church. They waited until almost eight o'clock and then discovered that they were safely locked in the church. Bicycle Jump off Tram Road. Scott Burkott, a young man of the Horn Settlement, came very nearly riding into the Undiscovered Future a few days ago on a bicycle. Scott, who thought the bicycle a tame and harmless thing, was riding on a tram road that was about fifteen feet from the ground when the wheel suddenly decided to jump off and did so, taking Scott along. His back was badly injured by his unexpected and sudden contact with terra firma. He will not do any work for a time. Special Election. In another column of this issue will be found a notice for a special election to be held on Saturday, August 24th, for the purpose of increasing the indebtedness of the borough of Reynoldsville $8,000 for the purpose of planking Jackson street, Fifth and Tenth streets from Main to Jackson, and to extend the paving on Main from Presbyterian church to Tom Reynolds's residence. Council first decided to hold the election on the 20th of June and then changed the time to August. Struck by Lightning. Lightning struck the home of L. P. Brenholtz in Beechwoods on the afternoon of July 5th and shattered the house considerable and gave the family quite an electrical shock. Twenty-two lights of glass were broken. One of Mr. Brenholtz's daughters had just left the bed room on the second floor through which the electrical bolt passed into the parlor on the first floor. The house was insured. Mr. Brenholtz and family certainly had a narrow escape from being suddenly ushered into eternity. The Fourth of July. Since the last issue of THE STAR the Glorious Fourth was celebrated in Reynoldsville. It is rather late to give a long account of the doings in this place. The town was well decorated, the crowd large and orderly and everything passed off nicely. From early morning until late at night there was a continuous "bang" of big and little firecrackers. Hose Co. No. 1 had charge of the celebration in this place and unto them great credit is due for keeping so many of our people at home that day and attracting others here. There were visitors here from New York, Chicago, Pittsburg and other cities. The firemen did not make a big financial success out of the affair on account of having heavy expenses to prepare for the celebration and carrying out the program of the day. Big Soldier Inundated. The miners in some parts of Big Soldier mine had an experience on Saturday, July 6th, of a rare nature in the mines at this place. There were four or five acres of water in the old Sprague mine and the men were working towards it in the Big Soldier mine, but by some misunderstanding the miners thought they were several hundred yards from the young flood confined in the old Sprague, therefore, when in driving a heading one of the miners, by a blow from his pick, opened the way for the flood to get a start it was only the work of a second for the water to enlarge the opening and flood Big Soldier when the men were least expecting it. The alarm was given as quickly as possible and the men all escaped without waiting to get their dinner buckets or coats. Some of the men waded in the water up to their knees. Mine props, powder kegs, dinner buckets, coats and everything else that floated were carried on the bosom of the water as it made a mad rush to escape from the mine. It might have proven a death trap to many of the miners.

TANNERY ABLAZE AGAIN. Beam House and Rocker Yard Burned to the Ground Sunday Afternoon. On Sunday afternoon at about 2.00 o'clock the tannery at this place, property of the Elk Tanning Co., was discovered to be on fire. The blaze started in the beam house or on the second floor of the building, over the beam house, where a large quantity of hair was stored and being dried. In the upper part of the building everything was dry and there was plenty of material for the fire to feed on, so that by the time the alarm was given the fire had gained considerable headway. The Reynoldsville fire companies responded promptly to the alarm and soon had three streams of water playing on the fire from the line of the Reynoldsville Water Co. The tannery company have a number of water plugs around their buildings and get a supply of water from wells, and soon had a dozen streams of water were thrown on the blaze. The fire spread so rapidly that by the time the men were in shape to fight it two buildings, the beam house and rocker yard, were all in flames, and it was only by a desperate struggle that the balance of the tannery was saved. The buildings are all close together, most of them connected. The rocker yard was joined to the main building, where a large quantity of leather was being dried, and the fire had reached a couple of rooms of leather before it was extinguished. After two hours' hard work by the firemen and citizens the flames were under control. Two buildings were burned to the ground and several others damaged. The DuBois fire companies were telegraphed for assistance and came down on a special over the A. V. Ry, but when they arrived the fire was under control and their engines were not unloaded. How the fire started is not known, as no one was in the building at the time. Work was begun on Monday morning at clearing away the debris, and new buildings will be erected at once. The damage is estimated at about $27,000. The loss is almost covered by insurance. On Wednesday, December 13th, 1893, the tannery was totally destroyed by fire, and was rebuilt and refurnished in a first-class manner, so that it was one of the best equipped tanneries of the Elk Tanning Co. For sometime after being rebuilt work was not very brisk, but for the past two months has been running at its full capacity, 330 hides per day. President G. W. Childs and District Supt. J. S. Schultz, of Ridgway, came here on Monday to view the ruins and make arrangements for beginning work on the new buildings. A shed was erected yesterday in the center of where the new beam house is to be built, and a few beams put up, where a number of men will work while the new building is being constructed. John Flickinger Killed Under a Car in Big Soldier. John Flickinger, a driver in Big Soldier mine, was killed Saturday forenoon, July 6th, while engaged at his work. Just how the accident happened that ushered him so suddenly into the Great Beyond is not fully known. Mr. Flickinger had been a driver in the mines for eighteen years and was driving three mules, hauling coal cars out of one of the headings so they could be attached to the rope hauling, when the accident occurred. The drivers have what they call a "banjo" which they fasten onto the front end of a car to ride upon. The "banjo" is fastened over the end of the car with a hook or clasp and it is supposed after Mr. Flickinger got his mules going all right that he got onto the "banjo" without looking at it and that the "banjo" was not properly fastened and let him drop in front of the train of cars. He was found under the first car and the "banjo" was under the third car. His son-in-law, James Sample, who is also a driver, was not far behind Mr. Flickinger and heard him hollow whoa twice to the mules, and the second time in such a way that Sample thought some thing had happened and he went forward to see what was the matter. He was the first one to arrive at the scene of horror, but after he got there Mr. Flickinger groaned once and expired. His left breast was crushed and one leg broken. The deceased was forty-eight years old the 5th of last March. He leaves a wife and six children. He was a member of Mazomania Tribe, No. 341, Improved Order of Red Men, and Century Council No. 789, Royal Arcanum. Mrs. Flickinger will get sixty dollars, funeral benefits, from the Red Men and $3,000 insurance from the Royal Arcanum. Rev. Selner, Lutheran preacher of Luthersburg, conducted the funeral services at Mr. Flickinger's late home at the eastern end of Worth street on Monday afternoon. A large number of relatives, neighbors and members of the two lodges named were present. The remains were taken to the Syphrit cemetery for interment. No Lack for Agents. The Winslow township school directors appointed a committee to see about getting some new books for the ensuing term. The committee met on Friday and all the school book agents in the state must have heard of it, judging from the number who were here and wanted to furnish the committee with books.

Mrs. Lucy Wagner is Mrs. Neff's mother and Judge Wagner is her brother. Mrs. Neff's mother will remain with her for sometime. Judge Wagner honored THE STAR office with his presence one day last week. An Honest Confession. It is doubtless if the readers of the DuBois Courier were ever more surprised, since that paper was launched on the sea of journalism as a daily, than they were last Thursday morning when they read the long article headed, "O, Save 'Our Fair City,'" in which the Courier acknowledged that the streets and alleys of that town "are full of people every day and evening who may be thinking about bad things," and that of "all the multitudes seen in the streets of DuBois but few, comparatively, it is asserted, can be singled out for a certainty as carrying heads free from all thought of amusement, wiles, tricks, sports and even waywardness, excepting the silent sentinels in front of the clothing and cigar stores." The Courier ends its honest confession by saying: "The devil is in our people and that must be taken care of." Well! Well! It has been known in Reynoldsville for years that the devil had a large family at DuBois, but up to the present confession the Courier has been "winking" at the wickedness in that town and would get fighting mad if any other paper dared even hint that there were naughty people in DuBois. The query with THE STAR is: What has happened to the Courier? Has the editor been taking an active part in church work, or has he some fears of being suddenly transported to the place where daily papers are not issued and editors are numbered with the "Angel band?" Didn't Know He Had a Gun. One morning last week as a citizen of this place was standing on the corner of Main and second streets having a few "words" with his "better half" a stranger came along and stopped to tell the man how cowardly it was to quarrel with a woman. The Reynoldsville man did not relish the lesson on politeness, and being much larger than the stranger he attempted to flog him. The little man, however, was too quick for him and landed the first blow, which rolled his opponent in the gutter. The enraged man sprang up, drew a rusty revolver from his hip pocket and the stranger bolted. He ran down Second street to the Sandy Lick, plunged in, swam and waded across, and when last seen was disappearing over the hill west of town. Although the stranger showed considerable nerve to tackle a man larger than himself, yet when he looked into the barrel of a revolver his courage fled and he was not long in starting after it, never even looking around to see if he was pursued. My store and property is for sale, or will sell stock and rent the property. WM. COPPING. Bring your job work to this office.
