

The Star.

Subscription $1.00 per year, in advance.

C. A. STEPHENSON, Editor and Pub. WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 11, 1895.

An independent local paper, published every Wednesday at Reynoldsville, Jefferson Co., Pa., devoted to the interests of Reynoldsville and Jefferson county. Non-political, will treat all with fairness, and will be especially friendly towards the laboring class. Subscription price $1.00 per year, in advance. Communications intended for publication must be accompanied by the writer's name, not for publication, but as a guarantee of good faith. Interesting news items solicited. Advertising rates made known on application at the office in Reynoldsville, Pa. Lengthy communications and change of advertisements should reach this office by Monday noon. Address all communications to C. A. Stephenson, Reynoldsville, Pa. Entered at the postoffice at Reynoldsville, Pa., as second class mail matter.

The Democratic State Convention convenes at Williamsport at 10.00 A. M. to-day.

At the suggestion of Judge Harry White the grand jury, in session last week, brought in a bill recommending the closing of all hotel bars in Indiana during the last three days of the county fair.

There is a silence around and about the glass works at this place that is quite oppressive. About the only thing about the plant that is growing is the interest in its debts. We have two shares and some accounts that we would like to sell.—Punxsutawney News.

Never make a remark about your neighbor that you are not willing to father if you don't want him to hear. For you may be certain that once the words have passed your lips they will go straight to the person who may be most particularly interested.—Ex.

The following clipping from the Punxsutawney Spirit holds the company store responsible for the present distress among the coal miners: "There is much distress amongst the miners in the Punxsutawney, DuBois and Reynoldsville region, and most of it can be laid directly at the door of the company store."

The Florida Legislature passed a bill at the last session making it a penal offense for an individual body of inhabitants, a corporation or association to conduct within that state any school of any grade, public, private or parochial wherein white persons and negroes shall be instructed or boarded within the same building or taught in the same class or at the same time by the same teacher. The law is aimed at mission schools for negroes which are maintained by northern missionary organizations and taught by white people.

There is nothing more commendable in any man than sincerity of purpose—a frank, honest determination to do right, without resorting to cunning or duplicity. Such a man is open and transparent. He has nothing to conceal. He has no occasion to resort to questionable methods, or positively improper practices. Whatever he can not accomplish by fair means he will not attempt by foul. Such a man will secure confidence, acquire influence, and ultimately succeed in his laudable enterprises. The trickster may succeed for a time, but his devices will at last be detected, his influence destroyed, and his expectation disappointed. If you would succeed, be sincere, honest and true.

Some of our exchanges claim that a law went into effect on September first forbidding children under sixteen years of age from working in mills and factories. The Harrisburg Patriot says: A misunderstanding exists among mill owners, factory and mine operators and other employers regarding the state laws regulating the employment of persons under sixteen years. A bill was introduced in the last session of the legislature prohibiting the employment of persons under sixteen years. It failed to pass, however, and the factory law of 1881 is still in force. Under misapprehension of the laws many employers have dismissed or given notice of discharge to their young employes. The compulsory school law requires children between the ages of five and thirteen years to attend school. Many inquiries have been made to Factory Inspector Campbell, and the above information has been given out.

One of the great trials of the newspaper profession is that members are compelled to see more of the sham of the world than any other profession. Through every newspaper office day after day go all the weaknesses of the world—all the vanities that want to be puffed, all the revenges that want to be repeated, all the mistakes that want to be corrected, all the dull speakers that want to be thought eloquent, all the meanness that wants to get its wares noticed gratis in order to save the tax of the advertising columns, all men who want to be set right who were never right, all the crack brained philosophers with stories as long as their hair and as gloomy as their fingers nails in mourning, bereft of soap—all the bores who come to stay five minutes, but talk five hours. Through the editorial and reportorial rooms all the follies and shame of the world are seen day after day, and the temptation is neither to believe in God, man nor woman. It is no surprise to me that in this profession there are some skeptic men. I only wonder that newspaper men believe anything.—Dr. Talmage.

Street Ordinance.

(No. 23.)
AN ORDINANCE authorizing the opening of Eighth street (what would have been formerly an extension of Charles street) from the East line of Main street, between the George Rhoads Estate and lot of Mathew Burns to the West line of the proposed opening of Grant street, and the assessment of damages caused by the grade of the same.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Town Council of the Borough of Reynoldsville and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that the street committee be and are hereby authorized and directed to cause to be surveyed and opened Eighth street, from the East line of Main street, between the George Rhoads Estate and lot of Mathew Burns to the West line of the proposed opening of Grant street, to the width of 27 feet, in accordance with the plan of the survey attached to this ordinance, on file in the office of Council.

The damages caused thereby, and the benefits to pay the same, to be assessed and collected in accordance with the provisions of the Act of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 2. That any ordinance or part of ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this ordinance be and the same is hereby repealed so far as the same affects this ordinance.

Ordained and enacted into a law in Council this 2nd day of September, A. D. 1895.
SCOTT McCLELLAND, Pres. of Council.
J. S. HAMMOND, Clerk of Council.
Burgess' Office, September 7th, A. D. 1895. Examined and approved.
