

Signs in the Desert.
Signs in the desert, indicating the trails and giving directions as to the nearest springs and wells of fresh water are to be erected by Arizona and California in the desolate regions on either side of the Colorado River, where so many tragedies have occurred through miners and others losing their way or dying from thirst. The signs are high poles of gas pipe, with big squares of sheet iron at the top and are painted red, as that is the color that can be seen the greatest distance in that region. The lettering will tell the distance from point to point and the location of the nearest water holes.

A Giant's Trouble.
He was a giant in size, the picture of health and strength, with iron muscles, a famous athlete. He pursued his training excessively to hold his fame, and doubtless trained too much. With all his exercise the man was nervous, restless and sleepless, and then racking pains took hold upon him. He could not understand his condition, for he had never had such a condition, though he was in perfect health. So in all conditions it will take hold of the nerves. They had been enfeebled in his case, and they are enfeebled in a thousand cases in as many different ways. He was well advised and followed directions of experienced people. Soon his nerves began to be toned and quieted and in a short time the pains ceased altogether. He had used St. Jacobs Oil freely and a cure followed, and so will it follow in all cases and conditions.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running ear or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

GENERAL MAHONE DEAD.
Virginia's Unique Veteran Statesman Expires.
Gen. William Mahone, who has been lying very low from the effects of a paralytic stroke, died at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. He began to sink Monday night, and the doctors stated that he would not live through the day.

Gen. Mahone was born in Southampton county, Virginia, December 1, 1826. He graduated at the Virginia military institute in 1847, and until the beginning of the civil war was engaged in engineering, and was the constructor of the Norfolk and Petersburg railroad. He joined the confederate army in 1861, took part in the capture of the Norfolk navy yard in April of that year, raised and commanded the Sixth Virginia regiment; was engaged in most of the battles of the peninsula campaign, those of the Rappahannock, and around Petersburg, where he won the sobriquet of the "Hero of the Crater."

Throughout his career in the army he was noted as a fighting commander. He was commissioned brigadier general in March, 1864, and major general in August of the same year. He subsequently led a division in Ambrose B. Hill's corps, and Lee's surrender was at Bermuda Hundred.

At the close of the war he became president of the Norfolk and Tennessee railroad. He also engaged in politics and was the leader of the movement that elected Gilbert

C. Walker governor of Virginia. After failing to secure the nomination for that office in 1873, he organized and became the leader of the readjuster party. He was elected to the United States senate in 1881, and served till 1887. Though elected as a readjuster, he voted with the republicans, and by so doing gave them control of the senate.

While in the senate a dramatic incident occurred in a debate between Gen. Mahone and Senator Voorhees. The senator from Indiana upbraided Gen. Mahone for acting with the republicans and when he concluded his remarks Gen. Mahone said that denunciation of him must stop, and asked whether the senator from Indiana adopted the phrase "renegade democrat," which he had used in his speech. Senator Voorhees replied that he endorsed every sentiment and word that he had uttered; that he endorsed the word renegade and his criticism of the course of the senator from Virginia. Senator Mahone, in reply, said: "That is an assertion that no brave or honorable man would make. I denounce it as such. Let him take that and wear it." The incident, one of the most notable of the session, then ended.

Since Gen. Mahone left congress he has been a familiar figure about the capitol. During the last session of congress he spent considerable time between the senate and the house looking after a bill under consideration for the purchase of certain property from him for a site for a new government printing office.

TOWN BURNED.
Part of Bayard, West Virginia Destroyed by Fire.
During a high wind at an early hour Wednesday morning, fire broke out in the general merchandise store of J. A. Marshall, situated in the center of the village of Bayard, twenty miles west of Piedmont on the West Virginia Charleston railroad. The flames spread rapidly, and by 2 o'clock thirty-two houses and six stores, together with their contents had been consumed, involving a loss of almost $60,000, with only small insurance.

The burned district comprises one-third of the town, including the best dwellings of the place, and of which were of frame. Several families lost everything they possessed in the flames and were rendered homeless and penniless. They are now being cared for by their more fortunate neighbors. Help was sent from other towns in the vicinity, which alone prevented the destruction from being entire.

KILLED HIS FAMILY.
A Georgia Father in Jail for Poisoning His Children.
News has just reached Griffin, Ga., of a tragedy that occurred in Pike county, near Milner, on Monday, in which eight or nine children lost their lives by poison administered by their father. It seemed from the best information, that Tom Speer, taking advantage of his wife's absence, and being prompted by jealousy, administered the fatal dose to his children. He is now behind the bars.

Held Under Slavery.
Writs of habeas corpus were served upon Kee Owyang and Leon Lam, prisoners of the Chinese Village on the Midway of the Atlanta Exposition, commanding them to bring the bodies of the nine Chinese women, charged by Ling Ling, an Atlanta laundryman, with being held in involuntary servitude. Ling, who appears in the role of a philanthropist says the women were bought in China and transported here against their will. The writ was taken out under the thirteenth amendment of the constitution. These are the Chinese concerning whose admission into the United States at Ogdensburg, N. Y., has caused so much trouble.

The Income Tax.
The records of the treasury department show that 1,322 persons paid income taxes aggregating $77,139 before the adverse decision of the supreme court as to its constitutionality was rendered. Of the whole number 709 had applied for and been refunded the amounts paid, aggregating $78,544.

Against Glove Contests.
Glove contests received another blow in New Jersey in a decision handed down by Justice Pitney. The police justices held that contests with gloves were prohibited, according to New Jersey law, and further stated that the opinion of sporting men that it was merely a scientific exhibition did not hold. An opinion could only be taken from unbiased persons.

Students Rioting.
Dispatches from the city of Barcelona announce that serious conflicts have taken place there between the liberal and Catholic students of the university. The trouble, it appears, is due to the fact that the government suspended a professor who published a book which was declared to be heretical. The riots started in the university, and finally reached the streets, where the rioters were reinforced by crowds of people. A series of fierce conflicts between Catholics and liberals led by students, during which many persons were wounded, followed, and the disorder was with difficulty suppressed by the police.

Beer Garden Riots.
There has been a growing agitation at Munster, Westphalia, for some time against the order issued to close the beer gardens and other similar places for obtaining refreshment at a much earlier hour than customary. The result is that a number of serious conflicts have taken place between the police and the inhabitants in the streets. Matters finally reached a crisis Monday evening, when the gendarmes and police charged a mob of townspeople with drawn swords, wounding many of the latter. There is a very bitter feeling against the authorities, and it is feared that there will be more trouble.

TWO HUNDRED DROWNED.
The People Were Hurlled From a Raft Into the River.
Details have reached St. Petersburg of the capsizing of a raft on the river Oka, near the village of Omsy, upon which was a large number of persons. It is now learned that there were 200 factory hands on board the raft when it capsized, and of the large number drowned forty-two bodies have been recovered thus far, including those of twenty-five women. Others are still missing, and it is feared that the death list will be largely increased by the final record.

Six Children Burned to Death.

Lindsay himself was badly burned, and was almost suffocated by smoke in attempting to save the children.

British Steamer Napier Collided with the British Steamer Livonia off the island of Aaland. The Livonia sank, and 14 of her crew were drowned.

What Makes a Man Do This?
What makes a man of 30 or 40 take a sailboat when he can't sail it, put in his friends or family for ballast, and go right out to capsizing and tragedy? You can't answer that any more than you can explain how such a fool has made out to survive to his present age. Why didn't he reach his deserved fate long before? No one can say. Enough that it does overtake him and he gets from ten lines to a column in the paper, according to how big a fool he was. At the shore we see sailboats run away out into the sound, until they can hardly be seen, and when the clouds come up and it begins to thunder the venturesome amateur who is away out there is the last to start for shelter. He doesn't know enough to know his danger. So it goes each summer, and each summer has its long string of drowning tragedies for a part of its history. But, as we said before, no one summer does it up completely, so as to give civilization a fresh chance. A lot of people are drowned for their folly this year who lived through last year, which was just as good a year for drowning, and a lot will live through this year and go out and drown in 1896 as readily as if they were led.

A NEW LEASE OF LIFE.
IN GOOD HEALTH AT SEVENTY-THREE YEARS OF AGE.
Miss Cornwall's Wonderful Recovery of Health—Became Well in Two Months After an Illness of Six Years.

From the Register, New Haven, Conn.
In this rapid age of ours when so many men and women are old at fifty, one who has lived three-quarters of a century, and then, after debility and suffering, regains health and vigor, must be regarded with a feeling akin to wonder. A New England lady has been found who has had this remarkable experience.

In the family of Clarence Williams, a Cheshire farmer on the Meriden road, Cheshire, Ct., lives Miss Cornelia Cornwall, a lady seventy-three years of age. For several years Miss Cornwall's health has been declining very rapidly, caused by a general debility. Her friends feared that the respected lady had not long to live, but a kind Providence directed the aged lady, and in a newspaper advertisement Miss Cornwall read about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—a few boxes of which she procured at once, and with the result that is best told in her own words.

"About six years ago," Miss Cornwall began, "my health commenced to fail. I suffered from loss of appetite and pains in different parts of my body. My condition gradually grew worse until my limbs were apparently unable to bear my weight, and I could no longer go up stairs without the assistance of some one.

"I consulted physicians who prescribed medicines for my blood. These I continued to take for several months, but without any effect. The sense of fainting in my lower limbs seemed to be leaving me, and I began to fear that it was hopeless to look for a cure. I was still suffering terribly from the pains through my body, when I chanced to read the story of a cure that had been effected with the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. I discovered that the town druggist here had none on sale, so I sent immediately to the headquarters in Schenectady, N. Y., and secured two of the boxes of the pills.

"Last December I commenced using the pills regularly, and a month after I had been taking them, I felt greatly benefited by their use. The feeling in my limbs came back again, and in two months I was able to go about the house as I had been accustomed to a year before. Now, as you can see, I am enjoying good health. The pallor in my face was removed by the pills. A number of my friends in the neighborhood were complaining of symptoms somewhat similar to my own, and recommended that they take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They did so, and they tell me that they have been very much benefited by their use. I still continue to take the pills, though there is not so much necessity for them at present. As a purifier of the blood, I consider the Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a wonderful medicine."

Story on Reed.
The following anecdote appears in a recent number of Leslie's Weekly: "After he was graduated from Bowdoin College, ex-Speaker Reed thought seriously of becoming a minister; but he studied law instead of divinity, and went to California to hang out his shingle. The story of his admission to the bar there is interesting. 'Tom,' said the judge, 'is the legal-tender act constitutional?' 'It is, sir,' answered the young lawyer, who knew his examiner's bent. 'You shall be admitted,' said the judge, and the ceremony was over. This version spoils an excellent anecdote. The story as it occurred is as follows: When Tom Reed was to be examined for admission to the bar, Judge W. T. Wallace was then on the Supreme Bench, and the candidate appeared before him for examination. It was in the early sixties, and the country was convulsed with varying opinions on the legal-tender act. It is true that Judge Wallace said to the candidate: 'Is the legal-tender act constitutional?' 'It is, sir,' was the reply. 'You are passed, sir,' replied Judge Wallace at once; any young man who can decide grave constitutional questions like that off-hand requires no further examination."

Mrs. Stanford's Sacrifices.
The name of Mrs. Leland Stanford will—or at least ought—go down in history beside that of Queen Isabelle; indeed, it will have greater lustre, for the proud queen of Arragon doubtless was well persuaded by the eloquence of Columbus that a new empire was awaiting her, and it is easy enough to risk even crown jewels when an empire where jewels are as pebbles in the brooks is in prospect. But Mrs. Stanford, in making personal sacrifices to keep open the Stanford university, has no empire for herself in view, and her sacrifices are all the more noble because they are made to open the empire of knowledge to others.—Womankind.

No change of diet ever necessary. Eat the best you can get, and enough of it. Dose, one tablespoonful in water at bedtime. Sold by all Druggists.

germ-life

The doctors tell us, now-a-days, that disease germs are everywhere; in the air, in the water, in our food, clothes, money; that they get into our bodies, live there, thrive and grow, if they find anything to thrive on. Consumption is the destruction of lung-tissue by germs where the lung is too weak to conquer them. The remedy is strength—vital force.

Scott's Emulsion, with hypophosphites, means the adjustment of lung strength to overcome germ-life. It is fighting the germ with the odds in our favor. These tiny little drops of fat-food make their way into the system and re-fresh and re-invigorate it. Whether you succeed with it or not depends on how good a start the germs had, and how carefully you can live. The shortest way to health is the patient one. The gain is often slow.
