It eats with either head and is as lively as any snake can be.

The editor of a local newspaper is the most thoroughly criticised individual of a community. To escape criticism he would have to be a member of all churches and of none; a prohibitionist and a drunkard at the same time; a married man and a single man at once; a philanthropist and a miser at once; a genius and a fool; a hypocrite, a liar, a backbiter, a rascal and the opposite of

Will Not Shut Down

It has been rumored that the Woolen Mill Co. of this place will shut down their large mill for sometime. Some of the machinery will be stopped a few weeks for repairs, but the mill will not be shut down.

Thanksgiving Services.

The union Thanksgiving services in the Baptist church last Thursday morning were well attended, much better than is customary in Reynoldsville, but not as large as should have been when the beautiful day and number of professed christians of this place are taken into consideration. Rev. J. W. Crawford preached an excellent sermon.

Pleasant Party.

Miss Annie Black gave a party to about thirty young people of this place at Hotel McConnell Saturday evening in honor of her cousin, Miss Glenn, of Pittsburg, who is visiting here. At eleven o'clock an elegant supper was served. The Hopkins Mandolin Club enlivened the occasion with some of their delightful music. It was a pleasant party and greatly enjoyed by the young people.

Jubilee Services.

Wednesday evening the Lutherans of this place held their Jubilee service. Rev. Sard delivered a Swedish address on the Lutheran church and its central doctrine. "Jubilee" was the subject of Rev. Rosenbaum's English remarks and Rev. Ash spoke of the practical side of Jubilee and admonished the audience to do their part of the Jubilee work. Rev. Metzenthin spoke a few words in German. The attendance was good and the Jubilee offering satisfactory.

Take a Hint, Boys.

M. C. Coleman, of King & Co's. store handed in a complaint to town council Monday evening about the conduct of the boys of that end of town who assemble in front of the stores and whoop and yell until the storekeepers cannot hear themselves think. The boys have been requested to keep quiet but they ignore the request. Council will see to it that there will be less loafing in front of the stores of the east end of town. The boys had better take the hint from this article and spend their evenings at home, which is the proper place for them after dark.

New Officers.

At a meeting of the Junior Prohibition League, held in Centennial hall last Friday evening, the following officers were elected: President, W. B. Stauffer; vice-president, E. C. Davis; secretary, Miss Minnie B. Whitmore; assistant secretary, Miss Blanch Davis; treasurer, H. K. Whitmore. At this meeting it was decided to secure a first class temperance lecturer to speak in Centennial hall on Friday evening, December 13th. A more definite state ment concerning the lecture will be found in THE STAR next week.

House Packed.

It is usually difficult to get enough Reynoldsville people to attend an entertainment to fill the opera house comfortably full, but the Junior Christian Endeavor entertainment in the opera house last Wednesday night, under the management of Miss Belle Arnold, was an exception, and the opera house was insufficent to accommodate the large crowd. The seats were all filled, extra chairs carried in and taken, many stood in the isles and many others were unable to even get into the building. The entertainment was real good and all who took part did nicely, but the little tots captivated the large audience.

Improvements Decided improvements have been made around the A. V. R'y Co. property in West Reynoldsville during the past six months. The strip of ground across the railroad from the passenger station was cleaned up and sodded; a substantial stone crossing was put down; railroad buildings all repainted; the interior of the passenger station beautified until it is now second to no station along the line. Last week sidewalks were built across the railroad, which will certainly be appreciated by pedestrians. Supt. Rumsey and the R. R. Co. are deserving of praise for fixing things up in and around their property in West Reynoldsville.

Admitted to the Bar.

William G. Kline, heretofore student in the law office of Arnold & Horton, of this place, was Monday admitted to the bar at Clearfield and is now authorized to practice law in the courts of this county. It is understood that he will remain in the office of Arnold & Horton throughout the coming winter, at least.-DuBois Courier. THE STAR extends congratule tions to Mr. Kline for the su already attained and predicts a bri already attained and predicts a brilliant future for the young man.

A Girl's Essay on Boys.

Boys are men who have not got as big as their papas, and girls are women that will be ladies by and by. Man was made before woman. When God looked at Adam he said to himself, "Well I think I can do better if I try again.' And he made Eve. God liked Eve so much better than Adam that there have been more women than men. Boys are a trouble. They wear out everything but soap. If I had my way half the world would be girls, the rest dolls. My papa is so nice that I think he must have been a little girl when he was a little boy. Man was made, and on the seventh day he rested. Woman was made, and she never rested since .-Exchange.

An Enthulastic Rally.

It was announced by hand bills and through the press of the town that a meeting of the members of Washington Lodge, No. 124, Sons of St. George and their English friends would be held in the I. O. O. F. hall on Wednesday evening last, and the announcement was not a fake, neither was the meeting. On the morning of the day mentioned Grand President House, of Scranton, and Grand Secretary J. H. Williams, of Philadelphia, came to town and spent the day in getting acquainted with the people, and in the evening an enthusiastic open meeting was held in the L.O. O. F. hall at which the distinguished State officers of the Sons of St. George addressed the people on the objects and aims of the lodge. Wm. Copping presided and George Harries delivered a neat and well worded opening address of welcome, which was responded to by Mr. House. The program opened with singing a lodge ode by all present. Grand President House delivered an able address on the objects and aims of the order. He told how the order originated. He spoke of the noble character of the hero after whom referred to the history of the Pilgrim Fathers and told how the English language, laws and customs became dominant in the colonies. The audience was then entertained by a song from John Reddecliff, recitation by Miss Louisa Grix and song by Mrs. Richard Bone. The next on the progam was an address by Grand Secretary Williams. He spoke at length upon the Declaration of Independence and Constitution from a a historic and legal standpoint and showed how Magna Charta, the Bill of Rights and the Hæbus Corpus act had paved the way for them. He spoke upon the characteristic trait of the Anglo Saxon race in holding a diversity of opinions but always ready to unite for the accomplishment of a great purpose. He told how the order stood for good American citizenship and enunciated the principle that no man had a right to stay permanently in this country if he was unwilling to obey its laws and lacked the essentials of a freeman. This address was followed with a song by Mary Jane Pomroy, comic song by Wm. and John Broad, song by Wm. Booker, musical duet on organ and mouth organ by Wm. Bolt jr. and John Reddecliff. After the program in the I.O.O.F. hall was finished the people adjourned to one of the store rooms of the Reynolds block where the ladies had prepared a banquet consisting of an abundance of good things. About midnight the entertained and entertainers returned to their repective homes. Proposes to Even Up. Over in Emporium there are business men who send out of town to get their printing done because they can save a few cents. It is a conceded fact that a newspaper is a good institution for any town, in fact is the best boomer a town can boast of, but if the newspaper would survive financial difficulties, it must receive liberal support-job work and advertising-from the business men of the town in which it is published, for the business men of other towns feel in duty bound to support their own print shops and, in consequence, cannot support the print shop of a neighboring town. This being the case is it just for the business men of Emporium to send out of town for everything they want but free notices and a boom for the town and expect the home papers to do that for the good of the town? Of course the business men of Emporium who send out of town for printing are so interested in self that they are blinded to the real interests of the town and cannot see that it is to their interests to patronize home industries. The following clipped from the Emporium Echo, shows that the editor of that paper proposes to even up with the men who send out of town for printing:

"Say, you show the editor of the Echo a business man who is getting printing done out of town because he can get it cheaper, and we will get you goods, in his line, so cheap that you will hardly believe it and good goods, too. We can't even the thing alone, so we solicit the customers of such men and will make it felt."

A Teacher's Jurisdiction.

The jurisdiction and authority of the teacher over the pupil is neither limited by the school house walls nor the time the school is actually in season. As a general rule in all matters connected with the schools and the manners and morals of the scholars the teacher's iurisdiction conjointly with the parents commences when the pupil leaves the parental roof and continues until their return from school. The teacher, however, is not responsible for the misconduct of the pupil on the way to and from school, though he has a right to punish for such misconduct, when brought to his knowledge. This is the Pennsylvania decision on the subject .- Lock Haven Democrat.
