Four men of Beechtree, all brothers, are now languishing in durance vile at Brookville for indulging in too much enthusiasm on Christmas and participating in riotous actions.

The Ridgway Democrat, formerly an eight-page, six column weekly, has been changed to a four-page, six column twice-a-week. This is an evidence of enterprise on the part of the Democrat.

The officers elect of the Grand Army Post and the Woman's Relief Corps of this place were publicly installed last evening. Appropriate and interesting addresses were delivered by Hon. S. B. Elliot, Revs. Crawford, Johnson and Kelly.

A dark colored overcoat, with a pair of yellow woolen mittens and two mufflers in pockets, was lost between Sandy Valley and Reynoldsville on Christmas afternoon. A reward will be paid if the overcoat is left at THE STAR office.

W. F. Bowman, of Young township, who was the Democrat candidate for Assembly during the last campaign for that office, has been appointed by the commissioners as mercantile appraiser for Jefferson county for the year 1896.

One of Kittanning's weekly papers, County Light, has suspended publication and the plant was purchased by the proprietors of the Kittanning Times. The former publisher of the Light will go into the hotel business the 1st of April.

The Baptist Sunday school elected the following officers for 1896: Supt., W. S. Stone; asst. supt., W. F. Marshall; secretary, Millie Hoon; treasurer, G. M. Rea; librarians, Wilmer Ellenberger and Blanche Whitmore; organist, Blanche Davis.

Miles Edward McDonald, aged three years, six months and fifteen days, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McDonald, died at 2:00 A. M. Monday, Jan. 6th. The boy was sick with measles which was followed by pneumonia. Funeral this Wednesday, forenoon.

Women are onto a new racket now for getting their big sleeves into a coat without the aid of some one else. Put on the coat, back the arm up into the coat sleeve, tuck in the dress sleeve and then run the hand out at the little end of the coat sleeve again. See!

The Committee in charge of the entertainment given by the Helping Hand Society on Christmas night desire to thank Prof. Hawthorn for valuable help given, Mr. Stoke for favors done, and all others who so kindly assisted in making their entertainment a success.

The Brookville Republican, one of our first-class exchanges, entered its thirty-sixth year on New Year's day. The paper has been published under the present management for eleven years. There is no venture about the Republican when it enters a new year, "it's in the swim." Success to you brethren.

Prof. Lex N. Mitchell, who was principal of the West Reynoldsville schools last winter, now principal of the Indiana, Pa., schools, was circulating among his Reynoldsville friends during the holiday vacation. Prof. is a bright young man and is proving very successful as an instructor. The Indiana schools are in excellent condition under his principalship.

With this issue of THE STAR we begin the publication of a Christian Endeavor column. There are many young people in this community who belong to that society, and they will find this column, which will give topics for discussion and general information in regard to the society, helpful to them. The length of time this new feature will be continued will depend upon how it is appreciated.

The members of the Hanson Park Methodist Episcopal church of Omaha, Neb., of which Rev. W. P. Murray, Ph. D., is pastor, apparently think it is the proper thing for their pastor to ride a bicycle, as a Sterling bicycle was among the Christmas presents given by the congregation to the pastor and family. Rev. Murray was formerly pastor of the Reynoldsville M. E. church. The facts of the above item we glean from a paper published in Omaha.

H. W. Eason, a young man who has had considerable experience in business, is now a clerk in Deemer & Co's large store in the Arnold block. Mr. Eason, formerly of Brookville, has had charge of the billing department of Taylor Son & Co's wholesale notions and gents' furnishing establishment in Pittsburg for several years. Mr. Eason was unable to find a suitable home vacant in Reynoldsville at present and he and his wife will board at R. E. McKee's, in the Arnold block, for a time.

Moved to Phillipsburg.

Chas. B. French bought out an insurance agency from a Phillipsburg gentleman who was appointed Factory Inspector. Mr. French went to Phillipsburg about the first of the year to take charge of his new office.

A Snug Sum.

The Catholic people of this place made a snug sum of money out of the three entertainments given in the opera house during the holidays and the dinner and supper served in the Reynolds block on Christmas eve, Christmas, and on New Year's eve and New Year's Day. The net receipts amounted to about $225.00. The entertainment given on New Year's eve was repeated last Saturday night. Good programs were rendered at the entertainments.

An Active Society.

The Work Society of the Presbyterian church, which was organized the first of 1895, and which has proven so far to be a very industrious and helpful society, celebrated its first anniversary on Thursday evening, Jan. 2nd, at the home of Mrs. Alex. Riston, on Grant street, by feasting on good things that had been provided by the members of the society. The ladies were not selfish and invited their husbands to enjoy the "layout," although the men were not entitled to participate in the feasting because they did not proffer a helping hand when work was to be done during the twelvemonth. However, the "lords" were so delighted that they inquired how soon they could expect another such an occasion.

A Dear Tear.

While in attendance at the county institute held at Brookville Christmas week, a teacher who is an instructor in a school not fifteen miles away from Reynoldsville, was squandering some surplus time with several companions in playing billiards. By a mishap the cue in the pedagogue's hands plowed into the table and made a rent in the cloth in two directions, each one about five inches in length, making ten inches of a tear. The manager of the billiard parlor informed the school teacher that it would require the small sum of $5.00 for the first inch and $2.00 for each additional inch to liquidate his indebtedness to that amusement resort for disfiguring the billiard table. The teacher paid the bill and left the table with the former owner.

Fell Down Stairs.

Peter Baum, a farmer who lives on an excellent farm near Emerickville, met with a mishap which might have resulted in cremation for him. One week ago Saturday night Mr. Baum was in Reynoldsville and not caring to go out home, he stopped at J. W. Dempey's in West Reynoldsville, to stay until morning. Sometime during the night he became sick and decided to get up and go down stairs. He light the glass lamp in his room and started down stairs. He had only descended two or three steps when he tumbled to the bottom of the stairs. The lamp and oil were scattered around promiscuously, but fortunately the light was extinguished or it would have been a more serious case. Mr. Baum's right thigh was so badly injured that he has since been under a doctor's care and has not been able to be moved to his home.

Big Order.

The Woolen Mill Co. of this place have orders enough now to keep their mill running full time during this year, with considerable extra time thrown in. Several weeks ago an order for 50,000 yards of flannel was received from a Pittsburg firm. Last Saturday Mr. Sykes telegraphed the Woolen Mill Co. that he had received an order for 200,000 yards—4,000 pieces. The capacity of the mill has been increased for this year's work and if the business of the mill continues to increase as it has in the past year, an addition will have to be built to the already large plant. We hope such will be the case. There is no other mill in the country that turns out better work than the mill at this place. It would be a good thing for Reynoldsville if the town was full of live industries such as the woolen mill and had as live business men at the head of it as are in the woolen mill.

Died Suddenly.

Mrs. Mary Delaney, of Prescottville, died very suddenly just a half hour before the old year gave place to the new year. Mrs. Delaney, who was left a widow fifteen years ago, had been in delicate health for more than a year, but the day before she died she was feeling stronger and better than she had for sometime. The deceased sat in the sitting room with her family until 11:09 P. M., and retired. Soon after one of her daughter's heard a strange noise in the room and went in to see what caused it. She found her mother gasping for breath and called for help. The woman was raised up in bed and was given a sup of water, but she expired immediately. Heart failure is supposed to have caused her sudden demise. Funeral services were held in the Catholic church at 9:00 A. M. Friday and the remains were buried in the Catholic cemetery. Six children, James Delaney, proprietor of the barber shop near the corner of Main and Fourth sts., John Delaney, a miner, four daughters and a grandmother, Mrs. Delaney's mother, survive the deceased. Mrs. Delaney was 47 years old.

Is it a Fake?

In August, 1895, a woman dressed in black, wearing a black veil, prowled the streets of DuBois after night looking for a man with a scar over one of his eyes. A few weeks later it was claimed that a mysterious personage dressed in black, with a black veil, had been seen on several streets in Reynoldsville. Jackson seemed to be its favorite street. Dame Rumor says the "black ghost," as some were pleased to call it, had stopped a young man on Jackson st. one night and raised his hat to look for a scar. It was not necessary for the "ghost" to touch the young man's hat as his hair had raised the hat high enough to get a good view of his forehead, had the light been turned on. Punxsutawney, Ridgway, Johnsonburg and Brookwayville each in turn have had a visit from the mysterious creature since "it" visited Reynoldsville. "It" was at Brookwayville last week. The question is, has a woman, or man, dressed as above described, been seen in any of the towns mentioned, or is it a fake? Each town reports that the "strange thing" is looking for a man with a scar over one eye. We did not see it in Reynoldsville nor have we met any one, personally, yet who did. We do know that timid boys and girls and young ladies were afraid to venture out alone after dark during the time the "woman" was supposed to be in town.

New Officers.

The following are the officers elect of Hiawatha Council No. 733, Jr. O. U. A. M., who will be installed this evening for the ensuing term by Deputy State Councilor W. J. Weaver: Jr. Past Councilor, H. H. Miner; Councilor, W. A. Gray; Vice Councilor, W. H. Cable; Recording Sec, W. J. Weaver; As't Rec. Sec., D. J. Thomas; Financial Sec., J. C. Barto; Treasurer, Frank Alexander; Conductor, R. E. Murray; Warden, R. J. Wiseman; Inner Sentinel, A. A. Stewart; Outer Sentinel, G. F. Cable; Trustees, W. H. Cable, W. J. Weaver, Fred Butler; Representative to State Council, W. J. Weaver; Alternate, J. C. Barto. State Council will meet at Gettysburg, Pa., on the third Tuesday of September.

Married New Year's.

Dr. James Spackman, of DuBois, son of Dr. R. V. Spackman, formerly of this place, and a nephew of Dr. W. B. Alexander, banker, was married to Miss Helen Wheeler, of DuBois, on New Year's Day, by Rev. J. V. Bell, Presbyterian minister, in the presence of the relatives of the contracting parties. "Jim," who is well known and has many friends here, has not completed his studies and is yet a student in a Philadelphia college. He will graduate early this year. He is a bright young man with success and prosperity just before him. The Courier says, "Miss Wheeler is also deservedly popular with all who have had the pleasure of her acquaintance."

Have You Seen It?

Ed. Gooder, the jeweler, has a clock hanging in his store window that is a novel time piece. It is suspended from the ceiling by small pieces of wire. It looks like an imitation clock, but it keeps correct time. Apparently it is nothing more than a light of glass 24x24 inches with a 20-inch dial and hands and figures in proportion on the dial. The largest hand is ten and the smallest eight inches in length. The figures are 2 1/2 inches. The outer edge of the clock, or glass, is nicely trimmed with ribbon. There is no sham about it. The hands "do move." Look and see.

Republican Primaries Feb. 18th.

In response to a call from County Chairman E. A. Carmalt, the Republican County Committeemen met in the commodious rooms of Carmalt & Strong's law office in Brookville yesterday afternoon to fix the date of holding the primary elections, &c. By a resolution of the convention held the date of the primaries was fixed for Tuesday, Feb. 18th, the same day the spring election will be held. The primaries will be open from 7:00 A. M. to 7:00 P. M. The candidates will have to hustle as the campaign will be short.

Returned to Portland Mills.

Dr. Harry P. Thompson, of Portland Mills, Elk Co., who went to the West Penn Hospital, Pittsburg, about the first of last October for a three months' course, has returned to his labors at Portland. It will take "Doc" and his wife several months to get accustomed to the noise, hum of industry and the mad rush of the multitude at Portland after having spent three months in Pittsburg.

A Rumor.

It is rumored that the A. V. R'y has made the Bell, Lewis & Yates Coal Mining Co. an offer to haul their coal to the lake markets via Red Bank and Oil City.—Falls Creek Herald.
 Inquiry at the office of the Bell, Lewis & Yates Coal Mining Company in this place elicited the response that they knew nothing of the rumor mentioned in above item, and never had heard of it before.

Murdered Christmas.

In a drunken carousal at Walston, this county, on Christmas day an Italian named Joseph Elio, murdered a fellow-countryman named Louis Scalzo by stabbing him in the heart. Scalzo died instantly and Elio took to the woods. A warrant was issued for the murderer but he has not been apprehended yet. If the Ike is caught Jefferson county will have a murder trial to dispose of.

Old Clocks.

In the last issue of THE STAR we mentioned that R. F. Morrison, of Allens Mills, had left a clock in C. F. Hoffman's jewelry store for repairs that had been keeping good time for 80 years. Ninian Cooper insists that the clock is only 55 years old, and that there is a wooden clock in Mrs. Margaret Cooper's house to-day that is running and keeping good time that is five years older than Grandfather Morrison's clock. Mr. Cooper says that on January 28th, 1835, a clock peddler made his appearance and stopped at their place and that his father bought a wooden clock for $5.00. The cords and pendulum hung almost to the floor. On Nov. 1st, 1840, after the clock had been in use five years, a Yankee clock peddler dropped in among them from the state of Connecticut, who sold brass clocks. His father bought a 24-hour clock for $30.00 and Grandfather Morrison bought an 8-day brass clock for $50.00, which is just 55 years old. Mr. Cooper says when the brass clock was bought the wooden clock was laid to one side for a few years until his brother William was married, and he took it, got it repaired and set it in his house and it has kept good time up to the present without costing one cent for repairs.

Bible Conference.

A number of bible students of Reynoldsville began the first of November, 1895, to read the bible through as per a schedule of reading for each day as mapped out by Rev. H. R. Johnson and published in THE STAR. It was then stated that public meetings would be held during the year in connection with the plan of reading. The first meeting was held in the Presbyterian church last Friday night. The attendance was not as large as might be expected, yet it was a good audience for the extremely cold night. Revs. Kelley, Crawford, Metzenthin and Johnson had been given subjects to talk upon and were to have twenty minutes allotted to them. All the ministers mentioned were present but Rev. Metzenthin. "How to read the bible with interest and profit," was Rev. Crawford's topic; "Prominent Characters from Genesis to Esther, and why they are prominent," was Rev. Kelley's subject, and Rev. Johnson's subject was "General Suggestions on the books read." All three ministers handled their subjects in a very able manner and made the meeting profitable to those who were present.

Program for Saturday Night.

The Helping Hand Society of the M. E. church gave an entertainment in the opera house on Christmas evening and the house was packed; a number of people could not gain admittance who had purchased tickets from children on the streets. The ladies decided to repeat the entertainment on Saturday night, Jan. 11th. The tickets that were sold for the first entertainment will be honored at this one. General admission 15 cents, no reserved seats. There has been a change in the program:

Lock-up, Not Jail.

Some of our exchanges are making the statement that Frank Mullen, of this place, broke out of the Brookville jail and has skipped to parts unknown. Two weeks ago THE STAR stated that an old soldier who had been lodged in the Reynoldsville lock-up for being intoxicated, had broken out of the lock-up. We did not give the name of the old soldier, but it was Frank Mullen. Now the story goes that he broke out of the county jail, which is false. Mullen was given liberty that is not granted to all the prisoners who get into the Reynoldsville bastle and he took advantage of it, for which the officers do not lament. However, Frank had better keep away from Reynoldsville or he will likely be called to an account for running away from the law.
