There will still be a shade of sorrow on the woman's brow who invented an apparatus connected with the clock, which by pulling a string, denotes the exact time her husband crawls into bed; thus doing away with his palming off three o'clock for eleven, and at the same time saves her the trouble to get up in her night gown to consult the time piece, until she adds an attachment that will tell where he has been.

Chas. H. Kritzer, of DuBois, aged seventeen years, was drowned in the B. L. & Y. C. M. Co. dam at DuBois last Saturday forenoon. Kritzer's companion, however, was more cautious than he and thereby saved himself from a sudden and premature death. This is another warning for the boys not to be too anxious and risky about skating on ice that they are not sure is perfectly safe.

Resisted the Officer.

On Saturday night Pat. McGrainor was lodged in the "cooler" for awhile and paid $3.00 for a little fun. He had been drinking and was inclined to be noisy. Policeman Adelsperger advised him to keep quiet, which he refused to do and defied Adelsperger to arrest him. This the officer at once proceeded to do and soon had the fellow caged although Mr. Adelsperger lost part of his coat in taking him to the lock-up.

A Small Blaze.

Last Friday night about eleven o'clock, as F. P. Adelsperger, night-watchman, was making his rounds he discovered a fire in the building back of F. S. Hoffman's meat market, used as a place for making sausage, etc. He immediately awakened Mr. Hoffman and the fire was soon extinguished by carrying water in buckets. Very little damage was done, but had it not been for our nightwatchman a large fire might have been the result.

Wants to be a Delegate.

J. Riley Smeltzer, of Reynoldsville, who is a devotee of the "art preservative," having learned his trade in the Brookville Republican office and also worked a number of years in the Government printing office in Washington, D. C., has announced himself as a candidate for delegate to the Republican State Convention. We have known Riley for a number of years and have always found him to be a sober, honorable and upright young man and believe he would creditably represent Jefferson county in the State Convention. He is quiet and unassuming and has always been a worker for the Republican party.

"Whizzer!"

The Reynoldsville Woolen Co. added one more new machine last week to their already well equipped mill. Hydro-Extractor is the name of the new machine and it makes four hundred revolutions in a minute. Because of its wonderful velocity the machine has received a new name since set up and is now called a "whizzer." Heretofore all flannel manufactured at the mill in this place had to be hung up with the water dripping off of it and it took the cloth sometime to dry, but the new "whizzer" jerks the flannel around so rapidly that the water can not stick on and consequently drying cloth at the woolen mill in Reynoldsville is now a very small matter.

Banquet.

The leap year banquet given by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. in the G. A. R. hall Saturday evening was a success socially, at least. About seventy young ladies escorted their gentlemen friends to the hall and helped them to enjoy themselves during the evening. Although only about forty had responded to their invitations enough good things had been prepared for the large gathering. Two prizes were given, one to the gentleman who claimed to have received the largest number of invitations, and a "booby" prize to one who received the smallest number. The first prize, a silver cuff button case, was awarded to Harry Reynolds, and the "booby" prize, a Chinese umbrella, was given to Francis J. Weakley. The ladies took in about thirty-five dollars, but as they were at considerable expense in preparing for the banquet, not a great sum was realized from the affair.

Elected Officers.

An item was published in the last issue of THE STAR, stating that H. G. Van Keuren, Deputy Great Commander of the K. O. T. M. lodge, was in town trying to build up the above order. A meeting was held in the I. O. O. F. hall last Wednesday night and fifteen new members were admitted into the mysteries of the Macaboeism. The following officers were elected and duly installed: Sir Kt. Com., M. Mohny; Sir Kt. Lieu., Com., F. F. Schurig; Sir Kt. Record Keeper, M. I. Winslow; Sir Kt. Finance Keeper, M. I. Winslow; Sir Kt. Chaplain, Jas Irving; Sir Kt. Physician, J. H. Murray; Sir Kt. Sergeant, Jno. Benson; Sir Kt. Master at Arms, F. J. Butler; Sir Kt. 1st M. of G., A. M. Wadding Sir Kt. 2nd M. of G., R. W. Miller; Sir Kt. Sentinel, A. Katzen; Sir Kt. Picket, C. E. Benson. New resolutions were adopted for the benefit of its workings. The charter will be held open for 30 days. The order will hold weekly meetings in the I. O. O. F. hall on Wednesday evenings.

Attempted to Kill Mr. Cox.

Tax Collector W. T. Cox had a thrilling experience with some Polanders last Friday morning in attempting to collect $24.81 charged up against one who has been a resident of Jackson street for sometime. About two months ago the man left Reynoldsville to hunt work and located at Monongahela City. After finding a job there the Polanders sent for his family to move to that place and on Friday morning Dan. Whittaker was hired to haul the goods to the depot. On learning that they intended to leave without paying their taxes, Mr. Cox proceeded to levy on their goods and prevent them from leaving Reynoldsville until some provision was made for the payment of the same. At last it was agreed that the family should sign a contract allowing Mr. Cox to rent their property and apply the rent on the tax until the amount should all be paid. After having the contract drawn up, our tax collector proceeded to the house to have it properly signed, accompanied by Mr. Whittaker. A number of Polish men and women were present to assist in the moving, and soon after the arrival of our American citizens one of the men took down a revolver from a shelf and started towards them. He was intercepted by some of his countrymen and, in the scuffle which ensued, the revolver was accidentally discharged. As the tax collector and drayman were unarmed they did not wait for more, but started down street at a lively gait. The man with the gun got as far as the porch, but on account of the men and women hanging to him he was unable to use the weapon.

Mr. Cox went to his store, got his revolver and a few citizens to accompany him, went back to the Polanders' and proceeded to remove their goods without further resistance. An attempt was made to find out who it was that did the shooting, but, according to their story, he was a stranger and had already disappeared. No one knew his name. When the revolver, a 32-caliber, was discharged the ball struck the pocket of a Polanders, passed through some books and papers and made a hole through his clothing. On reaching his hide the bullet made a black spot, but the skin was too tough for the bullet to penetrate. Mr. Cox does not intend to give up collecting tax from that class of people, but expects to be better prepared for that kind of work in the future.

Tramps Temporary Home.

For many years it has been no uncommon thing to find the beautiful and appropriate motto, "God Bless Our Home," hanging in some conspicuous place upon the walls of well regulated homes in our land, but the last place any one would expect to see the old motto would be over the opening into a coke oven, yet people who have passed by the long row of coke ovens east of Worth street the past week, could see just such a sight. Two old tramps, who served their country well in time of peril and are now drawing pensions for service rendered, "struck" this town a few days ago in their meanderings, and having no where to lay their heads, they were attracted by the lights from the well patronized lodging place of such tourists,—the coke ovens—and hither they hied. Fortune seemed to favor them, for three or four of the ovens were empty. They selected an oven that was near enough to one that was fired up so the oven would be nice and warm and they cleaned all the ashes and dirt out of it and then got old papers and fixed up the interior of the oven as snug as possible, and pitched their tents to sojourn there until they got tired or the company ousted them. The wags got a big card and wrote in large letters upon it, "God Bless Our Home," and hung the card, with the motto outside, over the opening in the oven to answer as a door. One of the tramps, we understand, drew his quarterly pension money since he came to Reynoldsville, so what the ex-soldiers cannot beg they buy. They make their coffee over one of the neighboring ovens and have things very comfortable—for tramps.

Died of Consumption.

On Wednesday morning, Jan. 5th, at 4:30 o'clock, Grace Armagost, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Armagost, died of consumption. She was 14 years, 1 month and 13 days old. On Friday morning, after a short service at the house, the remains were taken on the 7:40 train for New Bethlehem, the former home of Mr. Armagost's family and the birthplace of Grace, for burial. Rev. J. W. Crawford, pastor of the M. E. church at this place, went with the family to New Bethlehem and conducted the service, assisted by Rev. Small, of that place. This is the third child these parents have lost in four years.

E. Neff, Esq., for Sheriff.

(Advertisement.) E. Neff, Esq., of this place, candidate for the office of sheriff, has returned from a canvass over the entire county and feels confident of success, as the chances are very favorable that he will be the next Republican nominee for sheriff of Jefferson county. We have the assurance that he will get a large support from the miner vote. I draw these conclusions from conversations I have had with all I came in contact with since the primary campaign opened. They say: "Mr. Neff has always proven himself a friend to the miners and working class and has never been known to turn a deaf ear to a worthy poor man when he appealed to him for sympathy or aid, in sickness or in trouble, and we are only too glad that an opportunity is afforded us whereby we are enabled to show him our gratitude for all the many kind deeds he has bestowed upon us in past years and at present." Mr. Neff is a gentleman in every sense of the word, and a "jolly good fellow" to, and he has never been seen by any one standing around the corners using profane and rough language, as we have seen and heard some "jolly good fellows" do. There is nothing that adorns a man so beautifully as the garb of truth under all circumstances. Mr. Neff is a hustler and a hard worker, but he has never been heard to say any unkind words of those who are candidates with him for the office of sheriff, and his friends admire, and appreciate him too for the honest and straight course he is taking in this canvass. The ability of Mr. Neff for the office of sheriff is recognized by all who know him, and on February 18th we will give proof of the confidence we have placed in the gentleman by giving him our vote.

A Few Don'ts.

Don't fail to vote on the 18th, and when you do be sure you vote right.

Don't preach what you do not practice. A hypocrite is a despicable object.

Don't be sarcastic. It doesn't do you any good and may hurt some person's feelings.

Don't run down your own town. If you don't like it there is no compulsion about staying.

Don't always look on the dark side of life. Remember the darkest hour is just before the dawn.

Don't think you know it all. There are about 1,250,000,000 people in the world besides yourself.

Don't speak ill of your neighbor. If you can't say something good say nothing. Remember the golden rule.

Don't borrow your local newspaper. You can elevate yourself in your own as well as the editor's esteem by subscribing, and it only costs you two cents a week.

Don't attempt to live at a thousand dollar gait on a five hundred dollar salary. If you do you are bound to cheat some person and cheating is equivalent to stealing.

Don't put off until to-morrow what you should by all means do to-day. In the uncertainty of life and the immutability of human affairs there may be no to-morrow for you.

Don't attempt to drink all the whiskey and beer in existence in order to keep it out of the reach of others. The facilities for production are probably larger than you imagine.
