Mrs. M. R. Ardery, mother of Mrs. W. L. Johnston of West Reynoldsville, died at the home of her son, Rev. T. R. Johnston, at Edgington, Ill., last Thursday. An obituary notice will be published in THE STAR next week.

If you want to buy a bicycle, buy an Eclipse. Why? Because they have established a reputation right here at home that no one can dispute. They have been ridden by the hardest riders and have stood the test. Sold by C. F. Hoffman.

Miss Mary Moore, the milliner, has returned from the city and will give an Easter opening at her store on Thursday and Friday of pattern hats and bonnets and all the latest styles in millinery. Don't fail to see the display at her store.

Thomas Winder, the man who rode around the United States, longest bicycle ride ever made, and over the roughest road 21,600 miles, rode an Eclipse, and like all of the Eclipse wheels that are ridden by our Reynoldsville boys, it stood the test. Sold by C. F. Hoffman.

At a meeting of the directors of the Reynoldsville Building and Loan Association held on Monday evening, the following officers were elected: John M. Hays, president; C. J. Kerr, vice-president; L. J. McEntire, secretary; H. C. Deible, treasurer; M. M. Davis, solicitor.

Gorton's Minstrels were greeted with a large audience at the Reynolds opera house last Wednesday evening. Taking the show altogether it is a good one and the people were pleased with the performance. The company came in over the A. V. R'y in a private car, "The Crescent City."

A Bible School Convention, western division, of the Clearfield Baptist Association, will be held at Skysville on Tuesday, April 23th. Rev. E. Lewis Kelley, W. S. Stone, Robert L. Miles and M. C. Coleman, all of Reynoldsville, are booked for prominent parts on the programs of the convention.

Miss Cora Milliren will teach an eight weeks term of school in the Reynolds block, beginning on Monday, April 13th. Tuition, $1.00 per month, or $1.75 for the term. Miss Milliren, who graduated in an Ohio school last summer, is competent and well qualified to teach and will give her pupils a profitable term.

Dr. R. DeVero King, a recent graduate from the Philadelphia Dental College, has opened a dental office at the residence of J. C. King, M. D., at the corner of Main and Sixth streets, and is now ready to do all work in the line of his profession and solicits a share of the public patronage. He guarantees to give satisfaction.

The ladies of the Helping Hand Society of the M. E. church will hold an Easter bazaar and social in the G. A. R. hall on Saturday afternoon and evening, April 4th. Ice cream, cake and coffee will be served any time during the afternoon and evening. The ladies have made some fancy work which they will offer for sale at very reasonable prices.

The Burke monument, mentioned last week, has been erected on their family lot in the Catholic cemetery. It is the only red Scotch granite monument set in Jefferson county. It was imported direct from Aberdeen, Scotland, by our granite dealer, E. E. Stewart. It stands ten feet high and is a first-class piece of work. Mr. Stewart was in Beechwoods yesterday setting up a beautiful monument for A. M. Corbin.

Vie with the Butterfly.
The spring hat is going to be worn flat and more flowery than it has been for a number of years. It is going to rival the country garden in tint and gayety and vie with the butterfly in airy beauty. The millinery display windows of this town during the past week have had the appearance of a flower garden in bloom.

A Good Entertainer.
Alton Lindsey, the impersonator of character and dramatic reader, who gave an entertainment in Centennial hall on Friday evening, was greeted with a good sized audience, although it was largely made up of very young people and his recitals were mostly for that class. However, he is a reader of broad culture and genuine act and is capable of giving satisfaction to an audience of adults.

Crowded Out.
In Tuesday morning's mail we received copy from United States District Attorney Harry Alvan Hall notice of United States Marshal's sale in Jefferson county Friday, April 24, which will be found on another page of this issue. This advertisement, with other work, made THE STAR office force hustle yesterday, even ye editor had to take off his coat and put in a day setting type, and yet we were compelled to leave out considerable matter, among which was an article on the farmers' institute held in the Sugar Hill hall, near Eleanor, which will be published next week.

Gentlemen of Town Council.
We call the attention of our worthy town council to the fact that the new Welsbach street lights can be kept up at the small expense of 25 cents per month, and that heretofore the streets of Reynoldsville have been very poorly lighted. What think you, gentlemen, about having a number of these lights put up on street corners and thus enlighten the people on their way who tread our streets at night? Of course we only mention this as a pointer for you to erect monuments that every night will proclaim your up-to-date, enterprising spirit to the inhabitants of this borough and the strangers that visit the town.

Off For School.
On Monday sixteen young people of Reynoldsville and vicinity got on A. V. R'y passenger trains at this place bound for various institutions of learning in this state, as follows: Alex. and James Waite, Waynesburg; Miss Mary McCright, of Paradise, A. F. Pifer, Miss Catherine Pifer, of near Eleanor, Grove City College; Christ Wyant, of Rathmel, Barkleyville Academy; M. L. Dempsey, Orpha Beer, Annie Davis, Julia Kirk, of Reynoldsville, Ada Hunter Beechwoods, Alex. and Henry Robertson, of Rathmel, J. H. Smith, Monroe London, Joseph Zufall, of Paradise, Clarion State Normal school.

Evening Party.
A number of young people were invited to the home of J. W. Dempsey, in West Reynoldsville, last Friday night and the evening was pleasantly spent in playing games, &c. A number of quotations had been written on slips of paper and then cut in four pieces, the parts being concealed in different parts of the house. All present were invited to search for the slips of paper and the one finding the most and the one finding the least number of complete quotations were to receive prizes. Prof. C. K. Hawthorne received the first prize, a copy of "The Last Days of Pompeii," and G. H. Mundorff took the "booby" prize, a small doll. Refreshments were served during the evening.

Day of Funerals.
Ten victims of the Berwind-White shaft disaster were buried last Thursday. It was a day of funerals in DuBois. Never in the history of that town has there been such a sight as was witnessed on the day mentioned. In one funeral procession there were four hearses, four carriages filled with pallbearers, four widows following the remains of their husbands, and four sets of sorrowing relatives. John M. Hays, undertaker, took his hearse to DuBois to assist in burying the dead, and E. C. Burns and Thos. Tapper, liverymen, each sent five rigs to DuBois for the occasion, the liverymen of that town not being able to furnish rigs to accommodate all the mourners and friends.

Incipient Blaze.
The clang, clang of the fire alarm bell, which was being agitated by Borough Treasurer Tax Collector William T. Cox, was heard above the bustle and stir on our busy streets last Thursday forenoon and everybody forgot business cares for a few minutes and were strictly concerned about knowing where the fire was getting in its work. The ever willing and gallant firemen were soon rushing down Main street with the hose cart. They had not proceeded far down the street until they met the information that their services were not needed. Two or three times within a week the firemen have rushed out to do service but the fires were small and they were not needed. The fire Thursday was in the dwelling of Samuel Wray, on Water street. The damage to the dwelling was slight, only the paper and mullin on the ceiling of one room was burned off. Cause of fire unknown. It is supposed to have been caused by a defective flue.

Street Lights.
We suggested last week that Reynoldsville streets be better illuminated at night, and also stated that the new Welsbach street lights could be kept up at a small expense. Since our last issue we have talked to L. M. Simmots, superintendent of the Oil City Fuel Supply Co. at this place, concerning the Welsbach street light and learn from him that the lights will only cost 25 cents a month. The lamp complete, ready to put up, not including pole, will be furnished by the gas company at $8.00. It will cost something to buy the lamps and have them put up, but the expense afterwards will only be 25 cents a month, or $3.00 a year. There is no need of Reynoldsville people remaining in darkness any longer when they can get street lights so cheap. If the council would have a number of these lights put up on street corners and a number of our citizens would have the lights put up in front of their residences it would make a vast improvement on the appearance of our town after the sombre shadows of evening had swooped down upon the town. Bear in mind that Reynoldsville is a good town, a nice place to live in and is worthy of a little expenditure of money to keep up the appearance of the place. We hope this matter will be taken up at the next meeting of our borough "dads" and that they will see their way clear to give us more street lights. The Welsbach light is second cousin to the electric light and is the next best light for street purposes. We can't have the electric light now but we can have the Welsbach at a small cost.

Social Debut.
Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brown and daughter, Miss Inez, royally entertained about four-score friends at their beautiful home on Grant street last Friday evening. This was Miss Brown's debut into society, but she was as composed and received her guests as gracefully as if she had been long accustomed to such experience. She was dressed in a becoming pink silk and looked very pretty. The first and second floors of the Brown mansion were brilliantly illuminated and beautified with potted flowers from the greenhouse on the same lot. There was an intermingling of rosy youth and those older grown during the forepart of the evening, but after the refreshments were served, which were fit to set before a king, the young people occupied the second floor and spent some time in "progressive word making." The lady and gentleman who remained the longest at the first table in this game were to receive prizes. Miss Alice Doane and Chas. Dickinson outdone the others and were awarded a handsome book apiece. It was one of the prettiest social events of the season. It was almost 1:00 A. M. Saturday before the guests departed, and even then some were loathe to go. Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Brown and the latter's father, Hon. S. B. Elliott, understand how to put a large company at ease and make them feel at home.

Society Ladies.
Hear what Mrs. Knowgoodthing and Mrs. Uptodate, who know what they are talking about, have to say. Mrs. K. to Mrs. U.—"Have you seen those fine dress goods at Bing & Co.'s since their new goods come in?" Mrs. U.—"Oh yes, they are beautiful, and there is such a large line of fine dress patterns, new styles, all shades and so cheap, to select from. Just think of it! Henrietta, 40 inches wide, for 20 cts. a yard. Bing & Co.'s dress goods certainly exceed anything that was ever brought to Reynoldsville. It is no wonder that everybody is going there to buy. We can get any kind of goods there we want." Mrs. K.—"Oh my, but their lace curtains are dandies; the likes has never been seen in Reynoldsville before, for the price. I will go to Bing & Co.'s for my lace curtains, sure, for their line is so cheap and fine; the fact of it is, Mrs. Uptodate, I have never seen the equal."

Don't fail to see the Easter display of fancy millinery at Miss Flo Best's today and to-morrow. Miss Best was in Pittsburg last week learning the latest styles, and while in the city she bought a large line of nobby hats and bonnets which are up-to-date in fashion. Take a peep at her display windows if you want to see something pretty and stylish. You are sure to be satisfied and be in fashion if you buy your hat or bonnet from Miss Best.

A public meeting will be held at the office of M. M. Davis, Esq., April 2nd, at 7:30 P. M., for the purpose of raising a stock company to buy sufficient ground for a cemetery. All are invited.

Wooden Wedding.
Last Thursday marked the fifth anniversary of the wedding day of Mr. and Mrs. U. G. Scheafnocker, of Fourth street, and the occasion was celebrated by an evening of pleasure at their home by a number of invited friends. Those invited did not forget that it was a "wooden" affair and they either carried with them or had previously sent to the house something in the line of furniture, such as handsome rocking chairs, stands, brackets, etc. The guests enjoyed themselves in various games until about about o'clock when the games were laid aside and an "observation" table was introduced. The table contained thirty different articles and the time limited to fix these articles in memory's gallery so that afterwards they could be written on paper, was sixty seconds. Four prizes, two for the ladies and two for the gentlemen, were to be given to the lady and gentleman whose lists contained the largest number of articles on table, and the lady and gentleman whose lists had the smallest number of articles. Ten minutes was allowed each person to write their list. The judges were Rev. E. Lewis Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Woodward. After the "observation" table had been disposed of and before the judges rendered a decision, the host and hostess invited their guests to assemble around small tables where they were served with a sumptuous repast. After the inner man had been satisfied the games were taken up again and it was not until about the midnight hour that the guests wished Mr. and Mrs. Scheafnocker many happy recurrence of their wedding anniversary and departed for their respective homes.

A Wonderful Prescription.
John Sedler, an old German tailor, who resided for many years in Reynoldsville, came into the Spirit office the other day looking very much the worse for wear. He said his wife had died several years ago and he had recently lost his property in Reynoldsville, and was old and on the rocks of poverty and despair. He looked it. Poor old John. We knew him when he dressed like a dandy. He made our first tailor-made suit. John was on the ragged edge. He said: "Master Smeat, I had here a perscription vat vill cure de vore case of rheumatism in few minutes. I sell it all over deas country. The doctors know nottings about it. Dase vas gotten for a great Catholic Bishop, who got it fon von ancient doctair, and some reech man vot got bad rheumatism gif a million dollars for heem. I sell dees to von Baltimore man sax months ago an he mack nine hundred dollars out of it. Von man gif heem two hundred dollars to cure his rheumatism. It cures deas greep in few minutes. I gif it to you, and I gif it to no von else. Fon anybody got rheumatism or greep you tael heem you cure heem."

And Mr. Sedler wrote out the famous prescription. We paid him for it, and have the secret. Of course he has not given it to anybody else in town. So bring on your rheumatism, and if this ancient and honorable perscription will cure you, as Mr. Sedler assures us it will, in very short order, you shall be cured. It is worth, according to Mr. Sedler, a million dollars, but we are not covetous, and don't care for a little thing like that.—Punxsutawney Spirit.

Summer School Announcement.
A summer school will be opened in the Reynoldsville public school building on Monday, April 13th, to continue eight weeks. The school will be conducted by Prof. J. C. Doane and A. J. Postelwait. Suitable instruction will be provided for pupils of all grades. Special attention will be given to any who are preparing for the county superintendent's examination, to enter a Normal school, or for an advanced standing in our own graded school. Pupils who have been deprived of school privileges during the past term from sickness or from other causes, will find this an excellent opportunity to fit themselves to enter their proper grades next year. Arrangements will be made to accommodate any who wish to study at home. School rooms will be heated and comfortable. Tuition very reasonable.

The trout season does not open until April 15th, but Alex. Riston has already opened a complete line of fishing tackle.

No one can dispute the fact that in '95 there were more Eclipse bicycles ridden by hard riders than any other make of wheel in Reynoldsville and they stood the test better. Sold by C. F. Hoffman.
