Pope Leo's Boyhood.

He spent his childhood in the simple surroundings of Carpineto, than which none could be simpler, as every one knows who has ever visited an Italian country gentleman in his home. Early hours, constant exercise, plain food, and farm interests made a strong man of him, with plenty of simple common sense. As a boy he was a great walker and climber, and it is said that he was excessively fond of birding, the only form of sport afforded by that part of Italy, and practised there in those times, as it is now, not only with guns, but by means of nots. It has often been said that poets and lovers of freedom come more frequently from the mountains and the seashore than from a flat inland region .-Century.

What Neglect May Do.

There are some infirmities that only a surgeon's knife will relieve, and mostly strictly because of neglect. A neglected nerve pain may become so chronic as to cripple, and this is often the case with Sciatica. If taken in time, it is easily subdued, like other nerve patns, and vigor and health are restored. Thousands of cases have been treated by the use of St. Jacobs Oil, with the result of a prompt and permanent cure and restoration to health of the affected nerve. People cannot be too careful with their nerves. There is too much to suffer to admit of foolish neglect, and the simple thing of getting a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil and applying promptly may save years of misery and permaps years of crippled condition. Let this warning serve to show what can be and what ought to be done without delay in an attack of this disease. and this is often the case with Sciatica.

TO RESTRAIN THE DRILL

Application of a Coal Company in the Wash ington County Court.

The Ohio and Pennsylvania Coal Company which owns and is mining the coal under the Robert Chambers off farm, in the Cecil pool has asked for an injunction to restrain sun dry persons from drilling through its coal, and a deputy sheriff was sent out Monday evening to stop the drills till the court set ties the matter. Applicant alleges that according to an agreement with Chambers, owner of the land, only three wells were to be drilled but subsequently Chambers sold parcels without inserting this condition. It is an important question with coal and old rose.

It went off and shot her husband in the eye, probably fatally injuring him. In the event that the wound does not prove fatal, he will be blind, as he was already blind of the other eye, having had it knocked out in an expiosion at Penn station some years ago During Sunday a number of persons had called at the Wallace home and considerable beer was on tap. The shooting occurred after all the guests, except one, had gone home. After firing the shot Mrs. Wallace fled in fright, but after some time clapsed rein fright, but after some time clapsed re-turned. She claims it was accidental,

During the past few days Robert Frazier, president of the Bellefonte Central railroad and Vice President Etting, both of Philadelphia, have been in Bellefonte arranging for quite important extensions of that line this summer. As now planned the road will be built through Stone Valley to Huntingdon, where it will connect with the Broadtop. Already it is graded as far Pine Grove Mills, and the rails will be laid on this portion as soon as the the weather will permit. The entire extension will be much the shorter route between Bellefonte and Philadelphia.

He had served five years with the Ninth United States Infantry in many a desperate fight with the Indians in Arisona and other frontier States and had won an enviable record. In the fleree conflict when Geronime, the famous chief of the Apaches, was captured, Mr. Flegaul was among the brave soldiers who, forgetful of everything but duty, charged upon the hostite Indians.

Life on the plains sent to an untimely death many soldiers who were never touched by a redskin's bullet or arrow, and Mr. Fiegauf came near such a fate as that. A long time before his time was out he was taken seriously ill, but he stuck to his post until an honorable discharge was finally given to

When he reached Philadelphia, the Indian when he reached Philadelphia, the Indian fighter was scarcely more than skin and bones, and for three weeks he lay desperately ill in a hospital. He felt dizzy and his stomach felt as if it had dried up. These symptoms were accompanied by bloody dysentery, which no medicine seemed to relieve. After two years of suffering Mr. Flegant came to New York and was treated by several physicians. These did not agree, some calling his disense cataarh of the stomach, and others chronic diarrhora.

In speaking to a reporter about his illness Mr. Fleganf said the doctors helped him, but, with all the money he spent for advice and medicine, he was able to work only a small part of the time. Since moving to his present home, No. 517 West Forty-second Street, in New York, about a year ago, Mr. Fleganf has been so ill that his voice and hearing almost left him.

Then all medicines failed and the sick man had little hope of resovery. At this critical time Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People were recommended to Mr. Flegauf, and almost as a last hope, he began taking them. "The beneficial effect of the medicine was felt at once," Mr. Flegauf told the reporter, "and before I had taken a box I began to eat with relish. Three boxes made me so much better that I began work and have been able to keep at it since, for five months."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pils for Tale People are not a patent medicine in the sense that name implies. They were first compounded as a prescription and used as such in general practice by an eminent physician. So great was their efficacy that it was deemed wise to place them within the reach of all. ### RATT LESNAKE WINE.

It Is a Favorite Medicine in the West Indies. Benjamin Gooch, in his "Medical and Surgical Observations," published in 1771, gives a summary of different aucient therapeutic methods, based on the use of animal polsons. One of his observations relates to a case of severe pains, spasms, etc., of long duration. Gooch says, after speaking of the pa-tient's sufferings: "Not to appear inhuman to so wretched a being, after telling him I could do nothing, I sent him a bettle of rattlesnake wine, to take a glass of frequently. This was in the West Indies drank as the highest cordial. Three nights after the patient walked in. 'Sir,' said he, 'you cannot be so much amazed as I am, nor half so much pleased; I am come to thank you, and, if not criminal, to worship you." Gooch's account of how he learned the virtues of rattlesnake wine is as follows "A very wealthy old gentleman in the West Indies had long been afflicted with prosv to a his deemed incurable by his physicians. Apparently in a dying state, he made his will, leaving a large legacy to a female servant, who had lived with him many years. This circumstance being known to the servant, she and her paramour studied and contrived how to make away with him in such a manner as to raise the least suspicion. They put the heads of rattlesnakes into the wine he drank, thinking it would prove an infallible poison; on the contrary, he grew better, and the criminals, imagining the poison was not strong enough, added more snake venom, whereby the gentleman was restored to perfect health. Conscience finally put this servant upon her knees before her master, confessing her crime. Forgiveness was granted, and the old gentleman gave her a sum of money, ordering her to depart and never see him more."
