

An independent local paper, published every Wednesday at Reynoldsville, Jefferson Co., Pa., devoted to the interests of Reynoldsville and Jefferson county. Non-political, will treat all with fairness, and will be especially friendly towards the laboring class.

It is claimed that the borers are getting in their work on apple trees this year. Watch your trees.

A Chicago lawyer says a swindler is one who sells nothing for something to a person who thinks he is getting something for nothing.

If they are on schedule time, the seventeen year locust will reach the west this summer, and the farmers are already discussing the question, "what shall we do with them?"

A man was arrested the first of the week for procuring whiskey for men of intemperate habits.—Clarion Republican. Frequently some one in Reynoldsville procures whiskey for men of intemperate habits, but no arrests have ever been made for doing it.

Sam'l States, one of our county commissioners and a candidate for renomination at the coming Democratic primaries, was in Reynoldsville Saturday looking after his political interests. Mr. States has made an excellent commissioner, having looked strictly after the county's best interests.

As the man grows older, says an exchange, he learns to regard with suspicion those people who make an ostentation of superlative goodness. The two-faced individual—the man who is all smiles to your face and harpoons you in the back—is a well known character, though he thinks no one knows him and he is never found out.

The twenty page edition of the Brookville Republican, published last week by the Woman's Relief Corps of Brookville, is an issue showing the brain work of women. Its editorials, locals and correspondence are mostly all from the pen of the fair sex.

By the following article clipped from the Kittanning Republican it is evident that a number of people living along the Allegheny river have been violating the game and fish laws and will soon be arrested for disobeying the laws.

Revengeful Robins.

About two weeks ago a black and white spotted cat belonging to Harry Hastings robbed a robin's nest. The parent birds witnessed the destruction of their home, and made a great ado about it, but the cat was abhorred, and proceeded quietly to feast upon the birdlings. But since that time that cat's life has been a burden.
