The Queen's Avenue.

Queen Elizabeth not only seemed to have all the prerogatives of power, but excited in her subjects a chivalry which would not doubt surprise a monarch of the present day quite as much as it might delight him. One of the most gallant services ever rendered her, at least as flattering as the offer of St. Walter Raleigh's cloak to save her feet from the mud, is connected with Hampden House, the home of the great English patriot.

The Hampdens were a great family for many centuries, and a stanza quoted in "Ivanhoe" is typical of their importance:

Tring, Wing and Ivinghoe,
Three churches all of a row;
These three Hampdens did forego
For striking of the Black Prince a blow.
And glad he did escape soe.

Hampden House stands on the summit of the Chiltern Hills, and is about three miles from Princes Risborough which was the residence of the Black Prince. It is not unlikely that, during some altercation between subject and prince, high words may have been used; that the lordly Hampden of that earlier day could not restrain himself and in the heat of dispute thoughtlessly struck the Prince; but of this there is no authentic record.

But the most interesting tale is told of an open glade or avenue in front of Hampden. It is said that Queen Elizabeth, on her visit to the grandfather of the patriot, was shown to her room by Mr. Hampden. On looking from the window, she was struck with the grandeur of the timber and beauty of the landscape, and asked:

"Do you not think, Mr. Hampden, that if you had an avenue opening down the hill it would be an improvement?"

Next morning she looked out again and there on the hillside lay the scores of noble trees which had obstructed her view. The "Queen's Avenue" had been made.

There isn't anything against love, if people wouldn't fool with it when there are other things they should be doing.

ANNA IVOR'S REQUEST.

Personal letters reach Mrs. Pinkham by thousands; some asking advice, and others, like the following, telling of what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done and will ever continue to do in eradicating those fearful female complaints so little understood by physicians.

All womb and ovarian troubles, irregularities, whites, bearing-down pains, displacements, tendency to cancer and tumor are cured permanently.

"I feel as if I owed my life to your Vegetable Compound. After the birth of my babe I was very miserable. I had a drawing pain in the lower part of my bowels, no strength, and a terrible backache. Every day I failed. My husband said if I would try a bottle of your Vegetable Compound, he would get it for me. The change was wonderful. After I had taken the first half bottle I began to have great faith in it. When I had taken three bottles, I was well and growing stout. It is a pleasure for me to write this to you. I only ask women in any way afflicted with female troubles to try it."—Mrs. ANNA IVOR, Pittsford Mills, Rutland Co., Vt.

A HORRIBLE MINING DISASTER.

IN A LIVING TOMB.

Ninety Workmen Buried in a Coal Mine Wilkesbarre.

The worst disaster that has taken place in the anthracite coal regions since the great Avondale accident in 1860, by which 130 lives were lost, occurred in the Newton mine, at Pittston, Sunday morning. The surface of the mine had been caving in for some weeks past. About 90 men were put to work last night to timber the roof, which means to prop it up. While engaged in this work, the roof fell in on them. There is a bare possibility that the men, or at least some of them, may be behind the big cave in. In that case they may be alive, but it will take several days to work to them, and by that time they will be dead. The general belief is that all were killed by the fall.

About 40 of the imprisoned men were English speaking miners, the others foreigners. The men were at work propping up the roof when the fall occurred. The alarm was immediately given by the ringing of the fire bells and rescuers were put to work without delay.

More than two-thirds of the victims were married men and leave families. Among them were Arthur Maynor Langston, who was the superintendent of the mine, and J. H. Lynott, a ward councilman. About two weeks ago the surveyors reported to General Superintendent Law that the mine was "squeezing," and that unless steps were immediately taken to timber it is a creek, the fall might be looked for. Supt. Law lost no time, but at once put a number of timbermen at work to brace the falling roof. The "squeeze" continued, however, and the situation became alarming. In the afternoon a slight fall occurred, and the men who were at work had to retreat before it. A consultation of mine officials was then held, and it was decided that heroic measures would have to be resorted to to prevent heavy disasters to the mine.

Inside Superintendent Langston gave instructions that the most experienced miners should be secured and that the party should go down the mine at 7 o'clock. Expert timbermen put in an appearance at that hour and began to work. The men were working in the main shaft, 1,500 feet down the slope. The work of propping proceeded rapidly until 11 o'clock when another fall occurred. It made a low, rumbling noise, and the flying coal and debris drove the men back. Then the "squeeze" ceased again and the men thought it safe to resume work. They labored on until 3:30 o'clock, when, so it is presumed, the roof fell in without warning, making a tremendous crash.

TRADE IS STATIONARY.

Uncertainty of the Money Situation Retards Improvement.

R. G. Dun & Co. in their weekly review say: Failures for the week have been 217 in the United States against 256 last year, and 24 in Canada, against 22 last year.

The monetary outlook is not yet clear to some. The strength shown in recent cotton quotations by advocates of silver coinage and expectation that the elements favoring that policy may yet be concentrated incline them to a waiting attitude. The uncertainty retards improvement, notwithstanding the more widely prevalent feeling that the monetary action of the St. Louis convention will be sustained by the people.

The cotton mills of Fall River contemplate temporary stoppage, the nature of which is now under discussion with the Providence manufacturers. The Pacific of Lawrence, and the Naumkeag, of Salem, have closed for a time, and practically all the Southern cotton mills will be represented with the same object. Wooden mills were not without consent, but 14 are mentioned as having closed this week.

There is no similar movement in other industries, though the period of summer closing is at hand in many of them, and important controversies as to wages of iron, pulpers and other like the like, which may result in annual stoppage in that industry may last longer than usual. It may be doubted whether the boot and shoe industry has ever been in better shape on the whole, though manufacturers complain that an advance in price is necessary, which dealers are very reluctant to pay.

"The great combinations, which the Iron Age" reasons, tend to cause disastrously low prices hereafter, still control the markets for raw materials and finished products of iron and steel, though it is reported that lower prices will soon be made for steel owing to better utilization of the products, and for nails, owing to the heavy decrease in consumption. The billet pool reports no large sale, but middlemen or outsiders continue to undersell it. The new demand for finished products is very light, and while quotations average a shade lower most of them are out to secure business. Bessemer pig is a shade lower at $12.25 at Pittsburgh. The textile manufacturers are generally desisting cutting of production, and the only change in prices is downward.

BENJAMIN H. BRISTOW DEAD.

President Grant's Secretary of the Treasury dies of Peritonitis.

Benjamin H. Bristow, the well known lawyer, died at his home in New York, June 22d, of peritonitis.

Benjamin H. Bristow is best known as President Grant's Secretary of the Treasury for two years from June, 1874, until July, 1876, and as a candidate for the nomination for President at the Republican convention of 1876, in which he received 113 votes on the first ballot. Bristow was born June 30, 1821, at Elkton, Todd county, Ky. He was graduated at Jefferson College, Pennsylvania, in 1841, and in 1853 was admitted to the bar at Elkton, Ky. When the civil war broke out he threw in his fortunes with the Union side and became lieutenant colonel of the Twenty-seventh Kentucky Infantry. From 1863 to 1865 he served in the Kentucky Senate. As United States district attorney for the Louisville district for five years, beginning in 1865, he proved so efficient that he was appointed solicitor general of the United States. In 1873 President Grant sent him to the Senate for Attorney General, but the Senate refused to confirm the nomination. The following year Mr. Bristow became Secretary of the Treasury. Since 1876 he had practiced law in New York City.

A. H. Spowles, of Elgin, Ill., was awarded $5,700 damages in his suit against township authorities at Washington for the loss of a foot. His horse threw him, as he alleges because of a neglected road.

YELLOW FEVER IN CUBA.

Four Deaths and 41 Cases at Sagua La Grande.

The most alarming Cuban yellow fever report comes from Sagua La Grande, where where four deaths have occurred, and there are 41 cases. It is expected that in a short time the fever will become epidemic, and if it does not become virulent in the city of Havana all previous experiences will be reversed.

Accurate knowledge as to the number of troops stricken with the disease last year is dropped by the Spanish government. The report shows a total of 1,593 cases and a mortality of 30 per cent.

Special precautions will be taken to prevent the introduction from Cuba into the United States of yellow fever. Each of the four revenue cutters patrolling the Florida coast carries sanitary inspectors to intercept sailing smacks and other vessels coming from Cuba with no intent to enter legally a port. Sanitary inspectors will be stationed at every seaport of Cuba to report the prevalence of yellow fever.

A CLOUDBURST.

Industrial Plants Were Flooded, Causing Work to Cease.

Wednesday evening a cloud burst north of Beaver Falls causing Walnut run, a small stream that flows along the west side of town, to become a raging river, and to finally overflow its banks, causing one of the greatest floods in the north end of town that has ever been witnessed. The sea of water covered a thickly populated district, acres in extent, four and five feet deep. The inhabitants, having the fear of the prediction made that today the world would come to an end, concluded that the prediction was coming true, and became panic-stricken.

The scene for fully an hour beggars description, men, women and children fled screaming with terror to higher ground, where they viewed the rushing torrent that was filling the lower stories of their homes with dismay. People who had not time to escape retreated to the upper floors of their houses and then, as the water rose, they were rescued, wringing their hands and crying for rescue. Others dashed out into the flood with their little ones in their arms, and with their backs, and by wading waist-deep managed to reach the hills west of the inundated district.

In the business portion of that part of the town the street car track was two feet under water, and all traffic was stopped. Store rooms were filled with mud and debris, and the sidewalks were torn up, leaving a store room along Eighth avenue, from Twenty-second to Twenty-sixth streets, escaped being flooded; cellars were filled and outbuildings were washed away.

The big mills of the Consolidated steel works were about two feet under water. The Marginal railway was several feet under water, and washed away in several places. The Beaver Falls chemical works and the Art tile works were flooded. A small stream called Butcher's run, along which is located a number of slaughter houses, was swollen to such an unprecedented degree that the slaughter houses were overflowed, and all the filth and all they contained was washed into Walnut run, and then down into the stricken district, causing a terrible stench and lodging in among the houses.

The damage will reach thousands of dollars, which cannot yet be estimated. Fortunately no lives were lost. Several families of Hungarians, who lived near the bank of the stream, were greatly benefited by their use, and suggested that it would be a good plan to try them. But I was skeptical in regard to their value—in fact, I had no confidence in their efficacy and rather laughed at the suggestion. But then the trouble increased and I was badly crippled. A few days later my son was about to visit a neighboring town and suggested again that it might be well to try this much-talked-of remedy, and I then consented. He brought me a box of them and I began taking them at once. At the end of a week I noted marked improvement, and by the time I had taken the first box I was able to walk without a cane. I continued their use, taking one or two each day, as you see, in a very comfortable state of health.

DAMAGE BY STORM.

Pipe Lines Seriously Interfered with by Washouts.

About 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon a washout was experienced within a radius of 25 miles of Silverville, Mo., which lasted for several hours. The water came down so rapidly that it amounted to a flood. Thunder and lightning belched forth at short intervals, and it would be no surprise if a great deal of damage is reported. Telegraph and telephone lines were blown down at several places. Slaughter House run, a very small rivulet, came out of its bed rapidly, and was only a short time until it had overflowed its banks and was doing damage. It runs through a sewer under the first trestle north of the Ohio River railroad depot here, and came out with such force that it soon choked the sewer, and the back water flooded over a dozen dwellings north of the railroad and washed out several outbuildings and one stable containing several horses. Down at Long reach one bent was washed out of a railroad trestle, which will indefinitely delay trains in both directions.

THE TURRET IS SAFE.

A Complete Test Made at the Indian Head Testing Grounds.

The navy department has made a further test of the representative battleship turret, which has heretofore been fired on at Indian Head. This time the purpose was not to try the turret, but to ascertain the displacing effect of heavy shot upon the structure, with a view to making sure that, as mounted on ships, it would not be disabled by gun fire.

A 12-inch Wheeler-Sterling armor-piercer was fired at the turret with a velocity of 2,000 feet per second. A novel arrangement of stylus and chronograph, devised for the purpose by the ordnance officers, attached to the turret, showed not only how much it was displaced by the shot, but also the velocity of the movement, a most important factor necessary to establish the strength to be given the resisting mechanism. In this case the turret was driven back by the shot four and a half inches, and in the air, at first as much as a half inch off the roller paths. The maximum velocity of the motion was seven and a half inches per second, so that the ordnance officials regard it as certain that the usual restraining devices will be quite sufficient to insure the safety of the turret.

ELECTRICITY OUTSTRIPS STEAM.

An Electric Car Beats a New York Central Train.

An exciting race between an electric car on the Buffalo and Niagara Falls railroad and an express train on the New York Central was run from Niagara Falls to Tonawanda. This electric road is considered the finest in the world, and the cars are heavy-weight palace coaches.

At 11 o'clock both the trolley car and the express train pulled out from Buffalo. When the city was a mile behind the engineer of the express suggested a race by giving many short, sharp blasts from the whistle and then opening the throttle. The motorman responded by turning on all the power, and the coach began to crawl as the spin with lightning speed over the level roadbed.

The electric coach moved at the rate of 60 an hour from Niagara Falls city line to LaSalle and ran into Tonawanda half a minute ahead of the express train. It was the best race of the season and it was the most exciting ever held in the history of the road.

SIX PEOPLE PERISHED.

A Gale Causes the Drowning of a Pleasure Party.

Word has reached Shawano, Wis., of the drowning of six persons at Shawano lake during a sale at Sunday evening. A party consisting of O. A. Hissam and wife, Herman Drakney and wife, Louis Gogerty, wife and child of Pulver; Miss Emma Garbrecht, of Shawano, and Miss Margaret Crowe, of St. Nazianz, Manitowish county, started from Cecil about 5 o'clock in O. A. Hissam's yacht, and on a few days outing down the north shore of the lake, when about three miles from shore when the boat was capsized by a sudden squall and the party precipitated into the water.

HEALTH IN OLD AGE.

AN OLD LADY FINDS THE TRUE SOURCE OF VITALITY.

A Reporter's Interesting Interview With a Lady of Seventy-two Years, Who Tells a Marvelous Story.

From the Union, Port Jervis, N. Y.

But a short time ago, in a distant part of the country, we heard of a cure by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which seemed almost marvelous, and more recently another substantial evidence of their value reached our ears. Being of an inquiring turn of mind, and wishing to know just how much there was in the story, a reporter was sent to interview the person said to be thus benefited. If the narrative as it had reached our ears was true—it was only simple justice to let it be known—if it proved untrue, it would be well to know it.

The person alluded to above as having been thus greatly benefited by the use of Pink Pills is Mrs. Jane Hotalen, of Hainesville, N. Y., a pleasant, homely, and pleasant woman, about fifteen miles from this office. The reporter had no difficulty in finding Mrs. Hotalen. It was nearly noon when we reached her pleasant home, a double house, the part of which is occupied by her son. She is a pleasant-faced, old lady, looking to be about sixty-five, but in reality seventy-two years of age. After a few preliminary remarks in explanation of the call, she was asked if she had any objection to giving us the details of the case and how she came to try this now famous remedy.

"Not at all," said she. "If my experience can be of any good to others, I am sure they are welcome to it—it can do me no harm."

"When were you taken sick, and what was the nature of the malady?" was asked. "It was about two years ago. The trouble was rheumatic in character—sciatica, they called it—and it was very painful indeed. The difficulty was in my hip and extended the whole length of the limb, crippling me completely. I suffered intensely from it, and the ordinary treatment gave me not the slightest alleviation. I was under treatment about a month as stated, but grew worse instead of better, and was fast becoming discouraged."

"What brought Pink Pills to your notice?" "My son called my attention to an article in a paper in which it was stated that a Mr. Struble, of Branchville, a village in this county, had been greatly benefited by their use, and suggested that it would be a good plan to try them. But I was skeptical in regard to their value—in fact, I had no confidence in their efficacy and rather laughed at the suggestion. But then the trouble increased and I was badly crippled. A few days later my son was about to visit a neighboring town and suggested again that it might be well to try this much-talked-of remedy, and I then consented. He brought me a box of them and I began taking them at once. At the end of a week I noted marked improvement, and by the time I had taken the first box I was able to walk without a cane. I continued their use, taking one or two each day, as you see, in a very comfortable state of health."

"Have you had any return of the trouble?" "Not as yet, though at my time of life, seventy-two, it should not be surprising if I should have. If it comes, I should at once begin the use of the pills. I suppose I inherit a tendency to troubles of this kind—my mother died from them."

"Did you ever note any ill effects from the use of Pink Pills?" "None whatever. They never disturbed my stomach in any way or caused me any annoyance. Neither did I find it necessary to increase the dose, as the directions say may be desirable. I am able, as you see, to attend to my own work."

The reporter thanked Mrs. Hotalen for her courtesy and bade her good day. It is not often that one can witness such a complete recovery from such a pernicious trouble at such an advanced age, and such instances cannot fail to produce a profound impression. Readers of the Union may rely on the absolute accuracy of all the statements here given—nothing has been exaggerated, nothing withheld.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contains, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuritis, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after effect of a gripe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female, and all diseases resulting from impoverished blood. Pink Pills are sold by all dealers, or will be sent post paid on receipt of price, (50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50), by addressing Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

Gladness Comes

With a better understanding of the transient nature of the many physical ills which vanish before proper efforts—gentle efforts—pleasant efforts—rightly directed. There is comfort in the knowledge that so many forms of sickness are not due to any actual disease, but simply to a constipated condition of the system, which the pleasant family laxative, Syrup of Figs, promptly removes. That is why it is the only remedy with millions of families, and is everywhere esteemed so highly by all who value good health. Its beneficial effects are due to the fact, that it is the one remedy which promotes internal cleanliness, without debilitating the organs on which it acts. It is therefore all important, in order to get its beneficial effects, to note when you purchase, that you have the genuine article, which is manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and sold by all reputable druggists.

If the enjoyment of good health, and the system is regular, then laxatives or other remedies are not needed. Afflicted with any actual disease, one may be commended to the most skillful physicians, but if in need of a laxative, then one should have the best, and with the well-informed everywhere, Syrup of Figs stands highest and is most largely used and gives most general satisfaction.

RIPANS TABULES

Mr. A. W. Baruch, an attaché of the Rome, N. Y., Sentinel, writes September 8th, 1895: "In conversation with one of our merchants a few days ago, I learned that his wife, who had been in very poor health, was regaining her health and strength, and that she attributed her recovery to Ripans Tabules. I requested an interview, which was granted, and the lady cheerfully gave me the enclosed testimonial: 'For a long time I have been interested in the advertisements of Ripans Tabules, which I have seen in the Rome Sentinel and the leading magazines. The advertisements seemed to be honest and I grew to believe them. I tried to obtain some of the Tabules, but found that none of the druggists in this city kept them. I was determined to give them a trial, and at last procured a box by sending to Utica. I had suffered from indigestion, sour stomach, heartburn and distress in my stomach after eating. I began by taking a Tabule after my breakfast and supper and experienced immediate relief, and in a few days the distressing symptoms had entirely disappeared. Now when I eat anything that usually disagrees with me I take one Tabule and avoid unpleasant consequences. I have also found in them a very agreeable relief for constipation. (Signed) Mrs. C. H. Rupp, 429 Liberty St., Rome, N. Y.'"

Ripans Tabules are sold by druggists, or by mail if the price (50 cents a box) is sent to The Ripans Chemical Company, No. 10 Spruce St., New York. Sample vial, 10 cents.
